The Mayor made this announcement in the course of a meeting of the Board of Estimate sitting in Committee of the Whole and after he and the Controller had engaged in a whispered conversation. Controller Berry has declared that he believes in making, so far as possible, all public service features of the City Government self-supporting and that the financing of a supplementary water supply, even though its cost should mount into hundreds of millions of dollars, could be readily met by an increase in the water rates which, though sufficient when extended over a period of years, need not be so large as to be burdensome to the consumer.

Several Projects Before Board.

In the meantime there are several plans and projects pending before the Board of Estimate to provide the city with additional water. One calls for the expenditure of $347,000,000 to tap the watersheds on the eastern side of the Hudson in the counties of Duchess, Rensselaer and Columbia. This is the project recommended in a recent report by the Board of Water Supply.

Several others contemplate drawing a supplementary supply by the driving of chains of artesian wells through the subsoil of Long Island. Austin E. Titus, President of the Titus Water Engineering Corporation, again appeared before the board and reiterated his offer to dig one hundred artesian wells on city-owned land in the boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens and the county of Nassau having a minimum guaranteed combined capacity of 150,000,000 gallons a day. Members of the Board of Estimate appeared to look with considerable favor upon this proposal to tap the deep underground streams of Long Island instead of spending nearly $400,000,000 for an extension of the State reservoir system.

Mr. Titus described subterranean streams flowing from Connecticut, under Long Island Sound and beneath Long Island, to an outlet in the sea. He said they could be made to furnish a virtually inexhaustible supply of good water and that if the Burr law, which prohibits the sinking of wells in Suffolk County, were repealed, he could foresee a future production of 400,000,000 gallons a day.

The Titus Corporation offers to sell the completed wells back to the city at a cost of about $7,000,000. Its President pointed out that his company was proposing to take all the financial risks and that, under its proposed contract with the city, it stood ready to stand the loss if the wells should fall short of the guaranteed production.

Offers to Post $500,000 Bond.

"To prove our sincerity," Mr. Titus said, "we are ready to file with the Controller a bond for $500,000. Only an act of God saved us last year from a catastrophe. At one time a small child could have waded through the largest stream in the Catskills upon which the water system of the city now depends."

Controller Berry questioned Mr. Titus at length on the details of his project. "I am confident," declared the latter, "that if I could be permitted to sink wells in Suffolk, as well as in Kings, Queens and Nassau counties, I could provide 400,000,000 gallons a day, and then you would have no occasion to go up-State and spend $347,000,000 there."

Mayor Walker finally directed Mr. Titus to draw up an actual form of contract, ready for signature, and to have copies of it ready for each member of the board for consideration next Monday, so that his proposal might be carefully studied prior to the general conference next month.

Two other companies, one represented by G. E. Mensel of the A. L. Connolly Well Sinking Corporation, also offered plans, and both declared they were willing to install sufficient equipment at one-third less cost than the Titus company proposed. The Mayor directed that their representatives also submit plans and details for study by members of the board, but he added that they should bear in mind that the Titus company had been first in the field, three years ago.

The Board of Estimate will not decide upon any plan, it was made plain, until after the January conference with the Water Supply Board and the engineers of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity.

'LONE WOLF' PLEADS GUILTY

May Get Forty Years for Banditry in Queens—Pals Confess, Too.

William Samet, 20 years old, of 3,714 Astoria Avenue, Astoria, who had three weeks of notoriety as a "lone wolf" bandit, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Frank F. Adel in the Queens County Court to an indictment charging robbery in the first degree, grand larceny in the first degree and assault in the second degree. He faces forty years in Sing Sing as a second offender.

Three of Samet's accomplices, Joseph Rohr, Michael Digilio and William Bonsel, pleaded guilty of robbery in the second degree, and a fourth, Louis Erneyey, admitted first degree robbery.

Judge Adel will sentence the five bandits on Dec. 20. They were arrested on Dec. 2 and are accused of having committed thirty-eight robberies in three weeks.

Gifts from
The Alcove Shop

FASCINATING is a splendid word for The Alcove Shop. All its gifts have a flair for the unusual, and it's the very place to come for those gifts that must be different, and must accomplish that charming difference without being expensive. Bring the names you are wavering about to the Alcove and let it decide for you.

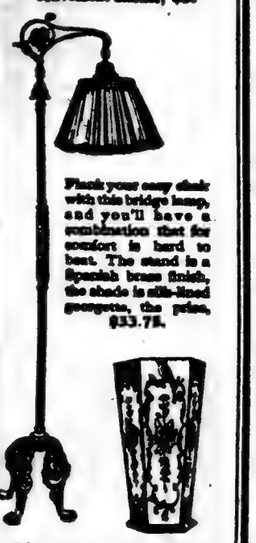
Lamps for Christmas! Lamps for Christmas! and here's a large crackle jar in a luscious apple green glass, with a simple parchment paper shade harmoniously colored, for as little as $17.50.

Donate this coffee stand to the hostess you want to remember with something particularly nice, and you'll earn her everlasting thanks; imported carved walnut with marble top $25.

Owls stand for wisdom; and you can prove it by making them serve as Christmas gifts. They are carved out of curiously figured stone, and further prove their wisdom by only costing $9.50 for a lifetime of service.

Cigarettes, Cigarettes! but this little soapstone box does not try its purpose aloud, you admire its beauty before you discover it harbors cigarettes. The Alcove has a number of these for Christmas gifts, no two alike, $6.

Those with literary leanings are given another chance at an excellent Christmas gift. This time a colored version of Florentine leather—tan, brown, red, purple—in the form of a book cover with convenient marker, $5.



Flank your easy chair with this bridge lamp, and you'll have a combination that for comfort is hard to beat. The stand is a Spanish brass finish, the shade is silk-lined georgette, the price, $33.75.

It's almost too grand to be a waste basket, but that's what it is. It's painted and decorated in the Venetian manner, and will serve you long and beautifully, $16.50

ROSENBLOOM WINS FROM PHIL KAPLAN

HERMAN DEFEATS ANDERSON

By JAMES P. DAWSON.

Maxey Rosenbloom, wrecker of championship hopes, ran true to form last night in Madison Square Garden where the Harlem battler carried off the decision over K. O. Phil Kaplan, rival Harlem middleweight, in the feature ten-round bout before a crowd of 10,000.

This same Rosenbloom punctured the title ambitions of Dave Shade in two battles last Summer and caused something of a furore.

He shaded Kaplan last night just at a time when that young man was being groomed as a formidable contender for the middleweight crown now worn by Mickey Walker. With his aggressive, tireless attack, Rosenbloom won the decision of Judges Charles F. Mathison and George F. Partrick, and Referee Eddie Forbes, a unanimous verdict, it was announced, and an eminently fair decision.

On the writer's score sheet the rounds were even. Each lad carried off five, Rosenbloom winning the second, third, fifth, eighth and ninth, while Kaplan took the first, fourth, sixth, seventh and tenth. In the closing round, Kaplan unleashed a terrific rally and hammered his rival about the ring under a fusillade of rights and lefts with stinging force, but the rally was not enough to overcome the earlier work of Rosenbloom.

Kaplan Slow on Attack.

The trouble with Kaplan was a hesitant attack. He wasted many seconds with his offensive moves, puzzling out his next lead with such deliberation and disregard for time that when he finally acted he invariably missed and his execution suffered accordingly. Rosenbloom, on the other hand, was continually on the aggressive, slapping, stabbing and cuffing with his blows, instead of driving them home cleanly as did Kaplan, but landing oftener than K. O. Phil and accumulating more points.

It was not an exciting bout. Save for the torrid tenth round it was just an ordinary affair. Kaplan almost floored his rival late in the first round with a left hook to the jaw, his best weapon of attack and then played with both hands for Maxey's body. But in the second session Rosenbloom swept Kaplan before him in a steady attack, in which he mixed drives to the body with right uppercuts to the face and jaw. It was the same in the third round, which found the crowd rather annoyed, although the gladiators were proceeding at a fast pace.

Through the fourth round Kaplan countered well before his rival's wild lunges and near the bell made Rosenbloom's knees buckle under a right to the jaw. But in the fifth Rosenbloom was back on the offensive, slapping and hammering Phil before him, and near the bell driving Kaplan against the ropes with right and left hand punches.

Kaplan Rallies Too Late.

Rosenbloom clubbed his right to the jaw repeatedly in the eighth, in which he was the aggressor and did the better work. A left hook to the body hurt Maxey in this chapter, and he set up a cry of foul, but when Referee Forbes ignored the claim Rosenbloom went right back on the attack and carried the ninth session. In the tenth round Kaplan had all the better of the action, but his rally came too late to overcome the earlier work of Rosenbloom. The victor weighed 159 pounds, and Kaplan's weight was 157¾.

In the ten-round semi-final, Babe Herman, Coast featherweight, hammered out a decision over Eddie Anderson, Wyoming's erstwhile cowboy. Herman won this decision because he won seven of the ten rounds. He was best in every round except the first and sixth, which were even, and the fifth, which went to Anderson because of a spectacular rally.

Farmer Joe Cooper, Terre Haute battler, and Alf Mancini, Anglo-Italian welterweight, battled to a draw in the first ten-round bout, a slugging affair in which Cooper, while the aggressor, found himself rather handicapped with Mancini's speed. Cooper, a wild-swinging, hard-punching lad who came here recently to make an impression with a sensational battle against Lew Tendler, tried to hammer Mancini into oblivion and never stopped swinging.

Teddy Baldock, English bantamweight, added Joe Clifford, west side lad, to his list of vanquished rivals in the six-round preliminary, which witnessed Baldock's last American battle before he leaves for a visit to his home in England. He is to sail tomorrow, proud in having accomplished eleven American ring conquests in twelve encounters. The other bout resulted in a draw.

Prince Olav Hopes His Yacht Will Qualify for Race Here

OSLO, Norway, Dec. 13 (AP).—Crown Prince Olav of Norway intends to enter his six-meter yacht in the elimination races to determine the Norwegian challenger which will seek to regain the Norwegian Gold Cup, lost to the United States here last season. After the series of elimination races next Summer, the best boat will go to the United States to meet the American defender on Long Island Sound. The Crown Prince will not make the trip to the United States, even if his yacht wins, as he has other plans for the Summer.

NEW JERSEY PUTS BAN ON ROSENBERG

Bugbee Rules He Cannot Box at Christmas Fund Show Because of Illinois Suspension.

ADAMS EXPLAINS ACTION

Says Only Very Good Reason Would Allow Champion to Appear—Other Ring News.

Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, world's bantamweight champion, will be barred from fighting Petey Mack of Jersey City in one of the four feature bouts at the Christmas Fund boxing carnival in the Jersey City Armory next Monday night unless the New Jersey State Boxing Commission recedes from its present attitude. It was learned yesterday that Commissioner Newton A. K. Bugbee has ordered observance of the suspension imposed on Rosenberg by the Illinois Boxing Commission last Summer, which will prevent the titleholder from engaging in the scheduled fund bout.

Inspector Platt Adams at his office in Newark yesterday verified the commission order and explained that unless the Illinois commission intercedes in the champion's behalf, or some very good reason is advanced to justify ignoring the suspension, Rosenberg will not be permitted to box. When he was reminded that Rosenberg was under suspension a fortnight ago when he boxed Georgie Mack in Jersey City Inspector Adams declared an exception was made in that bout because it was held for charity.

Must Be Strong Reason.

"If we are to ignore the suspension for every charity bout, however, the suspension would not mean a thing," said Inspector Adams. "Rosenberg, or any other boxer under suspension, could go forth and engage in any number of charity bouts without interference, and in that way escape punishment when punishment is justified. In placing Rosenberg on the ineligible list the commission is simply concurring in the suspension imposed on Rosenberg by the Illinois commission and concurred in by the National Boxing Association. Any exception will come only on the request of the Illinois authorities or for some other very good reason."

Rosenberg was suspended in Illinois and in the States having a working agreement with Illinois or membership in the N. B. A. for his withdrawal last Summer from a scheduled title bout with Bud Taylor.

Wallace Seeks Title Bout.

Bill Reidy, Eastern representative of Billy Wallace, the lad who recently knocked out Louis (Kid) Kaplan, yesterday announced receipt of word from Scotty Delauer, manager of Wallace, to the effect that Wallace is prepared to make 130 pounds to fight Tod Morgan for the junior lightweight title or to accept a battle against Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion.

Elky Clark, English flyweight, who is to battle Fidel LaBarba for the world's title at the Garden next month, is scheduled to arrive here Saturday, according to latest information available at the Garden yesterday.

Principals in the bouts which are to be held tomorrow night in the Newark Armory under the auspices of the National Sportsmen's Club, yesterday completed training and all were reported in fighting condition. Young Jack Dempsey and Jack Hood, English welterweight, are to clash in one of the two star ten-round bouts. In the other Willie Harmon will engage Alf Mancini.

PEGUILHAN COLLAPSES; SUFFERS CONCUSSION

Boxer Injured in Final Round of Hartford Bout—Persson Loses to Pat McCarthy.

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 13 (AP).—Charles Peguilhan of France collapsed in the eighth round of his bout with Al Friedman of Boston here tonight. The bout was a fast one with both men hitting hard. It is claimed that Peguilhan collapsed from apparent exhaustion without being hit.

He was taken to the Hartford Hospital, where it was said he had concussion of the brain and a possible fracture of the skull. Friedman was held by the police on a technical charge of breach of the peace. He was released on bonds of $1,000 furnished by Arthur Boudreau of Elmwood.

Peguilhan, up to the time of his collapse, which came in the eighth and final round of the semi-final, was leading by a comfortable margin. He battered his heavier opponent around the ring in every round and, to many it seemed that he collapsed from sheer exhaustion.

In the main bout of twelve rounds Pat McCarthy of Boston won the decision from Harry Persson of Sweden. McCarthy weighed 176 pounds and Persson 200.

Manhattan Bowlers Triumph.

The Manhattan team defeated the Jersey City Elks in an American National Bowling tournament game last night at Thum's, winning all three blocks. The scores were: Manhattan, 997, 957, 932; Jersey City Elks, 955, 923, 917. H. Bell of the winners turned in 202 as the best average for the night.

BERNSTEIN VICTOR IN SLASHING FIGHT

MARTIE SILVERS IS WINNER

Jack Bernstein, former junior lightweight champion, outpointed Ray Miller in the twelve-round feature bout at the Broadway arena last night before a crowd of 2,500. Bernstein weighed 130 pounds, while Miller scaled at 128½.

For the most part the bout was confined to infighting. But so fast and furious were the attacks of both men that the spectators continually cheered their efforts. In these exchanges Bernstein usually had the better of the volleying. Miller's forté was his long-range hitting, but so closely did the Yonkers lad follow his adversary that Miller rarely had an opportunity for exhibiting his marksmanship.

The boys mixed quickly at the opening bell and punched vigorously. Toward the close of the round Bernstein unintentionally butted Miller when they met head-on in the middle of the ring and the blood streamed from Miller's forehead. The gash was patched up between rounds, but Bernstein's first punch opened the cut again. Miller began an attack which had Bernstein backing away, but the former champion recovered to rush Miller to the ropes. Bernstein left-hooked Miller in the third and a succession of left jabs had Miller's nose bleeding. The Chicago lad landed right crosses to Bernstein's head and the Yonkers fighter came back with left hooks to Miller's head.

Miller Leads Attack.

Miller chased Bernstein to the ropes in the fourth, but the ex-champion danced out of harm's way. Bernstein drove home a volley of lefts to Miller's head and the Chicagoan punched in return, landing successfully on Bernstein's jaw. Miller rocked Bernstein with a right hook and was quick to press his advantage. He sallied forth with rights and lefts to the head of the Yonkers man but Bernstein clinched. After this respite he hooked Miller to the head and body. In the sixth Miller's furious attack landed on thin air as Bernstein evaded his swings and countered accurately in return. The Chicagoan cornered Bernstein, but the ex-champion punched his way clear.

Again Miller opened with a rush but again Bernstein slipped aside. The ex-champion had Miller on the defensive but neither drove home a really damaging blow. Miller landed a right hook to start the eighth, but Bernstein rallied with a succession of straight lefts to the head. Two strong lefts by the Westerner brought the session to a close. In the ninth the exchanges were even. Both fighters landed left hooks but neither slowed up. Bernstein pummeled Miller's body to start the tenth and a left hook to Miller's head again opened the cut in Miller's forehead.

Silvers Gets Verdict.

Martie Silvers, Brownsville, 131½ pounds, outpointed Joe Filucci of Harlem, 129½, in a slow ten-round bout that served as the semi-final. For nine rounds they indulged in close infighting with neither gaining the upper hand. Silvers's whirlwind finish was responsible for his victory.

For the first four rounds the boxers stood in the middle of the ring and drove home blows to the body. There was a bit more action in the seventh when the fighters shifted their style of attack. Silvers bored in to start the eighth but Filucci met his offense with a return attack, at which Silvers covered up for the remainder of the session. Silvers drew blood in the ninth and landed right and left hooks on Filucci's head. Silvers followed his advantage in the ninth and subjected Filucci to a severe pounding in the tenth.

Harry Ebbets of Freeport, weighing 156½ pounds, gave Joe Harris, 151, of Elizabeth, N. J., a beating in their six-round clash. Ebbets knocked Harris down three times in the third and again in the fifth scored three more knockdowns. Despite the beating he took, Harris's game work and surprising endurance enabled him to last out the bout.

TILL OUTPOINTS MALONE.

Wins Decision From St. Paul Boxer in Rochester Bout.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP).—Osk Till of Rochester, won the decision over Jock Malone of St. Paul in ten rounds here tonight before one of the largest crowds of the season. The St. Paul middleweight could not fathom his rival's left jab, and his boxing showed signs of slowing up against the determined attack of the Rochester fighter.

Till recently won a decision over Augie Ratner, and he was one of Gene Tunney's sparring partners during the training period of the former Marine for his championship battle with Jack Dempsey. Malone weighed 156¾ and Till 159.

Till's manager, Elmer Wiedrick, will file a challenge with the State Boxing Commission, accompanied by a certified check for $2,500, for a match with Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion.

MELLO OUTPOINTS ZIVIC.

Crowd of 14,000 Persons Sees Him Carry Off the Decision.

Mello forced the fighting and took a majority of the rounds. At infighting the Lowell boxer punished Zivic with short left hooks to the body. The Pittsburgh's fighters best work was at long range, when he was able to jab Mello with his left. There were no knockdowns. The decision won favor with a crowd estimated at 14,000.

Clinton	1	1	1	3
Erasmus	1	1	1	3
James Monroe	0	2	1	1
Morris	0	2	1	1
Boys' High	0	3	0	0

The Jamaica High School hockey team again went into a tie for first place with New Utrecht High School in the Public School's Athletic League tournament by overwhelming the James Monroe sextet, 10 to 0, at the Brooklyn Ice Palace last night. Nelson, centre on the Jamaica team, was the individual star of the game, accounting for eight of his team's goals.

The Monroe aggregation was outclassed completely, offering only a feeble defense to the powerful Jamaica crew. The winners lost no time in getting started, Nelson breaking through for the first tally after only one minute of the opening period. Three more times in the same period Nelson hit the disk into the net. Shevlin managed to gain a goal toward the end of the first period and was followed by Nelson, who made the last goal of the first period.

Nelson continued his good work in the second period, penetrating the Monroe defense three times. Holly made the other goal for Jamaica.

Erasmus Hall and DeWitt Clinton battled to a 1-1 tie in another P. S. A. L. hockey tournament on the same rink following the Jamaica-James Monroe tussle. Neither team could score in the first half, the defense of both sides working in a smooth manner. Dewitt was the first to score in the second half, when Seilzer tallied after the period was three minutes old. This lead was not held long, however, for a minute later Rosenfeld tied the count with a shot on a pass from Levites.

The line-ups:

JAMAICA (10).		JAS. MONROE (0).
Debevoise	G.	McCoy
Shiellman	L.D.	Sperber

OTTAWA WILL INVADE GARDEN RINK TONIGHT

Senators, Undefeated and First in International Division, to Do Battle With Americans.

Hockey of the high-pressure brand will be on view at Madison Square Garden tonight when the New York Americans and the Ottawa Senators cross sticks for their first local clash of the season. The Senators are traveling at a fast clip and have not been beaten this season, having won eight games and tied one. The sextet from the Dominion capital is safely ensconced at the top of the international division of the National Hockey League, but the Americans hope to break its winning streak tonight.

With an ironclad defense and a swift forward line the Ottawa sextet is a hard outfit for any team to stop. The Americans, however, always seem o work fast against the Senators, and their followers believe the Canadian invaders will have a hard time to get away with tonight's pastime. The Garden sextet, moving in improved form all the time, has worked into second place in its section of the league and looks much better than it did at this time last year.

The Americans came home yesterday from a successful Western trip during which they defeated the Toronto St. Pats, 1-0, and the Detroit Cougars, 4-2.

Tonight's probable line-up:

AMERICANS.		OTTAWA.
Forbes	Goal	Connell
Langlois	Defense	Boucher
Simpson	Defense	Clancy
Burch	Centre	Nighbor
McKinnon	Wing	H. Smith
R. Green	Wing	Denneny

Referees—La Flamme, Hewitson.

PRINCETON MATCH OFF.

Late Arrival of New York A. C. Hockey Team Causes Cancellation.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 13.—The hockey game between Princeton and the New York Athletic Club, scheduled for the Hobey Baker Memorial Rink tonight was called off, due to the late arrival of the New York team. The Winged Foot sextet arrived in Princeton two hours late, and a practice session was held instead of the scheduled game. In the practice Jones of Princeton made two goals, and Wilson of the N. Y. A. C. made one.

N. Y. U. STARTS HOCKEY.

21 Report to Coach Connor for Drill at Brooklyn Ice Palace.

Bob Barabee and Arthur Norton, both substitutes on the N. Y. U. football team during the past season, were tentatively named as defense players on the Violet hockey team, which held its first practice at the Ice Palace in Brooklyn yesterday afternoon. Dutch Connor, coach of the team, lost no time in putting to work the twenty-one candidates who reported for the initial practice.

Hueston Cue Victor.

Thomas Hueston defeated Charles Harmon in an exhibition pocket billiard match last night at Budd's Royal Billiard Academy by the score of 100 to 31. The match lasted 10 innings, and the high runs were Hueston 29, Harmon 14.

Heston and Agutter Put Out In Pro Tennis Play at Cannes

CANNES, France, Dec. 13 (AP).—Both the American entrants, Paul L. Heston and George Agutter of New York were eliminated today in the first round of the professional tennis championships for the Bristol Cup. J. Negro of Nice, one of the best French professionals, defeated Heston, who seemed bothered by the strong Riviera light, by the score, 6—1, 5—7, 6—3, 4—6, 7—5. Ramillon of Cannes defeated Agutter in straight sets, 6—0, 6—1, 6—2.

BRITISH NOW FAVOR U. S. TENNIS BALL

Will Ask International Body to Abolish Stitched Sphere for a Speedier One.

ADOPT THE SEEDED DRAW

Wimbledon Pairings to Be on Merit and Nationality—Player-Writers Barred—Comment on Pros.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 13. — Important changes were decided upon at the Lawn Tennis Association's annual meeting today. It was decided to ask at the annual general meeting of the International Lawn Tennis Federation in Paris next March that the stitched tennis ball be abolished and that the minimum bound be increased from fifty to fifty-five inches.

A resolution also will be presented to the Paris meeting urging that an amateur tennis player entered as a competitor in tournament matches or other competitions be prohibited from writing newspaper reports thereof under his own name, initials or recognizable pseudonym, or accepting payment for lecturing or broadcasting talks upon the game, or permitting his name mentioned as interviewed for the purpose of newspaper publication in connection with the play.

It was agreed to adopt seedings by merit, as well as by nationality at Wimbledon next year, thus following the American example.

Lord Desborough, the retiring Chairman, referring to the fact that a certain number of players had voluntarily relinquished their amateur status, said: "I hope the ladies and gentlemen who have taken this step will be an ornament to their profession and they have our good wishes."

Glad of the Changes.

The news from England that the tennis ball would be made livelier, that players would be seeded according to merit and nationality and that the player-writer rule had been adopted was hailed with enthusiasm by local tennis followers last night. The player-writer decision was dismissed as merely an indication of the closer relations between the ruling bodies of this country and England, but the other changes evoked extended comment.

The killing off of very capable players in the early rounds of championship tournaments in England long has been one of the regrets of visiting Americans. Under the old rule the meeting of two persons favored to reach the final frequently occurred in an early round, with a resultant falling off in interest in the final. This system of play also was held by many to produce a champion considered the inferior of some player who fell by the wayside earlier in the competition.

Discussion surrounding the change in pace of the English ball was to the effect that it would be an aid to invaders from this country. Complaint has long been made that Americans going to England or the Continent had to play for some time over there in order to become used to the change in liveliness in the ball

On many occasions American players arrived so shortly before the start of a tournament that there existed little or no time for extended practice with the strange ball. Under the new rule the English tennis ball will more closely approach the ball that has been standardized in this country and which has long been held to be much the faster and livelier.

46 BOXERS ENROLL FOR AMATEUR BOUTS

Program of Twenty Clashes Assured for Thursday A. A. U. Card in Garden.

A program of twenty amateur bouts is assured for the Metropolitan A. A. U. tournament which will be held in Madison Square Garden on Thursday night. At A. A. U. headquarters yesterday it was announced that forty-six boxers had responded to the call for entries. The heaviest nomination has been received for the featherweight class. In this division nine youngsters are scheduled to struggle for the prize.

The entries:

BIG LEAGUE OWNERS IN SESSIONS TODAY

LANDIS TO BE ENDORSED

Re-election of Present Commission at Joint Gathering Thursday Seems Assured—Late Season Planned.

By JAMES R. HARRISON.

The annual meeting of the National League will be held here today at the Waldorf-Astoria, with all the signs pointing toward a quiet and serene session. At the same time the American League will hold a routine meeting in Chicago and both leagues will gather in that city for the joint meeting on Thursday.

Aside from the re-election of Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, which seems assured, the chief business before the magnates consists of the playing schedules for next season. According to well-informed opinion, the major league will go back to their old system of ending their season the first week in October instead of the last Sunday in September.

The National League is already committed to this arrangement, and Commissioner Landis, it is alleged, has been won over to the idea of a later ending.

According to Barney Dreyfuss, the Pittsburgh President, Commissioner Landis is now convinced that it is impossible for the two major leagues to close their season on the last Sunday in September. This would fall on Sept. 25 next year and Dreyfuss maintains that it is impossible for most of the clubs to complete their schedules in that time.

The prospects are that the major league seasons will open on Tuesday, April 12, and close on Oct. 2.

Early Closing Unsatisfactory.

No matter what the attitude of the American League is, the National is firmly committed to the policy of a later ending. President Heydler is convinced that it is impossible for the National League to close its schedule before Oct. 2, with three of the eight cities deprived of Sunday baseball.

The early closing date had proved unsatisfactory, President Dreyfuss said, only one club in each league being able to complete the play on schedule time.

Although the National League is definitely pledged to the re-election of Commissioner Landis, the magnates indicated last night that they will oppose any move to raise his salary to $60,000 a year. There has been no talk of this in National League circles, and the magnates, moreover, believe that the Judge should increase the usefulness of the Advisory Council, which includes President Heydler and the Vice President of the American League.

The National League will go into session at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the Waldorf-Astoria and reconvene tomorrow morning at 10:30, after which session the magnates will catch the Twentieth Century Limited for Chicago, where the joint meeting will be held on Thursday.

At today's meeting only routine matters will be introduced, such as the President's annual report, discussion of the 1927 schedule, the new draft rule, and a debate on the league's attitude toward Judge Landis's reelection at an increased salary.

Nationals Behind Landis.

The National League is lined up solidly behind Landis. As one club owner said yesterday, it seems incredible that Landis should not be reelected. The elder league's magnates will vote for him as a matter of course, and they predicted that all of the American League club owners will climb aboard the bandwagon.

On the eve of battle it was very quiet. The common question was "What do you know?" and the inevitable answer was, "Nothing."

The ivory market was extremely dull. There were no trades which had gone beyond the conversational stage. Rumors were wide-spread but they had nothing to back them up.

The most persistent report was that the Giants would trade First Baseman Bill Terry for Joe Genewich, pitcher of the Boston Braves. Representatives of the Braves said that negotiations were under way, but the Giants were silent on the matter, although it was known that the McGrawmen are trying to get rid of Terry.

The Brooklyn club held an informal meeting in the Waldorf-Astoria. Rumors were that there would be a new deal on the club, with Wilbert Robinson stepping down as President, but when the session ended Robbie's term of office was still secure until next March, and of course, he was still manager under the recently-signed three-year contract.

Grimes and Wheat on Market.

Robbie did not deny that he wishes to dispose of Burleigh Grimes, his husky right-hand pitcher, and Zach Wheat, veteran left-fielder. The possibility of Grimes's passing to another National League club was the high spot of a rather weak trading season.

The Reds are seeking a couple of pitchers, the Cubs a hard-hitting outfielder, the Cardinals an outfielder to replace Blades or Hafey, the Braves a first baseman, the Pirates a few pitchers, but the trade outlook was barren.

Stuffy McInnis, the new manager of the Phillies, announced that he was virtually looking for a whole new team, or, at least, for two pitchers, two infielders and an outfielder.

Dreyfuss said he had nothing to buy and nothing to sell, but his manager, Donie Bush, declared he was in the market for a pitcher, an outfielder and an infielder for the Pirates.

The destination of Eddie Collins, late manager of the White Sox, was in doubt. One report had him returning to the Athletics; another destined him for the Yanks, with Lazzeri being shifted over to shortstop. Miller Huggins, manager of the Yanks, was absent in Chicago, but Business Manager Ed Barrow said he had never heard of such a proposition.

American Leaguers Gather.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 (AP).—There is no desire on the part of the American League club owners to supplant Kenesaw Mountain Landis as Baseball Commissioner, or to oppose his re-election for a seven-year term, which will come up at the joint meeting of the major league clubs here Thursday. This was apparent tonight as club owners of the American League gathered for their annual meeting tomorrow and Wednesday.

Commissioner Landis will have the unqualified support of Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, and Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, and it is considered likely no American League magnate will raise his voice concerning any opposition to the renewal of Commissioner Landis's term. It is probable that the American League, in extending its endorsement, may decide to boost Landis's annual salary of $50,000 to a higher figure.

The American League club owners are expected to concur in the action of the National League in voting to extend the 1927 campaign into the frist week in October, instead of ending the season the last week in September, as was done this year.

As the American League club owners seemed to have settled in advance what their decision will be on the major questions coming up, it is likely that spirited trading sessions will overshadow the news of the deliberations of the owners.

New Pilots on Job.

Five new managers in the American League gives evidence of the unrest on the part of the club owners, and in each case the new pilot will be looking for a chance to bolster his team. Jack McCallister was named manager of the Cleveland Indians, succeeding Tris Speaker, in time to come here to negotiate trades if possible. Ray Schalk, the new leader of the Chicago White Sox, will be on hand endeavoring to find a second baseman or shortstop to take the place of Eddie Collins. The former White Sox leader has been reported variously as going to the Athletics or the Yankees. Collins always has been a high-priced man in baseball and a reported salary of $35,000 a year may determine what connections he will have for 1927.

Dan Howley, the new pilot of the Browns, has announced that George Sisler will be the Brown's first baseman in 1927, closing the door on gossip that the former Browns manager was on the market. The deal for the purchase of the Columbus American Association club by the Cincinnnati Nationals may be consumated before the joint meeting here is over. Joe Carr, President of the Columbus Senators, will meet Garry Herrmann, President of the Reds, to talk the situation over with Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago packer, and holder of the majority of stock of the Columbus club.

Dreyfuss to Wage a Fight Against Big League 'Farms'

When the Major League owners gather at the joint session in Chicago Thursday, Barney Dreyfuss, head of the Pittsburgh Pirates, will wage a fight against "farms" or minor league clubs which are controlled by major league clubs. Mr. Dreyfuss complained that one National League team alone—the Cardinals—owns six minor league clubs, which he described as unfair, not only to other owners, but to the minor league players.

President Dreyfuss has described the major league owners as "a bunch of hypocrites" because they preached the draft but practiced the "farm."

SHILLING TOPS BATTERS.

Has Average of .353 in New York-Pennsylvania League.

The batting championship for 1926 in the New York-Pennsylvania League was captured by Ralph Shilling of York, according to the official averages released yesterday. He had a mark of .353, taking part in 112 games, going to bat 354 times and making 125 hits. Faber of York made the greatest number of hits, 172, gaining fourth place in the batting race. John Roseberry, Shamokin, led in home runs with ten. Don Donaldson of Scranton made the most runs, 106.

Club batting honors were captured by York which compiled an average of .282.

McGRAW STOPS ROCCO.

Philly McGraw of Detroit knocked out Johnny Rocco of New Rochelle in the fourth round of a scheduled ten-round feature bout on the Elks Crippled Kiddies Fund card at the Fourth Regiment Armory, Jersey City, last night. The going was fast from the start, but McGraw's terrific right to the heart dropped Rocco for the count. In the semi-final of ten rounds, Sid Barbarian of Detroit won the popular decision from Billy White in a bout packed with action from the opening round to the finish. White rallied in the closing rounds and dropped his rival for no count in the final, but Barbarian's early lead was too much to overcome.

In another ten-rounder, Jimmy Britt, new lightweight arrival from the Coast, knocked out Paulie Alberts of Jersey City in the third round with a right hand punch to the chin.

SLATTERY BEATS WALLACE.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP).—Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo won the decision over Mike Wallace of Cleveland in a ten-round bout here tonight. Slattery weighed 168½ and Wallace 176. Slattery's margin was a slight one. Frankie Garcia, Utica, 117, defeated Mike Marcella, Rochester, 116½, in six rounds.

Mickey O'Donnell, San Francisco, 141, boxed Willie Lavin, Buffalo, 148, to a six-round draw. Paul Doyle of New York knocked out Bob Lowery of Scotland in the fourth round of a scheduled eight-round semi-final. They, too, are welterweights.

LEROY BEATS CONWAY.

Has Better of Bout in Newark—Ryan Stops Connors.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 13 (AP).—Russie Leroy, Fargo, N. D., welterweight, tonight got a newspaper decision over Al Conway of Philadelphia in a thrilling ten-round engagement at Laurel Gardens. Leroy weighed 143 pounds and Conway 140.

In the semi-final Sailor Denny Ryan, Waterford, Conn., lightweight, knocked out Jack Connors of Los Angeles in the second round of a scheduled ten-round match.

Smith Restored as Promoter.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 13 (AP).—Announcement was made here tonight after the ten-round Eddie O'Dowd-Jimmie Reed bantamweight match, won on a newspaper decision by the former, that Cliff Smith had been restored by Boxing Commissioner Bugbee as promoter of boxing in this city.

Cohen Wins From Kid Lee.

WOMEN'S GOLF PLAY GOES TO APAWAMIS

Westchester and Fairfield Association Names Course for Title Tourney in June.

RE-ELECTS MRS. PATERSON

Also Retains Mrs. Hungate as Treasurer—Indoor Putting Course Completed Here—Other News.

By WILLIAM D. RICHARDSON.

The Apawamis Club, located at Rye, N. Y., received the annual championship of the Women's Westchester and Fairfield County Golf Association at the yearly meeting of that organization held at the Hotel Biltmore yesterday. The tournament will be held during the third week in June.

Mrs. Myra D. Paterson of the Westchester Biltmore Country Club was re-elected President of the association and Mrs. Wilson Hungate of Siwanoy was re-elected Treasurer. New officials were elected to two other important offices, Mrs. Harry Noonan of the Westchester Biltmore succeeding Mrs. Harold T. Hartwell as Vice President and Mrs. John Cromelin of Siwanoy, Secretary, in place of Miss Marie R. Jenney.

Mrs. Charles T. Russell of Ardsley was named Chairman of the Committee on Admissions, a position she held last year, but new Chairmen were named to head the committees on handicaps and tournaments, Mrs. George S. Studwell Jr. of Ardsley being named on the Handicap Committee and Mrs. William H. Young of Woodway on the Tournament Committee. Mrs. George S. Wallen of Greenwich will be team captain for 1927 and Mrs. Edgar Arnold of the same club will head the new Nominating Committee.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. Paterson, Mrs. Noonan presided at yesterday's meeting which was preceded by a luncheon attended by forty-five delegates.

Outside of the naming of the championship course and the election of new officials, the main business transacted at the meeting was the increasing of the membership from 225 to 250 and the decision to set aside a fund of $250 to be distributed among the various clubs at which the association held one-day meetings during the past year to be used in the Christmas fund for employes.

Charles L. Motherseie, noted golf instructor, has just finished the construction of an indoor putting course which will be opened on Friday and which will no doubt prove popular to those members of the golfing tribe who are unable to go South during the Winter months. The course, located at 41 East Forty-second Street, is an eighteen-hole layout made out of clay and similar to conditions found at Pinehurst. It is 340 feet in length and the holes are all different, varying from six feet to forty feet. Most of the holes are putting holes, but in the layout are three pitch holes, one of which is across a water hazzard. Weekly competitions will be held with prizes for the low scorers. In connection with the course Mr. Motherseie will have six or eight driving nets and conduct a school for golfers.

The United States Golf Association is preparing to take an aggressive stand in an attempt to secure the repeal of the tax on initiation fees and club dues by the present session of Congress. Arrangements are being made for the appearance before the Ways and Means Committee of the House and the Finance Committee of the Senate, of representatives of the association in an attempt to present fairly the position and attitude of the clubs on this important question.

SPAULDING IS GOLF VICTOR.

New Hampshire Governor-Elect Wins Pinehurst Class B Event.

PINEHURST, N. C., Dec. 13. — Governor-elect Huntley N. Spaulding of New Hampshire won the Class B event in the Tin Whistle golf tournament here today, scoring 66 points in a system which includes bogeys, pars, birdies and eagles. His score was the second highest of the day. He played with Parker W. Whittemore of Boston, qualifier in the national amateur championship, who scored 43 points in Class A.

Mrs. Donald Parson of Youngstown, Ohio, won the medal in the qualifying round of the women's season members' tournament with 45, 45—90. Mrs. Parson was two strokes better than Mrs. John D. Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., who won the Carolina tournament last week.

ADGIE WINS BOUT ON FOUL.

Takes Philadelphia Contest With Romano—Ted Coolidge Victor.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13 (AP).—Matt Adgie of Philadelphia, 167½, won on a foul in the seventh round of a ten-round bout tonight with Richardo Romano, also of Philadelphia. The pair had met twice before and each time Adgie scored a knockout in the seventh round.

Adgie had Romano groggy several times in the early rounds tonight and nearly put him out in the sixth.

Vincent Forgione, Philadelphia, received the judge's decision over Harry Galfund, New York, in the ten-round semi-windup. Forgione weighed 154 and Galfund 155½ pounds.

FAVORS 15-ROUND BOUTS.

Illinois Senator Wants Extension From Ten for Title Contests.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 (AP).—Senator Edward Hughes, a Democratic leader and one of the men responsible for the passage of the Illinois Boxing law, proposes to have the law amended to increase championship bouts from ten to fifteen rounds. He said tonight that he would make this proposal when the Legislature convenes in January.

"Fifteen rounds is a thorough test for any champion, and he should be able to show his class over this route," Senator Hughes said. "Our law should be at least fifteen rounds, the same as New York's."

WAR MAN TRIUMPHS AT JEFFERSON PARK

DAVID L. SCORES VICTORY

Short-Priced Favorite Easily Takes the Tensas Purse—28-to-1 Shot, Edna Cook, Wins.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 13.—W. C. Trover's consistent old gelding War Man won his third consecutive victory and his second in a row at Jefferson Park this afternoon when he took the measure of four others in the Caddo Purse, an allowance event for three-year-olds and upward over the course of a mile and seventy yards. The son of For Fair and Planette was third choice and paid his followers $11.80 for each $2 ticket in the mutuels. Stevens had the mount and War Man ran his race in 1:51 3-5 over a heavy track with 107 pounds up.

Notwithstanding threatening weather and a heavy course there was an excellent Monday turnout. Form did not stand up as in recent days and only two favorites rewarded their backers. One of these was at 2 to 5, one of the shortest-priced favorites of the meeting.

The Caddo Purse had the place of honor on a good Monday card. Despite the fact that War Man had nosed C. E. Durnell's Massillon out of the money on the occasion of their last meeting, Massillon was made the odds-on choice, while the winner was at almost 5 to 1. Massillon's defeat can be laid to poor jockeyship on the part of D. Smith, who raced his mount's legs off in the early part of the running. Smith rushed Massillon into the lead at the start and never gave him a breather. He tired badly in the stretch and was beaten a head.

Wins in Final Jumps.

Stevens rode a first-class race on War Man. He held the gelding off the early pace and when the leader began to tire he brought his mount up with a challenge that was strong enough to carry him to the van in the final jumps. G. W. Carroll's three-year-old colt Endor was a length and a half back to take third money.

The other named event of the day was the Tensas Purse, a claiming race for all ages at six furlongs. The winner was M. Lowenstein's three-year-old colt David L., which appeared a standout in a field of seven. He had the confidence of the public and was one of the shortest-priced favorites of the meeting, being backed at 2 to 5 and paying only $2.80 in the mutuels.

David L. carried top weight of 111 pounds and Garner was in the saddle. Garner broke the colt on top and then took him back of the pace set by W. Meehan's Fenman. The latter had good early speed but tired, finishing far out of the money. Garner took David L. to the front on the turn and he galloped home an easy winner over S. Most's Balboa, which took the place in a drive from J. B. Partridge's Rasull.

Favorites Beaten Twice.

The talent took a trimming in the first two numbers on the card, in both of which the short-priced favorites ran second. In the opener a long shot ran away with the money when W. E. Applegate's filly, Edna Cook, led a field of eleven two-year-old maidens at the finish of the six furlongs dash. She was a 28-to-1 shot and paid such as backed her chances $58 for each $2 ticket. This daughter of Theodore Cook seemed to favor the going and under a good ride by Craver she raced down Juliette Esquin and came to the winning post with a lead of a length and a half over C. Ferraro's War Grail, the 7-to-5 favorite. The latter was weakly ridden by Arnold in the stretch drive.

YALE SETS MAT DATES.

Will Open Wrestling Season Against Brown on Jan. 15.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 13.—Yale's wrestling schedule for the coming season was announced tonight by Stephen Arthur Derby, manager of the team. The season will open on Jan. 15 against Brown. The schedule follows:

TRAPSTOCK VICTOR AT SEMINOLA PARK

HEALY RIDES 3 WINNERS

Scores With The Rove, Louis Rubenstein and Phidias—4 Favorites and 3 Second Choices Win.

Special to The New York Times.

LONGWOOD, Fla., Dec. 13.—Trapstock, the good two-year-old which races for W. Maher, carried topweight of 113 pounds of the field of eight which paraded postward for the five and a half furlong feature of the program here today and equaled the track record of 1:07 2-5 established last year, in winning it. The victor was heavily played, yielding only $2.80 for $2.

Melva Rose broke in front and set a smart pace, and only succumbed to Trapstock in the final strides. The latter was off poorly, but made up ground rapidly. He had to be hard ridden by Jockey S. Banks in the stretch to overtake the leaders, and disposed of Melva Rose only after a stirring duel. Dimple Dunkie showed a good effort to take the show money from Square Jack.

Jockey C. Healy booted three of his mounts home first. He piloted The Rove to victory in the opening sprint, after keeping him back of the pace set by Quanah most of the way. He rode another clever race on Louis Rubenstein in the third contest, keeping the gelding up with the leaders and then repelling Kosciusko in the stretch drive. Phidias enjoyed the benefit of Healy's talent in the sixth race, a mile and seventy yards event, and was on top all the way.

The form players, who got off to an inauspicious start on Saturday when only one favorite scored, settled down today, four races falling to favorites and the other three to second choices.

HOPPE WINS 2 BLOCKS, LEADS MATSUYAMA

Tops Rival, 800-183, as 18.2 Match Opens—Triumphs, 400-153 and 400-30.

Willie Hoppe won both blocks yesterday from Kinrey Matsuyama in the first day's play of their handicap 18.2 balkline billiard match at the Strand Billiard Academy. Hoppe is playing for 4800 points in twelve blocks, against 3600 points for Matsuyama.

In the first block, played yesterday afternoon, Hoppe made 400 points to 153 for Matsuyama. This match lasted nine innings, and the high runs were 119 for Hoppe and 60 for his opponent. Hoppe's high run was unfinished in the afternoon, and was continued in the evening for eleven more.

Hoppe captured the evening block in only four innings, clicking off 400 to only 30 for his Japanese opponent. The former 18.2 champion was in fine form and made two high runs, 188 and 201. Matsuyama's best effort was 16.

At the end of yesterday's play Hoppe led, 800 to 183. The grand averages for both men are Hoppe 66 8-12, Matsuyama 16 7-11.

The score by innings:

AFTERNOON GAME.
Matsuyama—29 10 30 60 0 18 5 1—153.

EVENING GAME.
Hoppe—11 188 0 201—400.
Matsuyama—16 9 5—30.

SMITH DEFEATS BELL.

Wins, 24-17, in Amateur Three-Cushion Tourney at Hoppe's.

Four games were played in the amateur three-cushion handicap tournament at Hoppe's billiard academy last night. Charles Smith, Morris Seidling, Louis Thomas and Philip Levy were the winners. Smith defeated H. Bell, 24 to 17 in 52 innings; Seidling won from Richard Hand, 32 to 23, in 48 innings; Thomas defeated Joseph Ballassy, 30 to 21 in 43 innings, and Levy vanquished Halsey Mohr, 26 to 16 in 40 innings.

M'NAMARA DRAWS $6,000 FOR VICTORY

His Partner, Linari, in Six-Day Bike Grind, Also Receives Like Amount.

28 RIDERS SHARE $75,000

None the worse for the gruelling grind which he captured last Saturday night, Reggie McNamara, cycling iron man, left Madison Square Garden yesterday afternoon $6,000 richer and with a contract for ten weeks in vaudeville.

The occasion was the regular pay-off for the American and foreign participants in the 146-hour bike test, which ended with McNamara and his Italian partner, Pietro Linari, sharing first-place honors and the major spoils of victory. The team received $12,000 for its triumph, and this, it was announced by Manager John M. Chapman, was divided evenly between the two riders.

Altogether $75,000 in prize money was divided among the twenty-eight cyclists constituting the fourteen teams which started the race. Manager Chapman refused to divulge the specific payments to the other teams or to make known the week's receipts. He estimated the attendance for day and night sessions at 100,000, which was an increase over the race of last March, though not up to the record at the last December race, which marked the official opening of the Garden. It is estimated that the receipts for the race were in the neighborhood of $200,000.

McNamara Opens at Newark.

McNamara has accepted a vaudeville engagement, with Charley Winter and Carl Stockholm, which will open in Newark Monday. Jimmy Hunter, retired rider, will accompany the act as master of ceremonies. Linari declined the contract out of a desire to spend Christmas at his home in Italy. He is scheduled to sail tomorrow on the liner Berengaria for Europe. Other European stars accompanying Linari on the trip will be: Franco Georgetti, Gaetano Belloni, Georges Wambst, Charley Lacquehay, Alphonse Goosens, Harry Stockelynch, Theodore Wynsdau, Alfredo Dinale and Pietro Bestetti.

Although he has suffered practically every injury from a split finger to a fractured skull and was knocked about and tumbled in the late grind, McNamara came through last week's race with nothing more serious than a slight cut on the head and track burns on the right arm, the result of the spill of which he was a victim with Linari and Winter fifteen minutes before the scheduled ending of the race. McNamara accepted the vaudeville engagement with the option of cancellation at any time. He is scheduled to ride his next race in Berlin, starting Jan. 14, with Otto Petri, German rider, as his partner.

The next Garden race will get under way on the night of March 4. Manager Chapman was uncertain as to whether he would hold a race in Chicago in February, having experienced difficulty in obtaining a date.

Stockelynch Led Injured.

The only severe injury sustained in the race was that which befell Stockelynch in the last hour of sprinting. He sustained a chipped collarbone when he went down in a spill. Bill Coles's left elbow was injured, and Linari had a blackened eye and a bruised left shoulder. Georgetti's left shoulder was slightly injured.

Alf Goullet attributed his crushing defeat to too much training. "I left my race on the road," said the veteran, explaining that he tried to keep pace in training with McNamara over a stretch of a month and found the program had sapped his strength when he encountered the terrific competition of the race. Many of the foreign riders are to participate in a race which will start in Brussels Dec. 27, for which a number of American stars have been invited.

McNamara and Linari, together with the Italian riders of the race, have been invited to attend a luncheon to be tendered them today by Beniamino Gigli, Italian tenor, in the Metropolitan Opera House star's home, 140 West Fifty-seventh Street.

NAVY NINE GETTING READY.

Candidates to Report to Bender for Cage Practice Next Month.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 13.—Baseball work in the cage will begin early next month under Albert (Chief) Bender, who has been engaged as head coach for the fourth season. Practice will be taken out-of-doors as soon as weather conditions permit. The assistant coaches will be Commander Robert E. Theobald, who is the representative of the Navy Athletic Association for baseball, and another former Navy player, to be named.

Lieutenant George C. Calnan, former intercollegiate champion with the foils, will act as assistant fencing coach and Ensign Charles (Buck) Walsh will assist Coach Butler with the oarsmen.

ALFRED SETS MAT DATES.

Brown, C. C. N. Y. and Michigan Among Rivals Scheduled.

ALFRED, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP).—Brown, C. C. N. Y. and Michigan are newcomers to the Alfred University wrestling schedule, made public today. It follows:

Jan. 15, Cortland Normal.
Feb. 5—Springfield; 9, Syracuse at Syracuse; 10, St. Lawrence at Canton; 11, Springfield at Springfield, Mass.; 12, Brown at Providence, R. I.; 23, C. C. N. Y., at New York City; 26, Brooklyn Poly at Brooklyn.

Date for the meet with the University of Michigan has not been set and a meet February 24 with Rutgers at New Brunswick, N. J., is pending.

Brooklyn Tech Quits Hockey.

The ice hockey team of Brooklyn Technical High School has been disbanded, according to an announcement made yesterday. The team this year was the first in the history of the school, but was unable to secure a full schedule of games or a practice rink.

Appleby Beats H. Hammer.

Edgar Appleby came from behind to win from Herbert Hammer in the first game of the Class A amateur 18.2 balkline tournament at the Hoppe Billiard Academy last night, 300 to 265, in twenty-one innings.

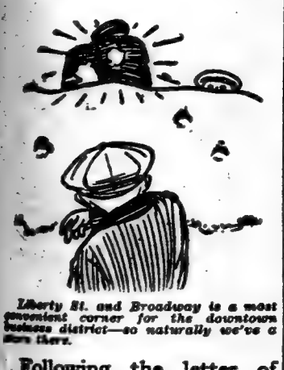
GIFTS FOR MEN

We think about men 12 months of the year—specialize on their needs. That's why we suggest you get his gifts here—because he knows our stores

WALLACH BROTHERS



Liberty St. and Broadway is a most convenient corner for the downtown business district—so naturally we've a store there.

Following the letter of our Japanese friend printed yesterday, we must take a shot at Mr. Mark Sullivan when, in his excellent book Our Times, he says of "Changes in Styles":

"Manufacturers and dealers ceased to strive for durability. Once they fell into the swing of making for style, they felt it was useless to produce goods that would wear well for more than a season."

We've never ceased to strive for durability, and though perhaps we can't guarantee that all our clothing will equal our overcoat's 15-year service record reported from Nogoya, we make our garments of the sturdiest all-wool fabrics we can buy.

And the styles, while up-to-date, are never so extreme that they'll look freakish next season.

Stylish masculine gifts for Christmas.

Among others, are our men's imported dressing gowns as high as $150.

Harvard Football Letter Men Elect Pratt Captain

PRATT TO CAPTAIN HARVARD ELEVEN

Regular Tackle on Crimson Teams of Last Two Years Elected by Letter Men.

HAS FINE PLAYING RECORD

New Leader Has Had Time Out Called for Him Only Once—Also Is Track Star.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 13.—Harvard's football letter men met today, electing Charles A. Pratt Jr., '28, of New Bedford, Mass., captain of the 1927 varsity team. Halfback Chauncey and linemen Simonds and Saltonstall were candidates, but Pratt won by a wide margin. The election was held before the team picture was taken.

Pratt was a regular tackle on the 1925 and 1926 teams, although last Fall it was not until late in the year that he gained his regular berth against Carl Lindner.

The new captain played more football than any other lineman on the squad. During all of his football experience, through both prep school and college, he has had time-out called for him only once, in the Princeton game of 1925. During the past season he has played through the entire four periods in a majority of the Crimson's big games.

Pratt is 21 years old, stands 6 feet 4 inches and weighs 200 pounds. His father, Dr. C. A. Pratt, was graduated from Harvard in 1886.

Harvard's captain-elect played football on his freshmen eleven and also was a big point winner for the freshmen track team two years ago, winning the shot and javelin and being third in the discus. For the varsity track team last Spring he won 11 points against Princeton, taking both the shot and javelin events, and he scored 11 points in the Yale dual meet.

Pratt prepared at Loomis School at Windsor, Conn. He probably will continue his Spring athletic work this year, notwithstanding that there will be a long football drill in April.

He is sure to be a member of the Harvard-Yale combined track team which will go to England next Summer for the international games with Oxford and Cambridge. Pratt will start his conferences with Harvard's head coach, Arnold Horween, immediately. Horween is here for a few days and is expected to remain over for the meeting of all the Crimson's athletic team coaches tomorrow. At that time Coach Horween may announce the members of next year's varsity football coaching staff.

COLUMBIA MATMEN IN ACTION TONIGHT

Will Travel to Elizabeth for Meet With Y. M. C. A. Team—Quintet Back at Work.

Coach Gus Peterson's Columbia wrestling squad will oppose the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. at Elizabeth, N. J., tonight in its second preliminary meet of the year before the season officially opens with Brooklyn Poly at the Columbia gym Saturday. The Blue and White defeated a strong alumni team, 13 to 11, but Peterson is far from satisfied and promises a shake-up.

The heavyweight division received a likely looking prospect yesterday when Willie Williams, reserve football guard, reported. Williams had considerable experience as a member of the freshman mat team two years. The heavyweight class still lacks full strength as Captain Mike Sesit is still undergoing treatment for injuries received during the football season.

The team Coach Peterson expects to use against the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. tonight and their divisions are: Nichols, 115 pound; Simmons, 125; Oliphant, 135; Henriques, 145; Brown, 158; Labasci, 175, and Boyle, unlimited.

The basketball team resumed practice yesterday in preparation for the Rutgers game at the Columbia gym tomorrow night. Coach Dan Meenan's team was upset by St. John's in the opening game Saturday night by a 35-30 score. Despite the defeat Meenan plans to continue using the line-up that started against the Brooklynites.

The annual dinner of the Varsity C Club will be held at the Columbia University Club this evening and all men who received varsity "C's" in 1926 have been invited to be guests.

JAMAICA FIVE WINS EASILY.

The Jamaica High basketball team defeated Brooklyn Tech yesterday afternoon on the Jamaica court, 31 to 10. The Jamaica five was never headed and led at half time, 14 to 2. Marino of Jamaica was the scoring star of the game, with 4 field goals and 1 foul to his credit. Santori of Tech scored 6 of his team's 10 points.

The line-up:

JAMAICA (31).		BKLYN TECH (10).
Beroise	L.F.	Bernstein
Marino	R.F.	Singer
Letwin	C.	Botkin
Poten	L.G.	Ayzazian
Haglund	R.G.	Santori

Goals from field—Jamaica: Marino (4), Poten (4), Langen (2), Hesse (2), Beroise, Albert, Letwin. Brooklyn Tech: Santori (3), Singer. Goals from foul—Jamaica: Marino. Brooklyn Tech: Bernstein (2).

Substitutions—Jamaica: Schoenfeld for Marino, Albert for Beroise, Hesse for Letwin, Barry for Hesse, Beck for Poten, Langen for Haglund, Ellison for Schoenfeld. Brooklyn Tech—Slater for Singer, Meanes for Slater, Cucka for Santori.

Referee—Arrell. Time of halves—15 minutes.

EVANDER QUINTET WINS.

Leads All the Way to Triumph Over Dwight School, 28-15.

Evander Childs defeated Dwight School at basketball on the Seventy-first Field Artillery court yesterday afternoon by the score of 28 to 15. The Evander five led throughout. The score at half time was 14-6.

The line-up:

EVANDER (28)		DWIGHT (15)
McGirr	L.F.	Brunelli
Rabinowitz	R.F.	Seidesman
Maynard	C.	Moness
Russell	L.G.	Johnson
Brennan	R.G.	Horowitz

Goals from Field—Evander, Brennan 4, Russell 4, Rabinowitz 2, McGirr 2, Losee; Dwight, Seidesman 3, Moness, Brunelli. Goals from foul—Evander, Rabinowitz, McGirr; Dwight, Seidesman 2, Moness 2, Brunelli.

Substitutions—Evander, Wolkomir for Russell, Gerwitz for Wolkomir, Meinich for Brennan, Russell for Gerwitz, Brennan for Meinich, Losee for Brennan, Meinich for Maynard, Wilson for Robinowitz, Bloomenfeld for Meinich, Mcgrath for Russell, Maynard for McGirr. Dwight, Van Felt for Horowitz, Weinberger for Moness, Moness for Weinberger, Tishler for Brunelli, Weinberger for Van Felt.

Referee—Levenson. Time of quarters—8 minutes.

Commodore Nichols to Head New York Yacht Club Again

Other Flag Officers Also Nominated for Re-election on Thursday—Norway, England and Germany Likely to Compete Here Next Season for Cups.

By SEABURY LAWRENCE.

The annual meeting and election of the New York Yacht Club will be held on Thursday night at the clubhouse, 37 West Forty-fourth Street. Commodore George Nichols, who has served for the past two years, has been nominated to head the club once more on the regular ticket and no opposition is expected to this choice. An active racing man himself, Commodore Nichols will be sure to keep this great organization on a progressive plane as far as the sport of sailing goes.

Other flag officers of the club have been nominated for re-election. Vice Commodore Vincent Astor will continue in that post and Winthrop W. Aldrich will fly the flag of Rear Commodore. George A. Cormack again will serve as Secretary. Mr. Cormack is the senior officer of the club in point of service, having succeeded the late J. V. S. Oddie as Secretary in 1902 and having served continuously ever since.

Gherardi Davis is slated to continue, it is understood, as Chairman of the Race Committee. Mr. Davis has held this post since 1923 and under his direction the racing fleets have been very well handled. Clinton Mackenzie and Edmund Lang will be Chairman Davis's assistants during the 1927 season, as they were this year.

At this late date it is assured there will be no race for the America's Cup in 1927; although Sir Thomas Lipton had been expected to challenge. The job is a big one for a man of Sir Thomas's years to face—although the spirit is there.

While there will be no contest for the famous schooner's blue ribbon trophy there will be excellent small boat racing for international prizes in American waters. It is practically assured now that Scandinavian yachtsmen will come here in an effort to recapture the Norwegian Gold Cup, won last year at Oslo by the six-meter boat Lanai, owned by Herman Whiton of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club.

It is also probable that British sailormen will bring a six-meter yacht over in an effort to carry away again the no. 4 Seawanhaka Cup. This time-honored trophy was taken to the Clyde by Coila III in 1922 and won back in 1925 by the same Lanai, then sailed by the ubiquitous Sherman Hoyt.

The races for the Norwegian Cup and the Seawanhaka Trophy will be sailed off Oyster Bay under the auspices of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club, a club that has fostered international six-meter racing for several years.

The Germans are also expected to come over for some races in the old sonder class, which went so strong back in 1912. International sonder class racing probably will be held by the Beverly Yacht Club on Buzzards Bay and by the Eastern Point Yacht Club at Gloucester, Mass. The class is still a good one at these clubs.

J. W. Alker, Commodore of that famous yachting family, has purchased the Yankee, a crack R boat of the Marblehead fleet, from Charles A. Welch 2d of Boston and will race the sloop in Long Island Sound and at Marblehead in 1927.

Many of the crack skippers of the Long Island Sound fleet will go to Havana late in January to sail in the international Star Class races for the Midwinter Challenge Trophy and the Bacardi Cup. Sherman Hoyt will be one of the noted American helmsmen to make the trip and will make his début as skipper of a Star boat. Captain Hoyt has sailed almost everything else, from six-meters to fifty-footers and has captured more prizes, possibly, than any other American racing helmsman outside of Harry Maxwell.

He will have strong competition in the Havana races, meeting such crack Star Class skippers as Ernest Ratsey, George Elder, E. T. Bedford, W. J. McHugh, Bill Inslee, Ben Comstock, winner of the last international series with Rhody of Narragansett Bay; George A. Corry, father of the Star Class; J. D. Hayward and C. P. Edrington of New Orleans.

Joseph B. Macdonough of the New York Yacht Club has purchased the Sonnica, one of the finest of American schooner yachts and will take part in the squadron runs of the Eastern and New York Yacht Club cruises next Summer. The schooner was purchased from E. T. Burke Jr., through Tams & King.

Sonnica, formerly Savarona, was built by Lawley at East Boston in 1906 and of recent years raced well under the colors of H. S. Shonnard. She is 115 feet long overall and 83 feet on the waterline.

Another fine schooner that has changed hands recently is the Flying Cloud, sold by Rear Commodore Aldrich to Seward Prosser. Flying Cloud in 1923 won the Astor Cup for schooners and recently was fitted with the Marconi rig.

FOUR MAJOR GAMES ON CORNELL SLATE

Princeton, Columbia, Dartmouth and Penn Listed—Tennis and Baseball Dates Out.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 13.—An eight-game football schedule and a baseball schedule of twenty-three games were announced by the Cornell Athletic Council today. The tennis list for 1927 also was made public.

The addition of the Princeton football game has resulted in a slight change in the Cornell list. The open date which usually falls on the third Saturday in October, has been advanced one week.

Clarkson Tech and University of Richmond have been added.

The schedules follow:

Football.

Sept. 24, Clarkson Tech.
Oct. 1, Niagara; 8, University of Richmond; 15, no game; 22, Princeton at Princeton; 29, Columbia.
Nov. 5, St. Bonaventure; 12, Dartmouth at Hanover; 24, Penn at Philadelphia.

Baseball.

April 4, Lynchburg at Lynchburg; 6, V. M. I. at Lexington; 7 and 8, Washington and Lee at Lexington; 9, University of Richmond at Richmond; 16, Ohio State at Columbus; 20, open; 23, Princeton; 27, Fordham; 29, Columbia at New York; 30, Dartmouth at Hanover.
June 9, Seton Hall; 10, Penn; 11, Colgate; 13, Colgate at Hamilton; 14, Penn at Philadelphia.

Tennis.

May 7, Penn State (tentative); 13, Columbia at New York; 14, West Point at West Point; 21, Penn.

LEHIGH FIVE FACES FORDHAM TONIGHT

Pennsylvanians Are Expected to Provide Hard Battle in Annual Game.

The Fordham basketball team expects one of the hardest games of the season tonight, when it faces Lehigh at the Fordham gymnasium. Lehigh was one of the four teams to defeat Fordham last year, winning by 31-30 after an extra period of play. The game will start after the Maroon freshmen meet the undefeated Xavier quintet at 7:30.

It became known yesterday that Fordham will be without the services of Captain Tip O'Neil, who has withdrawn from college because of scholastic difficulties.

The probable line-up:

FORDHAM.		LEHIGH.
Schneider	L.F.	Smith
Landers	R.F.	G. Schaub
DeLany	C.	C. Schaub
Woods	L.G.	Hess
Reardon	R.G.	Billmeyer

A. A. U. MEETS TONIGHT.

Metropolitan Body to Discuss Next Olympic Games.

Plans for the local district's participation in America's preparation for the Olympic games to be held at Amsterdam in 1928 will be discussed as one of the most important matters at the quarterly meeting of the Metropolitan A. A. U. to be held tonight in the Trinity Club, Brooklyn.

It is understood that some radical departures from Olympic preparatory programs of the past are to be recommended, together with an extensive plan for fitting the district's athletes for the qualifying trials which will be held. Various committee reports will be submitted for consideration, and some of the championship fixtures will come up for discussion and award.

PENN GIVES LETTER TO 7 FOOTBALL MEN

Awards Made Though None of Players Were in Columbia or Cornell Game.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13.—Seven members of the University of Pennsylvania varsity football squad who did not play in either the Columbia or Cornell letter game have been rewarded with the varsity "P" for meritorious work throughout the season, loyalty to the team and the excellent spirit they displayed.

They are Joseph T. Laird, Freeland, N. J.; Richard Odiorne, Haverford, Pa.; Stuart Brydon, Buffalo; Thomas R. Freeman, Nantuck, Conn.; Andrew F. Thompson, Garden City, L. I.; J. Harry Miller, Philadelphia, and Edgar C. Fonde, Memphis, Tenn. Two of these players did not possess a letter, while the other five were honored last year. Miller has been a member of the varsity squad for three years, but never played in a letter game.

The Council on Athletics also ratified the appointment of Guy Wight of Salt Lake City, Utah, last year's captain, as assistant wrestling coach. The council also decided to make a new award for junior varsity crew. Hitherto the oarsmen have received their class numerals, but now they will get a white neck sweater with a minor sport blue "P" and red oar decoration.

The following members of last Spring's junior varsity crew get the new award: J. R. Bailey, Mansfield, Ohio; Edward R. McKinley, Glenham, N. Y.; Albert Nylund Jr., Philadelphia; James J. Kelleher, Philadelphia; Walter A. Johnson, Decatur, Ill.; Lee P. McGean, Cleveland; John J. Penney, Baltimore; Stanwood C. Sweetser, Wollaston, Mass., and John P. Berry, Philadelphia, coxswain.

HAAREN HIGH FIVE WINS.

Triumphs Over Theodore Roosevelt Team by 20 to 15.

The Haaren High School basketball team defeated the Theodore Roosevelt five in the Roosevelt gym yesterday afternoon by a score of 20 to 15. It was Haaren's third victory of the season and was gained after a hard fought battle in which Roosevelt trailed by only one point at half time. Goldberg, Haaren forward, was the high scorer for the victors, contributing seven goals to his team's total.

The line-up:

HAAREN (20).		T. ROOSEVELT (15)
Goldberg	L.F.	Hyman
Schensul	R.F.	Goldman
Tessa	C.	Dallas
Wasserman	L.G.	Goodman
Bofisul	R.G.	Hoaberger

Goals from field—Goldberg (3), Schensul (2), Tessa (2), Sekler; Dallas (2), Goldman (2), Goodman, Hoaberger. Goals from foul—Schensul (2), Goldberg, Wasserman, Goodman.

Substitutions—Haaren: Sekled for Goldberg, Pansky for Tessa, Howe for Bofisul. Roosevelt: Vaughn for Hyman.

Referee—Billit, Y. M. C. A. Time of halves—15 minutes.

YALE FIVE DEFEATS PROVIDENCE, 53-23

Piles Up 31 to 8 Lead in First Half—Allen of Losers Scores 11 Points.

SIMMENS SHINES FOR ELIS

He and Charlesworth Get Four Field Goals Each—Yale Freshmen Beat Naugatuck High, 31-21.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 13.—Yale scored almost at will against the Providence College quintet tonight, running up a margin of 31 to 8 points at half time and winning, 53 to 23.

The Yale first team was removed from the floor after the first quarter, and held on the bench until the final five minutes before returning for a final dash.

Simmens and Charlesworth, with four floor goals, and Bill Hardt's three field and three foul goals, for a total point score of 9, were the Yale high-scoring features.

Captain Carmody of Yale was unable to play, because of an ulcerated tooth.

The Yale Freshmen defeated the Naugatuck High School, 31 to 21. The visitors led during the first quarter and were tied, 12 to 12, at half time. Townsend, a Yale substitute, was high scorer with 13 points.

YALE (53).		PROVIDENCE (23).

DARTMOUTH CRUSHES NORWICH FIVE, 42-23

Cadets Flash at Start, but Green Overcomes Lead and Is Never Again Threatened.

Special to The New York Times.

HANOVER, N. H., Dec. 13.—The Dartmouth basketball team had little trouble scoring its third victory tonight, defeating Norwich, 42-23. For a few minutes after the opening whistle the Cadet five led, Bedell and O'Donnell each scoring twice. However, a fast rally, in which Heep, Vossler and Kets each caged two baskets, put the Green team in the lead and Norwich never seriously threatened again.

Dartmouth played fast basketball in the first half, and after the first few minutes completely smothered Norwich. Numerous substitutions slowed down the game in the second half, the Dartmouth scrubs being unable to score with any regularity.

Vossler played a sensational game for Dartmouth, caging seven baskets during the first half. Bedell led the Norwich attack, scoring eleven points.

The line-up:

DARTMOUTH (42).		NORWICH (23).
Vossler	L.F.	O'Donnell
Kets	R.F.	Plumley
Hein	C.	Bedell
Ellis	L.G.	Hourin
Heep	R.G.	Molter

Goals from field—Dartmouth: Vossler (7), Kets (4), Heep (2), Bunge, Taylor, Ellis, Spaeth, Austin. Norwich: Bedell (4), O'Donnell (2), Plumley (2), Hourin. Goals from foul—Dartmouth: Hein (5), Kets. Norwich: Bedell (3), Plumley, Aimi.

Substitutions—Dartmouth: Spaeth for Ellis, Pierce for Hein, Taylor for Kets, Austin for Heep, Oliver for Pierce, Coppen for Spaeth, Bunge for Vossler, Turkevich for Oliver. Norwich: Orr for Molter, Grandy for Plumley, Aimi for O'Donnell.

Referee—Young, North Adams. Umpire—Couture, Windsor A. C.

MARQUAND FIVE LOSES.

Is Beaten by Brooklyn Friends' Quintet, 36-16.

The Marquand quintet was beaten by the Brooklyn Friends five at the latter's court yesterday, 36-16 in a contest marked by a hard playing. Marquand's attack was not very strong, while Friends had both a fast offensive and a good defense.

The line-up:

FRIENDS (36).		MARQUAND (16).
Walsh	L.F.	Davies
Cantor	R.F.	Elgart
Freeland	C.	Wrupprecht
Ohly	L.G.	Hickok
Woodward	R.G.	Griffin

Field goals—Friends: Ohly 4, Woodward 3, Cantor 3, Denning. Marquand: Griffin 3, Wrupprecht, Elgart. Foul goals—Friends: Walsh 7, Cantor, Woodward, Denning. Marquand: Davies 2, Griffin 2, Wrupprecht 2.

Substitutions—Friends: Mentzer for Cantor, Denning for Mentzer. Marquand: Bonstein for Elgart, Datchouse for Wrupprecht, Spear for Hickok.

Referee—Purvere, Adelphi. Time of quarters—8 minutes.

PRINCETON ELECTS WELLES.

Winner of Fitzpatrick Medal to Lead Cross-Country Runners.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 13.—Edward R. Welles, junior at Princeton, today was elected captain of the Princeton cross-country team for the coming year. Welles captained the freshman harrie s two years ago.

Welles is a fast miler and two-miler on the track team and won the two-mile event in the meet with California a year ago. Last year he won the Keen Fitzpatrick Medal, given each year to members of the track team who show the greatest improvement in their events.

The officers of the Cross-Country Club for next season are Robert K. McConnell, President; Paul S. Youngs, Vice President, and Richard L. Kennedy, Secretary and Treasurer. Kennedy also will be manager of the freshman team next year.

The Yale Club Class C squash tennis team increased its lead in the metropolitan championship tourney last night when it defeated the City A. C. on the Yale courts by 7 matches to 0, marking the sixth successive victory of the season for Frank Laforgue's team.

The City A. C., in a tie for second place with the Princeton Club, was expected to make a strong fight for the match and the decisiveness of its defeat indicates further the strength of the Elis, who must now be looked upon as the favorites for the title. Princeton was idle last night, but gains undisputed hold on second place as a result of City's defeat.

The Crescent A. C. gained fourth place by defeating Short Hills in Brooklyn by 5-2 while the Interfraternity Club was losing to the Columbia University Club on the latter's courts by 4-3, resulting in Interfraternity dropping from fourth to a tie for sixth with the Gramercy Park Squash Club, which defeated the Harvard Club, 5-2.

The summaries:

Gramercy 5, Harvard Club 2.

TAYLOR PLANS POLO CENTRE

Will Lay Out Field on Former Vanderbilt Estate in Portsmouth.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 13.—Sandy Point Farm, the former estate of the late Reginald C. Vanderbilt, in Portsmouth, which was recently purchased by Moses Taylor of New York, owner of the adjoining property, Glen Farm, promises to be one of the centres of polo activity next season if the work is completed by that time.

Mr. Taylor, who is still possessor of quite a large stable, is to have both a polo field and a half-mile race track laid out and constructed on his newly acquired property.

Preparations are being made to tear down the old Vanderbilt home, and work has already been started on laying out the polo field, which is to be in a meadow on Wappin Road south of the main entrance to Sandy Point, while the race track will adjoin further to the east.

SHOOTS HIMSELF IN CAPITOL

Veteran of Two Wars Shocks Senators, Representatives and Visitors.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP).—John W. Caldwell of Berkeley, Cal., aged 68, veteran of the Indian and Spanish wars and inmate of the Soldiers' Home here, shot and probably fatally wounded himself, at the top of the Capitol stairway, just off the rotunda, this morning.

No one saw the shooting, but the report of the pistol ringing through the long marble corridors started Senators and Representatives hurrying to their offices and brought quickly about the crumpled body a large crowd of capitol visitors.

In the pocket of his coat were two notes. One said:

"I have suffered a thousand deaths the last six months. Why suffer more when there is no help?"

The other, scribbled in pencil, sounded the same plaintive note of resignation. He also left directions to notify his son, Arthur Caldwell, 2,709 Channing Way, Berkeley, Cal. A daughter, Mabel E. Caldwell, lives at Benning, Cal.

ONCE PROSPEROUS MAN ENDS LIFE WITH SHOT

Alfred E. Goodridge Is Suicide After Futile Hunt for Job for Two and a Half Years.

Alfred E. Goodridge, once a prosperous business man, but more recently unemployed and ill, committed suicide last evening by shooting himself in a furnished room he has occupied at intervals for several years at 436 Clermont Avenue, Brooklyn. He was 60 years old and a widower.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Foley, with whom Goodridge lived, heard a thud and found Mr. Goodridge dead on the floor of his room, a pistol in his hand. In his belongings were found two letters, one to I. H. Goodrich of 6,462 Kimbark Avenue, Chicago, a cousin, and the other to Edward A. West of 312 West 126th Street, New York, a friend. There also were some bonds, but their value was not known.

Until two and a half years ago Mr. Goodridge was New York representative of Woodward, Wright & Co. of New Orleans, a ship supply concern with offices at 80 Church Street. Before that, it was said, he was Vice President of a savings bank here. When the ship supply company closed its New York office Goodridge was left without employment. He tried to find other positions but was unsuccessful because of his age.

Mr. Goodridge had been a member of the Lotos Club since 1902. That he had tried to conceal the decline in his fortunes was seen in the fact that his address was still listed with the club as 80 Church Street.

Mrs. E. R. King's Estate $412,285.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 13.—Mrs. Ella Rives King, who died at her home here, left an estate valued at $412,285.42, according to an inventory filed and ordered recorded in the Probate Court here today.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

While the stock market as a whole continued to advance yesterday, it was investment bonds whose action reflected most strikingly the financial position of the moment. With the largest transactions of any day in eight months past, the upward movement of bond prices was general, but it converged particularly on United States Government bonds and foreign securities. Three of the Government's war and post-war issues went to the highest of the year; two of them, the Treasury 3⅞s and the fourth Liberty 4¼s, to the highest in their history. It was evident response to the Treasury's announcement, yesterday, that last week's offer of "$200,000,000 or thereabouts" in 3¼ per cent. one-year certificates had elicited tenders of no less than $1,096,000,000, of which $229,264,000 had been accepted.

This rather remarkable result represented the largest percentage of over-subscription to any Government loan in our history, except for the thirty-year 4 per cent. offering of this month in 1924, when time money on the Wall Street market was quoted 1 per cent. under the present rate and at much the lowest of any year-end market since 1915. It reflected plainly enough three influences at work in that quarter of the investment market. One is the increasing use of these Treasury short-term loans, whose market valuation changes little, for investment of temporarily idle bank or corporation funds; another, the market's expectation of relatively easy money during the life of this one-year loan; the third, the very great reservoir of capital available for investment.

It was the second and third of these considerations which operated on yesterday's market for other than Government bonds. The day's "averages" both of foreign and domestic loans on the New York Stock Exchange went to new high prices for the year; home bonds bettering their lead over any previous date since 1913 and foreign bonds reaching the highest average of their history. The inquiry for foreign bonds was particularly strong. All of the French Republic bonds went to the year's best price, the German 7 per cents. to the best in their history.

Transactions in stocks on the Stock Exchange, at 1,819,000 shares, were the largest of any day since Oct. 21, when the market was in the first stage of recovery from the lowest prices reached the day before in the severe Autumn reaction. Yesterday's advances were again distributed with great irregularity; in fact, there were numerous net declines of 1 to 3 points, including such recent leaders of the rise as Baldwin Locomotive and United States Steel. The "averages" did not change very greatly for the day, notwithstanding a fairly long list of individual advances varying from 2 to 4 points. The day's money market could hardly be said to have been an influence; the rate on demand loans rose to 5 per cent. on the Stock Exchange, but this was a trifling incident when measured along with the Treasury loan subscription; to which, indeed, the high call-money rate was probably attributable.

The franc moved hardly less vigorously than these other markets. It wavered slightly in the early trading; then, toward the close, ran up rapidly to the season's high rate of 4.00¼ cents, which had been reached last Wednesday. It may be taken for granted that some anxious conferences were in progress last night at Paris between the Government, the bankers and the merchants, as to whether any brake can be applied to a further immediate rise of similar violence. Yet, after all, the exchange market's testimony to the character of the French financial position is unmistakable.

REOPENS EXCHANGE TO GOLDMAN, SACHS

Sidney J. Weinberg as Partner to Be Board Member of Banking House.

OTHER NEW YEAR CHANGES

Strong, Sturgis & Co. and Housman-Gwathmey to Give Way to New Concerns.

The announcement by the New York Stock Exchange yesterday that the international banking firm of Goldman, Sachs & Co. would again become members of the Exchange on Jan. 1 after an absence of four years revealed also the story of the rise of one of the younger generation of Wall Street bankers who will become a member of the firm on that date. He is Sidney J. Weinberg, 35 years old, who started with the firm as an office boy nineteen years ago and whose seat on the Stock Exchange will be utilized to take the banking firm back into the Stock Exchange fold. He will be the youngest member of an international banking firm in the Wall Street district.

Goldman, Sachs & Co. had membership in the Stock Exchange for forty years. In 1922 a joint stock association was formed by the partners and the seat of Harry Sachs, the board member, was sold. Soon thereafter, Sidney J. Weinberg, who had been identified with the firm, purchased a seat on the Exchange and organized his own investment company. By taking him into the firm as a general partner, Goldman, Sachs & Co. automatically will be made members of the Exchange.

Other members of the banking firm are Samuel Sachs, Harry Sachs, Arthur Sachs, Waddell Catchings, Walter E. Sachs, Howard J. Sachs and Henry S. Bowers. There will be no other change in the organization. Goldman, Sachs & Co. are bankers for more than half a hundred of the leading industrial corporations in the country, and recently have been identified as well with important foreign financing.

Several other changes of partnerships were announced in the financial district yesterday.

The firm of Strong, Sturgis & Co. will be dissolved on Dec. 31 and will be succeeded by a firm to be known as W. E. Burnet & Co. The members of this new firm will be W. E. Burnet, J. H. Alexandre Jr., G. J. Little, J. A. Harper and C. C. Pell.

Dissolution of A. A. Housman-Gwathmey Company on Jan. 1 was also announced. The company will be succeeded by a co-partnership under the firm name of E. A. Pierce & Co., with offices at the same addresses as are now maintained by Housman-Gwathmey. Changes in the partnership personnel include the retirement of Harold A. Sands, the admission of Sidney J. White and J. C. Cuppia, and the appointment of Frederick Housman as a special partner.

BANKS' MERGER COMPLETE.

American Exchange and Irving Begin Functioning as a Unit.

Without interruption in service, the American Exchange Irving Trust Company, representing the consolidation of the Irving Bank and Trust Company and the American Exchange Bank, opened for business as a combined institution yesterday. The merger was arranged by the directors last October and subsequently ratified by the stockholders of the two institutions.

The only outward evidence of the merger was the changing of the names on the windows of the banking offices and the placing of new name plates on the desks of various executives. There was no casting of securities through the streets, such as has accompanied some previous bank mergers, and there was no formal celebration.

The foreign and out-of-town business of the American Exchange henceforth will be conducted from the Woolworth Building office of the combined institution, which office also contains the headquarters of Lewis L. Clarke, who was President of the American Exchange.

The new institution operates twenty-five branch banking offices. With total resources of more than $800,000,000, it is the third largest banking corporation in New York.

HOBART COMPANY FINANCING

Sale of Stock for Public Offering Follows Business Expansion.

A substantial stock interest in the Hobart Manufacturing Company of Troy, Ohio, which previously was a close corporation, has been sold to a banking syndicate and will be offered to the public soon. Holders have parted with about 30 per cent. of the outstanding stock, and some treasury stock has also been sold. The syndicate purchasing the stock is composed of the First Investment and Securities Corporation of Cincinnati, Redmond & Co. and W. E. Hutton & Co. of New York and Marshall Field, Glore, Ward & Co. of Chicago.

The company will remain in the hands of the interests now in control. The assets of the Crescent Washing Machine Company of New Rochelle, N. Y., were purchased by the company recently, and the sale of treasury stock is to finance this acquisition.

HEAVY TRADING IN LIBERTIES

Total for Day on Stock Exchange Makes Record for 1926.

Sales of Liberty bonds on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday totaled $2,832,800, the greatest amount for any day since Dec. 30, 1925.

Second Liberty 4¼s led the trading with sales of $1,171,000. Fourth 4¼s also were active, with sales totaling $606,000. The latter issue touched the record high price of 103.10 established on July 2, 1925. Treasury 3¾s established a new record high at 103.01.

These advances followed similar moves in the Liberty group in the last few weeks.

Warns Against Solicitation.

Warning was issued yesterday by the Western Union Telegraph Company that no messenger or other employe is permitted to solicit gratuities for a so-called Christmas fund. Any person making such representations is doing so with improper intent and should be reported at once to the local Western Union manager, the company announces.

General Motors' Stockholders.

The General Motors Corporation on Dec. 11 had 30,210 common stockholders of record, as compared with 27,466 stockholders in the third quarter of the year. Preferred holders on Dec. 11 numbered 50,369, as compared with 47,905 in the third quarter.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

The advance in the motor shares, as much as anything else, featured yesterday's trading on the New York Stock Exchange. Except for that movement, the market was somewhat irregular, although at the close the net gains much outweighed the losses so far as the general list was concerned. Several of the higher-grade railway shares were under accumulation at various times in the course of the day. This was ascribed commonly to the favorable earnings of Class 1 lines. Wall Street found cause for elation in the further improvement of investment demand.

A "Man-Made Market."

Several seasoned observers of the market expressed the opinion yesterday that the present market has strong indications of being a "man-made" affair. From their observation, it appears that the public is not in the market to any great extent, but that those who have charge of particular stocks are determined merely not to let the market falter, but rather to hold it up until the attention of the public is attracted to it. The theory is pretty if correct. At any rate, it seems fair to say that trading activities are largely professional and that stocks are being churned about in Wall Street, going out one door and in another, without ever leaving the district. The theory is further advanced by those who do not care particularly for the present market that those who are interested in stocks at the present time probably are sufficiently equipped to carry through their plan of holding the market up.

The Motors Move Up.

An advance in the motor shares which, in comparison with recent movements in this group, might be described as spectacular excited much comment in Wall Street yesterday. The explanation for the sudden expansion of buying seemed to lie in reports from Detroit that the stocks of unsold cars had been greatly reduced. This news was considered more significant, coming as it did after a period in which there had been much pessimistic comment regarding the situation in the automobile industry. Wall Street was told yesterday that there has been a gratifying increase in sales within recent weeks and that conditions in the industry are quite hopeful.

Strength in Railway Shares.

The advance of Pere Marquette on the stock market in the late forenoon to 122, a new high record and an increase of 5 points over Saturday's closing, appeared to lend strength to other railroad shares. New York Central, Great Northern, Chesapeake & Ohio and Nickel Plate gained, and Lehigh Valley advanced another point. The margin between dividends and earnings is still growing on many of the higher priced railroad shares and these are being favored by the investing public. At the same time, enough doubt surrounds the consolidation situation to encourage speculative buying, and there is no prospect that the present session of Congress will do anything drastically affecting railroad earnings.

Lire Stays Above Franc.

The persistent manner in which the Italian lire maintains its premium over the French franc, despite the steady upward movement of the latter, is causing much discussion in Wall Street as to the relative positions in which these two currencies will be fixed when stabilization is undertaken definitely. The lira yesterday reached its highest level in several years, being quoted fractionally at more than 4.61 cents in a continuation of an advance that set in last week. The franc hovered slightly over 4 cents most of the day. Before the war the franc always commanded a higher rate than the lira, and many believe the national wealth of the two countries eventually will dictate a return to that condition. The Italian Government, however, has been aggressive in advancing the lira rate and has preceded France in many financial reforms. It is considered likely that a fairly definite understanding between France and Italy will accompany whatever stabilization plans are finally decided on.

Bond Sales Push Ahead.

The flotation of more than $100,000,000 of new bonds in the first two days of this week reflects a desire to get important issues out of the way before the usual holiday dullness sets in and also to take advantage of the present strength in the bond market. Ordinarily, the volume of new bonds offered yesterday and scheduled for sale this morning would furnish a very fair average for a full week. The list so far includes important foreign, industrial and municipal issues, and additional important offerings are listed for the remaining days of the week.

Treasury Financing Affects Money.

The mid-month Treasury financing cast its shadow on the call-money market yesterday. Despite the sharp increase in reserves shown by the Clearing House banks' statement, the banks called a considerable volume of loans, forcing the call money rate from 4½ up to 5 per cent. The operations of tomorrow include the paying off of approximately $450,000,000 of Treasury certificates, as against a new issue of only $300,000,000; the disbursement of $77,000,000 in interest on Government obligations, and the collection of income taxes estimated in excess of $400,000,000. A fairly firm range of money rates is expected for the balance of this month, as after the completion of the Government's financing the market will be preparing for the year-end settlements and for large disbursements of interest and dividends on Jan. 1. After the turn of the year, however, an appreciably lower range of money rates is considered likely.

The Careless Stockholder.

Fresh evidence that many stockholders, either through neglect or ignorance, lose money through not paying strict attention to their securities has been offered in the case of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey financing. Such a condition is not unusual in the bond business because usually when particular bonds are called for payment and interest ceases, several of them are not presented for payment for a year or so afterward. In the case of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, holders of this stock had the right to subscribe for the new 5 per cent. debenture bonds. The subscription books closed on Nov. 20 and it was found that many shareholders had not taken any advantage of an offer which would have netted them a clear profit of $1.80 on each share of Standard Oil stock held and that they must now be content to turn in their preferred for redemption next March at $115 a share.

MONEY.

MONDAY, DEC. 13, 1926.

Stock Exchange call money was firmer under the stress of meeting the heavy mid-month payments. Approximately $30,000,000 was withdrawn by local and interior banks as a first step in this direction, the rate tightening to 5 per cent. after renewal had been arranged at 4½. Time money market remained at a standstill, very little in the way of new money being reported loaned, only renewals and replacements taking up the activity and these were placed at 4½ and 4¾ per cent. No changes were reported in the acceptance or commercial paper markets.

The Port of New York Authority

New York-New Jersey Interstate Bridge 4% Gold Bonds Series B

Dated December 1, 1926 Due as shown below

Redeemable at the option of The Port of New York Authority at 100% and interest on any interest payment date, on or after December 1, 1936, upon four weeks' notice. If less than all of the bonds outstanding at any given time shall be called for redemption they shall be called in the inverse order of their maturity. Coupon bonds in the denomination of $1,000 each, registerable as to principal only or both principal and interest. Principal and semi-annual interest (June 1 and December 1) payable in United States gold coin at The National City Bank of New York.

Legal investments by Statutes of the States of New York and New Jersey for all public officers and bodies in the respective States, and their municipal sub-divisions, and for insurance companies and associations, savings banks, savings institutions, savings and loan associations, executors, administrators, guardians, trustees and all other fiduciaries.

These bonds are direct and general obligations of The Port of New York Authority and, in the opinion of counsel, will be secured by a first lien or charge upon revenues and tolls arising out of the use of the bridge. This is the first installment of an authorized issue of $60,000,000 for the purpose of constructing a bridge across the Hudson River between points between 170th Street and 185th Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, (being that part of the Borough of Manhattan known as Fort Washington) on the New York side and points approximately opposite thereto in the Borough of Fort Lee on the New Jersey side. Of the amount authorized it is believed $50,000,000 will be sufficient to construct the bridge to its initial capacity, the present plan contemplating the use of the additional $10,000,000 if after the opening of the bridge with such capacity it proves necessary or desirable to enlarge the bridge. The States of New York and New Jersey are advancing jointly the sum of $10,000,000, payable in five equal annual installments, beginning in 1927, toward the construction of the bridge. By the terms of the Acts authorizing these advances, repayments are specifically subordinated to the obligations of the Port Authority on these bonds.

The Port of New York Authority is obligated under Statutes of the States of New York and New Jersey and by the terms of the resolution authorizing these bonds to establish and maintain adequate tolls and charges for the payment of interest and principal and payments to the reserve fund, and charges for operation and maintenance of the bridge, and the performance of this duty may be compelled by any court of competent jurisdiction upon application of any bondholder. The States of New York and New Jersey have contracted that they will not limit or alter the right and obligation of the Port Authority to establish and maintain adequate tolls and charges for such purposes, and this contract by the terms of the bonds and of the acts authorizing their issuance has become a contract between said States and the holders of the bonds.

Analyses of ferry traffic indicate that 5,000,000 vehicles would have been diverted to the Hudson River Bridge in 1926 had it been in operation, which traffic would have returned a revenue estimated at $3,407,000, or more than 1⅓ times interest charges on a bond issue of $50,000,000 bearing an average interest rate of 4½%. It is estimated that by 1932 when the bridge is opened for traffic the estimated net revenues will be $5,250,000 or more than 2½ times interest on $50,000,000 bonds.

The War Department of the United States has approved the plans and issued its permit for the construction of the bridge.

We offer these bonds if, as and when issued and received by us. Legality of this issue has been approved by Julius Henry Cohen, General Counsel for The Port of New York Authority, and by Thomson, Wood & Hoffman, Counsel for the purchasers. Copies of these opinions will be furnished upon request. Delivery will be made in the form of Interim Certificates of The Port of New York Authority, on or about December 27th, 1926.

FEDERAL TURNOVER NEARLY A BILLION

Government Will Pay Off About $453,000,000 and Issue $200,000,000 Bonds.

TO RECEIVE DEBT PAYMENTS

Great Britain Will Pay $68,000,000 Interest and $24,000,000 on Principal of War Loans.

A turnover approaching a billion dollars of funds for Government account will take place tomorrow, representing the Treasury's quarterly financing, the collection of income tax payments, the distribution of interest on Liberty and Treasury bonds and the receipt of instalments on debts owing from foreign nations.

Preparations for these operations were reflected in the money market yesterday, when the call loan rate advanced from 4½ to 5 per cent. as a result of the withdrawal of about $30,000,000 by the banks. Besides the Government operations, there will be a large turnover on Dec. 15 by corporations, which will distribute considerable amounts in dividends and interest.

The operations of the Government will cover a wide range. The Treasury will pay off about $453,000,000 of certificates which mature on Dec. 15. At the same time it will issue something over $200,000,000 of new certificates of indebtedness, which, bearing interest at 3¾ per cent., have already been heavily oversubscribed. Interest aggregating $77,000,000 will be payable on First Liberty Loan 3½ per cent. bonds, convertible 4 per cent. bonds, convertible 4¼ per cent. bonds, second convertible 4¼ per cent. bonds; on 4 per cent. Treasury bonds of 1944-54, on Treasury notes, series A-1927 and on certificates of indebtedness series TD-1926. Of above total, about $39,000,000 will be payable at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Payments on debt account by foreign Governments will total about $95,000,000. The bulk of these payments will be made by the British Government, through the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Great Britain will make a regular semi-annual payment of about $68,000,000 of interest and an instalment of about $24,000,000 on the principal of her war debt to this country. Debt payments also will be received from Finland Czechoslovakia.

Heavy withdrawals of funds to the interior of the country furnished one of the factors responsible for the hardening of money rates. The call loan rate had been ranging around 4½ per cent. with concessions under that rate and the country banker found a better return available in their own communities, with the holiday demands making themselves felt. After the advance to 5 per cent., an increased volume of funds came into the market and conditions became stabilized.

Somewhat lower money rates are expected later this week, as the paying off of the Government maturities will not be immediately offset by the payments to the Government. For the balance of the month as a whole, however, firmness is to be expected, as the banks will be preparing for the year-end settlements and the heavy payments of dividends and interest that always take place on Jan. 1. After the turn of the year most observers expect materially lower money rates.

ADAMS PROCESS OLD, OIL WITNESS SAYS

Professor McKee Testifies for the Government in Suit Over 'Cracking' Patent.

The Government opened its rebuttal yesterday in its action against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and forty-seven other companies, by which it expects to prove that the companies have collected royalties from other concerns for the use of a process which it alleges is not exclusive defendant property. Special Master Charles Martindale, 26 Broadway, is hearing testimony. The action was started two years ago in Illinois and was transferred to New York for the taking of testimony. On the outcome will depend the disposal of about $400,000,000, it is said.

Professor Ralph H. McKee of Columbia University, the principal witness for the Government, was on the stand throughout the day. His testimony was mainly in refutation of statements of Robert E. Wilson, who has testified concerning patents of Joseph H. Adams, a Brooklyn inventor, who is now a Standard Oil Company employe and whose alleged discovery of a process for obtaining gasoline by a cracking process is the basis of the action.

The Government charges that the Adams process is not new and is merely an improvement of processes in use in Europe for many years. Formerly about 17 per cent. of crude oil was converted into gasoline; the Adams process allowed the conversion of about 40 per cent. Professor McKee, with textbooks and other volumes, essayed to show yesterday that European scientists used the same process as Mr. Adams perfected and that there were only slight differences between the apparatus used by them and by Mr. Adams. The Government charges that merely because the defendants bought from Adams the right to his information does not make it exclusive.

The hearing will be resumed this morning.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Italian Lire Sell to Highest in Three Years—French and German Strong.

Another wave of buying in the Italian lire by Continental "shorts"—Amsterdam, Berlin and Switzerland particularly—who had sold over the last month accounted for a new high yesterday, Roman checks selling up to 4.60¾ cents, a jump of 8½ points over Saturday, and unequalled since mid-June, 1923.

Business was very active on the advance, bids being filled partly by local Italians who had purchased the exchange when it was being speculatively depressed and by banks usually affiliated with movements in the lire.

French franc also displayed a strong tone, good buying bringing a recoil to its previous high at 4.00¼ cents, a gain of 2 points over Saturday. There was a sharp rally in German marks, which crept up 1½ points to 23.79 cents. The usual seasonal flow of funds to German relatives was ascribed as the principal reason for the rise.

Changes elsewhere in the list were narrow and unimportant. Sterling was firm around $4.84 9-16, as previously. Scandinavians, Swiss, Spanish and Holland were dull. Chinese currencies improved, while the Indian and Japanese descriptions reacted. In the South Americans the Uruguayan peso rose 1⅝ cents, to $1.01⅝.

FIGHT CONFIRMATION OF ST. PAUL'S SALE

Holders of Stock Join Jameson Group in Opposing Order by Judge Wilkerson.

APPEAL TO HIGHEST COURT

Miller Serves Notice on Jurist of Petition for Rehearing for Minority Interests.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 (AP).—Confirmation of the recent sale at auction of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway and approval of the reorganization plan designed by the buyers to lift the system from receivership met strenuous opposition in Federal court today, and it was indicated that the hearing of testimony and attorneys' statements would not be completed until next Wednesday. The matters came before Judge James H. Wilkerson in pursuance of the legal requirement that they be taken up three weeks after the sale of the road.

To the opposition of the Jameson group of holders of junior securities of the road was joined the plea of a stockholders' group. It, too, asked that the sale not be confirmed and that the plan of reorganization be not approved.

Speaking for the Jameson group, Nathan L. Miller, once Governor of New York, requested that should the sale and reorganization be approved three months from the date of the order of confirmation be allowed his clients in which to deposit their bonds with the reorganization managers. He served notice upon Judge Wilkerson that a petition had been presented today to the Supreme Court of the United States for a writ of mandamus to compel the granting of an appeal from the Judge's order denying the Jameson group the right of intervention and directing that the road be sold.

John F. Stevens, an internationally known engineer, testified for the Jameson committee that a great deal of money could be spent with the assurance that thereby the railroad's net income would be bettered. He said grades should be reduced and modern shops installed, and that the Chicago terminal was "rather bad" and expensive.

Those favoring confirmation of the sale and approval of the reorganization plan will need a day and a half to complete their testimony, they said. This group is headed by Robert T. Swaine of New York, one of the two purchasers of the railway when it recently was sold in Butte, Mont.

The sale price was $140,000,000, and the purchasers, representing Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the National City Company of New York, the reorganization managers, immediately made over their purchase to the Chicago Milwaukee & Pacific Railroad Company, a Delaware corporation, organized to handle the reorganized systems.

RIO GRANDE'S 1927 BUDGET.

Company Will Spend $7,000,000 on Work on Roadbed.

The budget of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad for 1927, it was announced yesterday, provides for an expenditure of approximately $7,000,000.

Ballasting, which was carried on extensively in 1926, will be completed next year. The entire main line from Denver to Ogden will then be fully ballasted, except on short stretches aggregating about eighteen miles, where important line changes are to be made in 1928.

Substitution of heavier rails for lighter is progressing, and 110 miles of new 90-pound and 110-pound rail, rolled by the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company at Pueblo, will be laid between Denver and Salt Lake City. The released rail will be used to replace that of lighter weight in branch lines side tracks and yard tracks.

PALESTINE COUPONS DUE.

First Interest on Bonds to Be Paid Through Customers' Own Banks.

First coupons of General Mortgage Bank of Palestine bonds become due and payable Jan. 2, it was announced yesterday by Palestine Securities, Inc. Bondholders have been directed to clip coupons due Jan. 2 and deposit them with their own banks with instructions to collect through the State Bank of New York City.

The bonds, totaling $500,000, were floated to relieve the housing shortage in the Holy Land and helped provide employment for immigrants. The bonds pay 6½ per cent. and were guaranteed by the General Mortgage Bank of Palestine. The mortgages behind the bonds are placed on improved Palestine real estate.

The only other Palestine bonds floated here were in the name of the Township of Tel Aviv and were payable through the Guaranty Company.

Bank Raises Dividend Rate.

The Bank for Savings in the City of New York has declared a dividend of 4¼ per cent., increasing its rate from 4 per cent. Lewis B. Gawtry, President, said the trustees voted this increase, "feeling that the accumulated earnings created were amply sufficient for the safety of the depositors." The surplus and undivided profits accounts of the bank exceed $26,000,000.

New Board to Organize.

The new Board of Governors of the Rubber Exchange of New York will be organized on Thursday night, after a dinner in the Hotel Roosevelt. The board has been enlarged to fifteen members by the addition of L. D. Tompkins, J. W. Rowland, Herman Muchlstein, W. L. Harriss, F. H. Robinson Jr. and Robert L. Baird.

AN unnecessary TAX upon your Capital

If you are careless, your estate may pay taxes to almost every State in the Union.

If you are prudent, you will pay your taxes only to the Federal Government and the State of your residence.

Investors who consult with us receive advice that protects them from inheritance tax troubles.

We recently investigated an estate that had suffered a depreciation of almost 25% due to the fact that in addition to the Federal Inheritance Tax, the estate had been taxed in about fifteen separate States.

It is important that your investments be conservative as to principal and dependable as to income. It is equally important that they be subject only to necessary inheritance taxes.

We counsel our clients to act primarily for the protection of their principal. We discriminate carefully in selecting bonds and stocks for them.

The value of our experience in arranging the investments of our clients with relation to the problems of taxation has many times been proven.

ASKS FOR COOPERATION

Steel Man Hopes for Similar Development in Our Cultural and Spiritual Activities.

Charles M. Schwab, Chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, believes that "efficiency and economies upon a progressive scale, not merely in production but in marketing methods as well," offer the best protection for our markets against foreign competition.

In a statement prepared with the idea of appraising conditions "at the turn of the year," Mr. Schwab said the United States is enjoying "astounding" prosperity and appealed for cooperation in maintaining it.

"At no time in history," said Mr. Schwab, "have the people of an entire nation enjoyed the prosperity prevalent in the United States today. At no time have people dreamed of the universal use of luxuries which we accept as our birthright. Our material prosperity is astounding, so remarkable in fact that business men are coming from all parts of the world to study our methods.

"It is my hope that our spiritual and cultural prosperity will now show similar development. We have conquered poverty. Let us conquer disease. We have abolished illiteracy. Let us develop finer methods of education. We have saved time and increased production by making machines do our work. Let us make worthwhile the additional leisure now on our hands.

"We still have many problems before us. Our very prosperity makes foreign manufacturers cast envious eyes at our markets. To maintain our markets and our present high wages with reasonable profits for manufacturers we must realize efficiency and economies upon a progressive scale, not merely in production, but in marketing methods as well.

"Both in industry and in agriculture there must be cooperation among the factors involved to an extent never before considered necessary or even desirable. Farming must be conceived on a more scientific basis. There must be greater integration of agricultural producing units. We must apply to our fields the methods of large scale production which have been found succesful in our factories. Waste in marketing must be minimized on the farm as well as in industry.

"These things can and will be done through the cooperation of heads of industries, farmers, bankers, Wall Street men and ranchers. We have the greatest country in the world, and with intelligent effort, a feeling of humility and with faith in one another nothing is beyond our power of achievement."

RAIL TRAFFIC RECORD SET DURING OCTOBER

Increase Put at 8.9 Per Cent. Over Previous Mark—Gain of 9% for 10-Month Period.

The greatest volume of traffic ever handled by the railroads in one month was moved in October this year, according to an announcement yesterday by the Bureau of Railway Economics.

This freight traffic amounted to 48,273,089,000 net ton-miles, which exceeded by 3,944,912,000 net ton-miles, or 8.9 per cent., the best previous record for any month, which was established in September this year. The heavy freight movement was handled without car or locomotive shortage except in isolated instances.

Total freight traffic for the month represented an increase of 9.6 per cent. over the same month last year and of 11.9 per cent. over the same month in 1924.

The Eastern district showed an increase of 15 per cent. in amount of freight traffic handled, compared with one year ago, while the Southern district showed an increase of 2.1 per cent. The Western district reported an increase of 5.5 per cent.

The railroads also handled record traffic during the first ten months of this year. The total amounted to 405,131,386,000 net ton-miles, or an increase of 4.9 per cent. over the best previous high record for the first ten months, which was established in 1923.

The volume of freight handled in the first ten months also was an increase of 7.3 per cent. over the corresponding period in 1925 and an increase of 13.6 per cent. over 1924.

For the ten months' period the railroads in the Eastern district showed an increase of 9 per cent. over the same period last year, while the railroads in the Southern district showed an increase of 7.1 per cent. The roads in the Western district reported an increase of 5.1 per cent.

LEAVES RUSSIAN SYNDICATE.

Alex Gumberg Goes to United States Company After Three Years.

Coincident with the third anniversary of the All-Russian Textile Syndicate, Inc., tomorrow, Alex Gumberg, General Manager, Vice President, Treasurer and a director, announced his intention of resigning from the syndicate. He has been its moving force since its formation three years ago. He will be associated with the United States Company, after the first of the year, as Vice President and a director. Succeeding him as General Manager of the syndicate will be I. Y. Yonov, who was made a Vice President and director on Nov. 3.

The syndicate, which purchases American cotton, dyes and machinery for the All-Union Textile Syndicate of Moscow, reports purchases during the three years of its existence, amounting to about $130,500,000. Of this amount only about $300,000 was spent for dyes and machinery, and the remainder for cotton. During the twelve months ended on Sept. 30, 1926, it purchased 263,700 bales of cotton, valued at $33,054,445 c. i. f. Murmansk. It also purchased dyes valued at $146,510 and machinery worth $8,130.

The syndicate's balance sheets as of Sept. 30, 1926, showed assets, including cash in banks and on hand, of $1,230,496, and cotton in transit, pledged, $8,179,628.

FERTILIZER FIRMS FINED IN BALTIMORE

36 Pay From $1,500 to $3,500 Each for Violations of the Anti-Trust Law.

THEY MAKE NO DEFENSE

Federal Judge Lets Them Off Lightly Because of Industry's Heavy Post-War Losses.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 13 (AP).—Fines ranging from $1,500 to $3,500 each, according to the financial ability of the companies involved, were imposed by Judge Morris A. Soper in United States District Court today upon thirty-six fertilizer firms accused of anti-trust law violation.

The companies, named in a bill of information filed by the Government on Friday, entered pleas of nolle contendere, which in effect threw them on the mercy of the Court, but did not involve admission of guilt. They remain at liberty to contest any similar charges preferred in the future.

The Government charged them with having entered into agreements tending to eliminate free competition, including port basing, with arbitrary addition to market price of freight rates from certain base ports rather than from the actual shipping point.

"The Government does not charge," Judge Soper said in handing down his opinion, "that prices thus established were excessive; nor has it any proof to that effect."

On the other hand, there was, he said "at least the possibility inherent in the situation that unjust exactions might have followed had not the Government intervened."

In fixing the fines Judge Soper divided the defendants into $1,500, $2,500 and $3,500 classes, according to ratings furnished by Government investigators, and explained that he had "endeavored to keep in mind that the industry has passed through a period of severe loss, which has not yet ended."

Facts developed by the Department of Justice investigation, which lasted a year, and presented to the Court, showed that the American Agricultural Chemical Company, the largest manufacturer in the North, lost $30,-000,000 during what was described as the most disastrous portion of the post-war period, from 1920 to 1924.

The International Agricultural Corporation lost $18,000,000, and the Virginia Carolina Chemical Company, the largest concern in the South, $1,000,000. Total losses in the industry during the period were estimated at $150,000,000.

Three companies named in the Government's complaint did not plead. The Carolina Chemical Company, South Carolina, and the Hand Trading Company, Georgia, were reported to the Court to be in liquidation, and Government counsel announced they would not be asked to plead immediately. Swift & Co. of Illinois did not appear for arraignment.

Companies fined and the States in which they are incorporated follow:

American Agricultural Chemical Company, Connecticut.

GENERAL MOTORS RUMOR.

Stock of Late H. H. Bassett Reported Sold as Price Rises.

One of the reports in the financial district yesterday in connection with the sharp upturn in General Motors shares, which carried the price from 168 to 180 in the last fifteen minutes of trading on the Stock Exchange, was that the shares owned by the estate of the late H. H. Bassett had been privately purchased by a group of bankers at $155 per share.

Mr. Bassett was President of the Buick Motor Company, a division of General Motors, and in this executive position had the opportunity from time to time to purchase General Motors shares at advantageous prices. He also was the recipient of an annual bonus, paid in General Motors shares. The report was that this block of stock, an especially large one, had been "hanging over" the stock market for several days but that a deal was suddenly made by which it could be absorbed without going onto the stock market and liquidated in that manner. No confirmation of the story was obtainable from officers of General Motors or the bankers of the company.

EGYPT'S COTTON IMPROVES.

Favorable Weather Increases Official Estimates of Yield.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CAIRO, Dec. 13.—The final cotton crop estimate declares that since the publication of the second estimate in October climatic conditions have been favorable to ripening and opening of late bolls, thus producing and increasing the yield. The Ministry of Agriculture, after consideration of all available data, estimates the total crop for the season of 1926 as follows: Total seed cotton, 6,836,937 cantars, of which 2,970,458 were of the Sakellaridis variety; total ginned, 7,223,585, of which 2,970,458 were of the Sakellaridis variety.

Cotton for Spinning Mills.

Takings of cotton by spinning mills this season to date stand at 6,766,000 bales, as against 6,561,000 bales last season, it was reported yesterday from New Orleans. This year there have been decreased takings by New England and Canadian mills. Southern mills, which have increased their takings, are estimated to have an advantage of about 5 cents a pound over northern mills in the manufacture of cotton textiles.

16 OIL COMPANIES SHOW GAINS FOR NINE MONTHS

Seven of the So-Called Independent Group Report Decreases—Louisiana Co. Leads List.

Sixteen of twenty-three oil companies, most of them so-called independents, showed gains in earnings in the first nine months of this year as compared with the same period of last year. Seven companies showed decreases while three of the latter group reported deficits.

The greatest increase was disclosed by the report of the Louisiana Oil Refining Company, its gain over the first nine months of 1925 being 122.56 per cent. This company's net of $1,848,986 this year contrasts with $830,789 in the same period of last year. The Barnsdall Corporation with a net of $4,767,-401 in the first nine months of this year as compared with $2,158,996 in 1925 showed a gain of 120.82 per cent.

FIGHTS RAY HERCULES SALE

F. C. Armstrong as Bondholder Appeals to Court.

Frank C. Armstrong, who as a stockholder of the Ray Consolidated Copper Company, engaged in an unsuccessful injunction suit with the officials of that company and directors and stockholders of the Nevada Consolidated Copper Company, to prevent a merger of those corporations, started a new injunction suit in the Supreme Court yesterday over the proposed sale of the assets of the Ray Hercules Mines, Inc., to Charles Hayden, banker, one of the chief defendants in his previous suit.

Alleging that he owns about one-third of the bonds of the Ray Hercules Company, now held by Ellis P. Earle, director of the Chatham-Phenix National Bank and Trust Company as security for a loan, Mr. Armstrong asks for a restaining order against Mr. Earle and J. Guthrie Hopkins as trustee of the property of Ray Hercules. He says he bought $321,590 of bonds for $200,338 cash, that the copper properties were sold in Arizona in 1924 in mortgage foreclosure proceedings, and that the defendants bought them in for the protection of all the bondholders for $450,-000. He asserts that the bondholders are being asked now to consent to the sale of the properties to Mr. Hayden or his representative for $150,000, and that he for one is opposed on the ground that the sum is inadequate.

FOUR PAY EXTRA DIVIDENDS.

Bank, Two Trust Companies and a Utility Order Special Payments.

Four extra dividend declarations were announced yesterday, three by banking institutions and one by a utility company.

The Municipal Bank ordered the payment of an extra of 2 per cent., the Union Trust Company of Chicago authorized an extra of 2 per cent., the Mutual Trust Company of Westchester County, Port Chester, declared an extra of the same percentage, and the Power Corporation of New York announced that an extra of 25 cents a share on its common stock had been ordered. This is the first extra to be declared by the last-named company on its common stock.

The McCrory Stores Corporation declared the regular dividend of 7 per cent. on its preferred stock for 1927, payable in four quarterly disbursements of 1¾ per cent. each.

RESERVE LOANS TO BROKERS DROP

Member Banks Here Report a Decrease of $8,125,000 in Week Ended Dec. 8.

TREND IS NOW DOWNWARD

Interest and Dividend Disbursements Caused Withdrawals and Higher Call Rates.

A decrease of $8,125,000 was announced yesterday in the total of stock and bond collateral loans made to brokers and dealers by the Federal Reserve member banks in New York City for the week ended Dec. 8. The total now stands at $2,638,528,000. Detailed figures on the loans for the last two weeks follow:

	Dec. 8.	Dec. 1.
Loans for own account	$813,368,000	$884,047,000
For out-of-town banks	1,062,969,000	1,025,355,000
For others	762,191,000	737,251,000
Total	$2,638,528,000	$2,646,653,000

Of the total on Dec. 8, $1,956,124,000 consisted of demand loans and $682,-404,000 of time loans, which compared with $1,960,274,000 of demand and $686,-379,000 of time loans on Dec. 1.

Since the end of September the trend of the loans has been downward, with a few interruptions. The four weeks of October witnessed a reduction of more than $210,000,000, and the trend in November also was moderately downward, but the final week of the latter month produced an increase of about $38,000,000. The high point reached at the end of September followed a steady expansion which set in about the middle of May.

The changes shown in the current report were attributed to the conditions in the money market about the first of the month. The record disbursements of interest and dividends, together with the usual monthly settlements, caused heavy withdrawals by the New York banks, which resulted in higher call money rates. The advance in money caused an influx to New York of money that had been withdrawn by banks in the interior of the country, accounting for the increase in loans made for out-of-town account, which offset the contraction in the New York banks' loans for their own account.

The brokers' loans reached their highest total in the week of Jan. 6, at $3,141,125,000. The year's low point was on May 19, at $2,408,695,000.

Two More Christmas Bonuses.

Directors of the Municipal Bank have authorized the payment of a Christmas bonus of 15 per cent. to employes.

Vought & Co. of New York and Boston announced that a bonus of 5 per cent. on yearly salaries, plus an extra week's salary, would be paid to employes.

Stocks and Bonds Soar In Busy 'Christmas Market'

Wall Street's Christmas market continued to spread good cheer, through advancing quotations, yesterday. Both stocks and bonds established high records for the year. In the case of stocks it was a high record for all time.

It is generally admitted in the financial district that trading is to a large extent professional and that "the public is not in the market." Nevertheless, 1,819,495 shares of stock were turned over on the Stock Exchange yesterday and the market appeared to observers to be a broad one, with the motor shares, certain railroad stocks and many issues in the oil group in active demand.

The high record for all time in the average of fifty representative stocks was 140.44. For forty representative bonds the day's high of 89.52 represented a new high for the year. In the case of ten foreign bonds the day's best price of 105.07, for the average, was the highest reached for all time.

COPPER STOCKS RISE.

Surplus stocks of refined copper on Dec. 1 stood at 147,712,000 pounds, an increase of 11,246,000 pounds over the month before, and the largest monthly gain in a year. On Nov. 1 the surplus stocks were 136,466,000 pounds, on Oct. 1 140,274,000 pounds, and on July 1, 1926, the low point of the year 129,980,-000 pounds.

November shipments totaled 241,398,-000 pounds, of which 92,984,000 pounds were exports and 148,414,000 pounds domestic takings. Production of 252,-644,000 pounds of refined copper in November marked an increase of 6,400,000 pounds over the October output. Domestic consumption of copper continues to hold its average, but experts have noted a steady decline. The November reduction in the latter totaled about 11,000,000 pounds as compared with October.

Clark Heads Petroleum Institute.

E. S. Clark, Vice President of the Union Oil Company of California, has been elected President of the American Petroleum Institute for the coming year, succeeding W. S. Farish. Vice Presidents elected were W. N. Davis, Vice President of the Phillips Petroleum Company; L. L. Marcell, President of the White Eagle Oil and Refining Company, and R. D. Benson, director of the Tide Water Oil Company. Amos L. Beaty, Chairman of the Texas Company, was made Treasurer; Larcey Walker, Assistant Treasurer, and R. L. Welch, General Secretary and Counsel.

ALDEN HOUSE APARTMENTS
LARCHMONT, N. Y.

Principal and Interest Guaranteed by Maryland Casualty Company (Resources over $37,000,000)

TRUSTEE:
American Trust Company, New York

SECURITY—Closed first mortgage on land, fronting 256 feet on Boston Post Road, extending to depth of 239 feet on Alden Road and thence 175 feet on Copley Road, Larchmont, together with 6-story and basement elevator apartment under construction thereon. Building will contain 78 apartments, consisting of 249 rooms. The mortgage also covers 8 stores and a 42-car garage along the Boston Post Road line.

LOCATION—This site has an unobstructed view of Long Island Sound. It is within easy walking distance of stations of the New York, New Haven & Hartford and Boston & Westchester railroads. Running time to Grand Central Station is about 36 minutes. Readily accessible to stores, schools, churches and many famous country clubs.

VALUATION and EARNINGS—Land and completed building have been independently appraised by three well known realty firms as follows: Prince & Ripley, $775,000; Chauncey B. Griffen, $800,000; Fish & Marvin, $822,000. Based upon lowest appraisal, this loan represents 58% of value of completed property. Net annual earnings, after deducting operating expenses, taxes, insurance and due allowance for vacancies, has been estimated at $87,465. This is equal to three times the greatest interest charges and more than double the combined interest and amortization charges.

COMPLETION and TITLE GUARANTEED—The Maryland Casualty Company, Baltimore, has executed a bond, guaranteeing completion of building free and clear of mechanics' and other liens. The title is guaranteed by the New York Title & Mortgage Company.

LEGAL for TRUST FUNDS—In the opinion of Counsel, these bond certificates will be a legal investment, upon completion of building, for executors, administrators, trustees and other persons holding trust funds.

DENOMINATIONS—$1,000, $500 and $100, maturing serially, 1928 to 1938. Interest payable May 1st and November 1st. Price 100 and accrued interest to yield 6%, guaranteed.

How the Second Mortgage Industry Has Changed
—write for this new booklet

The Second Mortgage Industry has always offered unusual profits to its investors. But the new methods and practices introduced into this lucrative business by the United States Bond & Mortgage Corporation have brought a new era of great safety and even greater profits.

Only a few years ago there was no conformity of prices or practices in the second mortgage field. By establishing standard discounts and leading the way with conservative operative methods, the United States Bond & Mortgage Corporation has entirely reorganized the field and has created an enviable record of safety and profit. Today this Corporation is the largest second mortgage institution in the country

Its standard policies have created such a demand for its services that more working capital has been deemed advisable to take care of the great number of excellent mortgages now being offered Therefore, the stockholders recently voted for increased capitalization. This issue of capital stock is now offered for public subscription.

A new book, "Sharing Second Mortgage Profits with Investors" affords the investor a very complete analysis of the "New" Second Mortgage Industry and the source of its profits It clearly explains the new safety measures of the United States Bond & Mortgage Corporation. If you are interested in sharing in these profits and in the ownership of the industry's most successful company, write for this book today, using the coupon below.

TIED UP GAS FUNDS RELEASED BY COURT

The Consolidated and Brooklyn Union Companies Get Immediate Use of Impounded Cash.

SUM RUNS INTO MILLIONS

Action Follows Overthrow of the New York Law Limiting Gas Rate to One Dollar.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—With a view to permitting the immediate release of millions of dollars of the Consolidated Gas Company and the Brooklyn Union Gas Company funds, which were tied up by injunctions in lower courts enjoining these companies from charging more than $1 a thousand feet for gas pending appeal, the United States Supreme Court issued orders today directing that mandates in its decision of Nov. 29 overturning the New York Dollar Gas law be made effective at once, instead of Jan. 3, 1927, as would have been the case if the usual course had been followed.

In the case of the Kings County Lighting Company the Court's mandate will become effective in January, that concern having indicated that there was no special reason why the date should be advanced for its benefit.

In the brief filed in behalf of the Brooklyn Union Company it was pointed out that it and its subsidiaries had continued to make reports to the Federal court in Brooklyn, and had carried in special suspense accounts the difference between the rate of $1.15 previously in force and the dollar rate prescribed by the statute. It suggested that if the date of the mandate should be made effective this month, instead of in January, these special accounts could be terminated within the current fiscal year of the companies, which correspond with the calendar year.

"It would avoid considerable accounting work and simplify the accounts of the companies," said the brief, "if the special suspense accounts were terminated at the end of the present calendar year, which cannot be accomplished unless the decree upon the mandate in this cause and the final decree in the causes of the so-called subsidiary companies are entered before the end of the present calendar year."

Seamen's Bank's New Address To Rid It of Nautical Hoodoo

An old salt's superstitious figuring that "seven and six add up to thirteen" his induced the Seamen's Bank for Savings, the oldest financial institution dealing principally with sailors, to change the address of the building which is under construction at Wall and Pearl Streets from 76 to 74 Wall Street.

The request to eliminate the bugaboo thirteen from the numbers in the bank's address came from J. B. Walker of 75 Eighth Avenue, who traveled the seas when four-masters were a common sight. He wrote to Herbert K. Twitchell, President of the bank:

"Being a seaman of the old school, there is right much superstition yet in me as well as nearly all others. I only want to call your attention to the fact that seven and six add up to thirteen, and if you will number your new building 74 Wall Street you will lessen the hoodoo on the thirteen combination with a lot of sailors."

So the matter was taken up with the directors, and Mr. Twitchell announced yesterday that the new building will be 74 Wall Street.

Texas Pacific Land Trust at 1440.

Another spectacular advance in the certificates of the Texas Pacific Land Trust took place on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday, reflecting a renewal of buying interest in these securities. At the highest quotation yesterday, 1,440, the certificates were selling at the record price for all time. The certificates closed yesterday at 1,420, showing at net gain for the day of 130 points. The total turnover yesterday was 408 certificates.

To Split Caterpillar Tractor Stock.

A meeting of stockholders of the Caterpillar Tractor Company, in which a substantial stock interest is held here, has been called for the approval of a proposal to authorize a five-for-one split-up of the present $25 par shares. The dividend rate on the stock was increased from $5 to $6 annually in October. Reports from San Francisco indicate that a $2 rate will be established after the split-up.

5750 Equal Undivided Shares of Equitable Ownership

THE TERMINAL TOWER BUILDING

Certificates are issued by

THE UNION TRUST COMPANY, Cleveland, Ohio, Trustee

holding title to the property, subject to 99-year renewable lease

Certificates will be dated as of December 1, 1926, and rental as received by the Trustee, will be payable to registered holders of certificates on the first days of March, June, September and December, in the annual amount of $55.00 for each share.

In the opinion of counsel, these Certificates represent interests in Real Property located in Ohio, the taxes on which are to be paid by the Lessee, and therefore

Are not required to be listed in any State for Personal Property Tax

Mr. O. P. Van Sweringen advises us in a letter as follows:

DESCRIPTION OF PROPERTY

The property to which the Trustee takes title, being that portion of the premises above the Cleveland Union Terminal Station to be occupied by the Terminal Tower Building, is located at the southwest corner of the Public Square, Cleveland, Ohio, and comprises 71,527 square feet of surface directly above the new Cleveland Union Terminals Station now in the process of construction. The property has a frontage of 243 feet on the Public Square, and 302 feet on the extension of Prospect Avenue, with an average depth of about 260 feet. The Cleveland Union Terminals Company owns that portion of the premises below the Terminal Tower Building, chiefly sub-surface areas, and the entrances and passageways are to be used jointly for the Terminal Tower Building and the new Cleveland Union Terminal Station.

The Terminal Tower Building will be 14 stories in height, with a tower of 38 additional stories, or a total of 52 stories, rising 708 feet above street level. The building will contain 39,000 square feet of retail store space, and 521,000 square feet of rentable office area, in addition to necessary ramps and other entrances to the Union Station. The building will be constructed in 2 units. Unit A, it is expected, will be completed and ready for occupancy about July 1, 1928, and Unit B, will be started as soon as a small portion of the property, now otherwise occupied, can be vacated.

The value of the building, when completed, has been appraised by Messrs. Graham, Anderson, Probst & White, of Chicago, as being in excess of $12,100,000. The building site, owned in fee by The Union Trust Company, Trustee, has been independently appraised at $5,931,726, indicating a total valuation for the building site and buildings, upon completion, of $18,031,726.

INCOME

The annual net income of the completed building after deduction for taxes and all operating expenses has been independently estimated to be more than 3½ times ground rental requirements of $316,250 per annum.

Rental of 40% of the available office space is already assured by applications from railroads, other corporations and individuals.

THE LEASE

The legal title to the Building Site is to be held by the Trustee, subject to a lease dated December 1, 1926, for a period of ninety-nine (99) years, renewable forever, to The Cleveland Terminals Building Company. Under the terms of the lease, the Lessee agrees to complete the building and to pay, in addition to all taxes and assessments on the leased premises and Trustee's charges, $316,250 per annum rental which will be subject to distribution to the registered certificate holders.

PURCHASE OPTION—DEPRECIATION FUND

The lease will provide for the payment of an additional fund, starting January 15, 1952, to be held by the Trustee, and invested at the discretion of the Trustee, in securities which may include these certificates, until the total principal amount of this fund, including accumulation of income, shall equal $4,500,000. This fund will be held as a reserve against depreciation of the building and for the benefit of the certificate holders.

In the event that the property is purchased under option by the Lessee, the trust will be terminated and the Trustee will pay to each certificate holder $1,030.00, plus accrued rental, if the option is exercised on or before December 1, 1931, $1,020.00 and accrued rental if exercised on or before December 1, 1936, and thereafter $1,010.00, plus accrued rental, per share.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Terminal Tower Building is being constructed in conjunction with the new Cleveland Union Terminals development at the Public Square. The Terminal will be used jointly by the New York Central, New York, Chicago & St. Louis, and the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis (Big Four) systems. The total development cost of the Cleveland Union Terminals will be upwards of $60,000,000, according to present estimates.

The Terminal Tower Building is financed and owned independently of The Cleveland Union Terminals Company, but the plans and construction of the building have been developed to accommodate and harmonize with the general terminals construction.

The present offering is confined to 4500 shares, out of a total of 5750 shares.

PRICE: $1010.00 for each 1-5750th interest, plus accrued rental, to yield approximately 5.45%.

LOOMIS OFFERS LEHIGH AS A TRAFFIC LINK

It Can Handle All Business Between Loree Line and the B. R. & P., He Says.

President E. E. Loomis of the Lehigh Valley expressed his willingness yesterday to provide a direct traffic connection between the Delaware & Hudson and the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railroads over the Lehigh Valley.

"If, as has been reported," said Mr. Loomis, "the purpose of buying Lehigh Valley is to afford a direct traffic connection between the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh and the Delaware & Hudson, I see no reason for going into the stock market for the purpose. The Lehigh Valley is ready and willing to handle all the business between these two lines they can give us, and we are in a position to handle it promptly and efficiently."

The real reason for purchase of the Lehigh stock by L. F. Loree, according to those associated with him, was to prevent control of the road falling into hands hostile to his trunk-line scheme, which would make it difficult, if not impossible, for him to effect a satisfactory traffic agreement. His holdings have effectively prevented this from happening.

Mr. Loree has been an owner of a block of Lehigh stock for about two years, or since the inception of his fifth trunk-line plan. He is believed to have added to his personal holdings recently. Some of the shares purchased in his behalf are supposed to be held by the brokerage houses of C. D. Barney & Co. and Thomas L. Manston & Co., which now have 13 per cent. of the total outstanding. How large a percentage he owns or has held for him by other individuals or corporations has never been revealed, but bankers have hinted that it is substantial.

Missouri Pacific to Retire Notes.

The Missouri Pacific Railroad will make material saving in its annual fixed charges by the retirement of its fifteen-year 7 per cent. sinking fund notes and the issue of 5½ per cent. secured serial bonds, which has just been authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission. This retrenchment in fixed charges will place the road one step nearer the liquidation of the accumulated dividends on its preferred stock, which have been piling up since its reorganization in 1916.

West Penn Power Doubles Voltage.

H. Hobart Porter, President of the American Water Works and Electric Company, Inc., announced yesterday that the voltage of the West Penn Power Company's main transmission system had been increased from 66,000 to 132,000 volts. The lines affected lead from the mine-mouth power plants at Springdale, Pa., and at Windsor, Pa., and from the new hydroelectric plant at Cheathaven, W. Va.

Prudential Insurance Mortgages.

The Prudential Insurance Company of America made loans in November amounting to $20,491,077. Of this total $16,780,918 was secured by 2,875 dwellings and 141 apartments in the United States and Canada. In the first eleven months of 1926 the total of mortgage loans on property used exclusively for dwelling purposes was $93,995,786. These loans were based on 16,453 dwellings and 862 apartments.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The Detroit Company, Inc., correspondent of the Detroit Trust Company, announces the opening of an office at 454 California Street, San Francisco, under the management of Paul Sipp.

Unger & Co. have opened an office at 24 Commerce Street, Newark, under the management of H. N. Underhill.

L. D. Pierson & Co. have issued a list of bonds yielding from 5.50 to 7.30 per cent.

The Guaranty Trust Company has been appointed trustee, paying agent and registrar under the Midwest Gas Company indenture of mortgage dated Nov. 1, 1926, providing for first mortgage gold bonds.

The Pennsylvania Station on Jan. 1 will become local headquarters for the President of the road and his staff on their weekly visits to this city, instead of at the financial office of the road at 85 Cedar Street.

Paul Klopstock, President of the Foreign Trade Securities Company, Ltd., has been decorated with the Commander's Cross, the Polonia Restituta, by the Polish Government. He has been identified with all important loans obtained by Poland in the United States since 1920.

Efforts of the National Association of Credit Men in the last eighteen months have resulted in 167 imprisonments for fraudulent bankruptcies J. H. Tregoe, executive manager, reported yesterday.

Stockholders of the American Credit Indemnity Company are receiving warrants entitling them to purchase 3,670 shares of capital stock of $25 par at $50 a share. The warrants were issued as of Dec. 10, at which time the stock was quoted in St. Louis at $55 a share. The new shares are part of the $1,000,000 of capital authorized in 1922 but hitherto unissued.

$16,250,000 BONDS TODAY'S OFFERINGS

NEW FINANCING ANNOUNCED

Securities of Two Water Concerns to Come on Market Soon Through Bankers.

...bonds aggregating $10,250,000 ...to be offered to investors today, in addition to which announcement was made of several important issues which will reach the market later in the week, and of the oversubscription of ... issues offered yesterday.

Financing in the amount of $7,500,000 for the Illinois Power and Light Corporation is announced for today by a syndicate composed of Harris, Forbes & Co., Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc.; Marshall Field, Glore, Ward & Co. and Hanover Trask & Co. The offering consists of an additional issue of first and refunding mortgage 5 per cent. gold bonds, series C, due in 1956 and priced at 97 and interest, to yield about 5.20 per cent. The corporation owns and operates electric power and light, ice heat and city railway properties in several municipalities in Illinois, and also controls Illinois Traction, Inc., and other utilities. Its net earnings in the year ended on Oct. 31 were $10,-...,000.

A new issue of $3,000,000 Electric Refrigeration Building Corporation first mortgage ten-year 6 per cent. sinking fund gold bonds is offered at par and interest by a syndicate headed by Prince & Whitely and including the Continental and Commercial Company, Edward B. Smith & Co., Spencer Trask & Co. and Watling, Lerchen & Co. The corporation is erecting a steel and concrete building in Detroit and the bonds are secured by a closed first mortgage on property valued in excess of $5,000,000.

J. A. W. Iglehart & Co., Bodell & Co., Harrison, Smith & Co.; Reinholdt & Gardner and James C. Willson & Co. will offer $[illegible] first mortgage 6 per cent. sinking fund trust gold bonds, series F, of the Security Bond and Mortgage Company, at par. The mortgages securing these bonds are guaranteed unconditionally by the Maryland Casualty Company.

One of the largest pieces of financing to be issued in the privately owned water company field has been arranged by G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., Inc., who have purchased a new issue of $7,000,000 New York Water Service Corporation first mortgage 5 per cent. gold bonds, series A. The proceeds will be used to retire all outstanding funded debt and for other purposes. The bonds will be offered for public subscription soon.

Taylor, Ewart & Co., Inc., and P. W. Chapman & Co. will soon offer an issue of five-year 6 per cent. gold notes of the Roanoke Water Works Company of Roanoke, Va.

Subscriptions were received in excess of the amount of the offering of $35,-000,000 of Chile Copper Company 5 per cent. gold debentures by the National City Company and the Guaranty Company.

Dillon, Read & Co., in behalf of a syndicate, announced that the offering of $30,000,000 of bonds of the Berlin City Electric Company had all been sold.

Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., and A. G. Becker & Co., as joint fiscal agents, have been instructed to retire $750,000 of the 7 per cent. debentures of Hugo Stinnes Industries, Inc., and $750,000 of the 7 per cent. notes of the Hugo Stinnes Corporation. Bond issues of $[illegible],000 each were sold by the corporations last month.

RUBBER IMPORTS GAIN, BUT FUTURES ADVANCE

Despite a bearish statistical position for November as shown by the Rubber Association's report, crude rubber futures on the New York Rubber Exchange yesterday displayed a strong undertone throughout the session, finally closing at levels 40 to 60 points above Saturday's prices. The bulk of the buying was traceable to professional traders, but there was a moderate amount of manufacturers' interest.

Acording to a compilation by the Rubber Association, imports during November aggregated 41,107 tons, compared with 36,050 in November, 1925. For the eleven months to date arrivals totaled 379,059 tons, against 345,318 tons in the same period last year.

January, March and July were the leaders in the day's upswing on the Exchange, picking up a 60-point advantage each over Saturday, February sold up 50, while May, October and December improved 40 points. Business was moderately active, involving 184 contracts, all new.

London was generally quiet and steady, prices there closing unchanged to ½d. up. Average spot price was reported as 18.3d., a decrease of 1.204d. from last Wednesday. Total stocks increased 1,954 tons to 46,349 tons.

Range of prices for the active deliveries dealt in on the local Exchange, follows:

	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. Close.
December	37.90	37.70	37.90b	37.50
January	38.20	37.90	38.10b	37.50
February	38.10	37.70	38.30b	37.80
March	38.60	37.90	38.60	38.00
May	39.20	38.80	39.00b	38.60
July	39.80	39.40	39.80b	39.20
October	40.60	40.60	40.80n	40.40

Other months closed—April 38.80n, June 39.40n, August 40.20n, September 40.50n, November 41.20n. Spot price 38.50n.

Indemnity Company's Shares Sold.

The American Credit-Indemnity Company has sold 3,670 shares of $25 par stock remaining from an authorized issue of $1,000,000 to stockholders at $50 a share in the ratio of 10.10 per cent. of their holdings of record Nov. 7. The stock was quoted at $55 on the St. Louis Exchange on that date. The company enters 1927 with the largest amount of insurance in force since it began business thirty-four years ago, according to J. F. McFadden, President.

Empire Gas and Fuel Reports.

The Empire Gas and Fuel Company and its subsidiaries report for the twelve months ended on Aug. 31, 1926, gross earnings of $61,209,314, as compared with $53,618,920 for the twelve months ended on Nov. 30, 1925. Net earnings available for dividends and reserves this year were $12,333,449 as against $10,811,003. Preferred dividends were earned five times over and interest on the funded debt was earned 4.56 times in the year to Aug. 31, 1926.

Real Silk Hosiery Mills' Income.

The Real Silk Hosiery Mills, Inc., and subsidiaries report a net income for the twelve months to Sept. 30, 1926, of $730,523, after depreciation, Federal taxes, &c., which is equal, after preferred dividends, to $2.72 a share, par $10, earned on 260,000 shares of common stock. This compares with $1,800,342, or $9 a share, in the previous year, when no preferred stock was outstanding.

$29,000 for Seat on Curb.

Frank J. Hardiman's membership in the New York Curb Exchange has been sold to H. S. Rothschild for $29,000. This represents an increase of $1,000 over the last previous sale.

COTTON ADVANCES IN QUIET MARKET

Professional Covering Causes Gains of From 8 to 13 Points —Less Outside Buying.

TRADING VOLUME SHRINKS

Greater steadiness characterized prices on all three cotton exchanges yesterday and while outside buying continued limited, covering by professional operators caused a gain of 8 to 13 points. So little cotton changed hands in southern spot markets—less than 20,000 bales—that hedging pressure shrank to small proportions, which diminished the supply of contracts available for covering purposes. Soon after the opening, room traders who sold at the close of the week became active buyers and daily price fixing by mills helped the recovery. A cold wave over the west belt was predicted for today.

Though foreign quotations were unchanged early in the day, prices improved sharply after the opening of American markets and Liverpool gained $1 a bale. The improvement started in New Orleans where March contracts sold even with New York, something that has happened only once before this season. May on the southern exchange advanced within 6 points of New York and southern buying orders appeared in the local market shortly after the opening. When it became evident that few contracts were for sale, several traders began covering and one block of 5,000 July changed hands at 12.50. A steady demand for January, carried that month to 12 cents, with March at 12¼ cents, or a quarter of a cent over Saturday's low figures before buying subsided, and prices eased off somewhat the balance of the session.

The Census Bureau will issue a report on November consumption at 10 o'clock today and a report on the amount of cotton ginned to Dec. 12 on Monday of next week. The rate of ginning during the last period in November averaged 100,000 daily and about the same last year. In every large previous crop ginning after Dec. 1 has decreased when compared with the November average.

Yesterday's quotations follow:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Previous Day.
Dec.	12.22	12.33	12.22	12.30	12.17N
Jan.	11.87	12.01	11.86	11.98-97	11.85-87

King Of The Crossings

Perhaps, as a youngster, you wanted to be a "traffic cop." Now you are one.

As head of a family, you are responsible for the present and future safety of your loved ones. In the important financial matters of family life, you signal "Stop" and "Go."

* *

But what about the future?

In a big city, there are many hazards: epidemics, street accidents, high nervous tension, motoring disasters....

You have thought of such things; you carry life insurance.

But will the proceeds from your insurance be invested wisely? Have your "heirs"—as the courts will call them then—enough shrewdness to find their way safely through the financial hazards in which the inexperienced lose a billion dollars a year?

A life insurance trust with the CHATHAM PHENIX National Bank and Trust Company will provide a regular income,—as large as is consistent with safety of principal. Such a plan can provide additional funds in case of sickness or other special need.

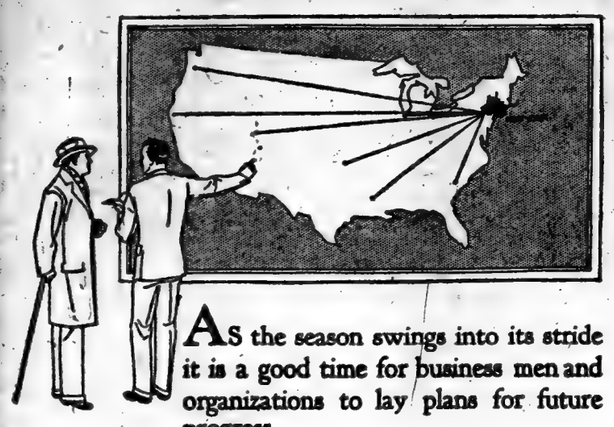
The Season Swings Ahead



AS the season swings into its stride it is a good time for business men and organizations to lay plans for future progress.

One of the most important considerations in laying such plans is the establishment of a sound, helpful and constructive banking connection. To individuals and business houses in search of such a banking connection the Interstate offers its complete facilities and the close personal co-operation of its officers.

TRADING DECREASES IN UNLISTED STOCKS

Approach of Holidays Regarded as Cause of Change—Activity in Bank Section.

A reduction in the volume of transactions on the over-the-counter market yesterday was taken in many quarters as an indication of the beginning of the holiday spirit. There was, however, a steady demand for securities of an investment nature, particularly senior issues and season common stocks.

In the banks section New York Title and Mortgage was especially strong and advanced 2 points. Chase National, which recently sold ex-dividend, has made up about half of the dividend. City Bank, Irving Bank and Trust and Nassau National of Brooklyn were all in good demand and made moderate advances.

International Silver continued on good call in the industrial group. Willcox & Gibbs and West Virginia Pulp and Paper were each up a point. Newport Company was another prominent performer of this section. Good demand ruled for several of the senior utility issues, but there was little buying or selling. Chain stores issues were strong and fairly active under the leadership of F. & W. Grand and Metropolitan Chain Stores. The remainder of the market was dull.

WOULD CHANGE TRUST LAW.

Secretary Work Favors Permitting Agreements Among Oil Drillers.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP).—Modification of the Sherman anti-trust law to allow oil drillers to work in agreement for stabilization of the industry and conservation of the oil supply is favored by Secretary Work, Chairman of President Coolidge's Oil Conservation Board.

Expressing gratification that the American Petroleum Institute had resolved to work with the board in safeguarding oil deposits, the Secretary outlined today his ideas for Federal regulation of the industry. He gave it as his opinion that modification of the anti-trust act "would seem to be desirable, if such legislation could be accomplished without nullifying the purpose and force of the act."

Dr. Work suggested that conditions could be improved by the States agreeing jointly to "more rigid protection of property rights in oil produced from a common underground supply."

New Dawes Plan Committee Member

PARIS, Dec. 13 (AP).—S. Parker Gilbert, Agent General for Reparations, today announced the resignation of René Tilmont, Belgian member of the Dawes plan Transfer Committee. The Reparations Commission appointed Albert E. Janssen to succeed him. M. Tilmont resigned from his position in order to give all his time to the management of the National Bank of Belgium.

WAR CLAIMS BILL READ TO HOUSE

Provides for Paying $180,000,000 to American Citizens and $100,000,000 to Germany.

$80,000,000 FOR TREASURY

Our Nationals to Be Paid in Full at Once for Death or Personal Injury.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Providing the terms under which $180,000,000 of the World War claims of American citizens against Germany will be awarded and the manner in which $80,000,000 will be paid for German property seized by the United States, the alien property adjustment bill was introduced in the House today by Representative Green, of Iowa, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. Critics of and against Austria and Hungary were not involved in the measure, since the commission appointed to pass on them has not acted.

All claims of Americans against Germany that have been adjudicated for amounts up to $100,000 are to be paid in full. Where the American claimant received an award for the death of a relative or for personal injury, as in cases involving the sinking of the Lusitania, the amount awarded will be paid in full. In claims awarded amounting to more than $100,000, 10 per cent. is to be paid at once and the remaining 90 per cent. receives priority in future payments.

Claimants Made Concessions.

German claims already awarded against the United States are to be paid at once up to 30 per cent. The remainder will be paid later and certain claims are to be adjusted by an arbitrator, but 30 per cent. of the amounts necessary to discharge these claims is to be temporarily applied to paying claims of American nationals against Germany, and the German claimants will wait until the balance due the United States from Germany has been received by this Government.

A limit of $100,000,000 is placed on the total amount that may be awarded by the arbitrator. The aggregate value of seized German property now held by the Alien Property Custodian approximates $280,000,000.

In presenting the bill Chairman Green explained that it was drawn to carry out an agreement under which all the claimants made concessions. In his statement he said:

"Briefly, the agreement provides that certain available funds will be distributed immediately and that the payment of the balance will be deferred, so that each of the parties will share equally in the future payments to be received from Germany.

"It is estimated that approximately $180,000,000, including interest to Jan. 1, 1927, will be the total of awards to American citizens and that approximately $80,000,000 will be awarded to the United States.

Payment to American Nationals.

"The American nationals whose claims have been adjudicated to the Mixed Claims Commission will be paid as follows:

"(1) All claimants on behalf of whom an award has been entered for death or personal injury will be paid in full.

"(2) All claimants on behalf of whom awards of $100,000 or less have been entered will be paid in full, and (3) All claimants on behalf of whom awards of $100,000 or more have been entered will receive $100,000 and will then be given priority for future payments from Germany until an amount equal to 30 per cent. of all the awards of the Mixed Claims Commission has been distributed to American nationals.

"Certain citizens suffered damage as a result of acts of the United States during the war. The United States took title to a large number of ships, took over a radio station and used many patents. The bill provides that an arbiter, to be appointed by the President, shall adjudicate these claims and enter awards, except that a maximum limit of $100,000,000 is placed upon the total amount to be awarded.

Part of German Award Deferred.

"These claims are proper claims against the United States and the United States is justly indebted to pay them. Accordingly, it is provided that Congress appropriate the amounts necessary. The parties have agreed, however, that 30 per centum of the amount so appropriated may be temporarily applied to the payment of the claims of American nationals and that the German nationals will wait the payment of the balance until the payments from Germany have been received.

"The Alien Property Custodian now holds approximately $280,000,000 of property of German citizens which was seized during the war. Under the peace resolution and the Treaty of Berlin this property is being held as security for the payment of the claims of the American nationals.

"Consequently Congress is under a duty not to return this property until adequate provisions for the American nationals have been made. Because of the arrangement for the payment of 70 per cent. of the claims of American nationals, the agreement provides that 70 per cent. of this property may be returned at once if the German owners consents to the postponement of the return of the remaining 30 per cent., it being considered that this amount will be sufficient security for the payment in full of the balance due the American nationals.

"The bill also provides that no further seizure of property shall be made by the Alien Property Custodian and that no outstanding demands shall be enforced by him."

SHOALS LEASE IN CONGRESS

Deneen Favors Power Companies' Bid, McNary Opposes It.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP).—The Muscle Shoals fight opened in the Senate today with Senator Deneen, Republican, Illinois, Chairman of the special Muscle Shoals Joint Congressional Committee, arguing for passage of the bill authorizing a fifty-year lease of the property to the Alabama Power Company and affiliated Southern power companies.

Senator Deneen declared the power companies' proposal was the best submitted to his committee both from a fertilizer and power standpoint.

Chairman McNary of the Senate Agriculture Committee served notice that he would move to recommit the whole subject back to his committee.

SMITH TO TESTIFY IN ISLIP LAND FIGHT

Will Be Heard Today in Suit to Void Appropriation of Taylor Estate.

HE SIGNED SEIZURE ORDER

Property Now Held by Park Commission After Heckscher Gave $250,000 to Purchase It.

Governor Smith is to appear as a voluntary witness today in the litigation begun by the Pauchogue Land Corporation against the Long Island State Park Commission to invalidate the appropriation by the Commission of the old Taylor estate, some 1,500 acres of forest land on the South Shore near East Islip. The trial is now in progress before Supreme Court Justice James A. Dunne of Brooklyn, sitting at Riverhead in Suffolk County.

The appearance of Governor Smith will be the first time in a generation, probably longer, that a Chief Executive of the State has appeared in court in the rôle of a witness. Governors are not subject to subpoena in civil cases and the Governor's testimony will be presented under agreement with Robert Moses, President of the Long Island Commission.

The Taylor estate was appropriated by the commission in December 1924, when it was agreed that the State should pay the owners $240,000 for the extensive property. The Pauchogue Land Corporation in which W. Kingsland Macy, Howard Havemeyer of East Islip and William H. Robbins of Bay Shore are the officials, afterwards obtained an option on the land from the original owners, alleging that the appropriation by the State was invalid because the Legislature had not at the time the land was taken appropriated funds with which to pay for it.

The corporation is pressing that claim in the present proceedings, urging that the real value of the property is about $4,090,000. Originally, Mr. Macy and Mr. Havemeyer proceeded to block the State's efforts to obtain the land, because they did not want a people's playground adjoining their own country houses.

It is believed that the Governor's testimony will have to do chiefly with the legality of the appropriation of the land by the commission. The Governor signed the appropriation order under which the property is now held after August Heckscher had provided $250,000 to pay for the land. The Republican Legislature at that time had not provided funds for the purpose. The law provides that when property is taken the State must have the money to pay for it on demand. Officials of the Pauchogue Land Corporation are held by the commission to have inspired the failure of the lawmakers to supply the necessary funds.

Counsel Open Arguments.

Special to The New York Times.

RIVERHEAD, L. I., Dec. 13.—Charles Tuttle of New York, counsel for the Pauchogue Land Corporation, and Walter H. Pollock, counsel for three members of the Long Island State Park Commission, delivered their opening arguments today at the trial of the suit of the corporation against the Commissioners before Supreme Court Justice James Dunne and a jury.

Mr. Tuttle declared in his argument that at the time the land was appropriated the Park Commission had only $13,000 with which to pay for it, although $250,000 had been fixed as the purchase price. The act under which the commission was created, Mr. Tuttle said, requires that sufficient funds be on hand to pay for such appropriations as it may make.

He said that the Pauchogue Land Corporation had secured title to the land before the condemnation proceedings and that the $250,000 price fixed by the commission was from $750,000 to $1,250,000 too low. He characterized as high-handed and autocratic the action of the commission in condemning the property and attacked August Heckscher, philanthropist who donated $250,000 to the commission in 1925 to pay for the Taylor estate land.

Mr. Pollock, defense counsel, declared that through Mr. Heckscher's gift all financial obligations had been fulfilled. He said that the officers of the corporation had been warned before it bought the land that the Park Commission was about to condemn the Taylor property. He charged the wealthy residents of the vicinity with purchasing the land to prevent the commission from acquiring it and throwing it open to picnickers.

PROFIT TAKING ON CURB CHECKS RISE IN STOCKS

Tightening of the call money rate to 5 per cent. after a renewal at 4½ per cent. served to encourage profit taking sales in the Curb Market yesterday afternoon after an early session of generally higher prices, and the list closed rather irregular. However, there were impressive advances in many representative securities and several issues entered new high levels for the year.

New York Telephone preferred, one of the leading seasoned dividend payers, experienced active investment buying and rose approximately a point to 116½, a new high for the year. Victor Talking Machine also registered a new top for 1926, and Aluminum Company of America ran up 2 points to 72. There was continued buying in General Baking "A" and "B" stocks, both of which made substantial gains. Sugar shares responded to fresh buying, with Central Aguirre touching 100, its best level for the year.

Public utilities presented a firm front in the initial dealings. In the later operations, however, profit taking made inroads on prices and the general list closed off from the best. Standard Oil securities appeared to be content to fluctuate narrowly and there were less wide moves in South American petroleum stocks.

Trading in bonds continued in large volume and prices ruled around their best levels for the current period. In the domestic list, the utilities were in best demand. German obligations again attracted most attention in the foreign section, although the Province of Buenos Aires issues played an important rôle in the day's business.

SPEEDS TOBACCO SWEATING.

Chemist Obtains Lighter Leaves With Briefer Fermentation.

WINDSOR, Conn., Dec. 13 (AP).—A new process of sweating or fermenting tobacco has been developed by Dr. Johannes Heber, a German chemist, who has been carrying his experiments further at the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Tobacco Substation here.

The advantage of the new method, as put forth by Dr. Heber, is that the tobacco is sweated a much shorter time, less weight is lost in the process and the leaves retain their light color, which is desired by cigar buyers today. Dr. Heber has compounded a solution, the composition of which he has kept secret, with which he sprays the tobacco to ferment it.

Large tobacco growers and packers of this vicinity who have seen his process demonstrated agree that one great benefit is derived from it, and that is keeping the leaf light in color.

You are further notified that payment of said bonds at 110% of the principal amount thereof, together with accrued interest to January 1, 1927, will be made in accordance with the provisions of said Mortgage or Deed of Trust to the holders of said bonds upon presentation and surrender of said bonds and the appropriate coupons appertaining thereto for cancellation, at the office of the undersigned, 125 West Monroe Street, Chicago, Illinois, on or after January 1, 1927.

Interest on said bonds will cease on and after January 1, 1927.

DATED, Chicago, Illinois, November, 1926.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF ILLINOIS, Trustee.
By AKSEL K. BODHOLDT, Vice President.

TO HOLDERS OF CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT FOR FIRST MORTGAGE 6% GOLD BONDS OF PACIFIC STATES LUMBER COMPANY:

The undersigned, constituting the Committee named in and provided for under that certain Agreement between Bondholders of Pacific States Lumber Company and the Bondholders' Protective Committee, dated September 18, 1925, hereby gives notice as provided under Section Sixth of the said Agreement of the amendment of the original Agreement, such amendment having been lodged by the Committee with the Depositaries on November 17, 1926, and being as follows:

"The Committee shall have full power and authority to make, or in any manner bring about, any arrangement whereby the Trustee or Trustees under said Mortgage shall, whether or not a default exists under said Mortgage, apply all or any portion of any funds now or at any time hereafter held by the Trustee under the said Mortgage arising from the release of any of the mortgaged property and/or under Article III of said Mortgage, towards the purchase, in a manner to be prescribed by the Committee, at the lowest price or prices obtainable of bonds outstanding under said Mortgage and without reference to the date on which any of such bonds may mature, the bonds so purchased to be forthwith cancelled; and in connection with any such arrangement to furnish the Trustee or Trustees with any security or evidence which the Trustee or Trustees may require and generally do and perform all acts and requests which the Committee may deem advisable to the accomplishment of such arrangement as fully as if the Committee were the absolute and unrestricted holders and owners of the deposited bonds. If any such arrangement be so made the provisions of the second paragraph of Section Third of this agreement shall be applicable to the tender of deposited bonds."

WHEAT GOES LOWER, THEN CLIMBS AGAIN

An Oversold Pit Condition Is Disclosed, but the Finish Was at a Net Gain.

EXPORT TRADE FALLS OFF

Oats Show Independent Strength, but Rye and Corn Close at a Loss.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—A heavily oversold pit condition was disclosed when shorts tried to cover on an expected decrease of 4,800,000 bushels in the domestic visible supply and prices advanced 1¼ to 2⅝ cents from the early low with the finish at the top with net gains of ½ to 1¼ cents with December leading. The latter acted tight and finished only ⅝ cents under the May against 1¼ cents on Saturday with offerings limited on the way up.

With the exception of the decrease in the visible the news was largely in favor of lower prices and there was some selling of futures here early by houses with continental connections, which was regarded as hedging sales against purchases of the new crop of Argentine and Russian grain for deferred shipment. With Liverpool off ½ to 1¼ pence and Winnipeg only ½ to ⅝ cents higher for the day American markets at the last were further out of line for export business than of late, and promise to meet free selling on all the upturns.

There was some selling here against purchases at Winnipeg. Export sales in all positions were finally estimated at 250,000 bushels. Visible supply now aggregates 66,192,000 bushels compared with 70,722,000 bushels the previous week and 45,471,000 bushels last year, part of the reductions being due to shipments to uncounted American and also to Canadian ports.

A strong rally in the wheat market today was regarded as due almost entirely to local short covering, the surplus in the pit having been absorbed early by holders of bids and by profit taking shorts and the technical position at the last was such that many traders expressed the belief that it would take strong developments to prevent a recession in values.

The International Institute of Agriculture at Rome estimate, placing the theoretical world's exportable surplus at 860,000,000 bushels for the season, compared with import needs of 755,000,000 to 775,000,000 bushels, was construed as bearish. Some regarded it as especially so in view of Broomhall's estimate of import needs of 704,000,000 bushels. Murray's Argentine cable expressed the belief that the recent Government estimate on that country was ultraconservative and estimated the exportable surplus at 180,000,000 bushels, or somewhat above the Government.

Primary arrivals today, 1,220,000 bushels; week ago, 1,594,000; last year, 2,388,000. Shipments, 479,000 bushels; week ago, 804,000; last year, 697,000.

Local traders were free sellers of corn and the close was ⅜ to ⅝ cents lower, the late strength in wheat bringing in short covering and a moderate rally from the inside figures.

Buenos Aires closed 2 cents lower with January in that market 56¼ cents against 74 cents for December here. Visible supply increased 590,000 bushels for the week and is 29,269,000 bushels, against 28,699,000 bushels the previous week, and 7,922,000 bushels last year.

Oats showed independent strength and gained ⅛ to ⅜ cent with local bulls aggressive buyers, a decrease of 2,595,000 in the visible and the high premiums for choice spot grain being factors. July sold at a new high on the crop. Rye was dull, but ⅛ to ⅜ cent higher in sympathy with wheat.

Chicago.

WHEAT FUTURES IRREGULAR.

Local Market Rallies on Report of Lessened Visible Supply.

Irregularity and active trading prevailed on the wheat futures market of the New York Produce Exchange yesterday. In the early trading, prices broke ⅜ to 2 cents on lower foreign cables and poor export demand. European advices of Argentine pressure to sell and favorable Southern Hemisphere weather led to scattered commission house and local selling, while liquidation and relative weakness in December helped the decline.

Offerings dried up on the breaks, and the market rallied sharply on an unexpected large decrease of 4,530,000 bushels in the visible supply and closed with active deliveries ⅛ lower to ⅜ net higher.

RAILROAD FATALITIES GAIN IN GREAT BRITAIN

Railroad accidents are increasing in Great Britain. The official report by the Ministry of Transport shows that 465 persons were killed in 1925, an increase of three over 1924, and 26,393 were injured, an increase of 752 over the preceding year and an increase of 2,757 over the average number injured in the period from 1914 to 1923.

Some of the accidents would have been impossible on American railroads, according to the New York Central Lines magazine. For instance, nineteen passengers were killed by falling out of cars while trains were running. These accidents are attributable, the magazine says, to the archaic compartment cars in use on British railroads. Commenting on other accidents due to the same cause, the Ministry of Transport says:

"Liability to injury in the case of a train accident is largely dependent upon the character of the passenger stock concerned. A case of a buffer stop collision during 1925 in which seventy-two passengers were injured is illustrative of this fact. The train in this case was composed of six-wheeled vehicles averaging over forty years old and weighing only thirteen and one-half tons each."

Sixty-six collisions and derailments were caused by failure of the antiquated couplings with which most British cars are equipped. In this particular class of accidents three employes were killed and seven passengers and ten employes injured. Other accidents resulting from the use of old-time couplings caused the death of eight employes and the injury of 418 others, while only one was injured through the use of automatic couplers.

There were 135 grade-crossing accidents officially reported, in which thirty-six persons were killed and thirteen injured.

REDS' COLLECTION ASSAILED

Fund for Sacco and Vanzetti Is Said to Be Unauthorized.

The Communist Party has solicited funds ostensibly to aid in the defense of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti without the authority of the Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee in Boston, the Committee for Preservation of the Trade Unions, 7 East Fifteenth Street, charged yesterday. The committee was formed recently by local labor unions to combat Communist activity in labor organizations.

The Committee for Preservation of the Trade Unions sought to ascertain the status of the Communist Party and its defense organization, the International Labor Defense, with regard to the raising of funds for Sacco and Vanzetti. The Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee of Boston replied that it had been unable to obtain reports of collections and disbursements made by the International Labor Defense.

Officers of the International Labor Defense could not be reached last night for comment on the statement.

LAVIN'S UNION IS ENJOINED.

Court Forbids Interference With Interborough's Employes.

The application by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company for an injunction restraining Edward P. Lavin, as President of the Consolidated Railway Workers' Union of New York, Harry Bark, Joseph G. Phelan and their associates from interfering with employes of the Interborough in an effort to induce them to join the new union, was granted yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Delehanty. The court in a brief opinion ruled that the authorities cited gave ample ground for granting the relief sought.

The three defendants were among the men who were not permitted to return to work upon the collapse of the strike on the subway system last Summer. They have been trying to induce subway workers to join the new union and quit the employes' organization fostered by the Interborough. The suit, filed against them last Summer, also included a demand for $230,000 spent as a result of the strike. When the case was argued early in November representative Nathan P. Perlman appeared for the defendants.

Justice Delehanty will decide later on the amount of a bond to be given by the Interborough to pay any damage sustained by the defendants if they win the case eventually.

$1,217,000 TO CLEAR SNOW.

Commissioner Taylor Voted Another Million for Future Storms.

It has cost the City of New York about $1,217,000 to clear up the recent 9-inch snow fall in the three major boroughs—Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx, where the work is done under the jurisdiction of the Department of Street Cleaning. This fact became known yesterday when Street Cleaning Commissioner Alfred A. Taylor was voted another $1,000,000 to combat future storms. Last year the season's total snow removal bill was $6,000,000.

The total expenditure in Manhattan, Brooklyn and Bronx last year was $4,500,000, and in Queens and Richmond, where the work is done under the jurisdiction of the Borough Commissioners of Public Works, the total expense for last year was $1,500,000.

LIVE STOCK AT CHICAGO.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Largest receipts of hogs since Jan. 11, and well in excess of expectations, caused a decline of 20 to 40 cents in prices at the yards, with the top and the average 25 cents lower than on Saturday. Top was $11.60 and the average $11.45, the spread being about the narrowest of the year, while the top was a new low for the season. Bulk of desirable weights sold early at $11.40 to $11.60, with $11.30 to $11.40 taking the same kind later. Bulk of packing sows brought $10.25 to $10.75. Packers bought $3,400 and shippers 15,000, with 19,000 left over. Receipts, 65,000 with 44,000 estimated for tomorrow.

Fat lambs declined 25 cents with best at $13.25, while bulk of sales were at $12.25 to $13. Sheep dull and steady with sales largely at $5 to $6.75. Receipts 30,000.

Offerings of cattle were somewhat in excess of the demand and the market was steady to 25 cents lower, with cheaper grades of yearlings and heavy steers slumping badly toward the last. Best yearlings sold at $12.75 and heavy steers at $10.75, with bulk of beef steers at $9 to $11.50. Receipts, 30,000.

NIGHT CLUB VIOLENCE UNDER BANTON'S EYE

He Starts Inquiry as Result of Complaints That Patrons Have Been Roughly Handled.

As a result of complaints that patrons of certain night clubs had been roughly handled when they protested against exorbitant prices demanded, District Attorney Banton said yesterday he had ordered his two assistants in West Side Court to investigate carefully complaints recently received by the police of the West Forty-seventh Street station.

"If I find the facts to be one-half as bad as they have been portrayed in the newspapers," said Mr. Banton, "there will be a very vigorous prosecution."

Mr. Banton made it clear that it was not his intention to have his assistants act as spies upon night clubs, but merely to investigate and to take immediate action if the facts justified it. His assistants in West Side Court are Saul S. Streit and Albert Kurtz.

It was reported yesterday that for the third time in a week police of the West Forty-seventh Street station had been called to a night club in answer to complaints from patrons. Early Sunday they arrested Frank Timpone, said to be the proprietor and manager of the Biarritz Club, at 210 West Fifty-fourth Street, and Thomas Healy, employed there. McKowen Whitcomb, of East Orange, N. J., had complained against the two men, charging that he had been lured to a dark room in the club and beaten. The prisoners were held without bail when it was learned Whitcomb could not appear against them because of his injuries. They will have a hearing in West Side Court today if Whitcomb is able to be there.

RAILROAD WINS BAN ON GLEN COVE BUS LINE

Long Island Gets Injunction Because Illegal Service to New York Hurt Business.

The Long Island Railroad yesterday won its application for an injunction against the Glen Cove and New York Coach Corporation to restrain it from conducting a bus line between Forty-fifth Street and Broadway, New York, and Glen Cove and other points in that vicinity on Long Island, when Supreme Court Justice Delehanty decided that the bus company had been operating without legal authority.

The opinion of Justice Delehanty said that the bus company began to operate on April 1, causing considerable loss to the railroad because of its competition. The railroad sued on the ground that the Glen Cove company had not obtained permission under the transportation law, and showed that there was a loss in sales at its Glen Cove ticket office of $800 in April and May, when the defendants were carrying only 4,000 passengers a month. In September the buses carried 17,000 passengers.

The bus company applied last May to the Public Service Commission for permission to operate from Forty-fifth Street and Broadway to Glen Cove, but the application was denied on the ground that the company did not intend to carry any local passengers between any two points in Nassau County, for which reason public convenience and necessity would not be served.

URGES COOPERATION IN DRESS INDUSTRY

Mayor Walker Tells Members of Industry at Luncheon City Will Benefit Too.

FEWER STYLES SUGGESTED

Franklin Simon Declares That Less Frecuent Changes Would Help Trade.

Mayor Walker and leaders in the dress industry urged cooperation within the trade and with the public yesterday at the eighth annual luncheon of the Associated Dress Industries of America at the Hotel Astor. Eight hundred persons attended. The guests stood in silent tribute to the memory of the Rev. Dr. Nehemiah Mosessohn, father of David N. Mosessohn, Managing Director of the association. Dr. Mosessohn died last week.

"Fostering of cooperation within industry, such as you men are undertaking, means a good deal for the City of New York if it is to carry on its supremacy," Mayor Walker declared. "You cooperate for your own good, but for the good of the city too.

"A great contribution has come to Government, both Federal and municipal, from commerce and industry. Those charged with the administration of Government should keep in touch with industrial progress. The great difficulty is frequently lack of contact between Government and industry."

Calls City Huge Business.

Calling New York "a great corporation," he went on to say:

"I have a part in conducting the business of this great corporation myself. Next year New York will spend $474,000,000. Fifteen years ago the cost of maintaining the Federal Government for one year was only $15,000,000 more than this. New York has 116,000 employes, while the standing army of the United States is only 126,000.

"By this expense we keep up improvements, we keep up New York's grandeur; we keep it what it is, the greatest city in the world."

Franklin Simon, another speaker, expressed his pleasure at the growth of the organization, and asserted that cooperation had brought good to all participants. It had, he said, increased the sales value of dresses between 10 and 20 per cent. He deplored the tendency of many dealers to rate sales volume higher than quality, saying that they were "competing with themselves."

Mr. Simon advanced the theory that less frequent changes in style and a greater variety of goods patterns would help the dress trade.

Objects to Many Changes.

"There are too many fashion changes," he declared. "Woman today wants a straight line and a short skirt, and she is going to have what she wants," Mr. Simon said. "You can do a tremendous trade if your fabric producers will bring new designs for the four seasons of your trade."

Other speakers were J. J. Goldman, first President of the body, who was toastmaster; Lew Hahn, Managing Director of the National Retail Drygoods Association, and Adam L. Gimbel of Saks & Co. Among those at the speakers' table were Paul Haystrom, John Hahn, Dr. Paul H. Mystrom, Maxwell Copelof, Alfred Fantl, John H. Brennan, Theodore J. Sturtz, Arthur D. Wolf, Samuel J. Bloomingdale, H. C. Richard, I. Liberman, H. R. Mallinson, Ramsay Peugnet, Arthur Ortlepp, P. P. Le Boutillier, Bernard F. Gimbel and Sidney Harman.

UNDERWEAR PRICES LESS.

Reductions Announced in Lines of Southern Manufacture.

Only one of the leading lines of heavyweight ribbed underwear for 1927 deliveries opened here yesterday. The goods priced were those of the Appalachian Mills Company, and they showed substantial reductions from the opening levels of a year ago. One of the key numbers, a 14-pound ribbed union suits for men, was opened at $7.62½ cents a dozen for January-through-May delivery, against $8.87½ a dozen for shipment in the first quarter of 1926. These prices applied to latch needle goods only.

Other prices made yesterday by the Appalachian Mills on latch needle "unions" for men were:

	Jan.-May Shipment.	June-Oct. Shipment.	1926 Opening.
10-pound	$6.50	$6.87½	....
12-pound	7.00	7.37½	8.12½
14-pound	7.62½	8.00	8.87½
16-pound	8.25	8.62½	9.62½

Prices on similar goods of spring needle make were 50 cents a dozen higher throughout. "Randoms" were 25 cents a dozen higher.

Opening and comparative prices on men's ribbed shirts and drawers were:

	Jan.-May Shipment.	June-Oct. Shipment.	1926 Opening.
8-pound	$4.12½	$4.37½	$4.75
10-pound	4.62½	4.87½	5.37½

Boys' ribbed union suits for 1927 showed these opening levels:

	Jan.-May Shipment.	June-Oct. Shipment.	1926 Opening.
8-pound	$5.00	$5.25	$5.50
10-pound	5.50	5.75	6.25

All of the foregoing prices are understood to cover "four-twelfths" packing. "Two-twelfths" packing is 12½ cents a dozen higher. Selling terms on goods sold for January-through-May delivery are net, ten days, June 1 dating. Those for June-October shipments are "net ten, thirty."

Market comment on the new figures was divided. In some cases competing Northern manufacturers appeared to be much upset by the extent of the reductions, but in other cases they apparently were not taken so seriously. There was no doubt in the minds of the trade that the new prices were meant to get business, and the impression prevailed that they would get it. Prices on some of the competing lines may come out today.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Ben Sperber and Dave F. Engel will continue the business of Sperber, Frank & Engel under the name of Sperber & Engel. They will be located at the same address, 1,359 Broadway, and will produce the same type of merchandise as in the past.

Katz & Alexander, 28 West Thirty-second Street, have removed to larger quarters at 260 West Thirty-ninth Street.

Arthur A. Wolf, for several years with J. D. Booth & Sons, is now associated with the Simon Dress Company, 225 West Thirty-fifth Street.

Alfred J. Silberstein, Inc., advertising, has removed from 116 West Thirty-second Street to 310 Fifth Avenue. The firm will occupy the entire seventh floor of the building.

BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday—4¼ per cent. for the best names. Saturday—4¼ per cent. for the best names. The quotations are for six months' paper.

Color Will Feature Neckwear.

The coming Spring season in women's neckwear promises to be one of color. The manufacturers in their early showings for the new season are playing up many solid colors in both made sets and yard goods. Color combinations are frequently seen, and such ones as Copenhagen blue with flesh, tan or red are well regarded. Beige and tan and cocoa and tan combined are other colors that are expected to sell very well. As usual, says a bulletin from the United Neckwear League of America, an abundance of white neckwear will be shown. Delicate flesh pinks will be seen among the less boisterous shades.

Southern Ticking Prices Low.

Despite the recent cut made in prices on standard lines of Eastern tickings, it was said here yesterday that similar goods of Southern make are available much cheaper. The new price on one of the well-known brands of 8-ounce goods is 19 cents, while Southern tickings of similar weight can be bought here as low in some cases as 17½ cents. A nice business in Southern chambrays is reported here on the basis of 38 cents a pound for 3.80-yard goods, although the general asking price for this weight, including some brands of Southern cloth, is about 2 cents a pound higher. The cutters are said to have taken large quantities of the goods at the recent reduction.

Novelties in Leather Goods.

The Chicago packers have nothing on manufacturers of women's belts when it comes to utilizing odds and ends. Among the things that the latter are making from scraps of leather are small change purses, which are offered in all colors of suede and kid, and also in silver and gold kid. These come in such a variety of colors as to match pocket books or their linings. One unusual novelty is an ash tray mounted on a strip of leather that is weighted at each end and can be placed over the arm of a chair without slipping. Combinations of colored leather are used for these strips, and on some there are metal trimmings set with imitation stones. The ash tray is clasped to the strip, and can easily be removed for cleaning.

Gray Goods Sales Not Large.

The usual December volume of business was put through in the local gray goods market yesterday. Spot sales of 39-inch 68-72 printcloths were made at 7⅞ cents, and a few spot lots of 38½-inch 60-48s also moved at 5⅛ cents. For spot 38½-inch 44-40s buyers paid 4¼ cents, and they also bought 38½-inch 64-60s in a fair way for February-March delivery at 6⅜ cents. Lightweight sheetings sold best, with business done in 36-inch five yards at 6¼ cents and in 36-inch 5.50s at 5¼ cents. December deliveries of 72-80 pajama checks were sold at 7½ cents. In the fine-yarn goods improvement was reported in the call for fancy shirtings.

Call for Men's Accessories.

Dressing gowns easily lead in the higher priced men's wear accessories that are selling well for the holiday season. Reorders have come through in steady volume and manufacturers say the demand exceeds that of previous seasons by a substantial margin. The higher priced garments, made of novelty patterned silks and luxuriously lined and faced, are said to be selling particularly well. The higher grade pajamas in more or less exotic colors and patterns, considering they are for men's wear, are also having an active call. Smoking and lounging jackets are likewise meeting with consumer favor.

Hosiery Color Card Issued.

Eighteen shades are shown on the Spring hosiery color card just issued by the Textile Color Card Association. The new colors were selected to harmonize fully with the seven shoe colors endorsed by the leading shoe and leather organizations. Emphasis is accordingly placed on flesh pink, pearl blush, a soft rose-pearl, Aloma, a tropical brown; Algerian, a soft brown; auburn, and sandust, a mauve sea-sand tint. Shell gray matches the color of the same name on the shoe color card. Colors retained on the hosiery card from the previous season are atmosphere, champagne, sunset, French nude, Alesan, Dave Gray, Piping Rock, evenglow, blue fox, grain and beige.

Labor Troubles Still Factor.

Further labor trouble has added its complications to the selling of women's wear woolens and worsteds for the Spring season. With circumstances as they are, selling agents see little if any prospects of a more active demand for fabrics until after Jan. 1. How long after that date is the question that some sellers are asking, having in mind the disruption caused during the Fall. So far novelty woolens for sports coats have been the most active selling fabrics, with weaves for two and three-piece suits also receiving attention.

Use of Ribbons in Hats.

Belting ribbons are being well purchased by the millinery trade for Spring hats. Early offerings of this type of millinery have been so well received that a marked run of popularity is expected during the course of the Spring season. The men's hat trade is also supplying much business for ribbon producers. A large percentage of the output of men's hats for Spring will have fancy bands. Leading ribbon manufacturers say that the bulk of the present ribbon demand, in fact, is coming from the millinery and the men's hat trades.

Silks Bought for Spring.

Sheer silks are in strong favor for the Spring season, a good share of the present demand being for these kinds. Chiffons are considered particularly good, and interest is also shown in georgettes and the finer crêpes. Flat crêpe is another outstanding fabric, but wholesalers remark on the keen price competition in this weave. The profit margin on it tends to be further reduced because of weaving difficulties in its production, which result in imperfections and rejections. Silks intended for the composé or ombré shading treatment in dresses continue highly prominent.

More Gingham Prices Guaranteed.

More lines of ginghams for Spring delivery were guaranteed yesterday against decline to April 1, when letters announcing this action were sent to the trade by Amory, Browne & Co. It had previously been taken by the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company and the Riverside and Dan River cotton mills. Comment in the trade yesterday was to the effect that jobbing buyers would much rather have seen the lower prices they think are justified by the present cost of cotton, but, in the failure to obtain them, they are pleased that a stable basis of trading has been established. Most of them are looking for a greatly improved business in ginghams during next month and February and are glad that they can now make preparations for it in safety.

APPEALS TO AUTOISTS.

Commissioner Harnett Urges Owners to Get 1927 License Plates.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Charles A. Harnett issued another request yesterday to motor car owners to apply for their 1927 automobile plates as early as possible. After Jan. 1 it will be an infraction of the Motor Vehicle law to display the old plates. Those who obtain the new numbers before the first of the year will be permitted to attach them to their cars on Dec. 27 under the act as amended last year.

As a further effort to add to the convenience of motorists in the various localities of Brooklyn thirteen new branch offices were opened in that borough yesterday. Armed State inspectors have been placed as a guard at each office. They are at the Forty-seventh Regiment Armory, Marcy Avenue and Lynch Street; Hall of Records, opposite Borough Hall; 337 Roebling Street, 885 Manhattan Avenue, Bushwick Avenue and Decatur Street, Fourth Avenue and Sixteenth Street, 749 Atlantic Avenue, Abraham & Straus store, Fulton Street, 4,813 floor; 2,250 Church Avenue, 4,813 Fourth Avenue, 7 Hanson Place, 945 Kings Highway and 3,625 Bedford Avenue.

The main Brooklyn office is at 42 Myrtle Avenue and the main New York office is at 220 West Fortieth Street.

Chauffeurs who call at Mr. Harnett's office to renew their licenses between Dec. 21 and Jan. 1 may obtain a copy of the new Police Department traffic regulations, it was announced yesterday by Philip D. Hoyt, secretary to Police Commissioner McLaughlin. Those who have already renewed their licenses, Mr. Hoyt said, might obtain the booklets at any police station after Dec. 21.

COURT CLEARS POLICEMAN.

Patrolman Gill and Sergeant Who Charged Assault Shake Hands.

Magistrate McAndrews in Tombs Court yesterday dismissed the charge of felonious assault which had been made against Patrolman Martin Gill of the Old Slip Station by Police Sergeant Duncan Cameron of the same precinct, who said Gill had slapped him and theratened him with his revolver.

Yesterday Cameron said that, while touring the precinct in his automobile, he had seen Gill apparently intoxicated and had ordered him into his machine. En route to the Old Slip Station, he testified, he ordered Gill to give him his revolver, and Gill, after some delay, obeyed.

William F. McKenna, Gill's attorney, spoke highly of Gill's war record. Mr. McKenna was Gill's Captain in the 165th Regiment (old 69th). Captain John Quinn of the Old Slip Station said Gill's police record was excellent and included three commendations. After the dismissal of the charge Gill and Cameron shook hands and left the court room together.

APPEALS FOR HUNTER.

Dr. Swift Urges Speed on $2,250,000 Building Request.

A plea made by Dr. Harry P. Swift, of the Board of Trustees of Hunter College, that the Board of Estimate speed up its consideration of the college's request for $2,250,000 with which to erect new buildings, caused Mayor Walker to announce yesterday in the meeting of the Committee of the Whole that he intended to confer with the Board of Education, early in January, to determine exactly the extent of its building program for next year.

"This year," said the Mayor, "they asked for $57,000,000. We gave them $23,000,000 an dthen they only used $12,000,000. That leaves us in a position of seeming to cut down on education."

Dr. Swift reminded the Mayor that the new buildings were necessary. He referred to Hunter College as "the stepchild of the school system." He asked that the building item be transferred from the special calendar to the regular Board of Estimate calendar.

MASTBAUM WILL PROBATED.

His will, probated today, pointed out that Mr. Mastbaum had arranged for $100,000 to be given to the Federated Loan Society and a similar amount to the Federation of Jewish Charities from the proceeds of his life insurance. For this reason, the will stated, he made no further charitable provisions, "assuming that those who come after me will perform their duty in this regard."

The Rodin Muhcum, which Mr. Mastbaum planned to erect on the Parkway in this city, will be completed, under the terms of the will, provided satisfactory arrangements with the city authorities can be made for the proper care of the museum. It will house hundreds of examples of the plastic art of Rodin.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 13 (AP).—Harry W. Walker, known as Connecticut's "ice king," who killed himself just six months ago, left an estate appraised at $1,817,891, according to a report filed in the Probate Court for the Fairfield District.

TWO NEW ATLANTIC LINERS.

North German Lloyd Orders 46,000-Ton Vessels for Fast Service.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Dec. 13.—The Board of Directors of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company, meeting today, voted to construct two gigantic liners of 46,000 gross registered tons each for the Bremen-New York service.

The specifications call for a speed which will enable the run to be made in six days. One will be christened the Bremen and the other the Europa. Contracts for building the vessels have been awarded, one to a Bremen firm and the other to a Hamburg firm. The last word in machinery and luxurious furnishings has been ordered for the new ocean greyhounds.

New York officials of the North German Lloyd informed The Associated Press yesterday that the two new vessels probably would be ready in two years and would be placed on the New York-Bremerhaven run exclusively.

HARLEM 'POLICY' WIPED OUT.

Banton Reports Success in Campaign Against Gambling.

The so-called "policy" game, in which the object is to guess certain figures in the New York Stock Exchange clearing house totals from day to day, has been practically wiped out after it had disrupted many lines of business in Harlem, according to a statement issued yesterday by District Attorney Joab H. Banton and concurred in by Police Commissioner George V. McLaughlin and Special Sessions Justices.

Police activity and penitentiary sentences for "bankers" of the game were said to have been responsible, aided greatly by an amendment to the Penal law effective last July, which makes a lottery of a game in which numbers are drawn "or selected."

Doctor Lies Dead a Week in Office.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 13 (AP).—Dr. Daniel A. Leddy of this city was found dead in his office here this morning by the police. The medical examiner believed he had been dead at least a week. Dr. Leddy was 49 years old, a native of Providence and was unmarried.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR the Southern District of New York—In the matter of JACOB LIPSHITZ, trading as METROPOLITAN MANUFACTURERS OUTLET, and as J. LIPSHITZ FURNITURE CO., Bankrupt—Upon reading and filing the annexed petition of Arthur Y. Dalziel, temporary receiver in bankruptcy of the above named bankrupt, verified the 24th day of November, 1926, and upon the annexed offers of I. Zeldin, J. Fleischer and Harry Shachter, and upon all other papers and proceedings heretofore had herein, and upon motion of Robert H. Koehler, attorney for the said temporary receiver, it is ORDERED that HENRY CAPLAN of 150 Broadway, R. GROHSKOPF of 15 Hudson Street and ARTHUR C. SMITH of No. 64 Wall Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, three disinterested persons, be and they hereby are appointed appraisers to appraise the property, assets and effects of the above named bankrupt in the possession of the receiver herein, and that they forthwith enter upon their duties as such appraisers for which they are to receive the sum of $15 per day, and after taking the oath required, file their appraisal with the Referee in charge of these proceedings, and it is further ORDERED that all of the creditors of the above named bankrupt as they appear upon the books of the said bankrupt, show cause before the undersigned Referee at his office, No. 32 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 14th day of December, 1926, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, why an order should not be made authorizing and directing Arthur Y. Dalziel, temporary receiver in bankruptcy of the above named bankrupt, to accept the offer of I. Zeldin in the sum of $15,125 to purchase all the furniture, furnishings, fixtures and right, title and interest of receiver in premises No. 2235 and 2237 Third Avenue, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, and No. 426 West 125th Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, or the offer of J. Fleischer in the sum of $12,500 to purchase the stock, fixtures, and right, title and interest in and to the leases on premises No. 2235 and 2237 Third Avenue, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, and No. 426 West 125th Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, or the offer of Harry Shachter in the sum of $20,000 to purchase the stock, fixtures and receiver's right, title and interest in and to leases of premises No. 2235 and 2237 Third Avenue, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, and No. 426 West 125th Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, and right, title and interest of receiver in and to all of the outstanding accounts, or any other or better offer that may be made.

Sufficient reason appearing therefor, let service of a copy of this order upon all of the creditors of the bankrupt as they appear upon the books of the said bankrupt, by mail, on or before the 4th day of December, 1926, and by publishing a copy of this order in the "New York Times" and the "Daily News Record," ten days before the return day, and on the return day thereof, be deemed good and sufficient service.

Dated, New York, November 27, 1926.
R. P. STEPHENSON,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

CALL FIVE-DAY WEEK UNWISE IN BUILDING

Employers Point to Seasonable Nature of Industry and Need of Adjusted Cost Basis.

AND MORE OVERTIME PAY

Pittsburgh Convention Also Opposes "Any Wage Increases for the Coming Year."

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—A resolution emphatically opposed to the five-day week was unanimously passed today by 180 delegates to the annual convention of the National Building Trades Employers' Association, which met in the William Penn Hotel.

The resolution held that such demand by the American Federation of Labor is of profound economic significance to the building industry, and that if the present basis of costs is to be accepted as permanent there should be a pause until the general level is adjusted and inequalities removed.

It also stated that the purchasing power of the dollar earned in agriculture should have an opportunity to catch up with that in the building industry.

Further, the resolution said, it is futile to say that the examples set in a few cases should be followed by others, on the issue in this case seriously jeopardizes the economic balance in industry, due to the few cases where the five-day week is even theoretically practicable on account of the economic factors.

This it adds, is especially true in the building business for these four reasons:

First, the building industry is seasonal and the loss of a single half day, when the weather is favorable, at a critical point in the progress of a building may result in the loss of many days later with attendant financial losses, or may even endanger the safety of life and property.

Second, the five-day week would make a substantial increase in the cost of building. This arises from reducing the working hours from forty-four hours to forty hours, and by forcing contractors of necessity to work overtime at one and one-half or double time rates. It would also result in increased overhead, all of which must be passed on to the public.

Third, it would reduce the available labor in proportion as the hours were shortened, thus increasing artificially the present shortage of labor in the building industry. This is a very serious matter when taken in connection with the curtailment in the supply of labor under the operation of the new immigration laws and the restrictions imposed by the trade unions.

Fourth, the trend toward extravagance induced by idle time is such that we may soon expect additional demands for increased wages to supply the means to properly enjoy the new-found leisure, thus further adding to the already high cost of living.

A resolution against any sort of wage increase also was passed. A careful and thorough analysis, based on prevailing wage rates and general conditions throughout the United States, fails to reveal any economic reason for any advance in the already high wage rates paid in the building trades, the resolution's advocates said.

The resolution read "that the National Conference of Building Trades Employers desires to go on record as being emphatically opposed to any wage increases in the buildnig trades for the coming year."

After much discussion regarding the induction of a greater number of skilled workmen into the building trades, a resolution was passed requesting each community to establish a logical and permanent system of apprenticeship in the trades, whereby a greater number of young men may be attracted to the building industry for their life's work.

Norman Reports for This City.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13 (AP).—At the meeting today of the National Building Trades Employer Association, C. S. Norman, Chairman of the board of directors of the New York Building Trades Employers' Association, said the outlook for the building trades is good in New York, and delegates from other cities made the same prediction.

Norman added, however, that there is an overproduction of some types of buildings in his district and he also said financial interests were showing an inclination to tighten up on credits when builders could not show that they had a substantial project.

Reports on building conditions were made by delegates from Kansas City, St. Louis, Detroit, Washington, Cincinnati, Seattle, Akron, Rochester, Springfield, Mass., Oklahoma City and Worcester, Mass.

5-DAY WEEK IN MANCHESTER

Ford Orders It in Plant, but Some Union Labor Men Are Suspicious.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—The Ford Motor works in Manchester has decided to follow the example of the American establishment by establishing the five-day working week. The welfare of the workers is suggested as the reason for this step, which it is hoped will provide additional leisure for those whose work has provided them the means to enjoy it.

Arrangements are to be made so that the workers can earn as much in five days as they did previously in five and a half.

This move is regarded in certain British union circles with some suspicion. An official of the Amalgamated Engineering Union, according to The Daily Herald, said many men in the Ford Manchester plant already are working on short time.

In these circumstances, he added, it was not very obvious that the change was introduced to benefit the workers, and that it seemed more likely to be to save overhead costs by concentrated production over a shorter period in the week.

DENIES BRUNSWICK SALES.

Chester W. Hansen Says That Negotiations Are Pending.

Chester W. Hansen, President of the Hahn-William Street Corporation, yesterday denied that he had purchased the twelve-story Brunswick Building on a plot 197.6 by 157.6 at 225 Fifth Avenue. The building was reported as having been sold to Mr. Hansen for a price said to be $3,850,000.

Mr. Hansen said that negotiations for the purchase of the property had been carried on for some time and that at the present time they were still under way, but that no contract has as yet been signed.

IT WAS HELD AT $200,000

The Broadway-John Street Corporation, Elias A. Cohen, President, sold to a client of Tankoos, Smith & Co., 668 Eighth Avenue, a lot 20 by 100 feet, the improvements of which consist of a four-story and basement building, located 80 feet north of the northeast corner of Eighth Avenue and Forty-second Street. The property was held at $200,000 and the price paid was near that amount.

Negotiations are pending for the re-sale of the property subject to a net lease for a long term to the present owner, who will use and occupy the property after alterations.

The Talvis Realty Company purchased through Raber, King & Co. as brokers two keys to corner plots in the west side midtown section. They have bought from Margaret McCarthy 586 Eleventh Avenue, which adjoins the southeast corner of Forty-fourth Street and Eleventh Avenue, and is a four-story tenement, on a lot 20 by 65 feet. They also bought 723 Tenth Avenue from H. F. Neuhardt and others. This is a four-story tenement, on a lot 25 by 75 feet, 25 feet south of the southeast corner of Fiftieth Street and Tenth Avenue. The Talvis Realty Company plans the purchase of other property in this section.

Duff & Conger, Inc., sold for Ida F. Katzenberg to Howard C. Forbes the property at 1,315 Madison Avenue, southeast corner of Madison Avenue and Ninety-third Street, fronting 20 feet on Madison Avenue and 74 feet on Ninety-third Street. The property had been in the same ownership for the past thirty years.

Peter Cusack and Thomas McGourty sold 521 West 151st Street, a flat having fifteen families. The purchaser is a client of John Cunningham.

George W. Mercer & Son sold for Nellie Schuttinger 330 West Twenty-second Street, a three-story dwelling, size 26 by 98.9 feet.

Mae C. Hawes purchased from the Anisco Realty Corporation 12 East 114th Street, a five-story house, on a lot 25 by 100 feet. Philip A. Payton Jr. Company were the brokers.

Charles A. Stein has purchased for the Lilbar Realty Corporation the two five-story apartment houses at 140 and 142 West Sixty-seventh Street, between Broadway and Amsterdam Avenue, size 50 by 100 feet.

Harry J. Schum & Son have sold for Harriet Saacke to a client 135 Ninth Avenue, a four-story tenement on a plot 23.4 by 100 feet.

BUDGET AND FINANCES OF THE CITY ASSAILED

United Real Estate Owners Say "Economic Housecleaning" Depends on Women Voters.

The city's finances and budget system were criticised in relation to increasing taxes by several speakers at the annual meeting last night of the United Real Estate Owners' Association, at the Hotel Biltmore. Its President, Stewart Browne, said nobody appeared to know the exact amount of the city budget for 1927, which had been announced by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment as $474,000,000, whereas it was "actually in excess of $500,000,000, and Controller Berry had placed the amount at $550,000,000."

To Mr. Browne's suggestion that the only hope for the taxpayers to get an "economic housecleaning" in the cost of city government rested upon the women voters, the Secretary of the association, Isaac Hyman, replied that the only woman member of the Aldermen, Mrs. Ruth Pratt, was mapping out a program for women.

Charles W. Eidt, Chairman of the Law and Legislation Committee of the association, said that all the people had got out of its home rule measure consisted of legislation by the Board of Aldermen increasing municipal expenditure, and consequently putting more of a burden on the taxpayers.

"The Aldermen have enacted ten bills since home rule became effective and each of them created a new job or added expense," asserted Mr. Eidt.

These officers were re-elected for 1927: President, Mr. Browne; Vice Presidents, I. Victor Weil and George E. Coleman; Mr. Eidt, Chairman; Treasurer, Ernest N. Adler, and Secretary, Mr. Hyman.

BING REPRESENTS AMERICA.

New Yorker Honored by International Town Planners.

Alexander M. Bing of Bing & Bing, Inc., real estate operators and builders, received word yesterday of his election as Vice President for America of the International Federation for Housing and Town Planning. The action was taken by the Executive Committee of the International Federation at a meeting held in Brussels.

At the same time, the federation elected the Hon. Neville Chamberlain, British Minister of Health, as Vice President for England, and Senator Cremonesi, Governor of Rome, to be Vice President for Italy. Ebenezer Howard, father of the garden city movement in England and founder of the International Federation, was re-elected President.

Mr. Bing is President of the City Housing Corporation of New York, a limited dividend company, and his election is considered a recognition of his work in the building of model garden communities for moderate-income families. The company of which he is the head and in which Dr. Felix Adler, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, V. Everit Macy, Felix Warburg and others are interested, is building a model community at Sunnyside Gardens in Queens. Since March, 1924, when the company began operations, it has built homes for 650 families and construction is now in progress to provide accommodations for 400 additional families.

WEST 233D ST. PROJECT.

Builders to Erect Flat on Site at Broadway.

James R. Murphy in conjunction with William Darling sold for the Ruland Holding Corporation to the Regulus Realty Company the southeast corner of West 233d Street and Broadway, a plot of eleven lots with a frontage of 145 feet on Broadway and 243 feet on West 233d Street.

The purchaser intends to improve the property immediately with stores on 233d Street and an apartment with stores on Broadway.

$2,000,000 Hotel, 27 Stories, To Be Built on 7th Av. Corner

A twenty-seven-story hotel to cost $2,000,000 will be erected on the northeast corner of Seventh Avenue and Fifty-third Street, according to plans filed yesterday by architects with the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings.

The proposed structure will occupy an irregular plot, 100 by 175 feet, with a 19-foot outlet on Fifty-fourth Street. The K. B. S. Realty Corporation is the owner of record of the property. The plans were prepared by L. & J. Scacchetti and J. A. Weaver, architects.

BUILDERS ASSEMBLING KINGSBRIDGE CORNER

Property at Broadway and Exterior Street for Auto Centre —Other Bronx Deals.

M. D. Bashein and M. D. Strong have assembled three parcels at the corner of Broadway and Exterior Street, facing West 230th Street, in the Bronx. Six lots were purchased from Louis Bevier, three lots from Blanche Goldblatt and two lots from the Providential Realty and Investing Company. A resale is pending to buyers who plan to develop this area of approximately 27,000 square feet with buildings adapted for the use of the automobile trade, including showrooms, service station and garage. The broker was Edward C. A. Clokner.

Albert G. Illich resold to the Charland Realty Corporation a plot, 60 by 120 feet, on the north side of Gun Hill Road, 175 feet from Paulding Avenue.

Schwab & Co. sold for the Campus Realty Corporation, Inc., a plot on the west side of Bathgate Avenue, 216 feet north of East 178th Street, 108 by 94 feet. This is the first sale of this property since 1908.

Henry Graute sold for Miss Anna Sutton to Thomas Ford the property known as 326 East 144th Street, a five-story apartment house, on a plot 25 by 100 feet. The property rents for $5,944 and was held at $35,000.

The A. G. Masucci Corporation sold for Rose Di Barinaca the one-family house, with garage, known as 1,983 Anthony Avenue, to Mary Sullivan.

Otterbourg, Steindler & Houston have sold for a client to Moe and Samuel Weiner, operators, a plot, 24 by 103 feet, at the northeast corner of Mapes Avenue and 170th Street, consisting of a three-story building, containing four stores and four apartments. The broker was Philip V. Victorson.

TWO NEW BRONX FLATS.

Architects Announce Projects to Cost $650,000.

Gronenberg & Leuchtag, architects, are preparing plans for a six-story elevator apartment house on the northwest corner of Popham Avenue and West 175th Street, Bronx, on plot 128 by 100 feet for the Orney Realty Corporation, owners and builders.

This building has been designed to accommodate 55 families in units of three, four, five and six room apartments with a total number of 247 rooms. The fronts will be of face brick, limestone and terra cotta. The building will cost, exclusive of the land, approximately $325,000.

The same architects are preparing plans for a similar six-story and elevator apartment house on the southwest corner of Popham Avenue and West 175th Street, Bronx, for the same owners on plot 148 by 100 feet, accommodating 61 families in units of two, three, four, five and six room apartments with a total number of 248 rooms, costing $325,000.

Rug Dealers in Madison Av. Lease.

Mayorkas Brothers, rug dealers, who have been located on Madison Avenue, between Fifty-ninth and Sixty-second Streets for the last twenty years, have leased from Harriet Bruce Reid, through Henry Shapiro & Co. and Pease & Elliman as brokers, the building at 679 Madison Avenue for a term of twenty-one years. The tenants are altering the building and will occupy it for their own business.

C. W. Beall Buys Waterfront Property.

C. W. Beall, who is establishing a private zoological garden at Oceanside, L. I., has just bought a waterfront parcel at Domar Canal for a private bathing place and boat house. Mr. Beall's animal park, covering more than twelve acres, is located about half a mile from Domar Canal.

Auction Buyer Resells Corner.

James R. Murphy and Benjamin J. Hickey resold for A. Barbadoss the southeast corner of Jerome Avenue and Minerva Place, 95 by 113 feet, to Irving R. Swift. The property had first been purchased at the auction sale which Mr. Murphy conducted in the Vesey Street Salesroom on Friday last.

Sales in City Island.

Mulvihill & Co. sold for L. Biglow a private dwelling, consisting of a plot 50 by 100 feet, at 39 Fordham Street, City Island, to Wilfred C. Reeder. The same brokers sold a plot for Elisabeth Leviness, 100 feet north of Bowen Street, running back 221 feet on John Street, to the P. J. Holding Corporation.

Trading in Brooklyn.

Weinharz Holding Corporation, Herman Winegarten, President, sold to Harry Rosen the three-story brick building on the southeast corner of New Lots Avenue and Bradford Street. The buyer will occupy the corner store for his business.

$230,000 East Side Loan.

Hewson, Wolfe & Co. arranged for the Recony Corporation a first mortgage of $230,000 at 5 per cent. interest covering the property at 113-121 East Eighty-sixth Street.

Dyckman Street Garage Leased.

The Garage Exchange leased for the Henshaw Heights Garage Corporation to David Seidman the garage located at 274 Dyckman Street for a period of fifteen years.

Garment Centre Building Financed.

The New York Title and Mortgage Company has made a building loan in the amount of $340,000 to the Lophill Holding Corporation to cover the erection of a garment centre building at 335 to 345 West Thirty-fifth Street.

Frances Spencer in Two Deals.

Frances Spencer was the broker in the sale of 405-407-409 Bleecker Street to A. J. Hammerslaugh. Mrs. Spencer also sold the three-story property at 7 St. Luke's Place for C. La Forgia to F. K. Maximilian.

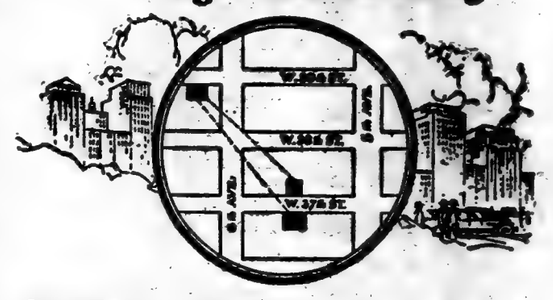
3 New Buildings of Economy for Showrooms and Light Manufacturing



JULIUS TISHMAN & SONS, INC., are now constructing 3 new scientifically planned Buildings of Economy in the very center of New York's mid-town business zone.

39 to 43 West 37th Street
48 to 54 West 37th Street
108 to 110 West 39th Street

They will be economical because:

1. All elevators, stairways and lavatories are on one side of each floor permitting 3 unobstructed sides to be economically sub-divided.
2. 3 sides of daylight and minimum columns assure further economic sub-division.
3. 100% Sprinkler System assures lowest insurance rates.
4. An unusual number of large and rapid freight and passenger elevators eliminate loss of time.
5. The rentals are reasonable.

To proprietors of high class establishments who may be interested in opening a branch on

CONNECTICUT AVENUE
WASHINGTON, D. C.

To such, Stoneleigh Court, the best known apartment hotel in Washington, located at the corner of Connecticut Avenue and L Street (one square south of the Mayflower Hotel and three squares north of the White House), offers attractive shops of varying sizes. These shops have just been completed, have artistic fronts, high ceilings and splendid daylight and electric illumination.

Connecticut Avenue has become the 5th Avenue of Washington and the principal artery for traffic of persons resident in the prosperous sections of the city. Their patronage represents a large and regular purchasing power.

Inquiries from high-class establishments are solicited.

SECURITY SALESMEN.
Unusual Opportunity to get into the PUBLIC UTILITY FIELD.
The Most Profitable, Secure and Popular Investment Today.
More individual investors are buying the securities of public utilities than any other investment; in order to make money salesmen must sell what the public is buying.
Our offering is something free from all kinds of competition—for which there is no substitute—a business thoroughly regulated and controlled, that is not affected by business depression—a business which must increase as fast as our country grows, and which, at all times, to all people alike, serves a demand which can never change and never grow old.
This is a strong financial institution that is noted for its successful investments and its policy of protecting the interests of its clients and employes; we are handling a high-grade public utility issue with profit-sharing features.
We invite the inquiries of men who are now seeking a permanent connection with a house that is constantly adding to its clientele as a result of its successful investments.
Our salesmen are given eight direct leads every day.
Remuneration on a commission basis, which enables a man to increase his income in proportion to his capabilities.
Will also consider applications for representatives in open territories outside of the metropolitan district.
Kindly write or call Director of Sales, 57 William St., New York, Office 1609, or telephone John [?] for appointments.

SPECIALTY SALESMEN.
On Jan. 1 we shall have openings available in and out of town and metropolitan districts.
We sell the only mayonnaise machine of its kind together with a service which is of appealing interest to every retail food merchant and of outstanding importance to the vast food buying public. It is the source of greater, actual money profits and stimulates greater public interest in the individual food store.
We require specialty men of seasoned experience—men who have already learned the deeper meaning of "pioneer." Attractive commission arrangement.
National Mayonnaise Machine Company, Inc., 250 Park Av. at 48th St.

STOCK AND BOND SALESMEN EXPERIENCE UNNECESSARY.
To three men of high character and unlimited energy we offer the opportunity of joining the largest corporation of its kind in America.

Salesmen Wanted.

SALESMEN WANTED (THREE), TO CALL ON CHIEF EXECUTIVES.
Every executive is in business to make money.
We sell to executives a simple plan that will help them to make more money.
Our plan has been proven to lower overhead and increase profits for executives in every line of business.
Over 20,000 executives have adopted our plan during the past 3 years. Thousands of them are renewing.
We are making changes in three territories before Jan. 1.
The salesmen we select for these vacancies must be men who have been earning from $5,000 to $10,000 annually. They must possess a specialty selling experience and should be between the ages of 28 and 38.
The men we select will receive a territory with over 5,000 prospects in it.
They will receive a liberal commission. They will be given 100% cooperation. We offer a life proposition and financial independence.
A real opportunity for the real salesman.

Salesmen Wanted.

SALESMAN, SPECIALTY.
I am looking for a young man, over 30 and under 40 preferably, whom I can train to represent my organization in the East.
This chap has cut his eye-teeth selling specialties and he is looking for a REAL OPPORTUNITY—not just another job. He appreciates that "Selling is 99% Perspiration and 1% Inspiration." During his incubation period he sold securities, books, advertising or some intangible under resistance. Although our work does not come under the above classifications and is not house to house or knick-knacks, we value the experience and training gained by such methods.
Primarily, I want a man who has a GOAL—a two-fisted HE-MAN who wants to go somewhere and be somebody in 1927. Degrees don't count! Clever conversation won't impress me; but good past experience, ambition and courage will!
We sell chief executives a practical, profitable, proven plan that will produce greater net profit in 1927 by energizing personnel and reducing overhead.
Liberal commission, permanent connection and assured executive future.
In replying give full and complete information covering past 5 years, age and telephone number to insure quick action. Address R 394 Times.

AN ESSEX COACH.
Your Christmas gift to the family. Christmas is not far away. You would watch it approach with a great deal more pleasure if you planned to surprise the family with an ESSEX COACH.
Our Used Car Departments have placed on sale a number of demonstrators and renewed coaches which would do credit to any purchaser. Each car is in excellent mechanical condition, is beautifully refinished in attractive color combinations or special striping.
And you take no risk, for each car carries a Hudson protection guarantee, which insures the purchaser of complete service satisfaction.
Visit any of the following Used Car Departments—you will always find exactly the type of car you want at a price even lower than you expected to pay for it.
Terms arranged if desired.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 13.—The disturbance that was over Missouri Sunday night has advanced north, northeastward and is north of Lake Superior (Cochran 29.12), with a trough extending southward to West Virginia and thence southeastward to Louisiana. A secondary disturbance of slight intensity is off the New Jersey coast and pressure is relatively low over the southern Rocky Mountain region.

A marked area of high pressure covers the Canadian Northwest extending southeastward to the middle plain States and the pressure is relatively high off the South Atlantic Coast and in the region of Bermuda.

The outlook is for rain along the Atlantic Coast Tuesday morning, for rain in the East Gulf States and snow in the Ohio Valley on Wednesday, and for snow flurries Tuesday and Wednesday in the lower lake region. Elsewhere the weather will be fair Tuesday and Wednesday in the States east of the Mississippi River. It will be colder on Tuesday in the States east of the Mississippi River, and on Wednesday in the Atlantic States. Much colder weather will be experienced quite generally.

Storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic Coast from Wilmington, N. C., to Eastport, Me.

Ten thirty P. M.—Northwest storm warnings posted from Wilmington, N. C., to Eastport, Me.

Disturbance of marked intensity over Eastern Ontario, moving north-northeast with a trough extending south to West Virginia and thence southwestward to Louisiana coast will cause fresh south to southwest winds tonight, shifting to west and northwest Tuesday morning and probably reaching strong gale force at times north of Sandy Hook.

Postoffice Notice

Postmaster John J. Kiely requests department and other stores which ship by mail Christmas purchases of customers, to have parcels packed carefully, wrapped securely, addressed plainly and mailed promptly. One very common cause for packages getting to Dead Letter Office is the detachment of the address from the bundle, or its obliteration in transit. Merely tying a tag on the bundle is dangerous. The bundle or package itself should contain the address and it would be even wise to have a second address inside.

Transcontinental Air Mail

The transcontinental air mail service is operated in both directions daily, leaving Hadley Field (New Brunswick, N. J.) at 11 A. M., Eastern Standard Time, and San Francisco at 8:45 A. M., Pacific Time. The planes carry mail for intermediate points as well. Connections are made at Cleveland for Detroit, arriving Detroit 5:15 P. M., and at Salt Lake City, for Los Angeles, arriving Los Angeles 5:25 P. M. At Elko, Nev., connections are made for Pasco, Wash., and by rail from that point to cities in Washington and Oregon, arriving the morning of the second day after leaving New York City; and at Cheyenne, Wyo., for Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo, arriving the morning of the second day after leaving New York. Mail for points not on the air route is forwarded by mail trains from the nearest air mail station.

The New York daily closing time for the mail is 6 A. M., Eastern Standard Time, at the General Postoffice and 6 A. M. to 7:30 A. M. at the air mail letter boxes, painted red, white and blue, which are located in various parts of the city, depending on location.

Saturdays air mail from San Francisco left Cleveland by rail at 8:10 P. M. last night and was expected to arrive at New York at 9:40 A. M. today.

No definite information concerning Sunday's air mail was available last night.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13.—Sunday's transcontinental air mail from New York is being held at Salt Lake City, Utah, and is due to arrive here Tuesday noon.

Monday's transcontinental air mail running from San Francisco to New York was resumed running on time into Salt Lake City, Utah.

Chicago and Southwest Air Mail

The New York-Chicago air mail is operated in both directions nightly, leaving Hadley Field (New Brunswick, N. J.) at 9:35 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, and Chicago at 8 P. M., Central Time. The planes carry mail for intermediate points. Direct connections are made at Chicago for Detroit, arriving Detroit 11:40 A. M.; for St. Louis, arriving St. Louis 9:35 A. M.; for St. Paul-Minneapolis, arriving Minneapolis 10:40 A. M., to connect by rail with points in North and South Dakota and Montana, and for Dallas, Texas, via Moline, Rock Island, Davenport, St. Joseph, Kansas City, Wichita, Oklahoma City and Fort Worth, arriving Dallas 5:35 P. M. Direct rail connections are made at Dallas and Fort Worth for points further south and west.

The New York daily closing time is 5:45 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, at the General Postoffice and 5:10 P. M., or a little later, at the air mail letter boxes, painted red, white and blue, which are located in various parts of the city.

Sunday's air mail from Chicago was expected to arrive at Hadley Field at 4:45 A. M. today to be forwarded by rail to New York.

SLAIN MAYOR'S KIN TELL OF GANG THREATS

BENTON, Ill., Dec. 13 (AP).—Relatives of "Big Joe" Adams, Mayor of West City, who was shot to death yesterday by two unidentified gunmen, testified at the inquest today that threats against his life had been made by Charles Birger, leader of one of the Southern Illinois bootleg gangs.

Two previous attempts had been made to kill Adams, who was a supporter of the rival Shelton gangs. His death was the eighth in the battle for control of the coal belt liquor traffic.

The inquest was adjourned until Wednesday after Gus Adams, a brother of the slain Mayor, said he believed he recognized the handwriting on a note used to decoy the Mayor to his door, where he was shot down. Gus Adams said he desired more time to investigate.

The decoy note bore the initials "C. S," believed to be those of Carl Shelton, one of the three Shelton brothers, recently released from jail under $60,000 bond in a mail robbery charge.

Birger, at his home in Harrisburg, denied any knowledge of the shooting. "I know nothing about Joe Adams's death except what I have read in the papers and what friends have told me," he said.

Birger declared, however, that Adams harbored the rival Shelton gangsters in his home and asserted the Mayor had killed "High Pockets" McQuay and Mayor Jeff Stone of Colp, two victims of the gang war. He also asserted Adams had attempted to trap him by getting him to the scene of a roadhouse fire where twelve cases of dynamite had been planted with two men in the woods near by ready to set off the explosive.

COIN IN HONOR OF BATTLE.

50-Cent Piece to Be Issued in January for Engagement at Bennington

A coin designed by Charles Keck of New York to commemorate the Battle of Bennington in Vermont will be issued by the United States Treasury next month. Minting of 40,000 of the coins has been authorized by Congress.

The coins are of 50-cent denomination. On the obverse they bear the profile of Ira Allen under the legend: "He Founded Vermont, the 14th State." At the bottom the words "In God We Trust" appear. A monumental shaft is reproduced on the reverse, which bears the legend, "Battle of Bennington" and the words "United States of America" and "1777—half dollar—1927."

Starving Recluse, 82, Is in Hospital.

James Warner, Eighty-two-year-old recluse of 964 127th Street, Richmond Hill, is in a serious condition in the Kings County Hospital, suffering from starvation. He was removed there on Sunday following treatment at Mary Immaculate Hospital, Jamaica, where he was taken from a one-room shack in which he made his home. He was so feeble he could not say when he had last eaten. There had been no fire in his home for several days. Search is being made for relatives.

Frigidaire Offers More for Less

New Low PRICES

Frigidaire mechanical units for installation in the standard makes of ice-boxes are as low as $170

Model M-5-2 metal cabinet Frigidaire—over 5 cu. ft. food capacity $225

(Prices f. o. b. Dayton)

And any Frigidaire may be purchased on the General Motors deferred payment plan.

This modern "ice man" calls once—with Frigidaire—and the ice stays always

IN WINTER as well as summer your home needs Frigidaire electric refrigeration. It makes you completely independent of outside ice supply. It is entirely automatic. There is nothing to start, nothing to stop, nothing to replenish. And it is economical. The electric current it consumes makes but little difference in the monthly electric bill. It saves the cost of ice. And it prevents the losses caused by food spoilage.

Larger food capacity, quieter operation, freedom from vibration, lower operating cost, a wider range of models, more precise engineering and manufacturing methods, greater beauty of design, proven dependability in service—these are the things that have made Frigidaire the outstanding leader in the electric refrigeration industry.

COULD any woman have a more wonderful Christmas? In her kitchen a beautiful new metal cabinet Frigidaire, its lustrous white Duco finish a true delight to the eye, its spotless porcelain enamel lining a promise of better, more sanitary refrigeration, its freezing compartment offering the great convenience of dainty ice cubes and delicious frozen desserts.

DOGAN MAKES PLEA FOR OIL DEFENDANTS; DENOUNCES ROBERTS

Counsel for Fall and Doherty Calls Fraud and Bribery Charges Preposterous.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO HARDING

President Is Referred To as a "Silent Witness" Who Approved Oil Lease Policy.

ROBERTS CONDEMNS LOAN

Prosecutor in His Closing Address to Jury Says $100,000 Payment Was "Dirty Business."

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—For bitterness and hard feeling it would be difficult to exaggerate the tension that marked today's summation of the Fall-Doheny conspiracy trial, now nearing its end in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. Owen J. Roberts, of counsel for the Government, concluded his opening argument this morning, and he did so in a fashion that those who heard him will not soon forget.

Then Mr. Roberts gave way to Frank J. Hogan, who began today and will conclude tomorrow morning the main plea of the defense. Mr. Hogan, his face flushed and his eyes flashing the anger he felt over the unmerciful lashing administered the defendants by Mr. Roberts, exclaimed to the jury that the words of Mr. Roberts constituted "as wholesale and as vicious a villification as ever polluted the atmosphere of a court of justice."

Until Mr. Roberts began his summation yesterday, Fall and Doheny, assisted Mr. Hogan, bore honored names in the nation's service. Their reputations, he added with great emphasis, were until yesterday unbesmirchable. He was sure, he declared, that Mr. Roberts had disgusted the jury's sense of fair play and justice. It was all, said the defense lawyer, a plan of deception on the part of Mr. Roberts, to whom he referred, with biting sarcasm, many times as a "Philadelphia lawyer."

Defends Leases as Patriotic.

The defense attorney declared the Mt. Mills and Pearl Harbor transactions were based on patriotism; that when Mr. Doheny let Mr. Fall have $100,000 it was due to friendship, a close personal friendship dating back forty years, to the time when Doheny was a struggling prospector and Fall a budding lawyer in New Mexico.

Incidentally he lauded the war services of Edward L. Doheny Jr., and declared that a man who would give his only son to the country in the hour of peril would not stoop to cheat that country out of Elk Hills, or any other property, no matter how valuable.

In his closing Mr. Roberts scored the defense for its failure to put on the stand Vice President Cotter of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company and one of the Doheny counsel in this case. Mr. Cotter, said Mr. Roberts, was the "silent witness" who was not called, although he had been within twenty feet of the witness chair since the trial began. Mr. Roberts declared Mr. Cotter was the one man, according to the testimony of all the principal defense witnesses, Robinson, Bain, Ambrose and Doheny himself, who knew about every phase of the transaction, and yet, he said, the defense had not dared put him on the stand.

Pays Tribute to Harding.

Taking Mr. Roberts's characterization of Mr. Cotter as a "silent witness" as his cue Mr. Hogan dramatically called a silent witness of his own, namely the late President Harding.

"I summon from his grave in Marion, Ohio," exclaimed Mr. Hogan, "Warren G. Harding. I stand this splendid figure before twelve of his fellow-citizens and from his resting place I quote his words."

Mr. Hogan then recalled the Harding letter to the Senate in 1921 in which Mr. Harding said he had followed the oil lease transactions from their inception and that what was done had his entire approval.

"He (Harding) stands here today as the best of silent witnesses," declared Mr. Hogan in solemn tones.

When court convened this morning Mr. Roberts resumed his argument for the Government. It was scathing from start to finish.

He bluntly charged that both Fall and Doheny had resorted to falsehood in their efforts to stem the tide, while as for Mr. Doheny he asserted that on one occasion when before the Senate committee and testifying about the $100,000 transaction he [Doheny] had given the Senate committee to understand "as clearly as a man can without committing blank perjury" that he himself, and not his son, as was subsequently disclosed, had drawn his check to get the $100,000 for Mr. Fall.

Mr. Doheny's testimony that in 1923 Mr. Fall had made a payment on the loan by transferring to him thirty-three shares of his Three Rivers Land and Cattle Company was "just a childish device," said Mr. Roberts. And Fall when he asked for and received the money knew, Mr. Roberts charged, that the whole transaction was "dirty business."

Calls Cotter "Silent Witness."

Resuming his argument for conviction, Mr. Roberts devoted considerable time to the activities of Joseph J. Cotter, an assistant to the late Franklin K. Lane when the latter was head of the Interior Department, and now one of the Vice Presidents of the Pan-

WALTER DAMROSCH,
Who Quits as New York Symphony Head.

DAMROSCH RESIGNS AS ORCHESTRA HEAD

To Quit Active Leadership of New York Symphony After 42 Years' Service.

RETAINED IN HONORARY POST

Change Effective at Season's End—Directors Pay Tribute —Successor Not Chosen.

Marking what his associate directors of the Symphony Society described as "the end of a musical era," Walter Damrosch yesterday resigned as conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra, a post he has filled for forty-two years, including the present season. His letter to Harry Harkness Flagler, President of the society, was presented at a directors' meeting in the afternoon at Mr. Flagler's home. Mr. Damrosch, in his own home at 146 East Sixty-first Street, a few hours later received guests assembled by invitation, told them the news and showed the replies of both Mr. Flagler and the Symphony directors.

Mr. Damrosch will become honorary conductor and an occasional guest conductor of the New York Symphony Society, he told his interviewers.

"Two men cannot drive the same team of horses or conduct the same orchestra," he said. "Therefore, when I decided that I could no longer direct four concerts a week or a hundred each season, it seemed right to let another man have the whiphand."

No successor to Mr. Damrosch has been named, it was said after the meeting at Mr. Flagler's. The guest conductors of the Symphony Society in the past have included Felix Weingartner, the late Gustav Mahler, the Anglo-Russian Albert Coates, the German Bruno Walter and the Parisian Vladimir Golschmann. This year's pair will be Otto Klemperer of Wiesbaden, who will return for the third time, and a newcomer, Fritz Busch of Dresden.

Letter of Resignation.

Mr. Damrosch's letter of resignation to President Flagler, which was read at the meeting, said:

My Dear Mr. Flagler:

This season marks my forty-second year as musical director and conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra. That is a long period, and I feel the time has come when I should like to be relieved of so responsible a position.

I wish to retire while I am still young enough not to have to give advancing years as the reason, and although I shall continue to work for my art I confess to a great desire to lessen somewhat my public activities. Will you, therefore, please accept my resignation, to take effect at the end of this season?

I cannot express in words my feeling of gratitude for the directors of the Symphony Society. To all my efforts they have given such wholehearted support, and not a single dissension has marked our relations during the entire forty-two years.

That my connection with the society has brought me a close and enduring friendship with you and your wife, I count as my greatest joy.

WALTER DAMROSCH.

Reply to Reorganization.

Mr. Flagler, who in recent years assumed the entire financial responsibility for the Symphony Society, replied as follows to Mr. Damrosch:

Your letter of yesterday, announcing your desire to retire as musical director and conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra at the end of the current season is a matter of profound regret to me personally and officially. I can hardly think of the Symphony Society bereft of your guidance, and yet I realize what a heavy burden you have borne for the

HOPE IN A NEW CURE FOR DRUG ADDICTS IS GIVEN BY DOCTORS

Narcosan Restores Victims Without After-Delirium, Physicians Report.

TESTED ON 366 PRISONERS

Some Had Been Addicts for 40 Years, Assert Drs. Lambert and Tilney.

THEY ASSISTED WALLIS

Frederick A. Wallis, Commissioner of Correction, announced last night that seven months' testing of a new treatment for drug addiction had yielded excellent results. The treatment included the use of narcosan, a solution of lipoids, proteins and water-soluble vitamins. The tests were made in the Correctional Hospital on Welfare Island. The subjects numbered 366, of whom 219 were men and 147 women.

In addition to proving itself efficacious for the treatment of morphine, heroin and cocaine addiction, the new treatment can be used in cases of overindulgence in alcohol and veronal. Coincident with Commissioner Wallis's statement, Dr. Alexander Lambert and Dr. Frederick Tilney report on narcosan in the current issue of The New York Medical Journal and Record.

According to Drs. Lambert and Tilney the new treatment breaks the drug habit without the severe suffering on the part of the patient that usually ensues. Another feature is the assertion that patients regain sleeping normally within twenty-four to forty-two hours after the treatment is begun. In addition to eliminating the craving for the narcotic, the treatment stimulates appetite. Premarcotic normalcy is regained in about three weeks after treatment is established, according to the physicians' report.

How Wallis Heard of Treatment.

"Acquaintances brought the new treatment to my attention," said Commissioner Wallis. "They told me what they had observed in a number of private cases and that they knew it had been used successfully in Ohio. I determined to try it quietly with a few patients in the narcotic wards on Riker's Island. Fourteen men volunteered. The results were such that I invited a group of our most eminent neurologists, alienists and medical men I knew to be interested in solving the medical features of the narcotic problem to look the convalescent patients over."

The Lambert-Tilney report, taking up the result of the physicians' inspection, says:

"This group of addicts were in excellent physical condition and in appearance showed no evidences of their previous narcotic addiction. It was clear that a treatment which left the patients in such excellent condition was worthy of further investigation."

Physicians Skeptical at First.

The first test of narcosan on Welfare Island was in June, 1925, and the second began in October. Physicians were skeptical of the experiment, principally because narcosan was a substance unknown to the medical profession and could not ethically be used under the general objections to secret remedies. The substance was worked out ten years ago by A. S. Horowitz, a biochemist. The profession's objection to its secret nature was overcome when Mr. Horowitz patented his preparation.

"This places narcosan," said the report of Drs. Lambert and Tilney, "on the same basis as thyroxin, the active principle of the thyroid gland as patented by Kendall of the Mayo Clinic, or of salvarsan, an arsenical preparation patented by the chemist Ehrlich, neither of these chemists being a physician. The patent papers show that narcosan is a solution of lipoids, together with non-specific proteins and water-soluble vitamins. It has been independently proved by several chemists that narcosan does not contain morphine, heroin, codein nor chloral hydrate, nor does it contain any alkaloid or any habit-forming drug.

"The theory of the action of narcosan in the body is that narcotics, such as morphine, call forth in the body certain protective substances to neutralize them. If the narcotics be suddenly withdrawn, and not given, these neutralizing substances are themselves toxic to the body. The lipoids in narcosan neutralize these toxic substances, instead of the narcotic. After seventy-two hours, because the withdrawal symptoms are over, these neutralizing reactions have ceased. The lipoids are then con-

Detroit Bank to Build 18-Story Garage Annex For Autos of Its Patrons and Office Tenants

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Dec. 14.—The First National Bank of Detroit has acquired an adjoining site upon which it will erect an eighteen-story garage building directly connected with the bank for the use of its customers and tenants of its office building. The garage will be ready in about a year.

Within a few weeks wreckers will begin to tear down two historic buildings, the Normandie and Hermitage Hotels, on Congress and Bates Streets, and on their site the First National Bank will erect its garage.

The garage will have space for 700 cars. Customers and tenants of the bank may drive into the garage, leave their cars in the hands of attendants and pass into the bank over a bridge structure which will connect the two buildings at each floor over the intervening alley. They may return to their cars and drive away without having had to cross a congested street on foot, worrying about any parking regulation, or taking up the heart-breaking hunt for a parking place that faces every automobilist today in the downtown section of Detroit.

Preferential storage rates will be given to office tenants of the bank building. Non-tenant customers of the First National Bank and the Central Savings Bank will be able to use the garage while transacting business in the bank, a small charge being made if a car remains over a specified time limit.

The garage building will have several floors devoted to office space, but the bank itself will provide for its own expansion by building its proposed addition on the sixty-foot adjoining site facing Cadillac Square.

The garage will be of the ramp type with auxiliary elevator equipment. It will follow in architectural design the lines of the present banking structure that was built on the site of the old Ponchartrain Hotel, and will give an added impetus to the rapid development of the Cadillac Square district, in which the new Barium Hotel is now nearing completion and the great Barium Tower Building is soon to rise.

What the new addition and equipment will cost, bank officials could not say, but it will run well into seven figures.

UNDERWOOD TO QUIT ERIE'S PRESIDENCY

Cleveland Reports Bernet of Nickel Plate Will Succeed Him on Dec. 31.

TO STAY AT HEAD OF BOARD

Change Regarded as Advance in Plan of Van Sweringens for Trunk System.

Frederick D. Underwood, President of the Erie Railroad for nearly twenty-six years and a pioneer of American railroading, will retire from office on Dec. 31. He will be succeeded by John J. Bernet, President of the Nickel Plate Railroad and chief operating official for the Van Sweringen brothers. This information was received from Cleveland yesterday. Formal announcement to this effect is expected within the next few days.

Mr. Underwood is one of the best known and best liked of the railroad heads having their offices in New York's financial district. Beginning railway service as a clerk and brakeman and working up to a superintendency on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, he became General Superintendency of the Minneapolis & Pacific when comparatively a young man.

After serving as General Manager of the Soo Lines he came East in 1899 to become General Manager and Second Vice President of the Baltimore & Ohio. In 1901 he was made head of the Erie and its allied companies and has retained that position to the present time. His term of service as head of a single railroad is believed to be the longest of any President of a carrier in the country.

Bernet's Railroad Record.

Mr. Bernet, who is expected to become his successor, began his career as a blacksmith and is credited generally with making a successful railroad out of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis, of Nickel Plate Road, which the Van Sweringen brothers purchased from the New York Central.

Before going with the Van Sweringens he was an official on the New York Central lines. In his rapid rise in the railroad world he ran the entire gamut of service. He was a telegraph operator six years, a train dispatcher for six more, a trainmaster for two, an assistant superintendent for two and continued to advance until in 1918 the Van Sweringens took him to run their trunk line railroad.

The placing of Mr. Bernet at the head of the Erie by the brothers is regarded as having an important bearing on their plans for a railroad merger which now are rapidly reaching a head. The recent purchase of a large block of Erie shares by the Stock Exchange firm of Paine, Webber & Co., who previously represented the Van Sweringens in their stock market deals, was interpreted in financial circles as the result of an ultimatum handed down by the Van Sweringens' bankers to the effect that they must include the Erie in their proposed plan.

The task now placed before Mr. Bernet is that of making the Erie a paying railroad. Despite progress in building up the traffic of the road, a top-heavy financial structure has prevented it from taking a place among the prosperous carrier properties of the country. The hope of the Van Sweringens is that with increased credit facilities the Erie may be made a profitable trunk line.

Relations With Nickel Plate.

While the road has been unfortunate from a financial standpoint it has maintained a good reputation among shippers and now has the second largest traffic density in the territory which it serves. The task of blending it with the Nickel Plate will be another problem of its new operating head. A good part of the Nickel Plate will be used in conjunction with the main line of the Erie from Buffalo to New York in building a strong trunk line system to Chicago.

Wall Street's guess as to Mr. Bernet's successor as President of the Nickel Plate is C. E. Denny, operating Vice President of the road although it may be that the Van Sweringens will go outside the road's personnel to choose their man.

Mr. Underwood will remain, according to report, as Chairman of the ex-

INDICT JERSEY MAYOR AND 32 IN RUM PLOT

HE DENIES HE GOT $50,000

New York Police Sergeant Also Accused of Taking $20,000—$2,000,000 Cargo Involved.

Mayor Henry Wissel and Chief of Police James A. Dinan of Edgewater, N. J.; a New York Harbor Patrol Police Sergeant, a United States Customs Inspector and two Edgewater detectives were among thirty-three defendants named in a liquor conspiracy indictment opened yesterday by Federal Judge John C. Knox in the United States District Court.

During the arraignment of two defendants before United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter, Assistant United States Attorney Herman T. Stichman said the indictment was the result of an eight months' investigation of the landing of a $2,000,000 liquor cargo from the rum-running steamship Eker in April. He told the Commissioner that Mayor Wissel was alleged to have accepted $50,000 and that Police Sergeant John J. Lowery of the Marine Division of the New York Police Department had accepted $20,000 from the rum-runners.

Although Mr. Stichman's investigation included efforts to ascertain the source of $9,500 in bills left mysteriously on the office desk of Police Captain Hugo Wunsche of the Marine Division, the indictment offers no solution to that mystery. Mr. Stichman declined to comment on that phase of the case. In addition to Mayor Wissel, Chief Dinan and Sergeant Lowery, the indictment names the following defendants:

Edward A. Ritz, Union City, N. J., U. S. Customs inspector at New York.
Alexander F. Flannery, Edgewater plain clothes detective.
Edward Pickering, Edgewater plain clothes detective.
Eustace R. Smith, Edgewater, owner Edgewater Boat Repair Yard.
Paul Demontreaux, owner Edgewater Boat Repair Yard.
James Baldwin, Edgewater, owner Edgewater Boat Repair Yard.
George Rosenbaum, Newark.
Henry Kramer, Philadelphia.
Louis Smith, Carlton Terrace Hotel, New York City, liquor buyer in Montreal.
David Perlo, Montreal.
Cecil Kinder, Chicago.
Clifford Kinder, Cecil's brother, Chicago.
D. Turner, Chicago.
Ernest Gould, alias "Red" Reynolds, Providence, R. I.
Maurice Borden, Newport, R. I.
Harry Gertner, Flatiron Building, New York City.
George J. Hearn, Monarch Steamship Company, 17 Battery Place.

Alleges Many Overt Acts.

The indictment contains three counts and alleges numerous overt acts. A majority of the defendants have been either apprehended or have voluntarily surrendered and have been arraigned on informations in anticipation of the indictment. Mayor Wissel and Chief Dinan have not surrendered. Both said yesterday they had received no official notice of the indictment.

Mayor Wissel, a Republican who is serving his seventh term as Mayor of Edgewater without salary, and who earns his living as chief engineer for the Edgewater plant of the Public Service Railway Company, denied that he had any knowledge of bootlegging in Edgewater. He said all he knew of the Eker was that he had seen the name in newspapers.

"If there has been any bootlegging," said the Mayor, "I have not protected it in any way. While I have no sympathy with the prohibition law, that does not mean that I have sanctioned bootlegging. If our laws continue to accumulate the country will soon go into the hands of the Bolshevists. The only explanation I can offer of the indictment against me is politics. I suppose you expected to find my Rolls-Royce parked outside. I am afraid I am out of character in my shirt sleeves. I should have had my dress suit pressed for this occasion."

The Mayor, who lives with his wife in his own home at Hilliard and Undercliff Avenues, Edgewater, did not amplify his statement about politics except to mention something about political rivals. He said he would confer with attorneys and friends today and that one of his attorneys would be George Cutley, who represented fourteen town officials and policemen who were acquitted in Auburn and Sing Sing Amusements Defended for That Reason—More Guards Needed.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Dec. 14.—George W. Alger, special commissioner appointed by Governor Smith last Spring to investigate State prison and parole methods, recommended in the third section of his report, made public today, that James L. Long, Superintendent of Prisons, be supplanted as head of the State prison system after Jan. 1, when the system will be reorganized and consolidated with the State Department of Correction.

Pointing out that under the reorganization law the Commissioner of Correction will also head the Commission of Prisons, Mr. Alger said:

"The new Department of Correction calls for a very high order of administrative abilities at its head if it is to succeed as a constructive reorganization. The duties imposed upon the Commissioner are far greater than those of the Superintendent of Prisons.

"The many serious and difficult problems which will confront this new department will require for their solution far more than a willingness to follow uncritically the traditions of an established but archaic routine in a badly organized system.

"I feel obliged to say that I do not find in the administration of the prisons today sufficient evidence of such administrative ability in the Superintendent of Prisons as, in my judgment, to make it desirable to place upon him the enlarged responsibilities and opportunities of this new department.

First Step Important.

"The quality of the Commissioner who at the beginning is placed at the head of the new department will determine to a very large extent whether or not there is to be in fact a great advance in the development of a modern prison system in this State under the new law, and whether we are to have a well articulated Department of Correction sufficiently organized to meet effectively its normal functions and also competent to obtain the maximum results from the expenditure of millions of dollars which in the next decade will be available for long needed improvements."

Removal of Superintendent Long has been anticipated since the beginning of Commissioner Alger's investigation, which followed action by Mr. Long in deducting 224 days' penalty for an escape from Great Meadow Prison from the sentence of Izzy Presser, a notorious gunman, and action by the Parole Board, later revoked, setting a date for Presser's parole. The first section of Mr. Alger's report, made public on Dec. 5, criticised Mr. Long's attitude in the Presser case, and the second section, made public on Dec. 11, called for reforms in the parole law.

A feature of the report is a detailed recommendation for the expenditure of $8,675,000 from bond issues in improving our State prisons.

Mr. Alger's report asserted that the extension of the duties of the Commissioner of Correction under the PARIS, Dec. 14.—Mme. Rectitude Touzet, who has just died at the age of 104 at Aux le Chateau, near Arras, is supposed to have been the world's oldest disciple of modernism in women's fashions. When she was 103 years of age she adopted the popular coiffure of today. She had her white locks bobbed according to the approved Parisian model.

Mme. Touzet, until the end of her life, maintained a gay and youthful disposition. She never missed an opportunity to attend a dance, where she outdid in energy many who might have been her great-grandchildren.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Mrs. Agatha Christie, the missing writer of detective novels, has been found and one of the most sensational disappearances that ever enlivened the columns of the English newspapers and which set everybody in the country guessing is at an end. Mrs. Christie was discovered today staying as a guest at the Hydro, at Harrogate, a well-known Yorkshire Spa, and the explanation given for her disappearance is what was generally expected—loss of memory.

That she escaped detection so long is not regarded as particularly complimentary to the astuteness of the many thousands of police who have been out watching for her, especially as she appears to have taken no steps to hide her identity beyond adopting an assumed name.

It will be recalled that after her disappearance a letter from her was received by Colonel Christie's brother, stating that she was in ill health and going to a Yorkshire spa. The Surrey police communicated with certain centres in Yorkshire and satisfied themselves, it was understood, that she was not in that county. Nevertheless, she arrived at the Hydro Saturday night, Dec. 4, twenty-four hours after her disappearance, and had stayed there since.

Recognized by Her Husband.

Following upon a communication from the Harrogate Police Colonel Christie traveled to that place today. Accompanied by a police inspector he went to the Hydro and took up a position in the lounge. After half an hour's wait the woman who was supposed to be the missing novelist came downstairs and the Colonel at once recognized her as his wife.

Accounts differ as to just what happened then. One version had her greeting him affectionately. Another that there was no recognition on the part of Mrs. Christie. Colonel Christie, it is stated, almost pathetically made himself known to her as her husband, but was rewarded with a stony stare.

"Don't you know me?" he pleaded. "Surely you recognize me?"

The woman's reply was inaudible, but, says this account, it was clear to the small but interested group of onlookers that she was repudiating all knowledge of the speaker.

The Colonel afterward stated that his wife was suffering from complete

TRANSIT BOARD TO FIX SUBWAY VALUATION, SIFT STOCK DEALS

State Commission Will Check Old Figures or Set New Ones to Prepare for New Plan.

TO SEEK OWNERS OF SHARES

Wants to Know With Whom It Must Deal After Rumors of B. M. T. Control of the I. R. T.

DELANEY FIRM ON FARE

Five Cents Enough If Tax Surplus Is Used for Transit Till 1932, He Says—Dahl on New Lines.

The Transit Commission, after a conference with Samuel Untermyer, its special counsel, yesterday, retained Touche, Niven & Co., expert accountants, of 30 Maiden Lane, to cooperate with its own staff of accountants under the direction of Frederick C. Lindars, in the preparation of data to formulate its plan of readjustment of the transit lines of the city. This work will start immediately.

It was learned that the commission and Mr. Untermyer contemplate an intensive investigation of the transit situation, preliminary to the preparation of a plan. This investigation is expected to include an inquiry into recent transactions in transit stocks and a determination of the actual ownership of the transit companies. The reports that interests affiliated with the B. M. T. have bought heavily of stock of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company will be investigated, it was said, and this investigation is expected to show whether, as has been rumored, the B. M. T. group actually has control of the Interborough Company. Determination of this was said to be necessary so that the commission and the city might know exactly with whom they would have to deal in putting through any kind of readjustment or consolidation.

May Examine Properties.

It also was said to be likely that the present Transit Commission would make a new valuation of the properties of the various railroad companies, or at least make a thorough check of the valuations fixed tentatively by their predecessors which the companies refused to accept.

The commission began preparation of letters inviting the submission of plans and suggestions within the next ninety days. These will be sent to Henry Bruere, Mayor Walker and the other members of the Board of Estimate, the Board of Transportation, the Aldermen and other city officials, the Presidents of all the transit companies, including the surface line companies and probably the existing bus companies, and to hundreds of civic organizations. Each of these letters will contain a copy of the commission's statement announcing its decision to proceed with the preparation of a plan.

Mr. Untermyer started last night on a round-the-world cruise on the steamship Belgenland, taking with him a trunk full of records, including the 6,000 pages of testimony taken by the former Transit Commission at hearings on its proposed unification plans. The exact time of his return is uncertain, but it was learned that he might cut short the cruise and return to New York even before the end of the ninety-day period fixed by the commission for preliminary work.

Before sailing Mr. Untermyer issued a statement in which he said the commission fully realized the intolerable conditions and the overshadowing importance of prompt action. He said the public's patience had been tried to the breaking point by making a political football of a vital business problem.

The appointment of the junior special counsel, suggested by Mr. Untermyer, will not be made for the present, and the legal work during the preliminary period will be done by the Commission's regular legal staff under the direction of Clarence Lewis.

Says No Need for Higher Fare.

John H. Delaney, Chairman of the Board of Transportation, whose announcement that members of the City Administration had discussed the possibility of consolidation with representatives of the Interborough Company is believed to have started the recent transit agitation, declared yesterday there was no necessity for an increased fare on the existing rapid transit lines and that there would be no necessity for a greater fare than five cents on the city's new subway system if the city paid part of the cost of construction out of its increased taxing power each year.

"The five-cent fare should not be increased on the existing transit lines, for there is no necessity for it," Mr. Delaney said. "Even when the new city subways are completed in 1932 an increase in fare will not be financially necessary if the city adopts the financial program mapped out by the Board of Transportation."

Mr. Delaney said his plan would be to take the surplus tax revenues gained each year through increases in the assessed value of real estate and apply them to subway construction. He said there had been an increase of $15,000,000 in the city's taxing power this year and there would undoubtedly be a similar increase each year for the next five years.

"I've said this before and I'll say it again," Mr. Delaney continued. "It now requires 3 cents a passenger for actual operation of the subways and all charges over that amount go to pay interest on borrowed money. If we keep on borrowing money the burden of interest will be so great that an increased fare will be necessary."

Bond Amendment Necessary.

Mr. Delaney declared the passage by the Legislature of the resolution for the proposed $300,000,000 bond constitutional amendment and its subsequent

Marion Talley Disappoints New Rochelle; Refuses to Sing When Full Fee Is Not Ready

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Dec. 14.—The engagement of Miss Marion Talley, youthful Metropolitan Opera Company star, to appear here in concert, was canceled tonight in the presence of a capacity audience of 1,300 persons, and with Miss Talley waiting in a dressing room ready to go on. The concert was canceled by her manager, F. C. Coppicus, because the contracted sum for Miss Talley's appearance, $3,000, was not paid in advance.

At 8:40 o'clock, ten minutes after the concert was to have begun, F. C. Shang, an assistant of Mr. Coppicus, stepped to the front of the stage in the New Rochelle High School auditorium and announced that the program would not be given.

The evening had been arranged under the local management of Miss Veronica Govers, a teacher of music at the New Rochelle College for Women. She has been promoting concerts for twelve years. This year she engaged Miss Talley, through the Metropolitan Musical Bureau of New York, to give the first concert of the season, inaugurating the new high school auditorium. An audience comprising many of the most prominent residents of the city and county had gathered.

The contract, according to representatives of both Miss Govers and the Musical Bureau, provided for payment in full in cash, certified check or New York draft before the concert. Miss Govers was called upon for the $3,000. She did not have it, but offered personal checks for $1,800. According to friends of Miss Govers, she offered to pay the remaining $1,200 after the concert, but Mr. Coppicus said she did not know whether she would be able to pay it.

When the program had been called off Miss Talley got into an automobile with friends prepared to motor back to New York. While Mr. Coppicus was at the car, a man from the audience, said to be a wealthy acquaintance of Miss Govers, offered a check for the $1,200 balance. The manager declined this and Miss Talley drove away. Other friends of Miss Govers then offered to pay any amount needed, but Mr. Coppicus told them it was too late.

Miss Govers was in tears after the collapse of her plans and could not be reached for a statement. Her friends said, however, that she was accustomed to paying part of the fee before a concert and the remainder after and had not expected a literal carrying out of the contract.

Miss Talley expressed regret at having to disappoint an audience, over the telephone at her home in New York last night. She explained that her manager never accepted anything less than full payment in cash or its equivalent in advance.

Mr. Coppicus, talking over the telephone from his home in Bronxville, said he had previously arranged concerts for Miss Govers, and that she always had paid in advance until last night. She was unable last night, he said, to guarantee full payment. He said he had informed Miss Govers some days ago that if the undertaking was too heavy for her she was at liberty to cancel it, but that she had assured him all was going well.

Identifies Viaduct Leap Suicide as Wife, But Meets Her on His Way to Arrange Funeral

A woman jumped from the viaduct where Riverside Drive crosses 125th Street yesterday morning. As her body crashed to the pavement, 110 feet below, Joseph Kitchak, 556 West 132d Street, who was sitting at the wheel of his taxicab, rushed over. He identified her as his wife, from whom he had been estranged.

After the police had completed the official formalities customary in such a case, Kitchak was permitted to claim the body of the woman and make arrangements for the funeral. He had the body taken to the undertaking rooms of Bernard Levin & Bros., 227 West 145th Street.

Last night he went to Yonkers, where his wife had been living, to notify her friends there. While on this errand he met a woman whose appearance gave him a start. He stopped, gazed again and recognized his wife. Mutual explanations were in order and the pair then went to the West 100th Street police station to explain to Lieutenant Martin Cuff.

The body of the woman at the undertaking parlors was removed to the morgue by order of the police. It was unidentified at a late hour last night. Kitchak and his wife were reconciled and are now living together.

ratification by the voters of the State were essential if the city was to complete construction of its new subway system within the six-year period fixed.

"An expansion of the city's debt limit by $300,000,000 is necessary to enable the city to extend subway facilities to sections now clamoring for relief," he said. "There is a cry for relief from neglected sections of the Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens, Richmond and the east side of Manhattan. Of course, we can eventually get money enough to complete our program, but without the amendment we cannot do it as rapidly as the necessities warrant.

"If we do not get the additional borrowing capacity, it will take us eight or ten years instead of six to complete the program. We can't take every cent there is for transit. The city doesn't want to stop building schools and other needed improvements.

"I expect the Legislature to respond to our request, as it did before, and pass the $300,000,000 bond resolution for the second time. We are now executing subway construction contracts at the rate of between $100,000,000 and $125,000,000 a year. Part of the new subway system will be opened in 1931, and the entire system a year or two later, according to present plans."

Mayor Walker had little comment to offer on the Transit Commission's decision to take the initiative in a plan of readjustment, except to say that he would cooperate with the commission. It was learned that the Mayor was somewhat puzzled by the commission's announcement that it intended to ask him, among others, to submit a plan or suggestions. The Mayor was said to take the view that, inasmuch as any plan the commission might prepare would have to go to the Board of Estimate for approval ultimately, there was no reason why he should submit a plan to the commission, but every reason why he should wait and see whether the plan the commission evolved was one he would favor.

Dahl Fights Present Plan.

Gerhard M. Dahl, Chairman of the Board of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation, sent the seventh of his series of letters to the Transit Commission and the Board of Estimate. In it he urged abandonment of the plan to build a competitive subway system and called for consideration of the transit problem as a whole and the adoption of a plan that would insure adequate service at the lowest possible cost.

Mr. Dahl declared the proposed city subway system would not lessen rush-hour congestion and asserted that it had the same fault as the existing Interborough subway system in that the ratio of service track miles outside the area of maximum loading to the number of service track miles within such area was too great to make operation under present conditions profitable. He said this ratio in the new system would be four to one and added that the experience of the Interborough showed this was bound to result in more rush-hour congestion.

Mr. Dahl attacked the estimates of the engineers of the Board of Transportation of the probable earning power of the new system as excessive, and said the Interborough subway figures of 3,470,113 passengers a year per service track mile were reached only by "indecent and degrading crowding that made rush hours a bedlam."

The Board of Transportation, he continued, estimated that the new city subways would carry 685,000,000 passengers a year in 1935, or 4,029,412 passengers per service track mile, and 800,000,000 passengers a year in 1940, or 5,128,205 per service track mile. He added that the board studies showed the Interborough subways would be back to the present congestion by 1940 and probably several years earlier.

LAVIN DEFIES INJUNCTION.

Traction Union Head Says Court Order Won't Stop Enrolment.

Edward P. Lavin, leader of the last Interborough strike, issued a statement yesterday, attacking the injunction issued Monday by Supreme Court Justice Francis B. Delehanty restraining Lavin and other officers of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electrical Railway Employes from attempting to enroll employes of local traction companies in that union.

"This injunction is in flagrant violation of the rights of the men to organize and bargain collectively, as established by one hundred years of experience in the labor movement," Lavin said. "Injunctions will not provide the workers with better standards of living. The traction trust organizes as it sees fit to squeeze profits out of the workers and the public and no injunction is issued against them.

"The work of organization is going on and will continue. This will rather stimulate than hinder our work. The workers are demanding the union, and the union will stand by them."

WOMAN STOWAWAY DISCOVERED ON LINER

Other Husband's Fight With Admirer Brings Detention by Immigration Officers.

A stowaway, Mrs. Cecilia Duval, a twenty-year-old Chilean, with flashing dark eyes and vivacious manner, was discovered on board the Santa Luisa of the Grace Line, which arrived yesterday, when the vessel was ten days out of Valparaiso and six days from New York.

Mrs. Duval was smuggled on board by her husband, Alexander Duval, an oiler on the ship. He disguised her as another oiler. She was dressed in greasy overalls, with a rag around her neck and a cap drawn over her eyes.

Her identity was discovered by another member of the crew. When he attempted to pay court to her he was confronted by her husband. The two oilers fought and the noise attracted the attention of Chief Engineer P. F. Parker. He hurried up to investigate and found Mrs. Duval.

The woman was brought before the Captain of the liner and, after being questioned, was placed in her husband's charge until the vessel docked yesterday morning. Then both were turned over to the immigration authorities. They probably will be deported.

Another passenger who arrived on the Santa Luisa also was sent to Ellis Island. She was Mrs. Jeanne Gold, the wife of a Peruvian planter residing in Callao. Although born in Wakefield, Mass., according to her own statements and those of her friends, she was traveling on a Spanish passport which, the immigration officials said, expired three days ago.

Mrs. Gold was accompanied by a maid. She brought twelve trunks with her. Despite her protests and those of relatives who met her at the pier, she was obliged to go to the Island, where she will face a board of special inquiry.

$30,000,000 ACTION OF B. M. T. ON TRIAL

PENDING NEARLY FIVE YEARS

City's Appeal to Supreme Court for Writ of Prohibition to Be Heard on Jan. 3.

The action begun by Lindley M. Garrison as receiver of the old Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company against the city for $30,000,000 damages alleged to have been caused by the delay of the city to construct certain rapid transit lines under Contract 4, which has been pending for nearly five years, came to trial yesterday before Special Master Graham Sumner at his office, 120 Broadway. The action was one of the troub s turned over to the B. M. T. Corporation when the latter succeeded the B. R. T.

It was alleged in the complaint that the damages claimed were caused by delays of the city as the various transit sections which the city was under contract to construct, which caused lack of operation, the divergence of traffic to competing lines, longer hauls made necessary by the unfinished system, and especially delay in the construction of the Fourteenth Street-Eastern line and the Nassau Street connection between the Municipal Building and the south end of Broad Street.

Since the suit was filed there have been many court movements designed to rid the city of the burden of fighting the action, for the substitution of the present rapid transit officials in place of those in office when the action was begun, and for authority, which was granted, to substitute as the plaintiff the New York Rapid Transit Company, a subsidiary of the B. M. T. When Mr. Garrison ceased to be receiver of the B. R. T. the receivership proceedings involving the action were transferred to William S. Menden, President of the New York Rapid Transit Corporation.

Unable to Dismiss Suit.

Several efforts by the city to have the suit dismissed failed, the Federal court sustaining the contention of the company that it had a right to have its case tried. On one occasion Federal Judge Knox, in denying a motion to dismiss, said that in making the contract the city obligated itself in such a manner as to be liable for its defaults and that, in part, at least, liability might be enforced.

The last effort by the city to delay the matter was an appeal for delay pending an appeal to the United States Supreme Court for a writ of prohibition and for the elucidation of the law covering the case. Argument on the appeal has been set down for Jan. 3.

Yesterday's proceedings were limited to the presentation of the plaintiff's case by Harold G. Pickering. The Nassau Street link is still unbuilt and it has been said that the city is willing to build it, if by this concession contest of the suit could be avoided. Mr. Pickering's opening disposed of any such hope. He said that contract between the company and the city provided that the company should equip the city's railroads, reconstruct certain rapid transit lines operated by it, and connect them with the city-owned railroads so as to permit a joint operation.

Says City Refused to Act.

Mr. Pickering said the city had not built the railroads it agreed to build, that it did not proceed with reasonable diligence, that it had deliberately and unjustifiably postponed for years the building of certain parts of them, and that it refused to build other parts.

The next hearing will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 21.

Associated with Mr. Pickering are D. A. Marsh and Henry Root Stern. Martin Conboy, a special assistant to Corporation Counsel Nicholson, appears for the city, along with George H. Stover.

CREW IN 'MUTINY,' SCHOONER GROUNDS

Coast Guards Take Off Men and Leave Embattled Skipper Aboard Craft on Carolina Shoals.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Dec. 14 (AP).—Members of the crew of the schooner Charles A. Dean, which was wrecked on Frying Pan Shoals today, were brought to the Coast Guard station here late tonight, where they will be held pending an investigation of trouble aboard.

The crew, five negroes and three white men, were brought ashore by coast guardsmen who went to the rescue of the grounded ship.

Captain A. W. Albert, who had been reported as holding his crew at bay with a revolver, remained with the ship, but he made no request that the crew be arrested on a charge of mutiny.

The captain, the coast guardsmen said, did not interfere with them when they boarded the ship.

When the guardsmen had attempted earlier to get on board the schooner, the captain is reported to have refused permission, explaining that the crew had mutinied. The guardsmen then returned to Wilmington to procure arms with the intention of boarding by force.

Members of the crew said the captain had forbidden them to go aft after the ship grounded. They gave no reason for this action.

The schooner tonight still was aground and leaking badly. Tugs failed to pull her free of the bar, but will try again tomorrow.

The 1,100-ton vessel was en route from Savannah to Baltimore with a cargo of cross ties.

BUDAPEST GOES DRY FOR POLLING DAYS

Government Enforces Prohibition Measure to Prevent Disorder in the Capital.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUDAPEST, Dec. 14.—Americans arriving in this city today had a shock in learning what prohibition without bootleggers means. The national elections began in the Budapest district yesterday and during the three days they last the Government has forbidden the sale of anything stronger than orangeade.

The drought caught the inexperienced Hungarians unprepared. Even the big hotels seem either to have laid in no stock or else not to have benefited by the lessons long ago learned in America.

Americans who thought there could not possibly be prohibition without bootlegging developments could satiate their thirst only by trying to explain to the Hungarians what bootlegging means. But the only response to their explanations was a shrug of the shoulders from the hotel employes, who directed their attention to a detective close by, who was there to enforce the law.

No liquor can be served, even in the hotel rooms, nor can one enjoy a private stock in public places, even in teacups.

The elections were held several days ago on the outskirts of the city, so that these districts are now wet.

Judging from the few persons around the voting booths in the capital and the crowds of Budapesters who are filling the suburban cafés, it appears that there will be many citizens who will have to pay a $5 fine for not voting.

Voting is compulsory here. In prewar days drink was synonymous with balloting in Hungary; but now voting means Voisteadism of a kind America does not know.

The usually gay city is so sober now that all the bars and cabarets have closed in despair. Hungarians pray the drought will eliminate the disorders of former wet elections, but most of them add that "these three days of prohibition is enough to kill any chance it had of ever becoming permanent here."

The election results known so far from the districts which have polled during the week are Government Party 188, Socialists 4, Legitimists 3, Democrats 1, Independent Mossuth Party 1, Fascist 1.

ALGER SAYS LONG SHOULD BE DROPPED

"The present Prison Department lacks such a system," he went on. "While we have four State prisons, which are fortunately all managed by efficient and competent wardens, they are operated in the main as separate units without much indication of a central organization of which they are a part and whose administrative plans and purposes control their operation."

Mr. Alger recommended more guards and more clerical employes for Clinton Prison, where dangerous, unruly and long-term prisoners are confined, and more guards for Great Meadow, from which Presser escaped. He advocated discontinuing special privileges for Sing Sing prisoners, who may receive food packages from friends and relatives at any time, although inmates of other prisons may receive them only on four specified holidays. Mr. Alger urged that in all transfers from one prison to another the reasons be stated, because complaints of favoritism in transfers are more numerous than for any other cause.

Mr. Alger recommended a central plan of prison classification. He said he found in Sing Sing sixty-nine inmates who were 16, 17 or 18 years old when committed, in Clinton Prison sixty-four and in Auburn numerous others. These boys of "hero-worshiping age," he said, were consorting with hardened offenders instead of being with other boys in Elmira Reformatory. In Elmira, he went on, he found thirty men who had been committed there between the ages of 26 and 30, besides a large number of feeble-minded who should not have been sent there. He said conditions at Elmira were so bad that prison officials believed boys suffered less harm at Sing Sing. There should be reclassification, he said, so that the educational and disciplinary facilities of Elmira might be used more effectively for their original reformative purposes. He also said the age limit at Elmira should be reduced from 30 to 25.

Urging a greater appropriation for new construction and modernization of the State prisons than the $8,000,000 tentatively allotted to prisons from the newly authorized bond issues, Mr. Alger said the present condition of the prisons was a disgrace to the State.

Cells Called Atrocious.

"Both at Auburn and Sing Sing," he went on, "the wardens permit baseball, motion pictures and miscellaneous group amusements for the prisoners. Why? Simply because the cells are so atrocious that the men should be kept out of them except for the time actually required for sleep. Those who criticise prison amusements as a process of coddling should understand the reason why in some cases these amusements are permitted."

Discussing the possibility of an increased number of prisoners as a result of the Baumes laws, Mr. Alger said an analysis of prison sentences at Sing Sing showed that the new laws would result in longer terms in many cases. He said 214 prisoners would be discharged from Sing Sing between 1926 and 1930 who would still be in prison at that time if they had been sentenced under the new laws. Whereas, Sing Sing has two life prisoners sentenced as habitual criminals, he went on, it would have ninety if the law providing life imprisonment for fourth offenders had been in effect when the other eighty-eight had been sentenced.

In ten years, he pointed out, this ratio would add 880 life prisoners to the number of Sing Sing inmates. The same ratio applied to the whole prison system of the State, he continued, would mean an increase of 1,250 life prisoners in ten years, or enough to fill a new prison. He expected, however, that the effect of the new laws would be felt gradually, rather than suddenly, and that there would be plenty of time in the future to provide for new prisons if needed. At present, he said, the prisons are practically filled to capacity, except Great Meadow, which is approaching its capacity.

Building Requirements.

Mr. Alger listed the following "major requirements" of the prisons which he thought should be provided for as soon as possible out of the State bond issues:

Sing Sing Prison—
To complete the cell blocks and other buildings on the hill at Sing Sing, which will produce in connection with the new buildings already erected a total number of cells of 1,400	$2,775,000
Auburn Prison—
To rebuild certain parts of Auburn Prison, to make new cell blocks and to provide for a central power plant	2,500,000
Clinton Prison—
To destroy existing cell blocks at Clinton Prison and replace same with reinforced concrete cell blocks with 200 additional cells with proper plumbing and toilet facilities	2,500,000
To build power plant at Clinton for which the appropriations have thus far been made which are only sufficient to build foundations and tunnels to connect same with prison plant	200,000
Women's Prison—
To build at Bedford a plant for a women's prison to take the place of the Auburn Prison for Women, with cells to accommodate 100 women and with provision for expansion, if needed	350,000
Elmira Reformatory—
To build at Elmira a building to take the place of the twice condemned foundry plant	100,000
To build at Elmira a separate cell block for first offenders, segregated as a special group	250,000
Total	$8,675,000

M'NARY INTRODUCES NEW FARM AID BILL

Modifies Original Measure to Keep Up Prices Through Control of Commodity Surpluses.

INCLUDES COTTON AND RICE

Senator Retains Equalization Fee and Asks $250,000,000 Federal Loan.

By RICHARD V. OULAHAN.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Senator McNary of Oregon, co-author of the McNary-Haugen radical farm relief measure, introduced in the Senate today a modified bill on the subject which retains, however, some of the striking provisions of the McNary-Haugen plan, including the equalization fee system which aroused such opposition on the part of the Coolidge Administration.

Coincident with Senator McNary's action it became known that friends of the Administration were engaged in studying the farm problem with a view to offering another farm aid proposal, which, while it would not contain the unacceptable price fixing and equalization fee features of the original McNary-Haugen scheme, would make concessions that might bring to its support Senators and Representatives willing to accept a measure that strikes a balance between the McNary-Haugen bill and conservative plans of agricultural relief.

While no authoritative information has been furnished as to the details of the Administration plan it is said to provide for the erection of Government warehouses on the Mississippi, Ohio and Missouri Rivers for the storage of farm commodities but without committing the Government to administering their sale or withholding them for the purpose of fixing prices on them.

Bill Fails to Cause a Flurry.

It has been known for some time that Senator McNary was preparing a modified form of the bill to which his name and that of Representative Haugen of Iowa were attached and his introduction of the measure today did not cause a flurry.

The bill is expected to have the backing of the corn belt committee, representing dissatisfied agricultural organizations and farmers from portions of twenty-two Western States, and the American Farm Bureau Federation, which, however, has indorsed the farm aid plan put forward by former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois at the convention of the federation in Chicago last week.

In his modified bill Mr. McNary has included cotton as one of the commodities would will receive the benefits of its provisions, including the equalization fee, but nothing has appeared to indicate that any considerable number of Senators and Representatives from the cotton States will back his new scheme.

Some of the farm organizations are not expected to support the new McNary plan, but instead to devise another or other forms of farm relief with a better chance of enactment.

While the McNary bill would use Government money for controlling the marketing of farm products and a revolving fund of $280,000,000 is provided for, it is insisted by Senator McNary that the public moneys employed shall be loans to be paid back out of the equalization fee taken from the profits on the sale of the commodities under the terms of the system provided in the measure.

Mr. McNary also asserts that his new plan does not provide for fixing prices of farm commodities. The measure, he explains, was essentially a "surplus control" bill with the sole object of stabilizing farm prices by controlling their surplus through a "stabilization fund" obtained from the "marketed units" of each commodity, but with Government loans authorized from the revolving fund of $250,000,000 created by the bill. There is no mention in the bill of price levels or of a standard of stabilization. The proposed farm aid arrangement is to be administered by the Federal Farm Board as provided for in the original McNary-Haugen bill.

McNary Explains the Bill.

Senator McNary's explanation in part reads:

"While the new bill retains many of the essentials of the old bill, the changes, omissions and additions are sufficiently numerous and important to make it distinctly a new bill.

"The bill is essentially a surplus control bill, the sole aim being to stabilize prices through control of the surplus. For that purpose a separate 'stabilization fund' is provided for each of the five basic commodities—cotton, wheat, rice, corn and hogs. These stabilization funds are to be drawn from the 'marketed units' of each commodity and are to be employed in 'removing or withholding or disposing' of the surplus by cooperatives, or if there are no cooperatives capable of doing the job, by persons engaged in processing such commodities.

"Rice has been included in the bill by urgent request of Southern rice growers. Market conditions for rice are comparable with those for wheat. There is a tariff on rice, but it is effective only in years of small crops when there is little or no exportable surplus.

"An equalization fee is provided for all basic commodities, which must be applied when operations begin with respect to such commodity.

"The new draft omits the provision in the old bill, which deferred the collection of an equalization fee on cotton for three years until Congress should authorize its imposition. The provision for stabilizing cotton for three years with Government funds is also omitted. This removes all ground for criticism on the score of granting a subsidy to cotton.

"In the old bill the equalization fee was imposed upon 'all producers' of the basic commodities named in the bill. In the new draft the fee is imposed upon 'each marketed unit' of such commodities. This carries out the idea that we are dealing with the commodity rather than the individual farmers. The fee will be collected at the most convenient point along the route of the commodity to market. The board is given authority to collect it on transportation or on the first sale or at the processing, or milling point.

"The new draft carries over unchanged the section authorizing loans to cooperatives for the purpose of acquiring facilities for storage and processing with provision for amortizing repayment over a period not longer than twenty-five years. The total amount of such loans may not exceed $25,000,000.

"The Federal Farm Board is retained, but important changes are made in the advisory council section. The old bill provided for a national advisory council, selected by farmers' organizations, which should make nominations to the President and act in advisory capacity to the Federal Farm Board. In the new bill nominations will be made to the President by a nominating committee chosen by farm organizations and provision is made for non-salaried commodity advisory councils for each basic commodity, to be appointed by the board from lists submitted by representative producers' organizations, which will consult and advise with the board with respect to all matters under its jurisdiction and especially to cooperate with the board in advising producers in the adjustment of production in order to secure maximum benefits under this act."

Move for Introduction in House.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—A companion bill to the farm relief measure introduced by Senator McNary was turned over today to Representative Purnell, Republican, of Indiana, and Representative Fulmer, Democrat, of South Carolina, with a request from Senate farm leaders that they introduce it jointly, thus indicating support from the three great farming regions—Far West, Middle West and South. Both Purnell and Fulmer are members of the House Agriculture Committee.

JAPAN'S EMPEROR IMPROVES SLIGHTLY

Anxiety Unrelieved, as Condition Is Still Critical—U. S. Ambassador at Shrine.

TOKIO, Dec. 14.—The condition of Emperor Yoshihito was slightly improved today, according to a bulletin of the Imperial Household Department. His temperature was almost normal at 5 o'clock, but slightly increased at 9 o'clock. The same was true of respiration and pulse. Anxiety for the royal patient was unrelieved, however, as fluctuations are expected.

The Emperor chokes from the pneumonia inflammation in the right lung, and is unable to eat, nourishment being administered through a rubber tube.

The Prince Regent and Crown Princess have changed their plans and will remain at Hayama indefinitely. They watched at the bedside until late last night, arose at 6 this morning and offered prayers at a special shrine erected by the Empress.

The police have completed preparations to accommodate a thousand persons, members of the imperial family and Government officials, in private villas at Hayama, should necessity arise. Additional measures for controlling reports have been adopted at a conference of the police, household and Ministry.

The throngs visiting shrines and temples to pray for the Emperor's recovery are increasing. A foreign man and woman who have been seen driving frequently to the Meiji shrine in a horse-drawn carriage, remaining in the shrine a few minutes and quietly departing, were identified today as the American Ambassador and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacVeagh of New York. The Japanese newspapers are featuring a story of the MacVeaghs visiting the shrine and praying for the Emperor's recovery. Ambassador MacVeagh admits frequent visits to the shrine.

NIP PLOT TO KILL KING AND RIVERA IN MADRID

Spanish Authorities Arrest 13 Anarchists Planning to Shoot Dictator and Bomb Alfonso.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—A new plot to kill King Alfonso and the Spanish Dictator, Primo de Rivera, is reported by the Barcelona correspondent of The Daily Express, who telegraphs:

"It was revealed today for the first time that a new conspiracy to assassinate King Alfonso and General Primo de Rivera was discovered last week in Madrid.

"Thirteen anarchists have been arrested at Vallevas, a suburb of Madrid, and numerous arrests have been made in quick succession throughout the country after the anarchists volunteered confessions.

"One of the arrested men was shot as he tried to escape.

"The conspirators, who had been practising shooting for many months, planned to kill de Rivera from a closed motor car which they intended to place in front of the Dictator's office. Three of the best shots were selected to carry out the task. If the plan had succeeded it was proposed to kill the King with hand grenades during the Dictator's funeral.

"The censor has not allowed Spanish newspapers to print a single word of the whole affair."

RACY AMERICAN WORDS ARE NOW GOOD ENGLISH

Professor Says Mark Twain and Artemus Ward Are Responsible for Adoptions.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Thousands of racy American words have become "good English," according to Professor W. A. Craigie, joint editor of the Oxford English Dictionary and now on the Faculty of the University of Chicago.

In an article in a London newspaper he says:

"Americanisms have been observed and studied for nearly a century and a half, but only in very recent years has it been possible to see they have been so numerous and important. The time for any prejudice against them is past; they have already proved their value to the mother tongue wherever it is used."

The popularity of Mark Twain, Artemus Ward and Bret Harte is responsible for the adoption of many American words, Professor Craigie adds.

Among American words now good English he cites blizzard, cloudburst, bowie knife, census, doughnut, graveyard, bogus, bunkum, beeline, lawabiding, whole-souled and many others.

Three Men Rob Bridgeport Store After Trussing Clerk.

Special to The New York Times.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 14.—A sensational daylight hold-up occurred here this afternoon when three flashily dressed young men entered Gustave H. Blackman's jewelry shop, 1,316 State Street, asked the price of a manicure set suitable for a Christmas gift, and when Sidney Blackman, clerk, reached for the set, overpowered him and robbed the store of jewelry valued at $10,000.

The hold-up men tied Blackman's hands and feet and dropped his body between two packing boxes in the back room. Then they helped themselves to the jewelry in show cases and show window.

Blackman worked himself loose from his bonds half an hour later. By this time the hold-up men were well on their way toward New York in a high-powered automobile.

MAJORITY SENATORS ADVANCE 'REBELS'

Frazier of North Dakota Is Restored to the Committees That Ousted Him.

NORRIS, TOO, TAKEN CARE OF

Other Changes Are Made in Committee Status Resulting From Party Realignment.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Senator Frazier, the North Dakota Radical, was restored today to the seniority on Senate committees which he lost in 1924 when he, with former Senators La Follette, Brookhart and Ladd, was ejected from the Republican councils for supporting the late Senator La Follette for the Presidency.

Following up Saturday's recommendation by the Republican Committee on Committees, the Republicans of the Senate put Senator Frazier back on his old committees and placed him in such an advantageous position on the Indian Affairs Committee that he will automatically become Chairman in the next Senate to succeed Senator Harreld of Oklahoma, who was defeated for re-election.

The action, taken at a caucus, also gave complete recognition to Frazier as an out-and-out Republican. He was specifically designated as "a member for 'the majority'" in the order unanimously adopted. Senator Frazier is therefore now a regular Republican member of the Indian Affairs, Banking and Currency, Mines, Pensions and Post Offices Committees. Senator S. McMaster and La Follette, both insurgents, permitted him to take a place above them on the Indian Affairs Committee.

Norris Heads Judiciary Committee.

The conference also ratified the decision of the Committee on Committees to make Senator Norris, the Nebraska insurgent, now leader of what is left of the old La Follette group, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee in place of Senator Borah, who desired to remain Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Likewise, the committee recommendation to name Senator McNary Chairman of the Agricultural Committee was accepted, Senator Norris, who under the seniority rule would have been Chairman, stepping aside. Senator McNary also gave up the Irrigation Committee in the realignment.

As expected, Senator Edge resigned from the Commerce Commission to become a member of the Finance Committee, succeeding the late Senator McKinley. He was also selected for the Committee on Privileges and Elections, before which will come the important contests brought for Senatorial seats.

Other insurgents besides Senators Frazier and Norris receiving advancement were Senators La Follette, Nye and Howell, named respectively to the Post Office, Public Lands and Naval Committees. All received regular Republican endorsement at the polls, and Mr. Nye lately made peace with the White House after a dispute over a Presidential appointment in North Dakota.

Senator Gould, Republican, of Maine, was appointed to the Commerce, District of Columbia, Manufactures and Public Buildings Committee.

MRS. MARSHALL CAUGHT IN YONKERS HOSPITAL

Woman Held for Attempt to Kidnap Her Child Escaped From Hudson Jail in September.

Special to The New York Times.

HUDSON, N. Y., Dec. 14.—Mrs. Margaret Henderson Marshall, who escaped from the Columbia County Jail here on Sept. 24, was captured in Yonkers today and brought back to the jail by Sheriff Harry Kline. With the aid of Louis B. Snowden, a private investigator of 105 West Fortieth Street, New York City, the Sheriff had found her working as a nurse under the name of Grimes in a Yonkers Hospital.

Mrs. Marshall was jailed here last June, charged with trying to kidnap her 6-year-old son, formerly named David Henderson but now known as Dale Harder, from the home of George Harder, a woolen manufacturer at Claverack, N. Y. The boy had been placed in the Harder home by the Spence Alumnae Society of New York City. The Harders adopted him.

Mrs. Marshall, then known as Mrs. Henderson, fought the Spence Society for several months in the courts, with considerable publicity, trying to trace the child. Beaten at every turn, she wrote to all the Surrogates in New York State asking for information about the boy. She learned of his whereabouts in a letter from Judge John V. Whitbeck Jr. here, who had handled the adoption.

After bridging his prisoner here by automobile from Yonkers last night, Sheriff Kline said she had taken her rearrest calmly. She explained to him, he said, that she would not have fled from jail except that she had heard a movement was under way to deport her. After her flight the Columbia County Grand Jury not only indicted her for conspiracy to kidnap the Harders' foster-child, but as a fugitive from jail.

ecutive committee of the Erie, a position which he has occupied since 1920.

Mr. Underwood has been the chief figure in so many of the good stories that have gone the rounds of the financial district that Wall Street would hardly seem Wall Street without him. One incident in which he played the stellar rôle was on the front page of every newspaper in the city. Going for a ride to Staten Island one afternoon on a municipal ferry boat, he refused to get off the boat at the St. George terminal. He was willing to pay the fare for the return trip, but demanded that a deckhand accept it without making him go to the inconvenience of leaving the boat. The deckhand had him arrested. Mr. Underwood went to a magistrate's court and told his story, standing on his rights to "go for a ride" without conforming with the boat company's rules. He was found guilty of disorderly conduct, but sentence was suspended.

REVEALS FEATURES OF NEW WARSHIPS

Jane's Publication Shows American Cruisers Will Excel the British in Armament.

WILL HAVE CATAPULTS ALSO

House Committee May Demand Budget Estimates for Building Despite Coolidge Ban.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Great Britain is at the moment and will continue to be for at least six months inferior to the United States in naval strength—at least as measured by battleships, according to revelations made here today coincident with the publication of the new edition of Jane's "Fighting Ships."

The battleships Ajax, King George V and Thunderer have been prepared for sale, and the Centurion has been taken in hand for conversion into a target ship. The two new battleships which replace them, the Nelson and the Rodney, are not yet in commission, nor will they be for about six months, thus reducing the British battleship total from eighteen to fourteen, as compared with America's eighteen. Great Britain, however, also has four battle-cruisers, of which type there is none in the United States.

Disposal of the four battleships carries out Great Britain's obligations under the Washington arms treaty. No further scrapping under the treaty is now required until 1936, when four ships of the Iron Duke class will become due for replacement. At the same time the United States is due to scrap the Florida, Wyoming and Utah, and Japan the battle-cruiser Kongo.

The New American Cruisers.

Besides details of the new American cruisers of the Pensacola class, revealed for the first time in the new edition of Jane's book, just out here, the new volume contains important information hitherto undisclosed concerning reconstructed American battleships and the new British battleships Rodney and Nelson, as well as other naval matters.

The new American cruisers of the above-mentioned class are the Pensacola and the Salt Lake City, laid down in June, 1929. Their standard displacement is 10,000 tons, estimated normal displacement 11,568 tons, length 570 feet, beam 66 feet 2 inches, and draught at normal displacement 19 feet 6¼ inches. Both will be armed with ten 8-inch guns and six 5-inch guns and will be armored at the sides and on deck. The designed horse power is 107,000. Both cruisers will have high steam pressure. They are to be completed early in 1929. Construction of three more of the same type, it is announced, probably will be begun in 1927.

It was originally proposed to arm these ships with twelve eight-inch guns, instead of ten, sacrificing protection, ammunition supply and steaming radius. These vessels, it is announced, probably will carry the heaviest armament of any cruisers designed under Washington Treaty conditions.

American Battleship Plans.

Plans of reconstructed American battleships are given for the first time in Jane's new edition, also the first photograph of the fore part of the airplane carrier Saratoga and a description of novel features embodied in that vessel, including a new type of catapult.

Alterations already under way on the battleships Florida, Arkansas and Texas and proposed for the New York, Wyoming and Utah include oil-burning installation, anti-aircraft defence, increased under-water protection and improved aircraft handling arrangements. A new fire control system will also be installed.

Builders of turbine engines in the United States refused to adopt the standards laid down by the Navy Department, it is stated, and accordingly in these ships reciprocating engines are being installed, to show the turbine builders that the Navy Department is determined to have turbines built to specification or else revert to the older type of engine.

The New York and the Texas are to be converted to oil-burning and fitted as divisional flagships. The Texas will cost about $18,000,000.

Concerning airplane carriers of the Saratoga type it is stated that the Saratoga was laid down on April 6, 1920, while the Lexington, of the same type, was laid down on Oct. 5, 1925. It is expected that they will be completed in the Summer of 1927. Their normal displacement is 33,000 tons and they will have a crew of 1,213, excluding flying personnel. Their length is 850 feet, beam 106 and daught 32 feet. Their armament consists of eight 8-inch and twelve 5-inch guns, four 6-pounder saluting guns and four 12-inch torpedo tubes. Theirs rmor is unofficially reported to be a 10-inch belt 600 feet long with triple hull and bulge protection.

Referring to the Lexington and the Saratoga it is stated that they were originally authorized in 1916 for construction as battle cruisers of 35,300 tons each, with seven funnels and boilers disposed on two deck levels.

The flight deck is 880 feet long, from 80 to 90 feet in width and 60 feet above the waterline.

For handling aircraft a landing net will be placed just before the stern portion of the flight deck, which is about 100 feet long. Before it is a large T-shaped lift for moving the aircraft from the flight deck to the hangar deck. There is another similar T-shaped lift abeam of the mast and the conning tower. At the bow is a catapult of a new type, capable of launching the heaviest aircraft into the air at flying speed with a travel of sixty feet. Before the conning tower and abaft the navigating officer's deckhouse and right over to starboard beam are powerful derricks for lifting seaplanes and flying boats from the water. As a result of experiments with the Langley certain modifications have been made which should enable planes to land safely on deck in any weather.

The total cost of these ships, with aircraft, will be about $45,000,000 each. They are designed to carry seventy-two planes each, of which thirty-six will be bombers.

New British Battleships.

The new British battleships Nelson and Rodney were laid down respectively on Sept. 3 and Dec. 17, 1925. They have a length of 702 feet; beam 106 and mean draught of thirty feet. Their armament consists of nine sixteen-inch, twelve six-inch and ten four-inch anti-aircraft guns, four three-pounders, one twelve-pounder landing gun, five machine-guns and ten Lewis guns. It is stated unofficially that their armor is to be largely concentrated over the guns and magazines in the fore part of the ship. Photographs seem to show that there will be no bulge protection.

The most prominent feature, perhaps, of these ships is the concentration of the main armament forward in triple turrets. They also have a new kind of tower, containing cabins and a direction and observation station, which formerly was located on the bridges and in the tripod foremast. Machinery and boilers are installed much further aft than usual. Mounting of the secondary battery in twin turrets, instead of singly in casemates, is similar to the Italian battleship Regina Elena. In placing searchlights there has been a reversion to the older system of having them on platforms instead of on armored towers.

The 16-inch B-1 gun on these new ships is a new calibre to the British Navy, although already used on American battleships of the Colorado class. Triple mounting, such as appears on these new British ships, was first employed by Italy and also was favored by the Americans, Russians and Austrians. The grouping of the big guns forward facilitates fire control, and the risks attendant upon locating magazines aft are obviated. The arrangement of the anti-aircraft battery is not disclosed, but it is understood that it will be aft and arranged according to a novel plan.

The enormous thickness of the main belt of armor is the characteristic feature of the design of the new British battleships. The side armor does not extend any great height above the water line. There are heavy bomb-proof protective decks over the magazines and engines.

Great Britain is building six new submarines. Among the new French submarines planned is one with 3,000 tons' surface displacement. Italy is actively building new submarines of three types, some designed for deep diving and of exceptionally strong construction. The surface displacement of the largest type is 1,360 tons. Among the Japanese submarines yet to be completed are some of more than 1,000 tons. It is believed that eleven Japanese submarines of the first and second classes were laid down in 1925 and 1926.

Some Errors Noted by Washington.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Contradictions were made here today of a few of the statements made in Jane's "Fighting Ships," the recognized authority on naval affairs.

This work said the new American 10,000-ton cruisers were to carry ten eight-inch and six five-inch guns, against the British cruiser's eight eight-inch and four four-inch guns; that the American cruisers were to carry tripod masts and have extra high-pressure engines, against the British normal engines.

It is learned that this data is not in all respects correct. If, as stated, the British 10,000-tonners are each to be armed with a main battery of eight eight-inch guns and a secondary one of four four-inch guns (and this tallies with the understanding of American naval officers) the new American cruisers certainly are to carry superior armament.

The first two of the American cruisers, those already laid down, are each being armed with ten eight-inch guns and six five-inch weapons, the latter constituting their anti-aircraft battery. But the three cruisers for which contracts are about to be let, it is understood, will each carry nine eight-inch guns and six of the five-inch anti-aircraft type. The armament of the three over which the big fight is brewing in the House Naval Committee has not been finally fixed, but will not be less than nine, and may be ten.

The statement of Mr. Jane that the new American cruisers will have extra high-pressure engines is incorrect, although it was considered probable that at the time he obtained his data such engines would be installed. Since then, however, the tentative intention to install extra high-pressure engines has been abandoned.

The cruisers described above are the craft which all the five-powers signatoryl to the Washington Arms Conference—the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy—are now building in a new rivalry for cruiser strength.

At present Great Britain leads in cruiser construction, having ten building. Against these ten the American Navy Department has been desirous of forging ahead with the construction of the eight cruisers authorized in 1924. The keels of two have been laid. Congress has made appropriations for three more, but the contracts have not been let, the Navy Department now being on the verge of awarding them. The final group of three, although authorized, have not been appropriated for.

It was pointed out at the White House today by the Presidential spokesman that the only limitation imposed by the conference treaty that could be interpreted as applicable to cruisers is that which limit atheir size to 10,000 tons and their guns to eight inches in calibre. There is no limitation on the number of such guns a cruiser may carry.

The White House observes no conflict between our Navy Department's cruiser plan and the terms of the Washington Treaty, which is mainly applicable to capital ships.

House Committee in Revolt.

Signs increased today that members of the House Naval Committee were still inclined to make an issue on the failure of the Administration to include in the budget estimates any appropriations for naval construction because of the purpose to negotiate for another international conference to limit naval armaments still further.

If present plans are carried out, a resolution will be presented to the committee tomorrow, calling upon Director Lord of the budget to submit a supplemental estimate providing an appropriation of $460,000,000 to bring the submarine, cruiser and dirigible strength of the navy up to a parity with other powers.

The resolution, as tentatively framed, is in effect a censure of the course of the Administration in withholding estimates for cruisers, dirigible construction and aviation equipment already authorized by Congress.

It was learned today from a member of the Senate Naval Committee that some members of that committee are also highly indignant over the failure of the budget to make adequate provision to carry forward all of the naval aviation program adopted by Congress at the late session.

4-Ton Elephant Caught on Kansas Rampage, After Wrecking Fences in Four Counties

OTTAWA, Kan., Dec. 14 (AP).—After roaming through four counties in Southeastern Kansas for three days, Diamond, a circus elephant, was captured by his trainer late today eighteen miles southeast of Garnett.

The trainer and assistants, with horses from the Winter quarters of a circus at Quenemo, from which the pachyderm escaped last Saturday, overtook Diamond and subdued him without great difficulty.

Diamond recognized the horses and permitted them to approach. Then ropes were fastened about the fourton animal and he was tied to a tree.

A blazing fire was built near Diamond to thaw him out, and the circus men hoped the warmth would save him from threatened pneumonia.

In his self-conducted Winter expedition over the countryside, the elephant smashed fences and outbuildings and stepped on a pig. Appearing in a school yard Monday at Garnett, Diamon terrorized the pupils before being driven away.

The trail of property damage, however was not great, and Diamond injured none of the hundreds of farmers who chased him, firing with shotguns and small calibre rifles. The bullets made little impression on Diamond's hide.

Diamond, according to D. F. Masten, superintendent of the circus, went wild in Milwaukee about five years ago and with the aid of another big elephant tore down some columns in a Masonic temple.

RULES FORCE DELAY IN TAX CUT FIGHT

Democrats, at Best, Cannot Move to Take Up Their Bill Before Jan. 7.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS WARY

Steering Committee Will Work to Hold Party Members Firm Against Any Action.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The Democratic campaign to force action by Congress on a tax reduction bill, which has been started by Representative Garner of Texas, the minority spokesman on revenue legislation, will not come to a head until the House reassembles in January, after the holiday recess.

Mr. Garner's plan to have the Ways and Means Committee discharged from further consideration of, his bill to reduce the tax on corporations and to repeal the "nuisance taxes" cannot be made effective until Jan. 7. Under the rules a petition asking for discharge must be withheld for thirty days from the date of the introduction of a given bill. The Garner bill was presented on Dec. 7.

Mr. Garner said today that agitation for his tax proposal would be continued, and he looked for a public reaction to it that would induce enough Republicans to join with the 182 Democrats in the request that the House proceed to take up tax legislation despite the decision of the Ways and Means Committee to shelve the subject for this session.

The effort of the Democrats to persuade Republicans to press for tax cuts at once will be fought by the Republican Steering Committee. Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee also will take steps to hold the majority in line to defer action on tax bills until the Seventieth Congress assembles in December, 1927.

Commenting today on the movement to take the Garner bill from the jurisdiction of the Ways and Means Committee, Representative Bacharach, of New Jersey, one of the Republican Committee men, said:

"In advocating the Garner bill the Democrats, to my mind, are clearly demonstrating the fact that they are not capable of handling the financial affairs of the country in a businesslike way."

FINDS AFRICA RICHEST IN STONE AGE RELICS

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

NAIROBI, East Africa, Dec. 14.—L. S. Leakey, a member of the Cutler Dinosaur expedition to Tanganyiki, lecturing here, declared his conviction that Kenya Colony is probably the richest field in the world in Stone Age deposits.

In the brief period of two months he said he had recovered more vassels, implements, small mammalian remains and other indisputable evidences of the Stone Age than could have been recovered in a whole year in the best European field.

In three weeks at Kabete, near Nairobi, he collected nearly 2,000 perfect stone tools and many thousands of worked flakes. In six weeks at Nakeru he found over 2,000 tools definitely associated with human bones, including seven skulls.

Mr. Leakey's most interesting announcement, however, was the discovery of a skull in a Stone Age deposit at Nakeru which he declared definitely was not negroid. The skull showed a certain chin development, had a massive jaw and large strong teeth. He declined at present to dictate a definite view of the race and origin of the skull until it was properly studied.

It was noteworthy that the Stone Age deposits of Kenya contained a large number of relics identical with those found in Europe and suggesting a connection. Coincident with Mr. Leakey's statements it is reported from Uganda that the State Government geologist has recovered many Stone Age implements at Karamoja.

Mr. Leakey, who is investigating in behalf of the Royal Society and the Cambridge School of Anthropology, also declares his belief in the existence of dinosaur remains a few miles from Mombasa.

Kenya Colony, formerly known as British East Africa, comprises 246,822 square miles of equatorial territory in the eastern part of the continent.

PLAN FARM SCHOOL DRIVE

Campaigners Will Seek $1,200,000 Here for Doylestown Institution.

Plans for the opening of a New York campaign in January to raise $1,200,000 of a $5,000,000 expansion fund for the National Farm School, near Doylestown, Pa., were discussed last night at a dinner in the Hotel Biltmore attended by representatives of a score of industries, trades and professions.

The organization of these different groups into a working body in preparation for the campaign was effected. Abraham Erlanger, National Chairman of the National Farm School Expansion Project, and Sophie Irene Loeb, President of the Child Welfare League of America, spoke. An address by Adam L. Gimbel, Chairman of the Business Men's Council, was read.

LEE KOHNS IS HONORED AT LOTOS CLUB DINNER

High Officials Here and Abroad Send Messages Lauding His Founding of Sorbonne Chair.

A dinner in honor of Lee Kohns, in appreciation of his work in founding the Chair of American Civilization and Letters at the Sorbonne was given at the Lotos Club last night. George Gordon Battle, who presided, read letters of appreciation for Mr. Kohns' long service in the cause of education from Governor Smith, Mayor Walker, and Bishop Thomas F. Gailor of Tennessee.

Cable messages from Ambassador Herrick and Dr. Paul Lapie, Rector of the University of Paris, were also received. Dr. Lapie cabled: "The hearts of all of us in the University of Paris are with our benefactor and his friends tonight."

M. Mongendre, French Consul General in New York, represented the French Government and read a cabled expression of gratitude to Mr. Kohns for the establishment of the Chair from the French Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, a trustee of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, declared the founding of the Chair was an event of world importance and an act of more far-reaching effect than most Americans understood.

General John F. O'Ryan, in discussing the French debt, said he believed a very substantial allowance should be made for the French and British soldiers "who did the dying while we were training."

Other speakers included Dr. John H. Finley, Professor Stephen G. Duggan of City College; Justice Thomas W. Churchill and Charles B. Alexander. Mr. Kohns spoke of his appreciation of the honor paid him.

"An executive session of the Crime Commission was held today for the purpose of considering the many suggestions received through meetings held in various parts of the State and from public official officials, individuals and organizations for coping with the crime situation.

"The commission took up suggestions for the modification of the Baumes law, enacted by the last Legislature, making effective life sentences for persons convicted of four felonies. LONDON, Dec. 14.—The two younger children of A. J. Cook, the Secretary of the British Miners' Association and the man chiefly responsible for the coal strike which has just ended so disastrously for his followers, are to be brought up in Russia as "dyed-in-the-wool Bolsheviki."

Their father, according to The Daily Express, made the announcement last night amid vociferous cheers before a Moscow conference of Young Communist Pioneers, or Russian Boy Scouts.

He declared his intention of sending his children to Moscow to secure a good grounding in Communistic principles and advocated the exchange of workers' children between all countries.

He also coined a new Bolshvist slogan—"Children of the World Unit."

FRENCH REVENUE GROWS.

Total for Eleven Months Aggregates 35,395,000,000 Francs.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 14.—French revenue for the eleven months of 1926 aggregates 35,395,000,000 francs of which 34,486,000,000 comes under the heading of normal income. The balance is due to sales of war stocks, various readjustments of accounts, &c. The normal revenue increased 9,750,000,000 over the same period in 1925.

It is thought likely that the Government will obtain 3,000,000,000 francs in December, which is generally considered the amount needed to cover the budget expenditure of 1926 plus extraordinary expenditures, such as the prosecution of the Moroccan and Syrian campaigns.

FACTIONS IN FIGHT OVER RIVER FUNDS

HACKENSACK PLAN ASSAILED

Reed of Missouri Compares Aid With That Proposed for Missouri River.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The Senate began today debate on the $60,000,000 River and Harbor bill, which had been passed by the House and was under consideration by the Senate when the latter adjourned in June. The debate is expected to last into next week, and to be marked with much bitterness among four different factions, each of whom demands preferential treatment.

These factions are: Senators demanding improvement of the Illinois River, Senators from the Great Lakes States, who assert that the Illinois River project has damaged and will damage lake commerce through lowering the water level; proponents of the Cape Cod Canal purchase, and supporters of improvement of the Missouri River from Kansas City to Sioux City.

Besides these rival groups, representatives of various other projects are likely to be attacked when they advance their ideas. Senator Edge of New Jersey drew fire today from Senators Reed of Missouri and Willis of Ohio when he champ'oned a plan to develop the Hackensack River.

As passed by the House, the bill totaled $83,558,000, but the Senate Commerce Committee cut the total to $59,410,000, reducing the Missouri River appropriation to $12,000,000. The committee, however, added $1,655,000 for the Hackensack River, $5,000,000 for the intercoastal waterway from Beaufort, N. C., to the Cape Fear River; $621,000 for the Galveston channel, and $85,000 for Little Cailiou Bayou, Louisiana.

Wide Survey Proposed.

An allotment for a power, flood control and irrigation survey was increased by $6,560,000 over the House figures.

Disputes over sections of the bill dealing with the St. Lawrence River-Tidewater plan and the Lakes-to-Gulf Waterway will take up much time, for Congress has not yet decided which route will be preferable, and an agreement has been reached to limit speeches on and after next Monday.

The fight of the Great Lakes States is against a project to drive a nine-foot deep, 200-foot wide channel in the Illinois River from Utica, Ill., to the mouth of the river, at a cost of $3,500,000. Backers of the Cape Cod Canal want the Government to make an initial appropriation of $5,500,000 for that waterway, and to purchase $6,000,000 bonds of the canal company.

The Hackensack River project came up this afternoon, and Senator Reed commented that while the bill provided that improvement of the Missouri River should be paid for by specially benefited property owners, on a cooperative basis, nothing of this kind was recommended about the Hackensack River, although the report declared many New Jersey public utility companies would benefit by deepening the Hackensack and probably save $392,000 on coal alone.

Wants Government to Pay.

"The West has no prejudice against the East," said Senator Reed, "but wants to know how the East will treat the Missouri River. The Government ought to pay for all the improvement and not make the property owners pay for half."

Joining the attack, Senator Willis would not permit a vote on the Hackensack project today. But he caused amusement by getting Senator Edge to say the Jersey lands adjoining the river were worthless, and Senator Edwards to say they were highly valuable.

The Hackensack proposal would provide a 30-foot deep, 300-foot wide channel, at an estimated cost of $1,655,000 and annual maintenance of $15,000.

New York projects in the bill include a waterway from Gravesend Bay to Jamaica Bay with a 15-foot depth and 250 to 400 foot width, the cost to be $2,000,000 and the annual maintenance $30,000, and improvement of Great Kills Harbor on Staten Island, to cost $62,000, with $5,000 annual maintenance. Improvement of the Passaic River at a cost of $856,000, with annual maintenance of $18,000, is provided for.

ROTA DENIES APPEAL TO IT BY MRS. CHILD

Tribunal at Rome Explains That Even if She Sought Annulment There Would Not Be Time for It.

ROME, Dec. 14 (AP).—Continued unfounded report of annulment of marriages by the Holy Rota tribunal as in the case of Richard Washburn Child, former Ambassador to Italy, has brought an explanation from Vatican circles of the procedure which must be followed in such cases.

The Holy Rota, it is stated, is a tribunal of appeal, hearing cases referred to it by other and lower ecclesiastical courts. A couple desiring annulment under Catholic canon law must appeal first to the diocesan court in the place where the marriage was contracted, or if that is impossible, at least to the court in the place where the parties reside.

In the case of the former Ambassador, a divorce was granted to Mrs. Child by a Paris civil tribunal early last month. If either or both parties desired annulment of their marriage by the Catholic Church, the procedure necessitates an appeal to the diocesan court either in the place where the marriage was contracted or the place of residence.

Unless such a step was taken long before the civil court in Paris granted their divorce, it is pointed out, there has not yet been time for even a diocesan sentence, since the preliminary investigation usually takes four or five months and must prove the existence of one of those "impediments" of canon law warranting a sentence of annulment.

YUGOSLAVIA TURNS TOWARD GERMANY

Belgrade Opinion Now Favors Union of Reich and Austria to Offset Power of Italy.

HOPE FOR FRENCH SUPPORT

Recognition of Soviet Russia and Alliance With Turkey Are Also Among Expedients Discussed.

By CLARENCE K. STREIT.

BELGRADE, Dec. 14.—To the uninitiated the atmosphere of Belgrade is always Balkanic. To the initiated it is Balkanic now as it has not been in years. That means that Belgrade, after a persistent attempt to assume a European air, is, since the Italo-Albanian treaty was signed, thinking and talking in a way which before the war gave the word Balkanic its special and dangerous meaning.

That retrogression, in a year which saw Locarno finally take substance and promise more Locarnos in the Balkans and Central Europe, is by far the most important development in a situation which, unless brakes are applied, might, according to some persons, bring about conditions which made the Balkans spell war to all the world.

Over five years ago the writer was reproved by the Yugoslavs for casual references to the country as one of the Balkan States. The word Balkan plainly hurt their pride. From Foreign Minister Ninchitch down they wished it to be understood that the Balkanic era had passed into history, that Yugoslavia was a Central European, if not a European, power.

Ninchitch's Failure Explained.

Today the writer spoke among others to one of the most influential Yugoslavs who at the same time has his finger on the public pulse—the editor of the country's only non-partisan and financially self-supporting newspaper, which, though moderate in every sense, enjoys the biggest circulation.

Asked why the Yugoslavs are now so heartily condemning M. Ninchitch's policy as a failure, the editor said in English (he formerly served as a diplomat in London):

"M. Ninchitch entered the Foreign Office after the war as a new man. His appointment as Foreign Minister marked to us a distinct break in our past. He is what we call the European type. It is seen now what we need is the old Balkan type.

"M. Ninchitch tried to make friends of everybody, even with our natural enemies. He signed a treaty of friendship with Italy. A treaty of friendship did not prevent Italy following precisely the avenues by which ancient Rome, of which Signor Mussolini talks so much, penetrated the Balkan peninsula. It did not prevent Italy gradually acquiring the financial and economic domination of Albania, rebuilding that very 'Via Romana' through Albania along which the legions once passed into the Balkans, and now signing a treaty which puts Albania under her protectorate. Some facts are stronger than treaties."

Austrian Ambitions Recalled.

Belgrade talked in similar terms in 1908 when Austria annexed Bosnia and Herzegovina, reiterating them a little later when the Prince of Wied was placed on the Albanian throne and the strategic frontiers of Albania, identical to those Italy now protects, were drawn.

Responsible Yugoslavs did not talk in this manner in the years in which Ninchitch tried to "make peace," but now that he has resigned, admitting himself that his confidence in his policy is shaken, the editor's "back to the Balkans" cry is echoed everywhere.

"Italy," one hears on every hand in Belgrade, "has surrounded us with an iron ring—Albania, Greece, Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary."

It does not matter, a neutral observer may remember, that many a man before Signor Mussolini and his Fascist militia was a Caesar, thanks to his Prætorian guard, that few were Caesars long enough completely to dominate the independence-loving Albanians, that Italy's recent treaty with Greece is unratified and that the Greek situation is by no means stable.

It does not matter that Italy lacks a treaty with Bulgaria, that Rumania is a member of the Little Entente and an ally of Yugoslavia, and that the treaty Premier Averescu signed with Rome caused much adverse comment in Bucharest and has not yet been ratified. Nor does it matter that Hungary has not yet decided whether to listen to her Yugoslav or Italian suitor, nor that the Austrian frontier forms a gap in the circle. Still less does the Locarno spirit and the League of Nations matter. Belgrade talks of iron rings, not in the present or the future but in the past tense, and it thinks it must act accordingly.

Turn to Berlin and Vienna.

The first and most significant result of this frame of mind is that Berlin and Vienna emerge suddenly as powers again in the Balkans, and powers not to be feared as hereditary enemies but to be sought as "natural friends."

A year ago Premier Mussolini's denunciation of the danger of an Austro-German union, or "anschluss," brought M. Ninchitch to Rome to discuss with him another compact dealing with this menace. A few weeks ago the organ of the Belgrade Foreign Office reiterated, in a warning addressed to Austria, Yugoslavia's opposition to the "anschluss."

Now the writer, noting the gap in the iron ring, put to every Yugoslav with whom he talked the question: "You say you want a rapprochement with Germany; does not Yugoslavia fear it may be at the price of agreeing to an Austro-German union?"

Not a single one (and the list included M. Yovanovitch, who was the Serbian Minister in Vienna when the war broke out, and a Bostonian who was a member of the conspiracy which plotted the assassination of the Austrian Archduke at Serajevo) was unwilling to pay such a price.

The fear of the Anschluss and the fear of the "German Drang nach Osten" seems to have vanished into thin air. Instead, the extension of frontiers of Germany to Yugoslavia are held out as a positive advantage to Yugoslavia.

Every Yugoslav questioned said the causes of their long strife with the German people had been removed, since no important Slav minorities are today under German and Austrian rule and no important German minority is under Yugoslav dominion; there was no reason, therefore, why they should not be friends.

Triumph of Pan-Germanism Seen.

They thought the Austro-German union was bound to come and that there was no use in trying to prevent it. They pointed out that an extension of the German frontiers would not only bring Berlin into contact with Yugoslavia but also with Italy, whose annexation of the South Tyrol forms an Alsace certain to encourage the Germans and Yugoslavs to work hand in hand against Rome.

They point out incidentally that the Anschluss would effectually prevent a Danube federation, which the Yugoslavs still fear might lead to a restoration of the Hapsburgs.

They mention the commercial cut-rate war between Trieste and Hamburg to obtain the traffic of Central Europe and praise German business honesty and credit facilities, as if preparing to shift as much of their trade as possible from Italy, which now enjoys first place to Germany and Austria.

How Yugoslavia's rapprochement with Germany is to develop depends largely on the attitude of her ally, France, whom Belgrade follows more closely than ever now. It would be difficult for France to reconcile her categorical veto of the Anschluss with her Theiry policy, but her troubles with Italy may further a Franco-German-Yugoslav entente, which some Germans have seen coming for some time.

Soviet Russia Also in View.

The next effect of the revived Balkanic psychology is to turn the Yugoslavs back to their big Russian brother. The death of M. Pashitch removes the chief obstacle to such a policy, for M. Pashitch, grateful to the Czar for the protection he afforded to Serbia and himself, was opposed to all moves toward recognition of the Soviet. Moreover, his death strengthens the Croatian leader, Stefan Raditch, who possibly favors the Soviet as much as M. Pashitch did the old régime. Turkey's fear of a combined Italian-Greek-Bulgarian attack marked a Turko Yugoslav agreement, mutually to neutralize Greece and Bulgaria, an obvious combination, with a Belgrade-Angora-Moscow triangle as a possibility not to be overlooked. But Belgrade's previous conversation with Turkey brought down on her the wrath of Britain, which the Yugoslavs are convinced, is seeking to overthrow Kemal Pasha.

The Yugoslavs do not desire to alienate London; they want to know the nature of her relations with Italy and they are not likely to go far toward Turkey until it is hopeless to secure some assurances of British protection against Italy.

The Yugoslavs think they have a chance to reach an understanding with Hungary, but against this they are weighing the warning Rumania has given to them that she means to end the Little Entente.

"We need Rumania on the back of Bulgaria for at least ten or twenty years more," they say, "but then again Rumania is in a very unstable situation now and can never be trusted, to the way the Yugoslavs state the problem confronting them with this ally.

"Possibly the League of Nations will support the Yugoslav view that the Italo-Albanian treaty conflicts with the Covenant, especially Article 18. Possibly another Albanian revolution will invalidate the compact. Possibly the great powers may find a way of taking the string out of the situation."

Though the air at Belgrade is thick with the talk of insurance and reinsurance treaties, natural enemies and friends, ways and means of counterbalancing, the Yugoslav Government is not likely to do anything hastily (unless discreetly to encourage an Albanian revolution, and there is plenty of time to check the drift back to Balkan tactics if the dangers are recognized.

With every country in Central Europe and the Balkans internally and externally now in an unusually volatile state the sharp change in the temper of Belgrade, if not recognized, can rapidly spread.

KEMMERER REPORTS PROGRESS IN ECUADOR

"Money Doctor" Visits the President of Panama on His Way Home for Holidays.

BALBOA, Dec. 14.—Professor Edwin W. Kemmerer, at present financial adviser to Ecuador, arrived here yesterday on the steamship Esequibo and sailed last evening from Colon for New York to spend Christmas with his family.

After a fortnight in the United States he will return to Ecuador to continue his efforts for the economic rehabilitation of that country, in which he is being assisted by a corps of American experts.

Professor Kemmerer reported that excellent progress was being made, with the cooperation of the Ecuadorian Government. He expects that his part of the work will be finished in February or March. He will then go to Bolivia to perform a similar task for the Government of that country.

Although he has been in Ecuador only a few months, it is reported that confidence has been largely restored in business circles. The exchange rate of the sucre has risen to 4.75 from 5.75 to the dollar.

While here Professor Kemmerer called on President Chiari, who is interested in obtaining his services to make fiscal improvements in the administration of Panaman affairs.

Dr. Kemmerer, who is Professor of Economics and Finance at Princeton University, has been called the "money doctor." He has acted as financial adviser to many countries. Within the last year he made an intensive study on conditions in Poland for the Warsaw Government.

KYLSANT PREDICTS HUGE MOTOR SHIPS

British Owner Sees Even the Greatest Ocean Liners Abandoning Steam.

ECONOMY BY NEW METHOD

Machines Take Less Space for Plant and Fuel, He Asserts, and Have Shown Reliability.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Lord Kylsant, Chairman of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, who by the recent merger of that concern with the White Star became the world's greatest shipping magnate, speaking today before the Institute of Marine Engineers, of which he is President, said he believed it already a proved fact that for most trades and for almost every class of vessel up to the largest ocean-going passenger ships the motor engine was not only suitable already, but more economical to work than any other sort of machinery.

He capped this remark with his prophecy that motor engines may some day supersede steam even in the hugest giants.

"Until comparatively recently doubts on the reliability of motor ships existed," said Lord Kylsant. "These doubts were due partly to some minor failure arising from faults in design, which have been successively eliminated, and possibly to a larger extent to the difficulty in the earlier stages of always obtaining a staff of marine engineers familiar with Diesel engines.

"The experience of ship owners who have operated motor vessels is, however, that they are both reliable and dependable. Contrary to expectation, they compare favorably with steamships in the matter of vibration, and, since no smoke is given off, the motor engine enables the vessel to be maintained in a better state of cleanliness."

Big Saving in Ship Space.

He declared, furthermore, that owing to the motor engine occupying less room than the steam engine, especially in the faster vessels, and to the enormous reduction in bunker capacity, motor vessels can carry larger cargoes than steamers of the same dimensions and speed, and that experience likewise shows that there can be a big saving in actual running costs.

In ships of the same size and speed, he continued, motor engines consume a ton of oil, as against four or five tons of coal required by reciprocating steam engines and normally, in the case of passenger vessels; a ton of oil costs about two and one-half times as much as a ton of coal. In cases where speed is all important, he told his audience, the ratio of aggregate cost of higher speeds is less in motor vessels than in steamers, and while, in a coal burning ship, increased speed means a bigger stokehole force, there is no such increase in the oil driven vessels.

"There is still something to be said for steam," said Lord Kylsant. "For instance, the first cost of the motor engine at present is still somewhat higher than the steam engine, with the possible exception of the latest high-pressure turbine, but those who have tried both types are satisfied that the additional capital outlay is more than offset by the result."

The difference of cost is great in engines of smaller power, he said; but the success of the double-acting Diesel engine is reducing the difference so greatly that in higher power engines it may disappear entirely. Moreover, the more extensive application of standardised methods to motorship construction may solve the problem of greater initial cost.

Says Cost of Upkeep Is Not Too High.

"As a result of my own ten years' experience of motor vessels," he declared, "I am satisfied that the cost of upkeep and repair of motor engines is not too high compared with steam engines, and while no definite basis can yet be laid down regarding the rate of depreciation, I do not think anything exceptional need be anticipated."

Lord Kylsant said that the shipping companies of which he is Chairman now have more than fifty motor vessels built or building, and that those already running had covered 7,500,000 miles.

Statistics published today show that during the past year there have been launched at the great shipbuilding centre of Belfast ships aggregating 92,525 tons against 57,699 in 1925. The output of the great shipbuilding firm of Harland & Wolff was 65,765, while Workman & Clark built ships of an aggregate tonnage of 26,760. The output from the yards of Harland & Wolff at Belfast and Govan was 88,353 tons. The company claims that but for delay in delivery of steel and material due to the coal strike it would have built in 1926 ships aggregating more than 160,000 tons for the fifth successive year, despite the great depression in the shipbuilding trade.

The company's output in 1926 includes the big motor liners Alcantara, built for the Royal Mail, the Carnarvon Castle for the Union Castle Line, and the Accra for the Elder Dempster Company. Most of the vessels launched in 1926 were motor ships.

Many orders for new ships have been received by Belfast shipbuilders, which will be carried out as soon as steel material is available. These include contracts for big White Star liners.

PAPERS GIVING TREATY SEIZED IN PANAMA

Foreign Journals Printing Alleged Agreement With Us Are Confiscated.

PANAMA, Dec. 14.—Copies of the Heraldo of Havana, Cuba, dated Dec. 5, and the Reportorio Americanas, published in San José, Costa Rica, sold here yesterday, contain what purports to be the complete text of the treaty between the United States and Panama, parts of which had already been given to the press by the Government of Panama, but other parts of which had been kept secret.

The police confiscated all the copies of both papers that they could find. Two hundred copies of the Heraldo and forty-one of the Reportorio were seized and Juan B. Thibault, an agent of the Reportorio, was arrested.

The Diario de Panama today reprinted the text of the treaty given in the papers seized yesterday.

When a representative of the Diario asked Señor Alfaro, Secretary of Foreign Relations, if he would authorize the reproduction he replied that since the alleged text had appeared already he saw no reason why it should not be published in Panama.

He said he had not had time to compare the published text with the original and could not say, therefore, whether it was a correct copy.

The text of the treaty was read at an executive session of the National Assembly in September, but the members understood it was confidential.

After being read in the National Assembly the text of the treaty was printed in a Spanish-English booklet by the Government Printing Office. It is believed that the text may have been mailed to the newspapers by some one who obtained a copy of the booklet or the text.

The Panaman-American treaty was signed at Washington July 28 last. Its terms were kept secret there, but a dispatch from Panama the following day stated that the agreement stipulated that Panama would cooperate with America in the protection of the canal and would consider herself in a state of war in any war in which the United States was a belligerent.

On July 31 the State Department announced that the United States had agreed not to set up any business in the Canal Zone which would compete with the commerce of Panama.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—An acrobat suspended in a strait-jacket from which he freed himself above Piccadilly Circus recently is believed to have made such a powerful impression on the subconscious mind of another man that it caused his death last night.

Henry Stovel, aged 33 and wealthy, was found dead today, having fallen from the window of his room fifty feet to the ground. A cord was tied round his ankles.

A coroner in giving a verdict of accidental death said that apparently Stovel in his sleep had dreamed of the Piccadilly Circus acrobat, got out of bed while asleep, dressed and tied his ankles with the intention of suspending himself out of the window and while still asleep had fallen to his death.

GERMAN DYE TRUST PLANS OIL DEAL HERE

Negotiates With Americans for Cooperation in Exploiting Oil From Soft Coal.

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Dec. 14 (AP).—Negotiations for cooperation between the German Dye Trust and American oil interests are now proceeding, it was announced today at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the trust. Details of the negotiations or the future plans of the German organization were not divulged.

The problem of extracting oil from coal, it was stated, is being thoroughly studied at laboratories in Merseberg, where methods based on some of Professor Bergius's plans are being tested. The trust's scientists have discovered new and more economical methods of obtaining oil from coal during high pressure experiments based on the Bergius process.

While the trust has acquired the exclusive German rights in the Bergius patent for obtaining oil from soft coal by high pressure treatment, and joint rights with the Kobergin Stock Company for the utilization of anthracite coal, it also has obtained a considerable interest in the Bergin Company of Holland, which holds the patent rights outside of Germany.

PARIS, Dec. 14.—Police today arrested Emile Claisse, the valet of Paul Verdier, owner of a San Francisco department store, on the charge of stealing paintings and valuables worth from 300,000 to 400,000 francs.

Claisse gave perfect satisfaction to his master until Mr. Verdier became ill a few months ago. Then the valet carefully selected several old masters and other valuable articles, even some expensive old wines, and hid them in his home.

Claisse told the police that he loved beautiful things and denied having disposed of anything. The police, however, discovered articles other than those belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Verdier, and they are attempting to locate receivers with whom Claisse may have been in touch.

LORD GREY ATTACKS SOVIET PROPAGANDA

Points to Difference in League Attitude of Russia and the United States.

BALDWIN URGES PATIENCE

At the Same Time He Indicates to Delegation Government Action Against Radicals.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Viscount Grey, in the course of a speech on disarmament before the General Council of the League of Nations Union here tonight, said:

"Of the two great nations which stand outside the League of Nations, the United States stands outside because she wishes to keep aloof from other peoples' affairs, while the Soviet Government stands outside because it has so persistently interfered with other people's affairs and seems to be afraid that if it joined the League it would have to give up that interference."

Lord Grey was preceded by Lord Cecil, who said a reduction of armaments was bound to come because men and women were not perfect lunatics, and unless they were lunatics, they must take that obvious precaution against war. The only question was whether the reduction would come in time to make civilization safe.

Viscount Grey said the aloofness of the United States from the League did not matter so far as disarmament was concerned, because the United States lent a friendly hand in questions of this kind. The Soviet Government, however, was actively hostile.

The question was not whether Great Britain was prepared to recognize Soviet Russia, but whether the Russian Government was ready to recognize the British Constitution as something which concerned only the British people.

Soviet propaganda was also under discussion when a deputation of conservative members of Parliament urged on Premier Stanley Baldwin this afternoon that no successor to the late M. Krassin as Chargé d'Affaires in Great Britain should be recognized until the Soviet Government had agreed to cease all forms of propaganda against the British Empire.

Premier Baldwin discussed the position frankly and admitted that the Government's supporters had good reason to feel uneasy, but urged them to remain patient.

It is understood that the deputation was also told that the Government had received information that the Soviet authorities would probably solve the difficulty for themselves, as it was understood that a successor to M. Krassin was not to be appointed at present, and the work of Chesham House would instead be carried on by the present staff.

The Prime Minister intimated today his letter to the Conservative candidate who is fighting the wealthy fascist Mosley, in the Smethwick constituency, that he intends to take a firmer course with domestic than with foreign communism.

"To promote industrial unrest with the intention of driving the workers into increasing misery and discontent and, in sheer despair, they join hands with the revolutionaries," he wrote, "is as cruel and callous a policy as any I have ever heard of, yet it is the deliberate plan of the Communists and their sympathisers. It must be stopped.

"One thing we must do is to prevent them misusing the power of the trade unions for their wicked ends. We have no intention of destroying trades unionism or weakening it. The trade unions exist largely as a result of the work of the Conservative Party. We are not going to kill our own creation."

DISCOVERS SIGNATURE ON ANCIENT STATUE

ROME, Dec. 14 (AP).—Professor Rhys Carpenter of the American Academy in Rome has made an important archaeological discovery in identifying the sculptor's signature on one of the most famous ancient bronze statues, about whose date scholars have long disagreed.

On the thongs which bind the heavy metal-loaded cestus, the ancient boxing glove used in gladiatorial combats, Professor Carpenter discovered the barely perceptible signature of the artist.

Professor Carpenter was able to read the name "Apollonius, Son of Nestor." This sculptor is already known from his signature on one of the recognized masterpieces of the world, the "Torso of Belvedere" in the Vatican Museum. The Belvedere statue is a fragment of a seated nude figure of heroic proportions, which was found in the fifteenth century. It was greatly admired by Michelangelo and other Renaissance artists. Professor Carpenter's discovery thus connects two of the best known of ancient statues in Rome as the work of the same master.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—The cost of a three-minute transatlantic telephone conversation when the service is opened is expected to be between $15 and $25. No definite charges have been fixed, but it is understood that these are the maximum and minimum figures under discussion between American Telephone officials and the British Postoffice.

It is also understood that in preparation for the opening service, which is expected next month, telephone directories covering Manhattan and Brooklyn have been compiled for London.

UPHOLDS MAN'S RIGHT TO GET DRUNK AT WILL

Toronto Judge Rejects Plea of Continual Drunkenness as Ground for Divorce Action.

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 14 (AP).—It's a man's right to get drunk as often as he pleases in this Province, the Appellate Division of the Ontario Supreme Court ruled today.

The Court sustained the decision of a lower court dismissing an action for alimony brought by Mrs. Victoria Lang of Kitchener, Ontario, against her husband, Jerome Lang. She sought to prove cruelty with the statement that he was continually drunk.

"That's not cruelty," Mr. Justice Riddell said in the Court's decision. "A man may get drunk every day of his life. A man in this country, under certain circumstances, has a right to get drunk if he wants to, at least that has always been the law as I know it."

He suggested that Mrs. Lang should have exercised more discretion in selecting her husband.

1,147 DOGS DIE FOR SCIENCE

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—A total of 1,147 dogs gave up their lives as martyrs to science in 1925 and 1926 at the school of physiology, University College, London, according to an answer to a member of the House of Commons given today by the home office. The question was asked following a charge that a university college professor was vivisecting stolen pets.

The Home Office reply says experiments must be licensed and carried out only if absolutely necessary to impart to students instructions likely to be useful to them in prolonging life or alleviating suffering. The experiments are required to be conducted under anaesthetics and the animals must be killed before recovering consciousness.

Waterspout Razes Houses in Azores.

LISBON, Dec. 14 (AP).—Extensive damage has been caused by an enormous waterspout which burst over St. Michael's Island in the Azores. Roads and houses were destroyed. Reports received from the island this afternoon mentioned no casualties.

SWINNERTON CALLS OUR AUTHORS VIRILE

English Novelist Thinks They Are Definitely Going to Get Somewhere.

MORE ENGLISH PLAYS HERE

He Says American Drama Can Best Be Studied in London, as There Is More of It There.

By T. E. YBARRA.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—"American novelists have virility and adventurousness which I am afraid we lack," declared Frank Swinnerton, the English novelist, in an interview today on his return from America.

"They are experimenters and their experiments are definitely going to get somewhere, though one does not know yet quite where. They can afford to make mistakes on the way. They have time and space—and they matter tremendously even now. All that boundless energy is sure to accomplish significant and interesting things. Stagnation is impossible in its atmosphere."

Mr. Swinnerton traveled to Europe on the same boat as the American novelist Sherwood Anderson, who, he said, impressed him enormously.

Of Theodore Dreiser he remarked:

"He was determined to write of actual life in its actual terms, even if these were ugly, and he stuck to it through years of neglect and failure. The man deserves credit for such a feat of pioneering."

Regarding James Branch Cabell, Mr. Swinnerton confessed he could make nothing of him. Bracketing his work with that of Gertrude Stein and other American moderns, he said:

"I honestly believe there is something in it."

Joseph Hergesheimer, according to him, is not being taken so seriously as before.

Mostly English Drama Here.

Of American drama the Englishman remarked:

"If you want to study it you cannot do better than stay in London. In New York you see mostly English drama acted by English companies."

He saw few American plays in New York, however, which, he said, American actors know exactly how "to put over." American drama in general, he believes, is not as important or as significant as the American novel.

The American reading public is most encouraging to a writer, says Mr. Swinnerton, since it buys books instead of borrowing them like the English.

"I was much struck," he concluded, "with the excellent standard of books that people over there generally seemed to be reading."

Norway's Crown Prince as Regent.

OSLO, Norway, Dec. 14 (AP).—Crown Prince Olav, the 23-year-old son of King Haakon and Queen Maud, tonight for the first time in his career assumes the burdens of state, acting as Regent. King Haakon is leaving for Copenhagen. On his departure the flag of the Prince was scheduled to be broken out from the staff of the Royal Palace, with a salute from the Akershus fortress.

LORDS ADOPT BAN ON DIVORCE NEWS

Hear Burnham Lament He Is London's Sole Remaining Newspaper Proprietor.

WEIR DEPLORES LABOR WARS

He Points to Britain's 2,500,000 Jobless and Urges Truce to Save Her Industry.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Members of the House of Lords tonight, on the second reading of the bill to prohibit publication of divorce court evidence, listened to the only remaining individual proprietor of a daily newspaper in London.

Lord Burnham, who owns The Daily Telegraph, as his father did before him, represented himself as a sort of Crusoe stranded in a sea of syndications.

"The Solicitor General has said very absurdly that it would be a good thing if this bill brought proprietors of newspapers more in contact with their employes," he observed. "There are no proprietors of newspapers left in this country. I am a melancholy survival of the newspaper proprietor and I am the only one of my class, so far as I know, in the whole metropolitan area.

"The penalties, therefore, so far as they are to be visited on proprietors, will fall on my unhappy head alone."

Lord Burnham continued that the bill was really propaganda to induce the world to believe that Britain was moral by covering immoralities with silence. He did not object, because he did not believe that Britain was more or less moral than other countries, and he thought it was only fair that if the peccadillos of the poor were covered by the silence of their obscurity those of the rich should be covered by the silence of law. The morality or immorality of both classes, he thought, was in truth, on a par. The danger was that British causes célèbres would still be extensively reported in American newspapers even if prohibited in English ones.

The movement recently initiated in Britain for a sort of industrial League of Nations to solve Britain's serious economic problems was heartily supported by Lord Weir, himself one of the country's foremost manufacturers. He pointed his advice by painting a terrible picture of the sickly state of British productivity. Unemployment, he said, was nearly twice as great as in the worst pre-war year. Two and a half million people were now on poor law relief, yet not even this material collapse was as bad as the moral collapse in industry. The unfortunate unemployed were being dazzled by Socialist promises of securing better things by legislation when every intelligent being knew that economic law was stronger than parliamentary law. The trade unions had become forcing houses for class warfare.

Lord Weir urged the proclamation of a truce in industrial war, a moratorium during which political claptrap should not be paid out. The truce should be used for an informal council of industrialists of all classes to save industry, which gave them their living.

Such a meeting of peacemakers, said Lord Weir, might change the appalling fact that 100,000 more workers produced from 12 to 20 per cent. less for 2,000,000 more people than twelve years ago.

FRENCH FIND BANDIT WHO FLED FROM ITALY

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 14.—When gendarmes in the little town of Nuit Sous Rivieres fired upon what they believed to be a tramp stealing a ride on the bumpers of the Marseilles-Paris express train last night they did not realize they were the medium in removing a serious cause of friction between Italy and France. For it developed today that the man—who, incidentally, when pursued by the gendarmes fired five shots at them and then shot himself in the temple—was identified as one of the desperate Italian bandits who last week terrorized Milan, killing two policemen and a jeweler.

The bandits escaped over the French border, closely pursued by Italian secret service agents and Fascist militia in a light locomotive. Regardless of the technical violation of French territory, the pursuit was continued into France as far as Mentone.

The two bandits, however, were lost from view and the Italian press asserted that it was just another instance of how the French were harboring not only political but every other kind of criminal who was working against Italy in French territory. The bandit has just died in a hospital at Nuit Sous Rivieres and it is practically certain he is either Polastro or Massari, more likely the latter.

The French were quick generously to point out that it was not really a violation of French territory when the Italian secret police crossed into France, because they did not descend from the locomotive but returned immediately to Italy. With relations between the two countries already strained enough to cause concern, France naturally was eager to find the two bandits and return them to Italy, and today's denouement causes much relief.

DROPS OLD ROYAL NAMES.

King George Thinks "Albert" and "Victoria" Are Sufficiently Held.

LONDON, Dec. 14 (AP).—Although his grandmother, Queen Victoria, was fond of the names Albert and Victoria, King George does not wish them to be given to new members of the royal family, as he considers the names are sufficiently held already.

Prince George, the King's youngest son, born after the death of Queen Victoria, was her first male descendant not to have Albert as one of his given names.

Queen Victoria desired that all her descendants should be called either Victoria or Albert, and that wish was respected during her lifetime.

POINCARE TO TACKLE DEBT QUESTION AGAIN

French Premier Desires Ratification of the American and British Agreements.

WILL ATTACH RESERVATIONS

But Hopes This Will Not Be Held to Necessitate Acceptance Action by the Senate.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 14.—Premier Poincaré will try again after the Christmas holidays to obtain ratification by the French Parliament of the debt agreements with Washington and London.

His plans attach a unilateral reservation providing that France will not consider herself bound to pay her creditors more than she receives from Germany on reparations account. He hopes this condition will not be regarded by Washington as needing acceptance action by the Senate and that such ratification will be accepted by the United States as official approval of the debt accords.

The Premier had intended seeking approval a month ago, but found that he lacked about thirty-five votes in the Chamber of Deputies. Whether the improvement in the French financial situation will bring any greater response to his appeal that the debts should be settled as part of the new fiscal program of France remains to be seen. It is understood that the Premier is not prepared to raise the question of confidence on obtaining the approval of Parliament for the debt settlements.

Unquestionably the rise of the franc, while bringing many inconveniences has also brought a dying down of the feeling in France against Americans and English, which reached its height last July when the franc was 50 to the dollar and 250 to the pound, and so it may be the case that the resentment then felt toward the debt demands of the United States and England has decreased.

On the other hand, it is also true that the incentive formerly put forward for ratification has largely disappeared, namely, the supposed need of France for foreign credits. At the present time the Government sees no need of foreign loans and indeed has piled up considerable pound and dollar credits through exchange operations, it being said that the Bank of France now holds sufficient foreign credits to meet all the Government's 1927 obligations abroad.

M. Poincaré will advocate approbation of the debt treaties as part of his financial program to restore the credit of the French Government both at home and abroad. Enquiries in the Chamber lobbies today showed that fierce opposition to ratification still exists, and it seemed no better than an even bet that the Premier could obtain a favorable vote, even with the reservations attached.

ASSAILS AMERICAN FILMS.

Sir Thomas Beecham Would Consign Them All to the Sea.

BELFAST, Ireland, Dec. 14 (AP).—England is no country for serious musicians, says Sir Thomas Beecham, composer and grand opera impressario. The only people in England who are really serious are those who manage to get on the dole, and they have no intention of getting off it. Asked if he had any panacea Sir Thomas answered:

"Extract the brains from the public, pickle them, put them in the Natural History Museum with a strong infusion of monkey gland, stir hard and let it simmer for 100 years and take it out again. Something may emerge from the mixture."

Sir Thomas assailed the Government for allowing "dirty American films" to penetrate through the Empire. "I would take every one of them and consign them to the sea," he said, adding that he was going to America to stay. Recently Sir Thomas advanced the belief that the only thing for musicians to do was to get out of England.

HANKOW AMERICANS FREE TWO CAPTIVES

Threat of Force Brings Release of Nationals Held by Labor Leaders in Strike.

CHINESE GOT THEM BY RUSE

Invited to Talk Terms, They Were Imprisoned Pending Full Agreement to All Demands.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—How two Americans, G. L. Cousins and J. Gilliam, members of the British-American Tobacco Company, were trapped and imprisoned by labor leaders in the offices of the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs in Hankow and were only released when the American community announced their intention to effect their rescue by armed force, is told by the correspondent of The London Times in Hankow in a mailed dispatch.

He says the irruption of the Southern Chinese forces into Hupeh was the signal for an outbreak of violent anti-foreign, and particularly anti-British, agitation at Hankow. Later the labor unions came out into the open with the declared intention of preventing any Chinese working in a British factory or institution and compelling all servants and office staffs to leave the service of the foreign communities. With this object in view the labor leaders forced the employes to strike.

"The importance of the enforced strike," the correspondent proceeds, "was its connection with the British-American Tobacco Company and its co-partner, the British Cigarette Company. There was no real grievance, since the firm enjoys the reputation of giving its employes more advantages and privileges than almost any other firm in the East. Wages were considerably above the average, facilities for education were given to the children of employes, bonuses and provident allowances were generous, but the management wanted to manage its own workers, and, above all, were foreigners and largely British.

"After doing all that was possible to meet exorbitant and impudent demands, after having five of their foreign assistants imprisoned in their branch works at Chiadow, surrounded by army strikers and pickets armed with iron bars and other weapons and, after exhausting every method of appeal through Chinese officials, the factories had to close.

American Officials Are Held.

"The sequel was interesting as showing official complicity in this boycott and the strike campaign which was ruthlessly carried on. Two American members of the firm of G. L. Cousins, a director from home and J. Gilliam, were invited by the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, whose offices are in the former German concession, to meet the Commissioner along with representatives of the labor unions, to discuss terms of settlement. On their arrival at the offices it was to find they had walked into a trap. They were informed that egress would not be possible until the strikers' terms had been agreed upon and a document signed giving them a considerable advance in hard cash.

Mr. Gilliam was firm in his refusal to capitulate on these terms. He wrote and signed the following statement while under detention:

"We do not agree to open the factory unconditionally, but we will open the factory under the reasonable conditions already sent the union. We cannot agree to the payment of wages other than to offer the terms already given to the union.

"This latter sentence referred to the following claims put forward by the strikers:

"Eight months' pay to be paid at once to each striker.

"Five years' accumulated provident fund, with interest, to be paid to each striker pro rata.

Required to Close Factory.

"It was further required at this meeting that the two incarcerated gentlemen should sign a declaration that the factory should then be closed forthwith and never be reopened.

"It was not until 6 o'clock in the evening that the foreign community became aware of the grave breach of the rights and privileges of merchants in China under the treaties in force. All appeals to the American Consul General seemed to meet with little hope of securing the prompt release of the two unfortunate men. It seems that about 4 o'clock they had managed to get out of the building, only to be pounced on by pickets and hauled back in unceremonious fashion.

"The Consul General dined that night with the Commissioner, who would not even afford him the privilege of telephoning to his nationals. Thereupon the American community determined to effect a rescue by force, and having notified their Consul of their intentions armed themselves and set out for the scene. This news was promptly forwarded to the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, who then gave orders for the two gentlemen to be set free.

"The armed posse comitatus met them not far from the scene of this and officially condoned the outrage. The excuse set forth by the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, Mr. C. C. Mei, is that he feared to let the men out of the offices because of the ugly temper of the strikers who were surrounding the building."

Feeling Intense in Hankow.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HANKOW, Dec. 14.—Strike feeling has been intense during the week-end. Men in the Jardine, Matheson & Co.'s warehouses refused to handle a cargo and are still on strike.

The police of the native city walked out, demanding increased pay, which was agreed to by the officials, and the men resumed duty. There are numerous minor strikes.

Mme. Sun Yat Sen presented each woman striker of the British Cigarette Company with $2.

The British-China Navigation Company's steamer Tungting has been subjected to heavy rifle fire and a British gunboat has gone to Shasi.

The boycott is being actively carried on in the towns of Hupeh Province.

POLAND NOW SEEKS FRIENDSHIP OF RUSSIA

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WARSAW, Dec. 14.—The first retaliatory movement of Poland following the disappointment felt at the favorable treatment accorded Germany in the coming withdrawal by the Allies of the Military Control Committee came today in an announcement that Stanislaws Patek, the present Minister to Japan, is to be transferred to Moscow as evidence of good feeling between the two countries.

M. Patek's wife is a Jewess, active in Russian politics in Moscow, and his son is a leader of the Communist Party and is also living in Moscow. M. Patek is a lawyer and has defended numerous radicals in Poland. He will take with him M. Berenson, former Secretary of the Polish Legation in Washington and earlier an official of the Foreign Office here.

Warsaw's leading conservative paper, the Kurier Warszawzky, says:

"The differences between Poland and Russia are not great, after all, and when we remember that the chief thing is a common interest in international finance our countries' difference grow still less. We should bestow on our envoy powers similar to those given to Paul Cambon by France when he went to England, which enabled him to make conclusive agreements of benefit to his country."

The tide of criticism against the Conference of Ambassadors continues to rise in tonight's papers. Foreign Minister Zaleski, who is expected to arrive this evening from Geneva, has promised a definite statement tomorrow on Poland's disappointment over the decision reached at Geneva in regard to Germany. The newspapers say that Poland will be obliged again to face a campaign of economy, increase her army appropriations and extend the conscription service of youths who this year have been let off from military training activities to pursue their work in factories and on farms.

The universal belief that the Allies' withdrawal of influence over Germany's war machinery spells disaster for Poland has partially healed the breach between the Government and the National Diet, the lower house today voting the budget with large army appropriations, without dissent. The Senate meets tomorrow and it is believed is ready to assent to all appropriations, despite its opposition to the Government.

FAKE PRINCE OF WALES MYSTIFIES FRENCH

Bows and Smiles Greet Him as He Travels About the Spanish Border.

PERPIGNAN, France, Dec. 14 (AP).—Just who the personable young man is who has been traveling about the Pyrenees as the Prince of Wales is a question puzzling the authorities here.

The pseudo-Prince went through Perpignan Sunday to the bows and smiles of all concerned, and later his arrival in Barcelona was heralded. British sources, however, denied that he was the heir to the throne.

Then, yesterday, the "Prince" again appeared, en route to Paris and "a dinner at the British Embassy," which, it developed, the Embassy knew nothing about.

In the face of urgent denials that the Prince of Wales had even left England, newspaper men asked the "Prince" to clear up matters.

"Very amiable people, the French," was his only reply as he sped away in the "royal" automobile.

LONDON, Dec. 14 (AP).—The Prince of Wales has not left England, but is participating in a holiday family reunion, for which his youngest brother, Prince George, was due to arrive from the Far East today.

REICH RECOVERING FAST, SAYS COOKE

Former Member of Tribunal of Interpretation Here With Praise for Dawes Plan.

FINDS BERLIN POVERTY GONE

Dr. Selig Brodetsky, Also Passenger on the Berengaria, Denies Hebrew Tongue Can't Be Used in Science.

The Cunard liner Berengaria carrying 1,300 Christmas passengers docked yesterday afternoon at 2:30. She reached Ambrose Channel at the same hour on Monday but was obliged to remain at anchor owing to the fog.

Among her passengers were Walter P. Cooke, former United States citizen member of the Arbitral Tribunal of Interpretation, a court set up by the Dawes Plan to settle the disputes between the Reparation Commission and the Germans over the working of the plan. He and Mrs. Cooke will spend the holidays in their home at Buffalo.

"The Dawes Plan is working splendidly, and even better than the man who framed it expected," he said. "Everything is running smoothly and while Europe as a whole is coming back slowly, Germany is coming back fast. A year ago I visited Berlin and was struck by the poverty. Today this is changed. The people now have self-confidence and walk with their heads up. There is still unemployment in Germany, but the atmosphere is healthful there. That was not so last year."

Mr. Cooke also spoke of his work on the tribunal. He said that of the questions presented the two most important dealt with pensions in Alsace and in Poland, and with restitutions. Germany contended that both of these were covered by the Dawes Plan annuities, and the Allies that they were not. The first decision favored Germany and the second the Allies.

Mr. Cooke said that the next big question coming before the tribunal was whether or not the payments made by Germany to her own nationals for property taken from them during the war constituted part of the annuities. He said that as the American member of the tribunal did not represent any Government his influence was enormous.

"Whenever there is a deadlock," he said, "the others say: 'Let's put it up to the American citizen.'"

Dr. Selig Brodetsky, Professor of Applied Mathematics at the University of Leeds and a governor of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, was another to arrive on the Berengaria. He will visit the leading universities of the country.

Commenting on the recent statement made by Dr. Pritchett of the Carnegie Peace Endowment in his report on Palestine, to the effect that the Hebrew language could not be utilized as a medium for scientific expression, Dr. Brodetsky said that when in Jerusalem in 1925 he had delivered two lectures, both in Hebrew, on mathematical subjects. One was on the principles of dynamics from Aristotle to Einstein. The other was on a technical problem of pure mathematics and that in neither case had he any difficulty in expressing himself.

Another passenger was Jascha Heifetz, the violinist. He has been touring Europe and announced that he would soon start on a tour of the Orient and Australia.

Other passengers were Ivan Moskine, the Russian film actor; Lord and Lady Strathcona, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Despard and Sir Douglass Alexander.

SOVIET SEEKS MARKET FOR THE CROWN JEWELS

Paris Hears Several American Firms or Syndicates Are Interested in Proposed Sale.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 14.—It is reported in Paris that Soviet agents are now here and in several other important world capitals to feel out the market in view of disposing of the Russian imperial crown jewels, variously estimated at from $600,000,000 to $1,000,000,000.

Foreign correspondents in Moscow received an opportunity of seeing the famous jewels yesterday and, according to report, Soviet officials would like to realise cash for them as soon as possible.

Besides the Romanoff collection the Soviet Government, it is said, will sell other royal jewelry seized during and since the revolution.

Among those who are believed to be interested are several American jewelry firms or syndicates.

A French jeweler, who is described as being in pourparler with the Soviet agents, said today that efforts were being made by the Russian emissaries to ascertain just how much could be expected from their sale at the present time. Soviet officials, he added, had the idea that America, with its unprecedented prosperity, offered the best market and it would not surprise him, he went on, if the Soviet agents have already sounded out the possibilities in New York.

SMITH AS A WITNESS AIDS IN PARK FIGHT

Appears as a Volunteer for the State in Suit Over Seizure of Long Island Estate.

SHARPLY CRITICIZES MACY

Might as Well Tear Up Park Act if State Loses Case, Says Governor After Leaving Stand.

In order to testify in the Long Island park case, in which he is deeply concerned, Governor Smith traveled to Riverhead and back yesterday, spending nearly seven hours on the train and only fifteen minutes on the witness stand. He appeared as a voluntary witness in the suit brought by the Pauchogue Land Corporation against the Long Island State Park Commission.

The case, being heard by a jury and Supreme Court Justice James A. Dunne, is the latest move in the long litigation following the appropriation of the former Taylor estate at East Islip by the commission. Governor Smith is intensely interested in it, not only because he approves of the Taylor place, embracing 1,400 acres, being turned into a public park, but because he believes the whole State park idea is at stake.

"If we were to lose this case in the Court of Appeals," said the Governor, after he had testified, "we might just as well tear up the State Park act, in my opinion."

The opponents of the Park Commission, under the name of the Pauchogue Land Corporation, are Horace Havemeyer and his brother-in-law, W. Kingsland Macy. Referring to the former, Governor Smith testified yesterday:

"Mr. Havemeyer wanted to know if there was any place in the State where a poor millionaire could go and be left alone, and I told him to go up to the Harlem River Hospital."

"Did you explain why you suggested the Harlem River Hospital?"

"I told him it was an institution we had just opened and had very few patients in it."

Travels in Private Car.

The Governor left the Long Island Station at 8:26 and traveled in the private car of William C. Kenny, which was attached to a regular train. On the train with him were Robert Moses, Chairman of the Park Commission; Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, Robert Fitzmaurice and Sergeant Roy, the Governor's guard, as well as a stenographer. The journey took more than three hours each way and the Governor passed nearly the whole time working. He could be seen through the car windows by the groups that gathered at the stations where the train stopped, dictating.

At Riverhead a delegation of the American Legion met the Governor, with a crowd of other townspeople. It was the first time in many years that a Governor has visited the town while in office, though candidates had gone there in nearly every campaign. The Legionnaires sang "The Sidewalks of New York" as the Governor got into a car to drive to the Court House, where another crowd had gathered to see him. The Governor went to Justice Dunne's chambers, and a few minutes later the jury, composed of Suffolk County farmers, baymen, merchants and tradesmen, were ordered into the jury box. Then the Governor came in with Justice Dunne.

Questioned About Talk With Macy.

Walter H. Pollak examined the Governor, asking about a conversation Governor Smith had with Mr. Macy on Nov. 30, 1924, at the Biltmore. The Governor testified that Mr. Macy had been brought to him by Harry T. Peters and United States Judge Manton. Macy said he was interested in the Deer Range Park, as the Taylor estate was called. Macy told him, the Governor said, that he did not think it was a desirable place for a park and mentioned other spots which he said were more desirable. The Governor replied he was disposed to accept the judgment of the commission. Governor Smith continued:

"After a long talk, lasting well past midnight, his objections were all summed up in the few brief words that the Timber Point Golf Club, in which he had made a large investment, desired that tract of land for setting up residence for their members and they felt that their investment in the grounds of the Timber Point Golf Club would be impaired if they were unable to find some place for men to live close to the golf club.

"I asked him why he did not acquire it himself in the long sixteen years that it was standing idle there and he said that he and his friends had no idea that they could have purchased the property for the price that it was offered to the State, and said that he would have purchased it if he knew that he could get it at that price."

The State got the Taylor estate for $250,000. Testimony has been given in the suit, by witnesses for Mr. Macy and Mr. Havemeyer, that the value a year later was between $750,000 and $1,000,000. It has not been brought out yet, though, that there was a boom in the meantime and the Park Commission will put in evidence to the effect that the tract practically went begging at the $250,000 price.

Urged Them to Get Views on Record.

The Governor went on to say he had suggested that Mr. Macy get his views on record and that a hearing be held. It was held and both Mr. Macy and Mr. Havemeyer were present. The Governor testified:

"There was very little said about the golf club at that hearing. As I remember it, it was more upon the ground that it was not a desirable place for a park, and something was said about the possible objection of the residents of that part of Long Island to bringing the crowds of people from the city that would come down to a park and disturb the peaceful attitude of the countryside."

Answering a specific question by Mr. Pollak the Governor said no suggestion was made to him that the appropriation of the tract by the commission would be illegal, because the commission, then, did not have the funds to pay for it. This was regarded as important, as the only reason for the Governor testifying was to show there had been actual negotiation before the land was appropriated and also that the question of legality was not raised at that time.

The Governor then touched on his conversation with Mr. Havemeyer and a little later said:

"Mr. Macy took the stand that all these men do; they are all for parks; they believe in them; they believe that they promote the health and the comfort of the people and they want plenty of them—but not around where they are!"

The Governor then was asked about the action taken a year later, September, 1925, when the second appropriation order was put through, the Court of Appeals having held the first invalid as the commission did not then have the funds. August Heckscher was appealed to and wrote a check for $262,000, which he gave to the commission. The Governor, testifying to this, said he sent for Mr. Macy

"I told him that I thought he ought to stop; that he was not going to get any place fighting the State of New York; that we were going to do everything we could to keep control of that property and to get the fee and the title to it. I told him that we had the money to give him and I advised him to take it and stop, and let it go at that."

Mr. Macy, the Governor added, said he would talk with his associates. Later the Governor telephoned to him, but obtained no satisfaction, he declared.

The cross-examination by Charles H. Tuttle was very brief and served merely to get marked in evidence a letter which Mr. Macy later wrote to the Governor and which was published at the time. The Governor said he had never written to Mr. Macy on the subject and had turned the Macy letter over to the Park Commission.

After leaving the stand the Governor had lunch in the private car with Justice Dunne and the latter's secretary, Frank Kelly of Brooklyn. Then he went over to the Union School and at the invitation of the principal, E. W. Shafer, addressed the one thousand pupils there, emphasizing the value of a school education, which he himself had missed, and praising school teachers generally. His car was attached to the next through train for New York, and on the way back to the city the Governor resumed his dictation.

The fight over the Taylor tract at East Islip, or Great River, has been in progress since the Park Commission began its activities. The apparent opponent to the park scheme in the first place was the Timber Point Golf Club, which has about sixty members, all wealthy. The golf course adjoins the proposed park on the east. To the north of the park is a tract of 1,000 acres known as the Nicolls place. It is understood that the defense will attempt to prove that Mr. Macy and Mr. Havemeyer own the Nicolls place and that they are really fighting to get possession of waterfront on Great South Bay for their land, the park being between them and the waterfront.

The suit is one in law and equity and seeks not only to have the commission ousted from the land but to obtain damages from the three members of the Park Commission, Robert Moses, Townsend Scudder and Clifford L. Jackson, who are being sued as individuals.

Long Island City Plant Designed to Improve Express Traffic.

The Pennsylvania Railroad will begin the operation today of new and increased facilities for the handling of express traffic in the New York district. These facilities consist of a large capacity terminal plant to be known as the "Pennsylvania Express Terminal, New York," located just east of Harold Avenue, Sunnyside, Long Island City. Extensive trackage arrangements have been provided.

An outlay of more than $2,000,000 is represented in the project. The new terminal will be operated by the American Railway Express Company under lease. It will be the largest plant in the country used by the express company for the handling of express traffic.

With the opening of this new terminal the handling of express traffic is taken completely out of the Pennsylvania Station. The change is designed to improve vehicular traffic conditions at the station.

BRAVES GET IN LINE FOR ALBANY PLUMS

Meet at Wigwam Expecting "New Deal" at State Capital, but Are Warned by Olvany.

FEW JOBS DESPITE VICTORY

State Reorganization Plan, in Effect Jan. 1, Will Cut Down Much of Usual Patronage.

With a "new deal" at Albany due after Jan. 1, Tammany Hall was crowded yesterday afternoon with district leaders at Leader George W. Olvany's bi-weekly "at home." It was the political breadline forming.

Santa Claus may be good to a select few but the great majority, in what one termed "the great army of the unemployed," is doomed to disappointment when the plum tree is shaken. The Tammany Chieftian has told his braves to be prepared for the worst. Tammany has many mouths to feed, despite a plethora of city patronage, and there will not be anything near enough jobs coming out of Albany to go around.

Despite the sweeping Democratic victory at the polls last month, only two elective offices will change hands at Albany with the change of years. Edwin Corning of Albany will succeed Seymour Lowman as Lieutenant Governor and Morris Tremains of Erie will succeed Vincent B. Murphy as State Controller. As Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Corning who is Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, will have less than a handful of jobs to parcel out and none of these is high salaried or greatly desirable. Mr. Tremaine as State Controller will have more jobs, but even the patronage of the Controller's office, which at one time held such possibilities for the patronage hunters, will be considerably cut down under the Hughes reorganization plan to go into effect Jan. 1.

Under the new plan of administration, the Controller becomes purely an auditing official, while functions performed by former Controllers will be shifted to the new Department of Finance and Taxation. Through the reelection of Attorney General Albert Ottinger, the Republicans managed to hold the only elective office at the Capitol that carries with it patronage in quantity. There are about seventy-five exempt places in the Attorney General's department and in the distribution of these every county in the State is not only apt but bound to get a share.

Governor Smith has sought to discourage the notion which appears to prevail among the Democrats that unlimited patronage will be at his disposal as a result of the inauguration of the so-called Hughes plan. There will be some patronage for the Governor to bestow, but nothing like the amount expected by Democrats here and upState. If Governor Smith had had his own way about it there would have been jobs a-plenty. He urged that the Legislature merely erect the framework for the new plan of Government that was provided for by last year's constitutional amendment and leave it to the Executive to man the new departments. But the canny Republicans who controlled the Legislature could not see it the Governor's way. In providing for consolidation of departments the legislation enacted invariably provides for the shifting of bureaus, with their full personnel, into the new departments with which, respectively, they are to be affiliated.

Controller-elect Tremaine was one of the callers at the Wigwam in Fourteenth Street yesterday. He spent some time in conference with Chieftain Olvany. It is understood one of the Deputy Controllerships will go to Tammany, together with some of the minor patronage in the Controller's department. It was touching, the way the eyes of the of the leaders brightened when they saw him. He was smiled and bowed both in and out of Tammany Hall.

It is expected that Mr. Olvany will confer with Governor Smith before the Governor returns to Albany toward the end of the week and that at the time the possibilities and Tammany prospects in connection with the "new deal" at Albany will be discussed.

WAGNER PREPARES FOR JOB.

Declares He Will Work Hard for Dry Law Modification.

United States Senator-elect Robert F. Wagner was at Tammany Hall yesterday and received the congratulations of practically every Tammany district leader on the strong showing he made in the election. It was his first visit at the wigwam since election day.

Mr. Wagner said that he enjoyed his recent visit to Washington, especially the kind reception he had received there from the man he is to succeed and whom he defeated in the recent election, Senator Wadsworth.

Discussing Volstead law modification, Mr. Wagner said that undoubtedly the question will come prominently before the next Congress.

"I do not know what can be done in relation to it, but I feel that I owe it to the people of this State to do my share," Mr. Wagner said. "Not, however, to the exclusion of other matters of importance that may come up."

Mr. Wagner probably will open a law office soon after Jan. 1. He has had many offers to join established law firms of high standing, but has practically decided to go in for himself, possibly with a partner.

FINDS TAMMANY READY TO CHANGE WET FRONT

Jacob A. Livingston, Republican County leader of Kings, unanimously renominated last night at the regular monthly meeting of the County Committee for the position of Commissioner of Elections in the Board of Elections, accused Tammany Hall of preparing to "change front" on the prohibition question to "gather in several delegates for their idol."

Mr. Livingston's accusation followed an enumeration of legislation on the recent amendments to the Constitution, which may be submitted to the voters next Fall, when, he said, the Republicans would have a "chance to win if we build up our party wherever we can."

"Notwithstanding the blatant professions of wetness on the part of the standard-bearers of Democracy of this State and their constant solicitude for the wet movement in this State expressed by Tammany Hall," he said, "you will notice that two or three days since, when Congressman Gallivan opposed the appropriation in Congress for a dry unit in the Prohibition Department, all the Tammany Hall members of Congress in this State with the exception of three were conspicuous by their absence. This means that they and the organization to which they belong are now ready to change front and become less wet than they have been, thinking they may be able to gather in several delegates for their idol."

SMITH WANTS YOUNG AS POWER HEAD

General Electric Official Will Do State Job Right in Every Respect, Governor Says.

EARLY SELECTION DOUBTED

Corporation Chairman Declines to Comment on Choice—Post Is Not Yet Created.

HE OBJECTS TO STATE AID

Declares Financing of Projects in a Small Way May Grow to Drain on Treasury.

Governor Smith made it known yesterday that if his plans for water power development under State auspices should materialize, he would invite Owen D. Young, Chairman of the Executive Board of the General Electric Company, to become head of the New York State Power Authority, which would be the agency through which the State would work.

"I will seek to have Mr. Young undertake the work," the Governor said. "I would like to have him do it. It is true he is an officer of a private power corporation, but I believe he has chiefly the State's interest at heart and could be depended upon to do the job right in every respect.

Young Doubts Early Action.

Mr. Young, when questioned regarding the prospects of his accepting such an appointment at the hands of Governor Smith, said:

"I know nothing about it and therefore can say nothing about it. I do not expect the appointment will be made by the Governor in the immediate future."

Mr. Young probably had in mind the fact that before anything can be done in the direction of State development of hydroelectric power the Legislature, which is Republican in both its branches, would have to repeal the present law which contemplates development by private corporations under rigid State supervision, a policy to which the Republican Party is thoroughly committed through its platform and unlikely to discard.

Opposes State Power Aid.

Mr. Young took issue yesterday with that part of Governor Smith's water-power speech at the Hotel Astor Monday night wherein the Governor suggested that the State might supply a small amount of money to start his proposed Power Authority. Mr. Young expressed the fear that this might lead to large drafts on State funds to keep the development going in case it proved economically unsound.

"In so far as his (the Governor's) plan contemplates the use of private capital supplied to a public corporation for the development of the St. Lawrence," Mr. Young said, "I am in agreement with him. He is quite right in saying that this will provide the normal economic check on an unsound enterprise.

"At one point in his speech, he suggested that the State itself put in a little money if it were needed and the taxpayers would not know the difference. At that point I am in complete disagreement with him as a matter of principle.

Warns Contributions Will Grow.

"The moment the State begins to contribute money from the public treasury the economic check on the enterprise is lost. Such contributions always begin by being little ones. They always end by being big ones under the excuse of saving what is already in. If the enterprise is not sound enough to be financed with private capital—if it cannot stand on its own economic legs—then is the time for Government money to be kept out."

Discussing how investors might be induced to buy the bonds of the proposed Power Authority, Mr. Young said:

"The principal practical difficulty in the Governor's program is that the entire cost of the enterprise must be financed by bonds. In order to do this there must be a margin or guarantee fund for the bonds or investors will not take them. In the case of a private corporation probably not more than 60 per cent. of the cost would come from bonds, the remainder would be provided by stock, and this stock would form the guarantee fund.

"It may be practicable to have the public corporation contract with private power companies for the power output at such a price as will be sufficient to pay the interest and sinking fund on the bonds. If so, such contracts will have to be made before the bonds are sold, and will have to be for a term long enough to insure the safety of the bonds.

"The Governor is quite right in saying that the bonds can be made additionally attractive by tax exemption. They could be made even more attractive by making the physical property of the corporation also tax exempt. The effect of such a program would be to diminish the revenues of the State to the extent of such tax exemption, but this would be offset by any net earnings of the public corporation over interest charges from power sold."

Urges Decision on Plan Soon.

Mr. Young urged prompt action to decide how water power development should be done.

"The immediate questions to be settled," he said, "are those of public policy such as: Shall the State go into the power development business, either directly or indirectly, through a public corporation? Shall the State subsidize power development through tax exemption of securities issued for or of physical property engaged in power development? Shall public officials be substituted for private men in the construction of such enterprises?

"These questions can and should be settled now. If answered in the affirmative, then the Water Power Authority should be promptly created. The development of the river is the thing. As a matter of business let us get it done."

Mr. Young gave the following reasons from the viewpoint of the State why the St. Lawrence water power should be developed:

"If it can be done as cheaply as coal, then we gain a great advantage. New York State will have control of her own basic power supply. That she has not today. A strike in the coal mines, all beyond the borders of New York; taxes on coal exports by coal-producing States, all beyond our control; interruption of transportation, which we are powerless to prevent, all menace our power supply.

"If we harness this great river we shall control our own. In addition to this, as a matter of national conservation we will save millions of tons of coal each year which are now wasted, and we shall relieve our transportation systems already overcrowded with its transport."

Finch Objects to More Delay.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP).—State Engineer Roy G. Finch, a member of the New York State Water Power Commission, said today that he was disappointed in Governor Smith's speech on water power, delivered in New York last night.

"The Governor's speech," said Mr. Finch, "was a disappointment to me because I thought he was going to lay down a plan for hydroelectric development, which he did not do.

"Water power development has been studied from many angles for the last thirty years. The only way the people of the State will ever get any benefit from these great natural resources will be to have them developed. I hope that the new investigation suggested by the Governor does not mean that development will be delayed for twenty years more.

"I was interested in the Governor's statement that every line and every sentence in my water power report was handed to me by some one else. That was not true."

Speaker Joseph A. McGinnis of the Assembly, another member of the Water Power Commission declined to comment on the speech of Governor Smith.

Knight Says Smith Plan Is Old.

ARCADE, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP).—State Senator John Knight feels that the position of Governor Smith on the water power question, as outlined in his address in New York last night, probably means that there will be no accomplishment in the development of the State's water power resources for many years.

The Senator, who is a member of the Water Power Commission in his capacity of Senate leader, had not seen a report of the speech, but on the basis of oral reports to him he said that now the question would probably be made a plaything of politics at great loss to the people of the State.

The Governor's statement that the Power Commission's plan could only come from the people who want the power was called untrue. He said that the plans were drawn almost entirely by the State engineer with the Attorney General attending to the legal phases.

"The speech of the Governor seems to reveal nothing new," Senator Knight said. "It is the same plan which was proposed in the Straus bill at two successive sessions of the Legislature and defeated each time."

HOLIDAY PLANS MADE BY SALVATION ARMY

American Legion Will Provide Cheer for Sick Ex-Soldiers and Their Children.

Plans for the distribution of food and toys to the poor on Christmas were announced yesterday by Colonel Edward J. Parker of the Salvation Army. Twenty-five thousand persons will receive Christmas dinners, and 5,000 children will receive toys on Dec. 24. The gifts will be distributed at twenty-four places in Manhattan, Brooklyn, the Bronx and Staten Island.

Lieut. Col. L. Martin Simonson said that each family to receive the supplies had been investigated and most of the children had been consulted with regard to their choices in the matter of toys. Each of the Christmas bags given to families will contain sufficient food for three meals for a family of five.

The American Legion of New York County announced yesterday that it planned to give Christmas cheer to the 1,127 ex-soldiers in hospitals in and around New York City. Individual posts will provide for individual hospitals. A necktie for each man will be provided from general funds.

Children of the men in hospitals will gather on Dec. 19 at Washington Irving High School to receive gifts from the Legion. Families which are cared for by the Welfare Committee of New York County will receive Christmas dinners.

Headquarters of the Second Corps Area announced yesterday that 500 men who volunteered for foreign army posts will not lose their Christmas dinner by being on the transport Chateau-Thierry, bound for Panama on Dec. 25. There will be turkey, a Christmas tree and a present for every man on board, as well as special entertainment under the direction of Chaplain Haywood Winter.

NO BAIL FOR FRIEDMAN.

Hearing Into Alleged Attack on Two Jewelers Is Delayed.

Julius Friedman, jewelry salesman, of 1,556 East Twelfth Street, Brooklyn, was lodged in the Tombs last night, with bail refused, awaiting news of the recovery or death of Eugene M. Guinnaud, jeweler, beaten unconscious on Monday afternoon in his office at 1,482 Broadway. Guinnaud was in Bellevue in a coma, from which he had not emerged since the beating. With him was Alfred Eberlein, an employe, who also was beaten unconscious, but who is recovering.

Friedman, said to have been an observer in the 128th Aero Squadron during the World War, was arraigned yesterday afternoon in West Side Court on a short affidavit charging suspicion of robbery. If Guinnaud dies, he will face a first degree murder charge, the police say, for murder during a hold-up.

Assistant District Attorney Albert Kurtz asked Magistrate Silbermann for an adjournment, saying that Friedman's victims might die. Michael Halperin, Friedman's counsel, agreed and the case was set for Thursday. Friedman is understood to have said that he could not remember the attack upon the two jewelers, and that he was hard pressed for funds.

TEXAS GIRL ADMITS HOLDING UP BANK

GAVE HIM ORDER FOR LOOT

She Smiles as Cashier Tells of Obeying Her—Release on Bail Is Finally Affirmed.

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 14 (AP).—Mrs. Rebecca Bradley Rogers, Texas girl bank robber, was released late today under $5,000 bond.

District Judge George Calhoun gave her liberty pending action of the Hays County Grand Jury, which will convene on Feb. 28 at San Marcos.

At the hearing on the bond, Mrs. Rogers, a graduate of the University of Texas and a stenographer in the office of Attorney General Dan Moody, was identified as the girl who last Saturday held up and robbed the Farmers' National Bank of Buda of $1,000.

Sheriff George Allen of Hays County testified that Mrs. Rogers had admitted the robbery.

Both F. A. Jamison, cashier of the bank, and Raymond Howe, bookkeeper, who were backed into the vault at the point of a pistol by the girl bandit, identified Mrs. Rogers.

Jamison described the weapon used as a blue steel automatic "that looked awful big to me."

The defendant, who was present in the court room, smiled when Jamison said he "stopped" promptly and complied with the bandit's instructions when the pistol was directed at him.

"I didn't want to take any chance on being killed," the cashier testified.

Sheriff Allen said Mrs. Rogers had laughed and discussed the robbery with him.

"I've got a lot to live down, but not as much as those two men who let a little girl hold 'em up with an empty gun," he quoted her as saying. "In fact, I feel sorry for them. They ought to leave the country."

The Sheriff said that Mrs. Rogers had detailed to him how, returning to Austin after the robbery, she went to a department store and obtained a candy box, in which she placed the money, her purse and the pistol. She took it to the downtown postoffice and addressed it to herself at the State Capitol Station.

The package was recovered by the officer after Mrs. Rogers had given him a written order for it.

Those signing the bond included the defendant's husband, Otis Rogers, an Amarillo lawyer, former Chairman of the Men's Honor Council at the University of Texas and prominent intercollegiate debater; Mrs. Grace Bradley, the girl's mother; Dr. Charles W. Ramsdell, Texas University History Professor; V. I. Moore, Dean of Men at the university, and Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald, a prominent Texas newspaper man.

Married at Georgetown, Texas, in October, 1925, Rebecca and Otis Rogers continued their university courses, the husband graduating from the Law College, while his bride was awarded a Bachelor of Arts degree. They decided that Rogers's income as a lawyer might prove inadequate to support a home and agreed to separate while he developed his practice.

FAILS TO NAME SENATOR.

Illinois Governor Delays Appointing Successor to McKinley.

Special to The New York Times.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 14.—Governor Small and Senator-elect Frank L. Smith spent hours in conference today at the Executive Mansion, while politicians discussed the question of what was responsible for the delay in announcing Smith's appointment to the United States Senate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator McKinley.

That the appointment would be made no one doubted, but there is plenty of speculation over what is causing the apparent hitch. It was increased by a newspaper report from Washington which said the Republican Senators had been canvassed and that Smith's rejection was certain. Governor Small, it was declared, had received no intimation from Washington that his appointment of Smith would be challenged by that body.

SCHWAB IN TRAIN WRECK.

His Private Car Is Wrecked and Chef Hurt in Indiana.

MUNCIE, Ind., Dec. 14 (AP).—Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate, escaped injuries this morning when the eastbound Big Four passenger train which was carrying his private car was wrecked at the crossing of the Nickel Plate Railroad in the heart of the city here. The chef on the Schwab car was slightly injured.

The passenger train engine was derailed and turned across the track, when it struck a cut of empty cattle cars which were being switched on the Nickel Plate Line. A switchman of the Nickel Plate Line sustained slight injuries.

LINKS M'DERMOTT TO MELLETT DEATH

GRILLED BY THE DEFENSE

But Kascholk Sticks to His Detailed Story of the Murder Conspiracy.

CANTON, Ohio, Dec. 14 (AP).—Unfolding on the witness stand the alleged plot of the underworld against Don R. Mellett, the slain Canton publisher, Steven Kascholk, the State's star witness, told today the story on which the prosecution hopes to convict Patrick Eugene McDermott, on trial for the slaying.

When the defense counsel sought to break down Kascholk's story he answered with further revelations and repeated declarations of his certainty of facts to which he had testified.

Kascholk's testimony took the jurors through the inception of the scheme, through movements of principals before the editor's assassination, and left it just at its culmination, when, he asserts, he deserted the plotters because he did not want to help "bump a guy off."

McDermott accompanied him to Massillon, Ohio, Kascholk declared, where they met Louis Mazer, who, with Ben Rudner, is a co-defendant with McDermott. After a meeting between Mazer and McDermott, Kascholk testified, Pat told him they were to go to Canton to "knock a guy off, an editor guy."

A trip to Canton followed, on which they were accompanied by Mazer, Kascholk said, and then McDermott and Kascholk took a street car to Mellett's home, where they looked over the premises. Pat carried a gun then, Kascholk testified.

Pat suggested then that they kill Mellett, Kascholk declared, and when he refused, he said, McDermott accused him of being "yellow."

The witness's story of the slaying ended at that point, and then followed long hours of grilling by defense counsel in an attempt to break through Kascholk's testimony. The "chief informer," however, maintained that Mazer, introduced to him as "Mr. Smith," accompanied him and McDermott to Canton. He was certain of directions taken in visiting Mellett's home, and quoted McDermott at length in outlining the plot.

The testimony followed a defense motion made yesterday that Kascholk's testimony was worthless unless he be considered one of the conspirators. Judge Diehl ruled today that Kascholk could resume the stand without being considered one of the plotters.

Court was adjourned before cross-examination of Kascholk ended.

During the day Paul D. Welker, a Cleveland attorney, testified of interviewing Kascholk in Cleveland, and two hotel men identified register sheets said to have been signed by McDermott while in Massillon and Canton. William McDonald of Canton identified clothing Kascholk said McDermott stole while in a hotel at Canton.

TO DISCIPLINE GIRLS FOR BARELEGGED DANCE

Brooklyn School Principal Says Greek Performance Constituted Disobedience.

Six girls, pupils of the Eastern District High School of Brooklyn, who gave a barelegged dance in the manner of the classical Greek tradition at a senior entertainment last Thursday, are to be disciplined, it was learned yesterday, but exactly why neither they nor Miss Anna L. Phillips, Acting Principal would disclose.

The report said the girls were to be punished for dancing in public without stockings, which students of the Greek dance say were not worn by classical, or, at least, serious, Greek dancers, although the comic dancers, who were not classical, wore socks. Fellow pupils of the girls, who were not students of the Greek dance but who saw this one, described the costumes worn by the dancers as "futuristic." This, they said, meant that the dresses were short and diaphonous; and several teachers, they also said, described the garments as "immoral."

Miss Phillips admitted that the girls were to be disciplined, but denied it was because the dance or the costume were considered "immoral."

"They're to be disciplined because of disobedience in regard to the dance," she said. "I won't say any more."

The young women, who were instructed not to discuss the matter, were Annette Cheris, Lois Sperber, Sylvia Benjamin, Lillian Rodinsky, Judith Zimbel and Sylvia Lembach.

INDICT JERSEY MAYOR AND 32 IN RUM PLOT

Chief Dinan, who lives at 16 Adelaide Place, Edgewater, said last night he would issue a formal statement about his indictment this morning. Demontreaux, who lives at 56 Liberty Street, Weehawken, refused to discuss the indictment.

Others Also Deny the Charge.

The Edgewater detectives denied the charge against them, as did Sergeant Lowery, who was arraigned yesterday with Inspector Ritz, who lives at 310 Twenty-first Street, Union City, N. J. Lowery's bail was fixed at $3,000 and Ritz's at $2,500. Lowery obtained a bill bail bond and was released, but Ritz was locked in the Tombs. No others were arraigned yesterday. Ritz said he had a wife and one child. Lowery said he lived in Elmhurst, Queens, with his wife and four children.

Louis Smith was arrested two weeks ago in a suite on the third floor of the Flatiron Building. He was admitted to bail as were the Kinders and others arraigned on information. Mr. Stichman said the suite in which Smith was arrested had been headquarters of the "Harry Gertner." Mr. Stichman gave credit to Police Commissioner McLaughlin, Collector of the Port Philip Ettinge, Assistant Collector H. C. Stuart and Special Customs Agent Gregory W. O'Keefe for aiding in the long investigation. Mr. McLaughlin would not comment on the indictment of Sergeant Lowery.

The indictment alleges that the Eker's liquor cargo was transferred to her near Berry Island in the Bahamas from the bark Tilli, from Canada. The cargo included 34,000 cases of assorted liquors, it was stated. Evidence adduced last June before Federal Commissioner Francis A. O'Neil during the extradition proceedings against Captain Reaves of the Eker, showed that George Pinder, a negro British constable who had come aboard to seize the Eker for a tariff violation, was shanghaied and brought to this country. Captain Reaves is now serving eighteen months at Nassau, in the Bahamas for this crime.

Cargo Unloaded Onto Barges.

The Eker, the indictment says, was anchored near the Edgewater Boat Repair Yard, where the liquor was unloaded into the barges Nettie, Raritan and Pequest, and into other boats and on trucks. On one trip up the Hudson River, on May 3, it was alleged, 9,000 cases of liquor were seized aboard the Nettie and Raritan. The Eker and her crew were seized April 29 near Yonkers with 6,000 gallons of alcohol hidden below her tanks.

On April 27, two days before the seizure of the Eker, the $9,500 in bills was found on Captain Wunsche's desk. The eleventh overt act named in the true bill charges that $20,000 was paid to Sergeant Lowery of Police Boat 5, on the previous day in New York City. Inspector Ritz was on duty a few hundred yards from the Edgewater pier while the Eker was being unloaded, it was charged.

HUYLER'S AIDS JEWISH DRIVE

10 Per Cent. of All Receipts Today in Four Stores Will Be Given.

Ten per cent. of the gross receipts in four Huyler stores will be donated today to the women's division of the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies, this being designated as Federation Tithe Day, commencing early in the morning and lasting until midnight.

Prominent women will act is hostesses and saleswomen at the four stores—286 Fifth Avenue, 550 Seventh Avenue and 1,654 and 2,407 Broadway.

Fanny Brice, it was announced yesterday, will assist in the sales at the store 550 Seventh Avenue during the morning and at noon, as will members of the casts of "Gay Paree" and "Countess Maritza."

Madison Square Garden Shows Profit

In its first year of operation, from Nov. 29, 1925, to Dec. 1, 1926, the Madison Square Garden Corporation showed a net profit of about $975,000, after charges, depreciation, amortization, &c., but exclusive of interest on $750,000 of 7 per cent. debentures, which were redeemed. This is equal to $3 per share earned on 325,000 outstanding shares of stock, assuming conversion of the entire issue of debentures.

SAYS MILL STRIKE COST PASSAIC $10,000,000

Botany Director Asserts Residents Shared Loss—Borah Invited to Jubilee.

Special to The New York Times.

PASSAIC, N. J., Dec. 14.—The Passaic textile strike, which virtually ended Monday night when the strikers ratified the Botany Worsted Mills agreement, cost Passaic at least $10,000,000, according to Harry Meyers, director of the Botany Worsted Mills, lawyer and former President of the Hobart Trust Company. Mr. Meyers spoke at a meeting of Passaic Rotary Club today.

The loss, he said, was not alone to factories, merchants and employes in Passaic and vicinity, but also to private residents. He based his assertion on statistics of unpurchased merchandise and increase in rents and living expenses.

It is believed by those intimately connected with the situation that the other mills included in the strike will follow the Botany's lead.

There is great joy in Passaic as the end of the long-drawn-out battle looms as some had dreaded another Winter of struggle.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—A committee representing the Passaic (N. J.) textile workers and the American Federation of Labor invited Senator Borah today to attend a jubilee meeting in celebration of settlement of the strike in the Botany and other mills, and to raise funds to meet the cost of the strike.

Enlistment of Senator Borah's good offices in an investigation of the merits of the controversy was not a part of the mission of the committee, said Alfred Wagenknecht, its Chairman, in view of the fact that adjustments have been reached in all but one big mill and several smaller ones.

GIRL, 12, SUCCUMBS TO BROADWAY LURE

BROKE, SHE SEEKS AID

Policeman Sends Her to Y. W. H. A. and Parents Are Notified—Father Comes for Her.

The lure of Broadway, as pictured in magazine stories and on the screen, caused 12-year-old Rebe Fleischman to become dissatisfied with life at 6,040 Catherine Street in West Philadelphia. Last Saturday night, while her parents were away, she packed her clothes in a little grip took $10 of her mother's savings and boarded a train for New York.

How Rebe lived one day in luxurious comfort at a Broadway hotel, then found herself stranded and was finally restored to her anxious parents was told yesterday by Miss Rose Bandler of the Young Women's Hebrew Association of the Bronx.

When the young girl applied to the association for assistance and shelter, after being directed thither by a policeman, she said she was 17 years old and an orphan. She told a pathetic story of living with a cross old aunt in Philadelphia, who had turned her out. Later she confessed to her real age and said she had come to see the wonderful life on Broadway, about which she had read and which she had seen depicted in the movies. She wanted to be self-supporting and said she felt sure she could get a job in a 5-and-10-cent store.

A woman she had met on the train to New York, she said, had directed her to the Hotel Embassy, and here she had spent the night and part of Sunday. When she found that she had only a dollar and a few cents left after paying her bill, she went out to look for a room. Finally she grew discouraged and applied to a policeman, who showed the little wanderer that New York had a heart by telephoning to the association and making arrangements for her reception.

Meanwhile, the girl's parents, Louis and Florence Fleischman, had notified the police in Philadelphia of her disappearance, and an alarm had been sent out. Rebe had left a note for her parents and the police learned that she had taken the 10 o'clock train for New York in time to have a search made on the train. But she was not found.

About 6 o'clock Sunday evening Miss Bandler notified the parents by telephone of their daughter's whereabouts. Mr. Fleischman arrived in New York a few hours later and took Rebe home.

Senate Adopts Wadsworth Amendment To Admit 35,000 Aliens' Wives and Children

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—A spirit of Christmas season good-will imbued the Senate today and as a consequence happy family reunions of 35,000 aliens' wives and children, barred from the United States by immigration restrictions, may result.

By a vote of 39 to 37 the Senate adopted a proposal of Senator Wadsworth, Republican, of New York, to permit the entry, regardless of quota restrictions, of wives and children of aliens admitted prior to July 1, 1924, who have applied for naturalization.

The proposal was offered as an amendment to a House bill, which would grant entry outside of quota restrictions to American women who lost their citizenship by marriage to aliens. The House bill was passed, 44 to 31, but the House has to consider the Wadsworth amendment.

The amendment was offered, Senator Wadsworth said, for "humane as well as practicable reasons." It encountered stiff opposition, being described as "the opening wedge in the breakdown of the Restrictive Immigration act."

Its acceptance meant the Senate, Senator Reed, Republican of Pennsylvania, said, "was bowing to the clubbing of certain groups of aliens who were banding together to exert political influence."

The apportionment of the 35,000 wives and children under the amendment would be made according to nationalities on the basis of the number of relatives petitioned for by the alien residents. The rules of the apportionment would be prescribed by the Department of Labor.

The admission of the wives and children is expected merely to hasten their entry, as they would be eligible to enter the United States in 1929, Senator Wadsworth declared. In his fight for his amendment he had the support of Senator Copeland, Democrat, of New York.

Repeated efforts for an amendment of the immigration quota law have been made, but most of them have failed.

BUY SITE IN PALESTINE.

American Jews Purchase Land for Synagogue From Greek Church.

The first step toward the erection of a modern synagogue in Jerusalem, a project which has for some time interested a number of prominent American Jews, has just been taken, through the purchase of a site for $58,000, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Herman Abrahamowitz, President of the United Synagogue of America.

The ground covers more than an acre and is situated on King George V. Avenue, adjacent to Jaffa Road, the main highway of Palestine. The avenue is the widest boulevard in Jerusalem and is an outstanding feature of the recent Jewish development of the city beyond the historic wall of the ancient town.

The land formerly was the property of the Greek Catholic Church and the deed conveying it was signed by Damianos, Orthodox Patriarch of Jerusalem. It was purchased for the United Synagogue of America by Dr. Judah L. Magnes, former rabbi of Temple Emanu-El of New York and now dean of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, and Chief Justice Frumkin, of the Superior Court of Palestine. This is said to have been the first time the Greek patriarchate sold land in Jerusalem for Jewish purposes.

DINE AT $50 A PLATE.

850 Help Jewish Home to Raise $50,000, Half of Its Goal.

Eight hundred and fifty persons, paying $50 or more per plate at the thirtieth anniversary dinner of the Home of the Daughters of Jacob last night at the Hotel Astor, enabled the institution to reach the half-way mark in its campaign for improvements. A sum slightly in excess of $50,000 was raised through the proceeds of the dinner. The goal is $100,000.

The feature of the evening was a motion picture representation of the history of the home, beginning with the first headquarters, at 40 Gouverneur Street, and continuing through the building of the present home in 1920 at 167th Street and Findlay Avenue, the Bronx.

Speeches were made by Arthur J. W. Hilly, Assistant Corporation Counsel and representative of the Mayor; Congressman-elect William W. Cohen, Judge Otto A. Rosalsky, Joseph Barondess, Rabbi M. Z. Margolies, Rabbi Max Drob and Mrs. Esther Surut.

DEFERS INSTALLATION OF NEWARK PASTOR

Presbytery Votes to Keep the Rev. L. H. Clee Out Until After General Assembly.

The Presbytery of Newark, at a stormy session yesterday afternoon in the Second Presbyterian Church, that city, voted to defer the installation of the Rev. Lester H. Clee as pastor of the Second Church until after the next annual session of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, to be held the third week in May at San Francisco. Meanwhile Mr. Clee, who is a Baptist, will continue to be the supply pastor at the Second Church.

Mr. Clee was elected pastor of the Second Church almost a year ago, but when he sought entrance into the presbytery he was found to be unable to affirm belief in the Virgin birth and some of the miracles. The Committee on Examination so reported to the presbytery, and that body postponed action. Some weeks later the presbytery voted to receive him. Then there was an attempt to rescind this action, but the presbytery was informed by the Rev. Dr. Lewis S. Mudge, Stated Clerk of the General Assembly, that this could not be done. Dr. Mudge said that, having taken Mr. Clee into membership, he was just as much a member as any other clergyman and that the only way to eject him would be by conviction on trial.

Arrangements were then started to install Mr. Clee. But a minority of the prebytery held this up by appealing to the Presbyterian Synod of New Jersey. The latter body, meeting last October in Atlantic City, dismissed the complaint on recommendation of its Judicial Commission.

The same minority, all of whom are Fundamentalists, announced yesterday that they were now taking the complaint to the Assembly. It will go before the Permanent Judicial Commission of that body. The spokesman for the minority was the Rev. Dr. Robert Scott Inglis, pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, who is the leader of the Fundamentalist group in the presbytery.

Dr. Inglis predicted that the General Assembly would decide that he and his followers were right. In this event, he said, Mr. Clee, if installed, would be unseated. He argued it would be wiser not to install him.

Weehawken Youth and Wife to Visit Her Son, 23, on Florida Honeymoon.

Richard Herring, 19 years old, of Weehawken, N. J., was married to Mrs. Lillian Wensel, a widow, who has a son 23 years old, on Oct. 6 last, it was learned yesterday. Herring gave his age as twenty-one when they were married in New Dorp, S. I.

Mrs. Herring plans to visit her son, Jack, and his three-year-old daughter on her honeymoon trip to Florida next month, she said last night. She would not discuss her romance except to say she and her husband were very much in love. Herring told reporters he had never asked his wife's age, and that it did not matter to him. He was graduated from Union Hill High School in 1924, and is not employed. He said last night he did not intend to go to work.

The couple are living in a two-family house at 464 Park Avenue Weehawken. Herring formerly lived with his parents at 121 Oak Street, Weehawken. Mrs. Wensel had been a widow for three years before she met him, and she said they had known each other for the last four years.

USE FOR TREASURY SURPLUS

Give It to Britain to Help Pay Debt to Us, Sir Alfred Mond Suggests.

LONDON, Dec. 14 (AP).—The United States is a happy land where politicians merely dispute the size of the Treasury surplus and what is to be done with it, Sir Alfred Mond told the American Chamber of Commerce today at a luncheon in his honor on his return from a trip to the United States.

Sir Alfred, who is a member of the House of Commons, jokingly suggested as a possible solution that the United States Treasury hand over its surplus to Great Britain for the purpose of helping pay the British debt to America. He said this would solve the surplus problem for President Coolidge and Congress and, moreover, would make Americans immensely popular in Britain.

ICY BLAST HITS CITY, SNOW DUE TONIGHT

TWENTY DEATHS IN WEST

Cold Wave From Canadian Northwest Whistles Its Way Eastward Thirty Below in Some States.

The guesty scouts of the bitter cold snap in the West came icily into town last night, and by this evening there will be snow, according to the forecast of the Weather Man last night.

At 10 P. M. it was one above freezing, and as the weather expert scanned his charts and his reports he mentally saw the mercury shrinking lower and lower, with the probability that it would go down below 20 degrees. Dawn, he was of the opinion, would find the temperature uncomfortably close to zero.

The visitation of cold began four days ago out in the Canadian Northwest, where snow is measured with a yardstick. After getting the Northwest Canadians into the state of mind where they were almost ready to accept the fact that Summer was waning, the cold started to migrate and finally emigrated, passing into the Rockies and closing schools and public buildings. Montana, Wyoming and Colorado, for instance, had average temperatures of 30 degrees below zero.

The cold is likely to remain until Friday, it was explained, but that is not certain. In fact, the only sure thing about the cold spell appeared to be that when it was ended it would go somewhere else—maybe out to sea.

Many Destitute in the West.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Zero or sub-zero temperatures prevailed today over almost half of the United States. Twenty deaths and intense suffering were attributed to the severe cold wave, which drove the mercury down to 36 below at International Falls, Minn. Transportation and wire facilities were interfered with the charitable organizations in all large Western cities were taxed to their utmost to care for the destitute.

Cities in the Northwest reported mercury readings from 8 below zero to the low at International Falls. At Crokston Falls, Minn., 26 below was registered. Hibbing, Minn., had 22 below; St. Cloud, Minn., 22 below; Duluth, 25 below; Devil's Lake, N. D., 25 below; Grand Forks, N. D., 26 below; Fargo, N. D., 20 below, and Minot, N. D., 22 below.

Although Canada and the northern Pacific coast were still in the grip of severe cold late today, Seattle's Weather Bureau forecast a break there in the next twenty-four hours. At Klamath, Ore., the temperature fell to 12 below today. Five of the twenty deaths attributed to freezing occurred in Washington.

Travel was virtually discontinued in many parts of the Northwest and in the Rocky Mountains. Many schools were closed. In Montana, Colorado and Wyoming temperatures of nearly 30 below were recorded. Wisconsin was one of the centres of Winter's unusual December activity.

Revival of the soup house marked the advent of the cold wave at South Bend, Ind. The Salvation Army dispensed soup, coffee and bread to scores of homeless wanderers.

Although the official minimum in Chicago was an even zero, many of the outlying suburbs, by police thermometers, registered lower marks. Several deaths in the city and the suburbs were attributed to the cold.

SILENT ON ART DONORS.

Smoot Is Not Yet Ready to Disclose Backers of a National Gallery.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Senator Smoot is not yet prepared to reveal who the prospective donors would be to the national art gallery he has proposed.

He spoke first of the gallery in the Senate on Saturday when he announced the progress of the building plan for Washington. At that time he said the building plan included a national art gallery to be built "at some time." He said:

"It will cost about $10,000,000. We are not asking the Government to make appropriations for that. I have been living in the hope that I will secure $10,000,000 from somebody who is perfectly willing to give it to build a national art gallery.

"I have fairly good prospects, and if accomplished, of course, we will have to collect another $10,000,000, the interest of which will be for maintenance of the art gallery.

"I know, because I have been told, that if we have an art gallery, at least three of the great art collections in the United States will go to that gallery and that will be only a part."

After his speech, Senator Smoot was asked to give details, but he declined, and has done so ever since.

HOPE IN NEW CURE FOR DRUG ADDICTS

tinued to replace the depleted lipoids in the body. The non-specific proteins of the narcosan solution are added to stimulate the blood-forming tissues. This is a theory which future scientific investigations must prove or disprove. The validity of a theory, however, of how narcosan acts is a question aside from its value and effectiveness as a remedy for narcotic addiction."

"The types of patients," the report goes on, "were those found in the penal institutions of a large city, the petty offenders for smaller crimes, who were addicted to the use of heroin and morphine, or those self committed who have been sent by the courts to rid themselves of their addiction. In a few of these patients the addiction has been of short duration; in many, of several years, ten to fifteen years duration, others had been even thirty or forty years steadily addicted to some narcotic.

"As in all prison statistics, only a small percentage of these patients gave sickness or pain as the reason for starting the addiction. The majority drifted into it through the temptations of their environment."

The treatment, the report shows, must be given in a hospital and not undertaken in homes. The report continues:

"By the third night the patients are beginning to sleep better and the symptoms are abating even in those who seemed previously seriously ill. They soon improve and in the great majority of instances on the fourth day become comfortable. They acknowledge their physical craving for narcotics has ceased. By the fifth day their appetites begin to return and they sleep more both in the day time and at night. Soon their appetites become excessive and they are continuously eager for food, especially sugar. * * *

"Patients are not delirious as in the hyoscin treatment, thrashing around in a low delirium; they are not ugly and obstreperous, as in the slow reduction treatment; they are tractable, subdued and quiet, and soon appreciate that the hypodermics of narcosan relieve their symptoms, and they ask for an extra hypodermic from time to time."

As to the permanency of the treatment, the report says that "it is absolutely unknown and incalculable."

CHICAGO, Dec. 14 (AP).—Informed of the announcement of tests of the usage of narcosan in New York, a statement by the American Medical Association tonight says the product was rejected in 1921 by the Council of Pharmacy and Chemistry of the association because of "unknown composition and insufficient evidence to establish the claim." The product then was known as "litoral," the statement says, and "the medicaments used are characterized by the Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry as needlessly complex." The Journal of the A. M. A., in comment this week, cautions against the use of the remedy until it has received a thorough trial under controlled conditions and until the product shall have been considered by the council.

"The paper in The New York Medical Journal and Record was refused by The Journal of the American Medical Association because the composition of the product had still not been definitely established; the investigations, while apparently satisfactory, were not controlled; the medicaments used are characterized by the Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry as needlessly complex," the publication adds.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—A dispatch to The London Times from Tokio says that because of the Emperor's grave condition the British Ambassador at the last moment ordered the cancellation of a ball which three members of the Embassy were to have given last night. A Buffet Kelvinator for library, office or bachelor apartment

IT'S something he's been promising himself—something he wants and intends to own some day—this Buffet Kelvinator.

He has admired it—thought of it many times.

He has pictured, in his den or office, that handsome cabinet of walnut or mahogany.

He knows that inside there are always ice cubes a-plenty, independent of any outside source of supply; that there is a humidor for his good cigars; that there is a gleaming white, intensely cold compartment where foods and beverages are perfectly kept.

Put a Buffet Kelvinator in his study or office this Christmas. He'll think of you every time he enjoys a satisfying bite to eat after he has read until midnight; every time he puts between his teeth a moist, perfectly conditioned cigar; every time he proudly shows his unusual treasure to a friend.

We suggest you place your order at once, as Buffet Kelvinators are very popular this Christmas.

Radio Sales Manager

A STRONG independent manufacturer of radio sets, who has earned an enviable reputation in the past five years, needs a sales manager. Not a swivel chair executive, nor a flashy Blue Ribbon salesman, but a substantial radio man who combines shrewd business judgment and knowledge of the field with proven sales ability. He will be backed by the best radio set of its kind on the market, an effective schedule of national advertising, and a production department that boasts less than one-fiftieth of one per cent returns! The man we are looking for must accept a moderate salary to start with, and prove his worth in six months. Then he can command a percentage of sales which, if he fulfills expectations, will net him $15,000 or better. Replies must state complete details as to previous experience, earnings and present connection.

FRIENDS PAY HONORS TO SCHUMANN-HEINK

Singer Receives Homage of All at Testimonial Luncheon of Town Hall Board.

REPLIES SHE IS GOOD COOK

"Not a Society Girl but a Hard Worker," She Declares in Answer to Tributes.

Pausing midway in her "golden jubilee" tour of 20,000 miles, Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink appeared yesterday at a testimonial luncheon held in her honor by the governing board of the Town Hall at the Hotel Astor. The 65-year-old singer, who made her début in Graz, Germany, when she was fifteen, modestly received a shower of homage.

Praised as the "mother of seven and the grandmother of eleven," toasted as the woman "with the golden voice and the golden heart," and called the "girl friend" by William J. Guard of the Metropolitan, she rose to proclaim herself "a good cook" and "not a society girl, but a hard worker."

The formal testimonial from the Town Hall was read by Henry W. Taft, who presided at the luncheon.

"We pay tribute today," he said, "to the beauty of a glorious voice, but even more to the beauty of a noble character. We do homage to a great artist but even more to a great soul." In particular Mr. Taft praised Mme. Schumann-Heink for her courage in allowing her age to be printed in "Who's Who."

"With Cicero," he said, "Mme. Schumann-Heink believes old age best of all."

When Mme. Schumann-Heink made her own address she declared that she didn't care how old she became as long as she could talk, move and sing."

Mr. Taft introduced, one by one, Harry Harkness Flagler, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., Mrs. Walter Damrosch, James Speyer, and Robert Erskine Ely. Mr. Flagler was referred to by the toastmaster as a "Maecenas" who had helped make it possible for many artists to show their ability to the public. All of the speakers joined in praising the guest of honor.

Among those well known in the world of music who gave testimonials to be read by the toastmaster were Giulio Gatti-Casazza, William J. Guard, Sergei Rachmaninoff, Marcella Sembrich, Richard Aldrich, Mary Lewis, Geraldine Farrar, Leopold Auer and Frederick A. Stock.

The American Legion of New York State sent congratulations. Mr. Gatti-Casazza paid tribute to Mme. Schumann-Heink's "marvelous voice and wonderful art," which should "enable her to continue to sing her rôles until the age of at least 100 years." Mr. Guard called her voice one with "a soul behind it."

Testimonials Bound in Portfolio.

Geraldine Farrar expressed her friendship in a message partly in German. The testimonials were bound in an engraved portfolio and given to the guest of honor as a souvenir.

In her informal speech, Mme. Schumann-Heink spoke of "her boys," both her own sons and grandsons and the men who fought in the World War. Five of her own sons fought in the great conflict, four on the side of the United States and one for Germany as a U-boat officer. The latter was killed when his boat sank.

The singer spoke of America as "her own country." She is a naturalized citizen.

Besides the speakers, those at the table were Harold Bauer, Mrs. Schuyler N. Warren, Francis Rogers, Richard Aldrich, Mrs. Robert Erskine Ely, Ernest Schelling, Mrs. Effrem Zimbalist, Frederick Steinway, Mme. Frances Alda, Signor Antonio Scotti, Geraldine Farrar, Artur Bodalsky, Mrs. Frederick Steinway, Mrs. Chester A. Braman and Effrem Zimbalist.

Among those sponsoring the luncheon were: Governor Smith, Mrs. Henry Alexander, Felix M. Warburg, Mrs. John T. Pratt, Miss Charlotte Baker, Michael Friedsam, Mrs. Chester A. Braman, Robert Erskine Ely, John G. Agar, Mrs. Schuyler N. Warren, Mrs. Sigmund Neustadt, Robert E. Simon, Mrs. Elgin R. L. Gould, Mrs. Ben Ali Haggin, Florence M. Marshall, John Bates Clark, Samuel Greenbaum, Laura V. Day and Miss Mary B. Cleveland. More than 1,500 attended the luncheon.

LLOYD'S ENDS GEM POLICIES

Too Many Jewelry Salesmen Robbed Here, Company Says.

Lloyd's of London has ceased to write jewelers' block insurance on loose diamonds and other unset precious stones in the United States on account of large losses which recently have been sustained through robberies of salesmen. In connection with the withdrawal, which executives of the underwriters said they hoped would be only temporary, it was suggested that in cooperation with American insurance companies writing this class of policy, some satisfactory basis can be reached for dealing with the serious hazards of salesmen carrying large amounts of precious stones.

"We regret to inform you," Lloyd's communication to representatives in this country read, "that for the time being we are not prepared to insure under jewelers' block policies to dealers in loose diamonds and unset precious stones in the United States. This decision, which has been reached with great reluctance, is the result of a very unfortunate experience of the traveling salesmen risk. Recent events show that the largest and most influential firms in this trade are not immune from serious losses. It is evident that their salesmen are watched by criminals who await a favorable chance of robbing them of their stocks.

"We may say that it will be our endeavor with other companies and underwriters writing this class of business to take concerted action with a view to putting these insurances on a sound basis, and should our efforts meet with success we shall be very glad to rescind this decision."

TRUSTEES REFUSE TO SERVE IN CHURCH

ONLY 2 STAY WILLINGLY

Madison Avenue Baptist Congregation Is Torn by Quarrel Over Officers' Powers.

Members of the Madison Avenue Baptist Church, at Thirty-first Street and Madison Avenue, were undecided yesterday as to whether they had a Board of Trustees or not.

Seven of the nine Trustees offered their resignations on Monday night, and Dr. Clifford A. Braider, leader of the minority faction of two, immediately moved that the resignations be tabled. Thereupon the seven found themselves still technically trustees, although they had voiced marked opposition to further service on the board.

The disagreement that resulted in the resignations began with the discharge of Miss Frances Hurst, the pastor's secretary. She was dismissed about a year ago by the trustees. The Board of Deacons considered it their duty to employ and discharge workers in the parish, and resented the trustees' action. The congregation adopted three resolutions last month which limited the power of the trustees.

On Monday night Leroy G. Edwards, President of the Board of Trustees, offered his resignation and those of Arthur L. Niles, Arthur C. Knies, Carleton E. Hunt, Walter B. Truthill, Dr. Freeman F. Ward, Treasurer of the board, and Albert W. Evans, Assistant Treasurer. The congregation voted to table them.

According to Mr. Niles, the deacons had passed resolutions restricting the trustees in their handling of the Church's finances, which the trustees considered illegal. Mr. Niles said that no self-respecting man would serve under those conditions, and declared that neither he nor the other resigning members would resume their duties until the deacons ceased their interference.

Dr. Braider, senior member of the surviving trustees, said yesterday that the trustees, under the laws of New York State, were supposed to act as a subcommittee on finance under the Board of Deacons. He said that their resigning was "petty and foolish," and declared that he could not comprehend it. The deacons supervise all the activities of the Church, he said, while the trustees handle its property and revenues in accordance with the rules and customs of the Church corporation.

Dr. Ward, the resigning Treasurer, said that the departing trustees had done their duty and that they were "all through." He referred inquiries about the reason for their action to Mr. Edwards, who also was unwilling to discuss the matter. No other member of the group who could be reached would discuss it. Dr. George Caleb Moor, pastor of the Church, was also unwilling to talk.

The two surviving trustees will elect successors to those who resigned at the meeting, which probably will be held on Monday night, Dr. Braider said. Dr. Braider is an assistant to the pastor and directs children's activities in the Church.

ANDREWS SEES FLOW OF LIQUOR AS MYTH

Ships With Christmas Supplies Few, He Says, and Alcohol Diversion Largely Checked.

HOPEFUL OF WHISKY BILL

Bottling Now, He Asserts, Would Save 4,000,000 Gallons — Urges "Under Cover" Appropriation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. — Reports that large supplies of liquor were being smuggled into New York for the Christmas holidays were discussed today by General Lincoln C. Andrews, head of the Federal prohibition forces. He said he had talked about these reports with Major Mills, the New York administrator, and had been informed that the contrary was the case.

Rear Admiral Billard, Commandant of the Coast Guard, also informed General Andrews that rum-smuggling ships were scarce on the Atlantic seaboard. A survey made by the Coast Guard on Dec. 12 listed only two such vessels off the northern part of New England. Another check-up was made on Dec. 13, and no rum ships were discovered.

General Andrews said there was evidence that considerable industrial alcohol for use in the manufacture of illicit liquor was being shipped to New York, but that every effort was being made to stop this, and with some success. On the whole, he felt that the much advertised "large supplies" were mythical and that Christmas would not find the New York sector dripping wet. Favorable progress, he said, was being reported in connection with big operations in the wet areas, including New York, and the prospect of important developments in the fight for closer enforcement was more hopeful than at any recent time.

General Andrews expressed the hope that Congress would provide for the organization of a private corporation under Government auspices to buy existing liquor stocks and manufacture new liquor necessary for the medicinal trade. He said that if the project were carried out at once and if the liquor now held in wood in warehouses were purchased and bottled, a saving of about 4,000,000 gallons of liquor which otherwise would be lost through evaporation, would be effected during the five years from 1927 to 1931 inclusive. The Government tax on the 4,000,000 gallons which would be lost, he said, would amount to $5,196,000.

The tax rate on liquor which the law permits to be bottled and marketed for medicinal purposes will be $1.65 a gallon in 1927 and $1.10 a gallon after that. The bureau experts had worked it out as follows:

Year.	Evaporation (Gals.).	Tax Lost.
1927	1,250,000	$2,062,500
1928	1,000,000	1,100,000
1929	800,000	935,000
1930	625,000	587,000
1931	375,000	412,000
Totals	4,160,000	$5,196,500

It was indicated also that General Andrews would make a strong effort to have put back into the bill appropriating money for the conduct of the prohibition establishment the clause permitting money to be advanced for "under-cover" work and for its payment to secret agents without identifying them.

forty-two years during which it has had the inestimable benefit of your musicianship and your practical fostering care, and I cannot wonder that you wish to be relieved of the heavy responsibilities which the position has entailed.

As soon as practicable I will call a meeting of the directors of the society to put this matter before them, but even before that time I feel that I am expressing their earnest wish, as well as my own, in hoping that you will be willing to act as our honored guest conductor for such a period as may prove feasible, and also that the children's and young people's concerts may still remain in your hands, in order that the incomparable educational work which you have done for the children of New York may be continued under the very best auspices.

I cannot put into words what your withdrawal from the more active duties of conductor will mean to me personally, not only in the privation I shall experience in not seeing you on the conductor's stand throughout the weeks of the musical season, but in the loss of the daily companionship which has been ours in the service of the art of music. My consolation is, and I speak for my wife also, that the friendship founded so many years ago through this medium will not cease with the lessening of your public activities.

Always faithfully yours,
HARRY HARKNESS FLAGLER.

Resolution by Directors.

President Flagler laid before yesterday's meeting both the letter addressed to him by Mr. Damrosch and the President's letter of acknowledgment. The directors, on motion duly seconded, adopted the following:

Resolved, That the resignation of Mr. Damrosch as conductor, to take effect at the close of the current season, be accepted with profound regret, and that the letters above recited be spread upon the minutes of the meeting; and it is further

Resolved, That there be recorded upon the minutes the following appreciation of Mr. Damrosch's long and distinguished services:

The retirement of Mr. Damrosch from the conductorship of the Symphony Society of New York marks the end of a musical era. The society was organized by Dr. Leopold Damrosch nearly fifty years ago, and during the deplorably brief period of his remaining years Dr. Damrosch as its first conductor gave the Symphony Society, through his distinguished musicianship, a high position in the musical activities of the city and nation.

Upon the untimely death of his illustrious father Mr. Damrosch succeeded not only to the conductorship of the Symphony Society but to those of the Metropolitan Opera House and the Oratorio Society as well—heavy responsibilities for a young man of 23.

During the ensuing forty-two years no other conductor has contributed more to the wide diffusion of musical culture through the nation. His supreme talent for program making is universally recognized, and his rendering of the classics, especially of Beethoven and Brahms, and of the Wagner music dramas, both in the opera house and in concert form, have been landmarks of musical interpretation.

American Standards Advanced.

Due in no small part to his high artistic ideals, the standards of orchestral technique have steadily advanced, until now American orchestras, including that of the Symphony Society, hold the foremost positions in the entire musical world.

His sympathetic understanding of the artistic needs of children and young people has made his concerts for those groups important preparatory centres of appreciation.

The building of Carnegie Hall was due in large part to his intimate friendship with Mr. Andrew Carnegie, and at the brilliant opening of Carnegie Hall in 1891 he brought to the Western world as guest conductor Tchaikovsky, the first of a long succession of distinguished European composers and musicians who have since appeared with the Symphony Society.

Many years later, on the invitation of the French Government, he took the orchestra of the Symphony Society to the chief musical centres of Europe, in order that there might be a better understanding there of the musical culture of America.

These are but a few of Mr. Damrosch's contributions to the cause of music in connection with his work with the Symphony Society.

In expressing their regret that these activities are to be terminated at the close of the current season the directors and associate directors express the hope that Mr. Damrosch will continue to appear from time to time as conductor of the orchestra, especially at concerts for children and young people, as often as his other interests and engagements will permit him to do so.

Mr. Damrosch will give the society the benefit of his services as a guest conductor, and will also continue his direction of the children's and young people's concerts.

Damrosch Always Pioneer.

"In looking back, I seem always to have been a pioneer," said Mr. Damrosch to guests at his home last night; "first with the Wagner music dramas, then with the concerts for young people and children, and now today with something entirely new; the radio. We have played a concert each week, for six weeks past, to an audience estimated to number 2,000,000 persons. One can hardly conceive it. They listen in from Alberta and Hudson Bay down to Louisiana and Florida.

"Up in North Dakota a man wrote to me: 'My wife and I are seated by the fire in our wooden shack, with a Winter gale howling outside, while we listen to your playing of Schubert's 'Unfinished Symphony,' and we are hearing it perfectly.'

"If I continue broadcasting our orchestra for two or three years only, I shall reach more people with the message of great music than I have played to and talked to in my entire forty-two years as opera and orchestra conductor."

It was in 1885, when he was only 23 years old, that Mr. Damrosch was first called to take up the baton here on the sudden death of his father, Leopold, who had come with two sons, Frank and Walter, from Breslau. Walter Damrosch said the early years had been years of hardship and struggle, as the later years had been happy ones. He believed he had made the first transcontinental tours with an orchestra, as well as the first tour of an American orchestra in Europe after the great war.

Mr. Damrosch on the foreign tour was decorated as an Officer of the French Legion of Honor, Chevalier of the Crown of Belgium and Officer of the Crown of Italy. He received the gold medal of the Banda Municipale of Rome and the silver medal of the Worshipful Company of Musicians of London.

Introduced Musicians.

Many internationally known artists have made their first American "orchestral appearance" under Mr. Damrosch's baton. Among them have been Paderewski, Kreisler, Saint-Saëns and Tchaikovsky. Among his original compositions are two operas, "The Scarlet Letter" and "Cyrano de Bergerac," the latter of which was produced by the Metropolitan Opera Company. Mr. Damrosch has also written a book of his experiences called "My Musical Life."

Through the children's concerts, which he originated ten years ago, and the young people's concerts, which have been held for twenty-eight years, Mr. Damrosch has become a guide and friend of the younger residents of New York. This year, as he himself said, he has been reaching audiences far beyond the concert halls through the series of radio concerts and dramatic Wagner recitals broadcast by the National Broadcasting Company through twelve stations.

A musician remarked of him, on hearing of Mr. Damrosch's resignation, that he had "introduced more hundred thousands of Americans to the appreciation of music as an amusement, a relaxation, avocation or hobby in their daily life" than had probably any other man on the public stage in this country during his lifetime.

Mr. Damrosch was assisted in receiving last night's company by his wife, Margaret, daughter of the late James G. Blaine, and two of their daughters, Mrs. Pleasants Pennington, wife of an architect, and Miss Polly Damrosch, who has appeared as pianist with her father in concerts in the last season or two.

Two other daughters are Mrs. Thomas Finletter, whose husband is a lawyer in the firm of Coudert & Co., and Mrs. Robert Littell, wife of the author of that name. There are two grandchildren, a daughter of Mrs. Finletter and an infant son of Mrs. Littell.

There were present also George Engles, for seventeen years manager of the Symphony Society, with his assistants, Lawrence J. Fitzgerald and Alexander Haas, and Miss Helen M. Mobert.

'FREE SPEECH' STIRS DISPUTE IN COURT

Untermyer Insists "Within the Law" Is Understood In the Liberties Union Definition.

CITY COUNSEL DISSENTS

Wants Statement Taken at Face Value—Decision Is Reserved on Writ Against School Board.

The definition of "free speech" proclaimed by the American Civil Liberties Union, and the right of the Board of Education to close the public schools to meetings sponsored by the union so long as it adheres to its definition, were argued for two hours yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Gavegan by Samuel Untermyer for the union, and Assistant Corporation Counsel Mayer for the Board of Education, during which Justice Gavegan questioned the attorneys freely as to the issues of the proceeding.

Mr. Mayer contended that the Board of Education had been upheld by State Education Commissioner Graves in its stand, and that there was no appeal from his ruling, and Mr. Untermyer asserted that Commissioner Graves had not actually reviewed the case as the law required. Justice Gavegan then reserved decision on the application by Forrest Bailey, as a director of the American Civil Liberties Union for a writ directing the board to permit the union to hold a meeting in the auditorium of the Stuyvesant High School on the subject, "Old Fashioned Free Speech."

Free Speech Definition.

The text of the discussion appeared to be an official pamphlet of the union on "What Do You Mean—Free Speech?" with the following opening paragraph:

"'Free Speech' means your right to say anything you think on any public question without fear of interference by anybody. It means equally the right of the other fellow to speak his mind just as freely. It means that no man, however much you may dislike his ideas, should be punished for voicing them. However radical, blasphemous or revolutionary his language, he must have the same right to express his bad ideas as you have to express your good ones.

Defending this definition, which was read by Mr. Untermyer in response to Justice Gavegan's inquiry as to the union's conception of free speech, the attorney argued that many of the 6,000 members of the union were distinguished persons, and the majority were conservative rather than radical. He insisted that the words, "within the law," should be read into the definition. Mr. Mayer, on the other hand, insisted that the union should be judged on the definition without interpolations, and said that while the organization might not encourage lawlessness, "blasphemy" was an offense to many persons, and was likely to result in a breach of the peace, which was a crime, although blasphemy was not a crime in itself.

In opening his argument Mr. Untermyer told the history of the proceeding, having its inception last May when the Board of Education denied the request of two local organizations, the League of Neighbors and the Union of East and West, to use the Morris High School for a public meeting because of the objection to the announced speakers. The union then asked for the Stuyvesant High School auditorium and listed as a speaker James Weldon Johnson, Executive Secretary of the League for the Advancement of Colored People, who with Arthur Garfield Hays was to have spoken at the proposed Morris High School meeting, and also announced that Mr. Hays, the Rev. Dr. John Haynes Holmes and John Nevin Sayre would speak. After investigating, Eugene C. Gibney, director of extension activities of the Board of Education, advised against permitting the union to use the Stuyvesant High School auditorium, and the Board of Education upheld his recommendation.

When the union appealed to Commissioner Graves he declined to overrule the decision of the board.

Attacks Graves's Review.

Mr. Untermyer declared the courts were appealed to because Commissioner Graves had practically refused to review the proceedings before the Board of Education, holding that he could not act except in case of an abuse of discretion by the board, which he found was not the case.

The aims of the union are misunderstood, said Mr. Untermyer, because, for example, it has been represented as advocating birth control. "They don't do anything of the kind," he said, "and it would make no difference if they did. Many good people believe in it. The union merely insists that both sides be heard."

Justice Gavegan inquired why the Union didn't hold meetings elsewhere than in the schools, and the attorney replied that since the statutes had opened the schools for public discussions, "Have they the right to censor what shall be said?"

"You contend this was a prevention of free speech?" asked the court.

"Absolute prohibition," replied Mr. Untermyer. "One man, the director of extension activities, does it all."

Justice Gavegan asked Assistant Corporation Counsel Mayer why the board does not permit the Union to use the schools if it submits a list of its speakers, as other organizations are required to do. Mr. Mayer replied that when the Union had applied to use the Stuyvesant High School auditorium for a free speech meeting the Board of Education had naturally inquired as to its views on free speech, and then had read the official interpretation of it in the society's pamphlet.

"The Union was inviting the Board of Education to commit a crime," declared Mr. Mayer. "The Board of Education made use of its discretionary power in denying the use of the school to the Union, and while it did not accord the Union a hearing on the refusal, it made a considerable inquiry."

CHRISTMAS SEALS SELLING.

Tuberculosis Association Passes Halfway Mark in $300,000 Drive.

According to a report issued yesterday by Harry L. Hopkins, director of the New York Tuberculosis and Health Association, the Christmas seal sale conducted by that organization has already passed the halfway mark of the $300,000 asked for its prevention work in 1927.

"There are 8,028 persons in New York City," stated the report, "who would have died of tuberculosis in 1926 had the death rate from this disease remained as high as it was when the first Christmas seal was sold in 1908. Then the annual death rate from tuberculosis was 227 persons in 100,000. Now it is 93. The deaths in 1926, according to the record to date with the Department of Health, indicate that the number will be close to 8,420, but had the higher rate continued the figure would have been 13,448."

$192,651 IS ADDED TO CATHEDRAL FUND

Community Organization Now Has $2,276,168 Toward $15,000,000 Goal.

WOMEN AT HEAD OF LIST

Amount of All Collections and Pledges Is Put at $11,000,000 at Meeting of Workers.

The community organization of the campaign to complete the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, holding its first report meeting since last May, at the Hotel Astor last night, announced new contributions of $192,651.52, making its total $2,276,168.22 toward the $15,000,000 fund. Added to the amount raised by the church organization, this makes the complete total of actual cash and legal pledges received about $8,600,000. Moral commitments by various groups bring the grand total to about $11,000,000.

Among the new contributions and totals to date reported by the various divisions last night were the following:

Division.	Contributions.	Total to Date.
Business Men	$40,000.00	$814,166.90
Women	59,673.00	$79,601.00
Bishop Greer Memorial	1,620.00	16,131.00
Children's Area	2,389.33	48,152.23
Sports and Games	$7,869.49	60,516.65
Art	16,653.00	50,300.36
Education	35,498.00	53,404.74
Historical and patriotic	6,240.80	$7,467.80
Medical	40.00	21,800.00
Legal	8,625.00	32,525.50
Press	5,129.50	47,553.00
Fairfax Memorial	4,854.50	18,429.17
Layman's Club	3,907.44	20,079.00

The Military and Naval Division did not report the amount of new contributions, but announced a total to date of $100,145.81. Other totals reported were: New Jersey Division, $32,036.73; Dean Grosvenor Memorial, $31,600; Labor, $6,861.

Minister Zedenek Fierlinger of Czechoslovakia presented to Bishop Manning a crystal chandelier for the cathedral on behalf of his Government. This makes the seventh foreign Government which has announced a gift to the cathedral. Bishop Edwin M. Cross of Spokane said the campaign in New York had been the inspiration of his campaign to raise funds for a cathedral in the missionary diocese of Eastern Washington.

Bishop Manning said that the recent mass meeting at the cathedral for the relief of suffering Jews in Eastern Europe had been an illustration of how the cathedral could serve as "a house of prayer for all people" without compromising the faith for which it stood.

Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, Haley Fiske, L. F. Loree, Dr. John H. Finley and E. F. Albee were among the speakers. About 800 cathedral workers attended.

MRS. CHRISTIE FOUND IN A YORKSHIRE SPA

loss of memory. "She does not know who she is," he said. "We are hoping to take her to London tomorrow to see specialists, and that after rest and quiet she will be fully restored."

When Mrs. Christie arrived at the Hydro on Dec. 4 she had with her only an attaché case. She registered in an assumed name and was understood to have come from the Cape of Good Hope. There was nothing unusual in her appearance or manner. She took her place with the other guests and it is stated read the newspapers daily—newspapers which must have contained columns about her mysterious disappearance and the intensive efforts of many thousands of people to find her.

It also is stated that she appeared to enjoy normal health. She sang, indulged in dances and played an occasional game of billiards with other women guests.

Last evening some one noticed a resemblance between her and a photograph of Mrs. Christie published in the newspapers, and informed the police, who passed the information on to Colonel Christie. And so the search, which reached its climax last Sunday when about 15,000 amateur sleuths scoured the country roundabout Newlands Corner, came to a rather tame end just as divers were to have explored every bit of water about the spot where Mrs. Christie abandoned her car and the Deputy Chief Constable of Surrey was about to carry out his plan for combing an area of forty square miles in sections.

Mrs. Christie's Secretary, Miss Fisher, was overjoyed when she learned the news that her employer had been found. She was asked if she would now say something about the contents of a letter which she received from Mrs. Christie, but she declined beyond mentioning that it contained such phrases as "My head is bursting. I cannot stay in this house." Miss Fisher added:

"Mrs. Christie has been in ill-health for a very considerable time. She felt very keenly the loss of her mother. It preyed upon her because they had never been separated until Mrs. Miller died."

Mrs. Hemsley, mother-in-law of Mrs. Christie, could scarcely believe the news that the writer had been discovered safe and sound.

"Her mind must have been a complete blank," she said. "She would not live in a hotel alone and, fully alive to all this fuss and anxiety she was causing, not send word even to her own relatives."

In a statement tonight Colonel Christie said:

"There is no question about her identity. She has suffered from the most complete loss of memory, and I do not think she knows who she is. She does not know me and she does not know where she is."

The manager of Harrogate Hydro said:

"If Mrs. Christie has not lost her memory she must be a woman of very great assurance."

Describing her conduct in the Hydro he said:

"Her life was exactly similar to that of other guests. She took meals in the public dining room, only occasionally having breakfast in bed. In the evening we sometimes had singing and dancing in the lounge.

In this Mrs. Christie took an enthusiastic part. She sang several songs and danced often, mixing freely with the young people staying in the Hydro. She talked willingly with her fellow-guests and during the day sometimes went for walks with them."

Inquiries made here seem to confirm without doubt that Mrs. Christie was born of American parents in England.

No trace has yet been discovered of Miss Una Crowe, missing since Saturday.

STEAMER AND 16 MEN LOST.

Norwegian Ship Goes Down in Faxa Bay, Iceland.

LONDON, Dec. 14 (AP).—Lloyds report the wreck of the Norwegian steamer Balholm in Faxa Bay, Iceland, with the loss of all hands.

Advices from Oslo, the Norwegian capital, are that the Balholm's crew numbered seventeen, including two Englishmen, the others being Norwegians. It is believed that a few Icelanders were passengers aboard.

The Priceless Voice of Martinelli

Why He Recommends Lucky Strike —Because "It's Toasted"

GIOVANNI MARTINELLI, famous tenor of the Metropolitan Opera of New York City, is a great singer and he prefers Lucky Strikes for two reasons—greater enjoyment and throat protection.

Lucky Strikes have become the favorites of men whose priceless voices thrill their audiences, as they have with the millions, because, first, they afford greater enjoyment, and, second, they are certain not to irritate even the most sensitive throat.

But in addition, a costly extra process—toasting for 45 minutes—develops the hidden flavors of the choicest tobaccos and at the same time removes all "bite" and harshness.

We who sing must be extra cautious about our throats. I get my greatest enjoyment from Lucky Strikes because I find they do not affect my voice.

Giovanni Martinelli

HOTEL COOKING CASE MAKES COURT SIZZLE

Disputes Among Counsel and Magistrate End as Hearing Is Adjourned to Friday.

"PLAY TO PRESS" CHARGED

Then White Corporation Attorney Gets Contempt Threat—Fourteen Tenants Admit Cooking.

Disputes between counsel and an acrimonious interchange between an attorney and Magistrate August Dreyer was the outstanding events yesterday at the hearing of owners of the Hotel White, Lexington Avenue and Thirty-seventh Street, on charges of violating the tenement house law by permitting cooking in the apartments.

The case was adjourned to Friday at 10 o'clock after the city, represented by Acting Corporation Counsel Arthur F. W. Hilly had rested. Fourteen residents of the apartment hotel testified and most of them admitted cooking in their apartments. Joseph Nemerov, counsel for the defendants, the Morris White Holding Corporation, conceded that steaks, chops and other food had been prepared there. He asked an adjournment of two weeks to obtain witnesses to testify that the hotel has been built according to plans approved by the city. Magistrate Dreyer refused to grant more than three days because of word that the Mayor's office had ordered the case expedited in the belief of the city authorities that apartment hotels presented a fire hazard.

The disagreements began when Mr. Nemerov sarcastically told one resident in the Hotel White, Charles F. Wright, who testified to preparing toast and coffee in his pantry, that the city would send him a check for the time he had wasted in testifying.

Magistrate Dreyer broke in with the charge that Mr. Nemerov was trying to "play to the press."

Nemerov retorted that Magistrate Dreyer himself was "saying too much for the press."

"Sit down or I'll make you withdraw from this case," shouted the Magistrate pounding his gavel.

The attorney remained standing and shouted back that the city was using unfair tactics and that witnesses were being browbeaten.

Nemerov, Hilly and Magistrate Dreyer, all shouting at once, continued to argue until the Magistrate finally silenced Nemerov with a threat to hold him in contempt of court and force him to withdraw from the case.

POLICEWOMAN FACES INTOXICATION CHARGE

The first charge of intoxication brought against a policewoman in the history of the New York Police Department has been lodged against Mrs. Belinda H. Milatz, attached to the Gates Avenue Precinct in Brooklyn, it was learned yesterday. Mrs. Milatz has been suspended from duty by Deputy Commissioner John A. Leach and must appear before him in the trial room at Police Headquarters at Bergen Street and Sixth Avenue.

Mrs. Milatz lives at 433 East Seventy-second Street, Manhattan, and is 42 years old. She was born in Ireland and has been a member of the Police Department since June 3, 1922. She was formerly with the State Narcotic Division as an inspector. Her husband is connected with the department of Plant and Structures. For the last eleven months Mrs. Milatz has served as matron at the Gates Avenue Station.

On Sunday night she appeared at the station house in a condition that did not please the lieutenant at the desk. He notified Captain William Duggan, in command of the precinct, who questioned Mrs. Milatz. Her answers were not satisfactory to the captain and he called a police surgeon, who pronounced Mrs. Milatz unfit for duty and under the influence of liquor. Mrs. Milatz's shield was taken from her and her suspension followed. Formal charges will be drawn up by Inspector Edward M. Shelvey of the Thirteenth District.

FAVORS POLICEMEN'S DANCE

McLaughlin Insists, However, Public Must Not Be "Held Up."

Although opposing the sale of tickets by policemen to the public for the benefit of police associations, Commissioner McLaughlin let it be known yesterday that he would not oppose the annual dance and entertainment of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, which will be held next Feb. 5 at Madison Square Garden. He also said he would attend.

The Commissioner was assured that the tickets, priced at $1, would be distributed among the friends of the 14,000 patrolmen giving the affair, and that there would be no holding up of storekeepers, automobilists and others.

In view of the Commissioner's recent veto upon the police sergeants' annual dinner, with tickets at $15, it was explained at Headquarters yesterday that he approved of the general gathering of the department at some inexpensive affair, but did not favor expensive festivities.

WOMEN INCREASING IN CRIME, HE SAYS

Bobbed Hair and Short Skirts Not Responsible, However, Justice Tells Jury.

THINKS WEALTH ONE CAUSE

Immigration, Dense Population and Coddling of Convicts as Other Factors.

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 14 (AP).—Bobbed hair and short skirts worn by women have nothing to do with crime waves, in the opinion of Supreme Court Justice Frank Katzenbach, who said modern crime was the result of the same conditions that led Marc Antony to spend millions of dollars on Cleopatra, "the greatest vamp of all time." Justice Katzenbach made this statement today in charging the Camden County Grand Jury.

"The crime waves which we daily read about," the Justice said, "are the fruit of seed sown long ago. The thousands who have come to our shores have not had time to assimilate conditions, and the density of population is in a large measure to blame for the prevalence of crime.

"There was a time when we visited our next-door neighbor. Now we don't know whether we are living next door to a bandit or a bootlegger. The crime wave is not confined to one sex; even a girl can hold up bank officials. Women are now violating the laws to a greater extent than ever in history.

"Wealth is a breeder of crime, and our Government is attacked by persons possessed of riches and education; preaching socialism and communism. This has been the case throughout all history. Even Marc Antony spent $900,000,000 in his patter, patter after the greatest vamp of all time—Cleopatra."

Chief Justice Gummere in charging the first half of the December Term of the Essex County Grand Jury in Newark yesterday morning, made a strong plea for speedy presentment of indictments against persons charged with crimes of violence. He commented on the large number of homicides, robberies and hold-up cases accompanied by assault in the county and suggested that all cases of this nature be taken up first by the Grand Jury.

Charles W. Littlefield, a coal dealer, of 11 Leslie Street, Newark, was appointed foreman of the Grand Jury by Justice Gummere.

HARBOR FOG LIFTS.

Many Vessels Enabled to Proceed After Long Delay.

The heavy gray fog which hung over New York Harbor all day Monday did not blow away until nearly noon yesterday. As a result, early ferries were still from five to fifteen minutes behind their schedules, while ship captains and harbor officials called it the worst tie-up in seven years. At daybreak twenty-five freighters and nearly as many liners were anchored between Ambrose Channel Lightship and the Statue of Liberty.

The first liner to move up the river was the Furness Bermuda liner Fort Victoria, carrying 225 passengers. The Santa Luisa of the Grace Line, with twenty-four passengers, was next. Close behind her came the giant Cunarder Berengaria with 1,300 passengers and a large percentage of the Christmas mail. Other liners to follow in rapid succession were the American Shipper, the Andania, the Aurania, the Megantic, the Ponce, the Deutschland, the Siboney and the San Juan.

About 5,000 passengers and stacks of Christmas mail were delayed. All night long the ships' bells tolled steadily, making the murky Upper Bay sound like Broadway on New Year's Eve.

VALENTINO'S EFFECTS SOLD.

They Bring Bigger Crowd and Higher Prices Than His Estates.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14 (AP).—Spirited bidding by hundreds of persons who thronged the Hall of Arts today seeking possession of personal effects of the late Rudolph Valentino, was in sharp contrast to the lack of enthusiasm displayed last week when the two estates were put up at auction.

A golden cloth cashmere shawl sold for $2,965, considerably more than its original cost; $2,200 worth of stock in the Hollywood Music Box Revue brought $500; an Italian drawer chest, $810, and an Italian piano, $2,100. Adolph Menjou bid in a cabinet for $390.

Pola Negri, who expressed admiration for a full length portrait of Valentino in costume, was not in the crowd, despite the fact that the portrait stood ready to be struck off to the highest bidder.

RUSH ROOFING ORDINANCE.

Aldermen Order Committee to Report Soon on Anti-Shingle Act.

Over the protest of several members of the Committee on Buildings of the Board of Aldermen, the board directed that committee yesterday to report within two weeks an ordinance which prohibits within the city limits the use of wooden shingles for roofing.

The ordinance has the support of the Fire Underwriters, the Commissioner and the Chief of the Fire Department, Aldermanic President Joseph V. McKee, Borough President Connolly of Queens and of many civic bodies and commercial organizations.

Fall and Doheny Scored as Corruptionists, Upheld as Patriots

Mr. Cotter, said Mr. Roberts was the "silent witness" of the case, who was "in every phase of it from start to finish and all the way through," the man who knows more about "what is in it, under it, around it and about it than any other human being, Mr. Doheny himself included."

"He is in every one of the preliminary conferences prior to the December contracts," said Mr. Roberts. "He calls to see Admiral Robison, it is admitted, between the 15th and 20th of November, and asks what chance their plans stand of going through. Robison phones him to come to Washington when they are ready to talk negotiations. He is present throughout everything in this case, and he does not come before you.

"What is the implication when a witness who has knowledge and is available is not called? It is only that his testimony could not support the contention of the party who could call him, that his testimony would not be satisfactory and would not convince you or would not advance their cause.

Derides Doheny's Testimony.

Mr. Roberts reverted to Mr. Doheny's part in the case. He asked the jury to compare the testimony Mr. Doheny gave before the Senate committee with what he said when called as a witness at this trial.

"Remember," said the prosecutor, "that in the Senate testimony Mr. Doheny wiped out everything prior to January or February, 1922, and said that was the first he ever heard of the Pearl Harbor affair; that Admiral Robison came to him late in Winter and talked to him about whether he could get a bid from his company.

"Remember that here it was important for him and then remember it was not important before the Senate. Then it was important to say, 'Oh, I did this just because somebody asked my company to make a bid. I knew nothing special about it. I knew nothing about this Pearl Harbor thing until just before they were sending out the invitations to bid'—putting himself on the same basis as everybody, as a business proposition.

"What does he come here and say? He comes here and says what he has to say because the evidence is here and he cannot avoid it. When he testified in the Senate hearing he did not think we had the letter of Nov. 2, but he comes here now and says that he knew all about it from October; Admiral Robison had put the patriotic cry to him in December. Absolutely contradictory, which one do you believe, or is it not your duty in a state of affairs like that to cross it all off and say that a man who takes those two opposite stands on a matter, a man that has his brilliancy, his intelligence, that you cannot give any credit to his statement? You should say, 'We will have to wipe it out and erase it from the slate.'

"What shall you say of his testimony? Has he colored it because of his tremendous interest in this present proceeding?"

Ridicules Note Security.

Mr. Roberts then turned to a bitter arraignment of the defense explanation of the $100,000 cash loan by Doheny to Fall, declaring that Mr. Doheny "gave the Senate Committee to understand as clearly as a man could, without blank perjury, that he drew his own check and cashed his own check for that loan."

"Now there was a reason for that," he went on. "The reason, of course, was that he wanted it to appear that it was his transaction, and that he had not concealed it under his son's name; but at the second hearing, when pressed, when driven for the truth, he comes out and says, 'Well, I said I cashed a check; it was my son's check, it was not mine.' When you say to me, 'Mr. Roberts, where did you get that money' and I say 'I cashed a check'—it being my money; what impression do you get?

"Now, that is the impression that he left with the Senate Committee at that time.

"He leaves them under that impression until the gravel begins to fall and then he comes with such disclosure that he feels he has got to make."

"What shall be said about the situation, about the conduct and about the part in this thing that the defendent Albert B. Fall played?" continued the Government attorney.

"Albert B. Fall knew that that $100,000 business was a dirty business. He knew it would not stand the light of day. He knew it would bring down condemnation of every right-thinking American citizen who heard of it or knew of it. When the Senate Committee learned of Secretary Fall's sudden wealth, of his going down and buying this ranch for $100,000, what happened? Fall knew that some explanation was required. Now, if this was a fair transaction, if this was a right transaction, if this was a transaction that no man need be ashamed of, what would happen?

"What would you or I do? 'Mr. Roberts, if such and such happened?' 'Certainly. What is to boot? Of course, it happened. Glad to tell you about it.'

"So of Fall? No. What did he do? You heard the testimony. He sent for Edward B. McLean, a man who was his friend. He gets McLean to come to him at Atlantic City and he says to McLean, 'There are a lot of politicians deviling my life out. They are trying to make trouble for me. You remember that once I discussed with you loaning me $100,000?' 'Sure,' says Mr. McLean. McLean did not loan it, Doheny loaned it. 'Won't you say you loan me $100,000?'

"McLean, foolishly, I think, to help a friend, said, 'Yes.' He said that it might be stated and that he would state that he loaned that $100,000 to Mr. Fall."

Next Mr. Roberts discussed the visit of Senator Lenroot to Mr. Fall regarding the source of the loan, when Mr. Fall said, "I will tell you in confidence, it was Edward B. McLean that loaned me that money."

"Why that lie to his friends; to men who were trying to help him; to men who would have helped him if he had been willing to bare the truth?" said Mr. Roberts.

The prosecutor scathingly denounced Mr. Fall for his explanations of the Harris ranch deal and quoted from Fall's letters to Lenroot and Walsh, in which he declared he had not borrowed the money from Doheny, Sinclair or any person connected with them or their corporations and that he had never received from "said parties one cent on account of any oil lease or upon any other account whatsoever."

Says Proof Is Conclusive.

"What reasonable doubt have you of any material and essential feature of this case?" asked Mr. Roberts in conclusion. "What reasonable doubt can you raise? Do you doubt that there was a transaction in which $100,000 was involved?

"Do you doubt Mr. Doheny's own word that he realized and knew that that $100,000 would tend to make Mr. Fall favorable with regard to Government contracts? How can you conjure a doubt about the thing which the defendant himself admits?

"Do you doubt that Mr. Doheny's proposition of Nov. 26, 1921, to do this work was a pure business proposition when it was made? He says so.

"Do you doubt that he expected to get royalty oil and leases under that proposition? Do you doubt his own statement that that was the thing that he wanted to make his company a great company in California?

"Do you doubt his statement that he expected to make $100,000,000 out of that contract? Do you doubt his own statement that that contract was made without competition? Do you doubt his own statement before the committee that that contract was the outgrowth of the preferential right of the contract of April 25, 1922?

"I am not asking you to take this case from anything but the written documents and records that these men made at the time, signed over their own hands and their own admissions in writing, and Mr. Doheny's admissions from that witness stand.

"Be not swayed, gentlemen, by the fact that the United States is the prosecutor here. It is entitled to no more than if it were the County of Podunk prosecuting a case.

"Those defendants are entitled to just as much at your hands and not one whit more than if they were the humblest and the poorest citizens of this District of Columbia.

"Be courageous, be four-square, and you will be satisfied with the result of this case and every American citizen will be bound to be satisfied with your verdict."

HOGAN OPENS FOR DEFENSE.

When Mr. Roberts concluded, Justice Hoehling directed a recess of fifteen minutes, and immediately the court reconvened Mr. Hogan opened for the defense.

"In the old Greek history there is a legendary story about Diogenes, who went about the world with a lantern seeking unsuccessfully to find an honest man," said Mr. Hogan. "Your minds must be impressed after what you have listened to the past two days with the tremendous difficulty that the old Greek would have in the United States in this day of grace. In the Government service and in a great industrial corporation he could find but one honest man, and that a Philadelphia lawyer who is employed to prosecute two men who have served their country—in one case for more than three score and ten years.

"I want to take your minds back, men, from the beautiful plea for calm and dispassionate justice with which the prosecuting attorney closed today, to the last hour or more of yesterday's long session, when you listened to as wholesale and as vicious a villification as ever polluted the atmosphere of a court of justice; and the men villified bore honored names in your country's service and unbesmirched reputations until that dark day of yesterday.

"And the man who did the villifying, who threw all restraint away, who forgot that he had started this case with calm, but partial statements, who forgot that he opened his address yesterday with a plea for even-handed justice, nothing more and nothing less, the man who threw, I repeat, all restraint away, and must have disgusted your sense of ordinary fair play and fairness, was a desperate man made desperate by the fact that for more than a week past he has seen his flimsy case collapse at his very feet; and he thought perhaps he could retrieve himself upon the fragments of the reputation which he willfully and deliberately sought to shatter.

Says Defendants Are Unprotected.

"The lawyer who assails your reputation, or yours, or yours, or mine or Denby's, or Robison's, or Bain's, or Ambrose's, or Mrs. Doheny's, or Cotter's, or the elder Doheny's, or Fall's, is in a well-protected position. While he assails he is surrounded by the protection of the court; and even after the attack is over, a much abused law of privilege protects him from a slander suit at the behest of the slandered.

"You cannot get at the man, who in a court room, under the protection of the professional privilege, destroys all of your hope of the future, young man, or [addressing Mr. Doheny Sr.] or all your pride in the past, old man. The law leaves you without a remedy; and I cannot even suggest the remedy of the early days of the pioneer West.

"Men, no case has ever been won which had to be sustained upon the wrecking and the breaking of the reputations and the good names of more than half a score of your fellow-citizens.

"And I would lose my faith in human nature, and have no abiding confidence in the institutions of our country if I thought it could succeed now. It is not the way the juries work."

Denounces Bribery Charge.

"'We were walking on the avenue, my husband, I, one evening,' Mrs. Doheny testified, 'and I mentioned to him a letter I had received about some implements needed at our ranch, and he said to me: "Mummie, speaking about ranches reminds me Mr. Fall is very anxious to buy a ranch in New Mexico, adjoining his. The obtainment of it seems to be an obsession, and I have offered to lend him the money with which to get that ranch. He may not buy it; he may get others to come in with him; some one else may buy it and thereby protect the water; he may raise the money from some other place; it is not certain yet, but I have offered that if he wants it from me I will lend it, and, if anything happens to me, Mummie, I wish you would see that that loan is made to Mr. Fall. The amount is $100,000."'"

"And they call that a bribe. I was sure that there could not be found in all this land of ours a man who upon any consideration would attack the word of a little woman, the loyal-hearted, clear-headed outspoken woman who testified for her husband on the stand. I say I had not thought possible until yesterday afternoon that anybody would stand before twelve red-blooded men in any community and challenge the truthfulness of her sworn word.

"A bribe is a corrupt, contemptible thing from which the briber expects to gain some undue and improper advantage to which he is not entitled.

"Do you think that a man who left his home at the age of 16 and followed the trails of the pioneer West, who dug in mother earth for the minerals hidden therein, who with pick and shovel sunk wells that he might bring out the gold and the liquid that today mean safety for worlds, would, even if he himself could, stoop so low as to bribe an official of his Government, the friend of his youth and his former days, would, even if he could, stoop so low as to bride a Cabinet officer of the United States of America in order that he might swindle and cheat the land that had given him plenty?

Appeals for Honest Judgment.

"If you even could think that the man that you saw for two days on the witness stand before he was pilloried here by a Philadelphia lawyer—if you could, would you believe for a moment that he would seek to have his wife made the instrumentality of the consummation? Just use your common sense. You are asked to use your judgment; you are asked to draw upon your experiences; you are called twelve successful business men.

"In the name of God, use your ideas of decency and honesty and give to these men who make the sort of appeals you have been listening to and give to them as quick as on your consciences and your oaths you can possibly the only answer that can be made to the question I have propounded to you.

"A bribe is something from which the briber expects to get that which he is not entitled to.

"Have you ever heard or thought or dreamed of an honorable man, constantly thinking of the possibility of his approaching end that may come at any moment because of advanced years, saying: 'If I die, when I am gone and no possible advantage can come to me, I ask you, partner of my life, you who have shared my sorrows and my joys, you to whom I will leave my worldly goods, I ask you to carry out the friendly loan to my old friend, to keep the pledge and promise which voluntarily I have offered'?

Young Doheny's War Service.

"For four years before that transaction (the $100,000 loan) took place this country was embroiled in one of the most titanic struggles that ever tore asunder the nations of the world. Happily, it is over. Happily, the wounds it left are being healed. The better understanding is coming about —with difficulty, yes, but it is coming just the same.

"In that struggle, just a few years before this transaction, that old man offered that young man's life upon the altar of patriotism. He went on the ships of war over the turbulent and submarine-infested oceans in his country's service—the only son, the only child. And you are asked to believe that when Edward L. Doheny, near the end of his life, corruptly intended to bribe Albert B. Fall, a Secretary in the Cabinet of Warren G. Harding, he deliberately and purposely used as an instrument therefor his son, the pride of his youth, the hope of his maturity, the solace of his old age.

"And yet, unless you believe that, you cannot believe that there was a bribe; you cannot believe that there was a criminal mind and a corrupt heart motivating this thing; you cannot believe in all the labored argument of our opponents.

"What did the boy do? He not only got a note, but so careful was he, so honest was every motive between his father and himself, that he handed the note back to the borrower of the money and called attention to what the young man thought was an oversight, that the interest rate was left blank.

"Put aside and forget, if you can, the wife—you cannot, but try it. Put aside and forget, if you can, the son. It is impossible, but make the attempt. Forget their testimony, the impression it made upon you, the truth that you knew it represented—put them all aside, I ask you, for awhile, and take the testimony and the actions of Edward L. Doheny himself.

Defends Doheny's Character.

"You looked upon him for two days. You can look upon him again. If you believe Doheny, the case ends. If you believe Roberts that Doheny is a buzzard, a swindler, a cheater, a liar, a perjurer, then believe him.

"You have got to make the choice. By the power of God the prosecutors cannot take it from you.

"I take the test. There sat the man. It is a long say since in another court those words were used while attacking a man. For the purposes of political power they crucified him. And it was not in any higher motive that they crucified the man who stood at the bar 1926 years ago.

"Do you believe Mr. Doheny is a crook? Is it possible for you to believe. Aha, but the answer comes, If he is not a crook and Fall is not corrupt and this transaction of Nov. 30, 1921, is not what Government lawyers say it is, then why was it characterized by those elements now denounced as suspicious?

"What are they? First, the sending of the loan in currency. Should Mr. Doheny have suspected Mr. Fall? Should he have thought there was something dishonest and dishonorable about the request made, not only by a friend, but by a man who has sat upon the bench of the courts of his State, had written the Constitution of his State, had three times come to the Senate of the United States from his State and had been selected by the able and lovable and by as fine hearted a President as we have ever had, or ever will have, to sit in the councils of his Cabinet?"

Mr. Hogan argued the point raised by the prosecution as to why Mr. Doheny did not send a check to Mr. Fall. He said that the note was just as much a record and just as permanent evidence of the loan as the check would have been.

Asserts Note Belies Bribe.

"And now I come to the argument made to you yesterday. Mr. Roberts said to you gentlemen that he would tell you why Doheny sent the money down in currency, and why Fall wanted it that way. Because, he said, they wanted to keep the transaction hidden, and the reason, he said, they wanted to keep the transaction hidden, was that if it was known it would ruin them.

"And before the echo of that statement had gone out of this court room he twisted around and made this argument to you: 'Gentlemen of the jury,' said he, 'Mr. Doheny demanded a demand note.'

"Let us come to why a demand note. First, telling you that Mr. Doheny having made a demand on Fall that it be a demand note, Mr. Roberts said that he would tell you why. Again I am using his language. He wanted a demand note so that he could hold it and snap it as a weapon over the head of Secretary Fall.

"Mind you how could he hold it? The only way he could hold it was if it was not a bribe. If it is a bribe, the note is no good, and Fall could have said to Doheny, 'Go to hell.' Mr. Roberts said he wants to snap over the head of Fall. Why did he not do it? I want you to get this.

"Here stands Mr. Roberts and says they adopted the methods they followed in order to hide this thing because they knew if it ever came out it would ruin them both. Here stands the same Mr. Roberts and says Doheny wanted something that he could hold over him and ruin Fall. Although it would ruin them both, nevertheless Mr. Doheny wanted to murder Fall officially, to murder his honor, he would have to commit suicide.

"Have you ever heard anything more preposterous in your life that the briber was going to use the only information he could use and the briber knows it, a few days after adopting a method to keep the thing quiet, which he said, if it became known it would be ruin to them both? Does it appeal to the most ordinary intelligence that you have to use in your business affairs?

Says Mrs. Doheny Told the Truth.

Mr. Hogan said he could forget the "Denby attack," the "Ambrose sneer," and the "Robison villification," and the "assailing of Bain," but not what Mr. Roberts said about Mrs. Doheny's testimony concerning the tern note. He continued:

"Sitting in that chair, having touched that sacred Book, Mrs. Doheny told you specifically and unequivocally and unhesitatingly that on the twentieth day of December, in the year 1921, in the apartment of herself and her husband, in the Palace Hotel, in New York, there occurred what she told you there occurred. Standing in this court room yesterday a man said she lied because he said there wasn't any testimony that you could rely upon as to when it was torn. Two witnesses have told you why that was done: There is no difference in substance, in their testimony. One of them is the defendant, the other is his wife. Do you find that the story of Mrs. Doheny and Edward L. Doheny as to the only purpose of tearing that note is true, or is it also perjury? There can not be any doubt about that, gentlemen. That is not something there is any vagueness of recollection about. That is something you have the sworn, positive testimony about. If it is true, it is deliberately true; if it is false, it is deliberately false; and if it is perjury, Mr. Doheny and his wife are not only here as bribers, but as perjurers.

"Do you believe it? Is there a man among the twelve of you that can so far forget your sisters and your mother and your wives as to, in your every day sense, follow such a charge and such an argument as that? That is the end of the road of the suspicious circumstances."

Lauds Denby as War Veteran.

Mr. Hogan expressed resentment at the remarks made by Mr. Roberts yesterday about Secretary Denby. Declaring that he risked his life as a private with "the Devil Dogs of America" at Verdun and that he had a "magnificent record," Mr. Hogan charged that the Government counsel treated him "like a pickpocket in the police court."

Once Mr. Hogan, in attacking some of the arguments advanced by Mr. Roberts, referred to the special prosecutors as having been "born of committee hysteria." Then, reviewing some of the incidents, he continued:

"Did Fall try to get in the position to do anything? What is the truth?

"That Denby went to Fall, went to him personally, but did not ask him that he personally do anything, but asked him for the aid of his department. And did Fall grab at it? You know now that Fall demurred on the ground that his department was already overburdened with its own functions, and that then Denby went to the lamented Harding.

"Oh, gentlemen of the jury, in parenthesis, let me tell you with all earnestness that I am capable of how I wish I could have the opportunity, how I wish I had the strength, to break in twain the traducers of Harding's name!

"While I live I will defend him, despite all the character assassins that attempt to invade the sanctity of his tomb and tear the shroud from his dead body.

"Denby went to Harding and he asked Fall to meet him there. He presented the matter to Harding and Harding directed that the Interior Department assist, and directed that an order be made and Denby, knowing that under the form of our Government all such proclamations or executive orders of the President are customarily drawn in the Interior Department again requests the Interior Department through Fall to do it, and that is the way the Interior Department had any functions to perform. Not the individual."

Attacks Wilbur's Order.

Mr. Hogan attacked Secretary Wilbur for his order to Admiral Robison cautioning him against testifying about confidential data he learned while in the Navy Department.

This action, said Mr. Hogan, was not only an effort to "gag" the witness, "but to keep the truth from coming out, though it sends two old men to the penitentiary." He criticized the failure of Secretary Wilbur to bring to the court the confidential Gleaves reports, and with that turned his fire upon the prosecution for a moment while he assailed the character of evidence they had produced and paraphrased Mr. Roberts's words of yesterday.

"The artist who addressed you yesterday," said Mr. Hogan, "knows what bunk is. There was much of it dealt in." Mr. Hogan argued that the contract for the Pan-American Company could not have been decided beforehand. "If this was a cooked-up thing," he asked, "why did Bain take it up with the White Engineering Company?"

Mr. Hogan denied the theory advanced yesterday by Mr. Roberts that a letter by Mr. Fall urging among other things that there be no publicity on what was going on was an "alibi."

"They cannot explain it," said the defense attorney. "They have got to call it an alibi, else it ends their case." He contended that the letter was a natural precaution to have been taken, and Mr. Fall, he said, did not want his assistants in the Interior Department to go ahead unless the navy was going to approve the storage. Mr. Fall was described "ever alert," with his hand always "on the throttle."

Stresses Harding's Approval.

The attorney then read the telegrams exchanged about the period when the awards were made between Mr. Fall and Judge Finney, First Assistant Secretary of the Interior Department, to show that Judge Finney was in charge of awarding the contract. He said further that Judge Finney was one of the best equipped of men to pass upon the legal points involved in the transaction, while Secretary Denby was careful to obtain an opinion from Judge Advocate General Latimer. With this he referred to the remarks yesterday by Mr. Roberts about witnesses who might have been called by the defense, but were kept silent, one of whom being Mr. Cotter.

"Talk about silent witnesses!" exclaimed Mr. Hogan, and added:

"I summon from his sacred tomb in Marion, Ohio, Warren G. Harding. I stand his splendid figure before twelve of his fellow-men, and from his resting place I quote his words."

With this he read from a letter of the late President Harding to the Senate transmitting data on the oil lands in 1922, in which Mr. Harding stated that "the entire policy was discussed with me," and that every act had received his "very full and complete approval."

"He stands here today," said Mr. Hogan, "as the best silent witness in this case."

Sinclair Moves to Quash Oil Indictment Against Him and Fall in Teapot Dome Case

Special to The New York Times.

effort to escape trial on the criminal charges pending against him and Albert B. Fall, Harry F. Sinclair made an eleventh hour attack upon the indictment today in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia.

Mr. Sinclair and Mr. Fall are due to be arraigned on this indictment before Justice Bailey on Friday, but the motion to quash will be argued first.

The motion was presented by George P. Hoover, Martin W. Littleton, Colonel J. W. Zevely and G. T. Stanford, counsel for Mr. Sinclair. It is based principally upon the contentions that the act of Congress authorizing the appointment of special counsel to prosecute the oil lease cases, the act known as the Walsh bill which prohibits appeals from interlocutory orders of the lower court, and the act authorizing the issuance of process for the testimony of witnesses in foreign countries are all invalid.

Moreover, counsel contended the oil lease cases have been singled out for special prosecution in a manner foreign to the Constitution.

All the acts of Congress mentioned, counsel said, have unduly magnified the alleged offenses charged in the indictment and have unduly burdened the defendant in his defense.

OIL MEN SEE MEXICO INFRINGING ON RIGHTS

They Send Morones Wire, Saying Law Does Not Provide for Recognition of Titles.

The Association of Producers of Petroleum in Mexico has sent a telegram to Luis Morones, Mexican Secretary of Industry, Commerce and Labor, telling him that the Mexican Government has "not demonstrated to such of the companies as are foreign corporations how any valid confirmatory concession, whatever its form, can be issued to them" under the terms of the new Petroleum law, which goes into effect next month.

Guy Stevens, director of the association, said in the telegram that, in the opinion of the companies, "nothing has occurred since last March to alter the conviction then expressed to you by the committee of executives that the law and regulations do not make provision for the adequate preservation and the valid recognition of their preconstitutional rights."

The message follows, in part:

"Eight months have elapsed since the issuance of the regulations governing the petroleum law. During that time formal applications have been made by some of the oil companies for confirmation of certain of their rights evidenced by leases of fixed duration acquired before May 1, 1917.

"Despite the pendency of some of these applications for many months the industry is not yet officially informed as to the manner in which the Government proposes to recognize and confirm such rights.

"The companies respectfully submit that they are justly entitled to an ample opportunity to consider the final form and the definitive terms of any proposed confirmatory concessions which the Government expects them to accept as constituting a valid recognition and affirmation of their existing definite and legal leasehold rights.

"As to the very extensive rights acquired in fee ownership before May 1, 1917, the companies are not aware of any application for a confirmatory concession.

"In relation to both of the above-mentioned classes of pre-constitutional rights, we beg to point out that the Mexican Government has not demonstrated to such of the companies as are foreign corporations how any valid confirmatory concession, whatever its form, can be issued to them under the law."

The companies whose names are attached to the message include the following: Compania Mexicana Holandsa (La Corona), S. A.; Compania Mexicana de Petroleo (El Aguila), S. A.; Compania Mexica Productora y Refinadora de Petroleo (La Atlantica), S. A.; Compania Petrolera del Agwi; Compania Petrolera Los Chijoles; Corter-Aguada Petroleum Corporation; Huasteca Petroleum Company; Humble Oil and Refining Company; Island Oil and Transport Corporation; Mexican Gulf Oil Company; Mexican Petroleum Company; Mexican Sinclair Petroleum Company; New England Fuel Oil Company; Pena Mex Fuel Company; Standard Oil Company of California; and Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

M'LAUGHLIN DENIES TAXI EDITOR'S CHARGE

Says No Driver Is Tried for Alledged Failure to Pay Debt Unless Dishonesty Is Involved.

Police Commissioner McLaughlin denied yesterday the charge made by H. A. Brown, Editor of The Taxi Weekly, against Deputy Commissioner John Daly, that through his abuse of power the Police Department was being made a collection agency for companies extending credit to taxicab drivers.

He took exception to Mr. Brown's charge that the trials of taxi drivers conducted by Commissioner Daly as head of the Bureau for Licensing Public Hacks and Public Hack Drivers were unfair, saying they were open to the public, and that any person who believed he had not had a fair trial was privileged to appeal to the head of the department.

"Commissioner Daly has reported," he said, "that the only time a summons is issued to a hack driver based on the charge of failure to pay a debt is where the element of dishonesty is involved, and not solely the inability of the driver to pay. As an illustration of this type of case is one where the driver buys his car on the instalment plan, makes an initial payment, then strips the car of tires and other essential parts, and hides it from its rightful owner. These cases are investigated, as the department considers it one of its most important duties to see that no dishonest person is licensed as a driver."

Asked whether any taxi drivers had appealed to him when penalized by Deputy Commissioner Daly, Commissioner McLaughlin said there might have been a few. Asked if there would be an inquiry, as the Editor of The Taxi Weekly had requested, he said he had nothing to add to his former denial.

Deputy Commissioner Daly, adding to his denial, declared there were only seventy-five trials a week, whereas there were many more complaints investigated. "When an army of 45,000 taxi drivers is on the streets," he said, "there has to be discipline. But as a general practice, we allow each driver three minor complaints registered against him before we try him at all. Only the more serious charges, or an undue repetition of small ones, brings a driver up for possible penalty."

Mrs. Bruce Entertains.

Mrs. Leslie Combs Bruce gave a luncheon yesterday at the Plaza. Her guests included, among others, Mrs. Robinson Beard, Mrs. Frank Polk, Mrs. Charles Spalding, Miss Malcom Edgerton and Mrs. Mason Brayton.

A word to the WIVES—

For every pipe-smoker on your list

AT THIS season, when you are being urged on every hand to "Give this" and "Give that," be assured of this truth: Nothing you could give a pipe-smoker could make more of a hit than a generous supply of Prince Albert . . . mild, mellow, fragrant Prince Albert.

Here, for instance, is the crystal-glass humidor, all dolled up in holiday clothes. It contains a full pound of P. A.—the grandest tobacco that ever lined the bowl of a pipe. There's a little sponge in the top of the humidor to keep the tobacco "just right."

Every pipe-smoker on your list would be tickled to death to find this good-looking package among his gifts on Christmas morning. It will brighten the Big Day for him and furnish deep-down pipe-joy for the days that follow. The Prince Albert humidor, by all means!

This prime favorite of experienced smokers also comes in pound and half-pound tins. At the nearest shop, you will find Prince Albert in sizes to suit every purse and purpose. If he smokes a pipe, your Christmas problem is settled . . . and settled satisfactorily.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

By SEABURY LAWRENCE.

Playing at the top of their game and their teamwork going like a well-oiled machine, the Ottawa Senators dropped in at Madison Square Garden for their first game of the season and defeated the New York Americans by a 2-0 score before a crowd of 11,000 persons.

Although beaten, the Americans were far from disgraced. They played brilliantly at time but were practically powerless to crash through a superb Ottawa defense, and on the other hand could not prevent the hard-riding Senator offensives from crowding in on the New York net. Although skating cleverly and fighting gamely the local quintet was out-powered.

By winning last night's game the Senators kept their winning streak intact and have now captured nine games and have not been defeated.

Both last night's goals were made by the swift Cy Denneny early in the opening period of the game. Cy was reported recently to have been in an automobile accident, but this did not seem to affect his marksmanship.

He scored twice within eleven seconds and with this advantage the league-leading Senators were out in front and sitting pretty. With their impregnable defense in perfect working order the Americans were at a terrific discount.

The game was very cleanly played, although the tempo was very swift at times. There were only four penalties handed out during the three periods.

Forbes, the New York goal-tender, was subjected to a heavy attack at times. The official count gave Jakie credit with stopping thirty-nine shots during the game and thirty-four for Connell.

Hooley Smith and Nighbor staged a good run to start the game, but the latter's sharp shot was wide. Langlois made a long, clever run, with Burch, but missed from a sharp angle. The game moved at a swift tempo and attacks by both sides came with lightning rapidity.

Senators First to Score.

The Senators opened a fierce offensive, Nighbor, Denneny and Hooley Smith driving down in perfect team play. They slipped swiftly through the New York defense and Denneny taking a nice pass from Smith, scored the first counter of the game on an angle shot that Forbes could not block. The goal was made in 5:20.

Ottawa kept right on going like wildfire and on another swift drive by Smith and Denneny the latter made it a doubleheader in just eleven seconds more of play, making the visitors two up on the home boys.

New York rallied strongly and Burch went through to jam the disk in while the crowd roared, but the play was decided offside and the goal not allowed. Ottawa continued to attack savagely, led by the rugged King Clancy, but Jakie Forbes tended strictly to business and the period ended with the count, Senators 2, Americans 0.

Bowcher, a new wingman, was on for New York in place of McKinnon as the second period opened. The Senators were still driving through with great power and Forbes, in the New York net, was forced to make acrobatic stops of terrific shots from Clancy, Adams and Nighbor.

New York Raids Break Up.

On the other hand, brilliantly begun forays by Burch, Red Green and Bowcher for New York broke up badly time and again on the great defense put up by Boucher and Clancy. Clever poke-checking by Smith and Denneny on the Ottawa forward line often broke up the New York attacks almost before they got started.

The Americans finally got a great offensive going and a prolonged attack by Burch, Red Green and Himes stirred the crowd to a great uproar as they drove shot after shot at the active Connell in the Ottawa net. Time and time again Green took it in cleverly but an almost uncanny defense by Connell, Boucher and Clancy kept the net clear.

With one minute to go, Reise made a long clever run but Connell made a baseball stop of his drive and the second period ended without scoring, leaving the tally Senators 2, Americans 0.

Soon after the third period opened Red Green took the disk down on a dazzling dash and from a rebound in front of the Ottawa net Himes shot it in for New York. The whistle had blown for an offside, however, and the tally was not allowed, much to the crowd's disgust.

Clever poke-checking by the Ottawa forwards spoiled several New York sorties, but Red Green and Burch finally whirled almost to the net, missing the goal by a whisker. New York staged a whirlwind offensive, Red Green, Roach and Himes getting the crowd up with their combined drives.

Washington Was Star Athlete; One Record Stood for Century

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—George Washington's athletic prowess was cited here today by the committee which is planning the celebration in 1932 of the bi-centennial of his birth. The first President, it was shown by the records, was a star performer in track and field sports, and, according to testimony of a direct descendant of his brother, W. Lanier Washington, he held a record for the broad jump that remained unequaled for a century. It was said to be particularly fitting that the Olympic Games of 1932, which have been awarded to Los Angeles, should be held in America.

NICOL NEW HEAD OF MET. GOLF BODY

McMillan Made Vice President and Shafer Secretary at Association Meeting.

NEW JERSEY DECLINES OPEN

Second Time in Succession That Event Goes Begging—Three Clubs Bid for Amateur Play.

By WILLIAM D. RICHARDSON.

Fully five months ahead of time, the new golf year was ushered in last night when the delegates of clubs in the metropolitan district met at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and made plans for the 1927 season of the Metropolitan Golf Association. The main business transacted was the election of officials, hearing of reports and the offering of courses for the various championships that are annually held under the auspices of the district association.

George A. Nicol Jr. of the Wykagyl Country Club is the new President of the M. G. A., and his assisting staff of officers will be Charles R. McMillan, Essex County Country Club, Vice President; Walter E. Shafer, Westchester Hills Golf Club, Secretary; Enos H. Booth, Sleepy Hollow Country Club, Treasurer. Serving with the four officers on the new Executive Committee will be Jay R. Monroe, Canoe Brook Country Club; Harry P. Kidd, Wheatley Hills Golf Club; John A. Ladds, Cherry Valley Club; John E. McAuliffe, St. Albans Golf Club, and E. Erle Moody, Somerset Hills Country Club.

St. Albans Submits Bid.

The following clubs offered their courses for next year's tournaments: Amateur championship, St. Albans Golf Club, Garden City Golf Club and Nassau Country Club; open championship, no offers; junior championship, Apawamis Club, Sleepy Hollow Country Club and Fenimore Country Club; caddie and caddie masters' championship, St. Albans, Wheatley Hills, Lakeville and Salisbury.

The most important undertaking of the association, he said, was the formation of the Service Bureau, which was started a year and one-half ago with twenty-two clubs and which now has a membership of fifty-one. He urged the clubs that are not members now to join, pointing out the advantages to be gained and declaring that the clubs now using it are more than satisfied with results.

Treasurer Booth reported that the association now has a balance of $6,740.36 in the bank, in addition to a $2,000 loan made to the Service Bureau, which finished the year with a slight deficit. The report of Secretary Nicol showed that five new clubs had joined the association during the past year, they being the Briarcliff Lodge Sports Club, Brookville Country Club, Elmsford Country Club, old Flatbush Golf Club and Timber Point Club.

Governors Island Voted In.

The Governors Island Golf Club, made up of army officers, was voted into the association as an honorary member.

When it came time to offer courses for the 1927 championships everything went along smoothly until the open championship was reached. For the amateur event, scheduled under the rotation plan in use to go to one of the Long Island clubs, three of the leading courses were offered.

The first was St. Albans, offered by Frederick W. Kiendl, President of the Long Island Association. Next came the Garden City Golf Club, which was put forward by Eben Knowlton, who stated that since the inception of the association the famous old course had never failed to extend an invitation for the event. Gardiner W. White, former Metropolitan amateur champion, offered the Nassau Country Club, which has been the scene of many major events.

Then came the hitch in the proceedings. Bids were asked for the open championship, which is scheduled to go to one of the New Jersey clubs. For the second successive year not a single invitation was received for the event, which has come to be a waif on the association's doorstep.

In spite of considerable cajoling, no club would come forward with an offer until it was made clear that there would be nothing binding until the matter had been submitted to the boards of governors for approval, following which Apawamis, Wee Burn and Englewood offered their courses.

FRANKLIN BEATS PULTZ.

Gets Decision in Eight-Round Bout at 22d Engineers Armory.

Benny Franklin was the victor over Oscar Pultz in the main eight-round bout at the Twenty-second Engineers Armory last night before a crowd of 2,000. Franklin, weighing 157½ pounds, jabbed his opponent at will and in the seventh round knocked him through the ropes. Pultz weighed 156.

In the semi-final Leonard Neblett, weighing 184 pounds, knocked out Billy Dearing, 177, in one minute and thirty-four seconds of the first round. Neblett knocked Dearing out of the ring with a crushing left hook to the body and Dearing was unable to return within the ten seconds.

Nick Esposito received the decision over Irish Mickey Whelan in the second eight-rounder. The boys put up a slashing battle, and Esposito's victory was well earned. Tommy Donnelly won on a foul from Billy Tosk in the first eight-round battle, after two minutes and forty seconds of the sixth round. In the opening bout of six rounds Ray Durso and Joe Wallach, welterweights, fought to a draw.

MET. A. A. U. STARTS AN OLYMPIC DRIVE

Eight Resolutions Adopted Promise Support for the Games in 1928.

FUND QUICKLY PLEDGED

The Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U. launched its drive to aid America's participation in the 1928 Olympic games by mapping out an energetic and elaborate program at a meeting at the Trinity Club in Brooklyn last night. Eight resolutions were submitted and adopted, all pledging support in the work of marshaling America's athletic forces for the games in Holland, and, acting upon the lead of Joseph A. Reilly of the Brooklyn College A. A., an initial fund of $2,200 was pledged for the American Olympic Committee.

The first resolution adopted by the Association pledged the organization to appropriate $1,000 as a contribution to the American Olympic Fund. The second pledged the Metropolitan Association to conduct at least one meet or tournament of every sport under the jurisdiction of the A. A. U., the entire proceeds of which are to be turned over to the Olympic Fund. The third calls for a contribution of 10 per cent. of the net profits of every event conducted by the Metropolitan Association.

The fourth resolution calls for a charge of $10 for every sanction issued to a member and $10 extra for non-members for boxing tournaments and for such other events as the Registration Committee may see fit to name. The fifth asks that every organization holding membership in the Metropolitan Association be urged to donate to the Olympic Fund a small percentage of the net profits of any important events it may hold.

Seek Special Fund.

The sixth urges all organizations to make a reasonable contribution to the fund through the club itself, the appropriation to be made either by conducting a certain event solely for the benefit of the fund or by individual subscription.

The seventh provides for the establishment of a special fund to be known as the Metropolitan Association A. A. U. 1928 Olympic Fund, to be opened on Jan. 1, 1927, and that it be controled by three or more trustees, including the Secretary-Treasurer, to be appointed by the President of the Metropolitan A. A. U.

The eighth resolution empowers the President to appoint a special committee to be known as the Metropolitan Association A. A. U. 1928 Olympic Committee, which will work in conjunction with the American Olympic Association and the American Olympic Committee to devise ways and means to benefit the process of participation of the United States in the Amsterdam Olympics.

In addition to the $1,000 pledged by the Metropolitan Association, an additional $500 was pledged by the Millrose A. A., another $500 by the Brooklyn College A. A. and at least $200 by the Port Chester Chamber of Commerce of Port Chester, N. Y.

Penalties Clarified.

That the proposal to penalize athletes for false starts in hurdle races was rejected at the Amateur Athletic Union's national convention last month in Baltimore, was pointed out to the delegates who had lost sight of this bit of legislation under the weight and wealth of other more important developments of the convention. President Patrick J. Walsh reminded the delegates that in hurdle races of the future, instead of setting the offender back a yard for a false start, the first offense will be overlooked, but on the second disqualification will follow.

President Walsh's report also disclosed that penalties in the dashes are to be imposed—1 foot for false starts in events up to 50 yards, 2 feet up to 75 yards and 1 yard for events at 100 yards or over.

President Walsh's report was unanimously adopted, as were the reports submitted by Herman Obertubbesing on long-distance running, Joseph A. Reilly on boxing, track and field, swimming and basketball; Roy A. Moore, gymnastics; Martin A. Klein, women's athletics; Stephen A. Byrne, handball and registration, and Charles A. Elbert, wrestling.

The following four clubs were admitted to membership, on the recommendation of the Club Membership Committee: First Avenue Boys, Inc.; Seton Hall A. A., Montclair Y. M. C. A. and the Volunteer Life Saving Corps, Harrison, N. J.

BRUINS AND MAROONS END LOSING STREAKS

Boston Six Defeats Cougars by 7-2 and Montrealers Blank St. Pats by 3-0.

BOSTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—The Boston Bruins broke their losing streak here tonight by defeating the Detroit Cougars 7 to 2 in a fast National Hockey League contest.

Poor shooting spelled defeat for the Cougars while the Bruins were caging the disk from all angles. Boston scored twice in each of the first two periods and three times in the final. Sheppard prevented a whitewash for the visitors by slapping home two goals within 18 seconds in the last two minutes of play.

Maroons Break Streak.

MONTREAL, Dec. 14 (AP).—The Montreal Maroons broke a string of seven defeats tonight by shutting out the St. Patricks of Toronto, 3 to 0, in a National League hockey game tonight. The win placed the Maroons in a second place tie with the New York Americans in the Canadian section.

After St. Patricks held the Maroons scoreless in the first period, Seibert and Broadbent punched in scores in the second frame while Stewart tallied in the third.

Finch Stops Stamaty.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Dec. 14 (AP).—Two well-directed uppercuts by Battling Finch of Savannah, Ga., finished Pete Stamaty of Boston in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight. They are light-heavyweights.

Lord Burghley's Stay in U. S. to Be Brief Because of New Three-Week Olympic Rule

CAMBRIDGE, England, Dec. 14 (AP).—Because of a recent ruling of the Olympic Games Association that no contestant may spend more than three weeks of each year outside his own country, Lord Burghley, internationally famous hurdler, who contemplates entering the Pennsylvania relay races in May, will be forced to make his visit to the United States as brief as possible.

The English runner and four Cambridge companions will probably embark on the Leviathan, sailing April 28, taking the Mauretania from New York after about ten days in America for the home voyage.

Discussing his contemplated trip, Lord Burghley said: "I look forward very enthusiastically to my third visit to our great sister nation, the United States, and to meeting the American runners on the Pennsylvania track. As I plan to spend a few days taking part in athletic events in Germany during the Summer months, it will be impossible for me to remain on the other side of the Atlantic as long as I should like—because of the new Olympic rule."

"An Englishman running in the States," he added, "is invariably stimulated by the lightness of the atmosphere. The change from the fens of Cambridge to the drier North American climate is as satisfactory to us as the opposite change seems to be unsatisfactory to the American runners, though, of course, an excessively hot American day always puts an Englishman under the weather."

Other members of the team include G. C. Weightman-Smith of Hilton and Selwyn College, T. C. Livingstone-Learmouth of Winchester School and Pembroke College, H. P. Bowler of Malvern and Pembroke College, and J. F. Richardson of Winchester and Trinity Hall.

BOARD TO SUPPORT FILM BAN REPEAL

Bill to Permit Transportation of Boxing Movies Will Be Introduced by Freeman.

AMATEUR HEARING SET

Commission to Investigate Charges of Commercialization—National Guard Protests Ruling.

By JAMES P. DAWSON.

Support of a bill to remove the prohibition on the transportation of fight films; the board's ban on licensed boxers engaging in bouts in armories, and a decision to investigate charges of commercialization and lack of desirable supervision in amateur boxing in this State, were developments of yesterday morning's meeting of the State Athletic Commission which made the session one of the most important since the Tunney-Dempsey controversy.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Chairman James A. Farley announced that action on a communication from Thomas G. Donahue, Connecticut's one-man Boxing Commission, resulted in a unanimous decision to support a bill which is to be introduced in Congress by Congressman Richard P. Freeman of Connecticut, advocating the repeal of the interstate fight film ban, adopted by Congress following the Jeffries-Johnson heavyweight championship bout of 1910. In a letter to the local board, Commissioner Donahue requested the Empire State's support for the measure.

Secretary Bert Stand was instructed to communicate to Congressman James S. Parker, Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee, the local board's approval and indorsement of Congressman Freeman's measure.

Board Bars Two Boxers.

The revival of the armory boxing situation was precipitated by the board's action in barring Henry Shaw and Harry Brooks, National Guard boxers, from participation in bouts held in clubs licensed by the commission, in accordance with the commission's resolution adopted last October. The fact that he engaged in an armory bout on Nov. 19 resulted in Shaw being denied the privileges of engaging in a bout at the New Broadway Arena. In the case of Brooks, whose license had expired, he was denied a renewal on the ground that he had engaged in an armory bout in Newburgh last November.

Protesting against the application of the commission rule were Captain H. J. Lucas of the 102d Medical Regiment Armory, Colonel Edward McLeer, Chief of Staff of the Twenty-seventh Division, and Captain L. V. Meehan of the Infantry Reserve, Twenty-seventh Division, constituting a committee from the National Guard boxing interests.

Amateur Complaints Received.

Complaints received by the commission relative to alleged commercialization of amateur boxing in the local district and in up-State centres resulted in the commission's arranging a meeting for next Friday at which President Murray Hulbert of the Amateur Athletic Union, having direct control over amateur boxing, will discuss the situation with the members of the board.

Persson returned to this city yesterday with a slightly bruised face as his only mark of the McCarthy battle and, through Trainer Jimmy DeForrest, making light of the Hartford setback, on the grounds that he did not extend himself out of a desire to avoid a possible recurrence of the injury to his right thumb. Persson will resume training today for his scheduled match with Jim Maloney in Madison Square Garden on Dec. 22.

GOLDBERG TO BOX TONIGHT.

Will Meet Marino at New Manhattan S. C.—Other Bouts.

A six-round bout between Henny Goldberg and Joe Marino, rival welterweights, will be the stellar attraction tonight at the New Manhattan S. C. In other six-round bouts the principals will be Joe Ferrentino vs. Phil Tobias, Eddie Goldberg vs. Pete Nebo, Sammy Ferrenti vs. Charlie Caserta.

A program of ten amateur bouts is scheduled for decision tonight at the Starlight A. C. in the Bronx, the proceeds from which will be donated to the Christmas Fund. Some of the best amateur boxers of the district are entered.

The Brooklyn Lodge B. P. O. E. will conduct its regular amateur boxing show in the organization's clubhouse, 150 South Oxford Street, Brooklyn, tonight. Ten bouts are carded for decision.

The action of the New Jersey State Boxing Commission in disqualifying Alf Mancini from his scheduled bout with Willie Harmon because a violation of the commission's five-day competitive rule was involved, caused the National Sportsmen's Club of Newark yesterday to cancel the show the organization had scheduled for tonight in the Newark Armory.

Cooper Wins Bout at Albany.

FRENCH BOXER DIES; HIS OPPONENT HELD

Pegulihan's Death After Hartford Bout Laid to Cerebral Hemorrhage From Blow.

SUCCUMBS IN A HOSPITAL

Manslaughter Charge Is Placed Against Al Friedman, Who Was His Rival in Ring.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 14.—Charles Pegulihan of Pau, France, lightweight, who collapsed in a bout at the State Armory last night, died today. An autopsy at St. Francis's Hospital this afternoon disclosed the cause of death as a cerebral hemorrhage, resulting from a blow on the side of the head, according to Medical Examiner Costello.

Al Friedman, his opponent, who was arrested last night on a technical charge of breach of peace, is now held in $1,000 bail for a hearing in the Hartford police court, Dec. 22, on a charge of manslaughter.

When Pegulihan, an eleventh hour substitute for George Lamson, failed to regain consciousness under the ministrations of several physicians at the ring, he was taken to a hospital. Meanwhile the crowd which included Acting Governor J. E. Brainard and State Boxing Commissioner Thomas Donaghue, unaware of the seriousness of Pegulihan's condition, settled back to see Little Pat McCarthy of Boston get a twelve-round decision over Harry Persson, the heavyweight champion of Sweden.

Pegulihan died at 3:30 this morning. His trainer, Al Cipriano, and his manager, Robert Eudeline, declared the boxer was in good physical condition when he entred the ring, and this was corroborated by Dr. John McLean, official physician, who examined the men in their dressing rooms.

Pegulihan had clearly outpointed Friedman in seven rounds. In the eighth Friedman landed a right that had Pegulihan on the ropes. His hands dangled by his side and Friedman plied punishment to the head and face.

The French boxer slipped to the mat. At Referee Bill Conway's count of five Timekeeper Silk O'Loughlin rang the bell. Pegulihan got mechanically to his feet and as his seconds ran to him he collapsed.

Pegulihan's body will be sent to France. His father, Louis Pegulihan, is proprietor of a gymnasium and swimming pool in Southern France.

Pegulihan had fought in six professional engagements, and before turning professional had won twenty-four of twenty-eight amateur fights. He came to America early in September with Paolino, the European heavyweight.

Manager Eudeline was so distressed by the tragedy that he became hysterical when he went to cable the boxer's parents, and had to be helped from the telegraph office.

6 AMATEUR SIXES PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Hockey Carnival at Garden Will Be for Press and Sports Bays of Cathedral.

Something in the nature of an amateur hockey carnival will be staged tonight at Madison Square Garden, where the opening games of the new Metropolitan Amateur Hockey League will be played for the benefit of the press and sports bays of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. There will be a notable audience present, including Bishop William T. Manning and Mayor Walker, who will present the championship emblem to the new league.

The Metropolitan League is an outgrowth of the Eastern Amateur Hockey League of last season and as now made up it is composed of six sextets of the Metropolitan district. All of these teams will take part in tonight's triple-header, St. Nicholas crossing sticks with the new Canadian Club team; the Knickerbocker Hockey Club playing their old rivals, the New York A. C., with the new Seventh Regiment and Crescent A. C. teams meeting in the third combat.

For this notable opening of the new league the hockey should not only be plentiful, but fast. Those who remember the fiery duels of the Knickerbocker and N. Y. A. C. skaters last season will look for plenty of action when these sextets clash again. The games tonight will each be of two twenty-minute periods instead of the usual three sessions of the same length so that the program will be shortened in this way.

A large number of Boy and Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls have also been invited to attend.

NATIONAL LEAGUERS MOVE FOR PEACE

Committee Chosen to Confer With Landis and Similar American League Group.

RESIN BALL IS ENDORSED

Robins Release Kelley and McGinnity—Trading Dull—Magnates Go to Chicago Today.

By JAMES R. HARRISON.

The dove of peace cooed softly over the domain of organized baseball yesterday as both the American and National Leagues appointed "steering committees" to bring together closer working relations between the two organizations.

Without consulting Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis but at the same time, disclaiming any intention to encroach on his dominion, the National League named Barney Dreyfuss, William F. Baker and William Veeck as a committee to extend the olive branch to the American League. This action was adopted at the league's meeting in the Waldorf-Astoria.

At the same time the American League, meeting in Chicago, appointed Colonel Jacob Ruppert, Phil Ball and E. S. Barnard as a "steering committee" to cooperate with the National League and to confer with Commissioner Landis on possible changes in the major-minor agreement.

President John A. Heydler of the National League went to great pains to assure everybody within hearing distance that the action of his club owners was not a slap at Judge Landis. Mr. Heydler made it plain that the committees will not attempt to dictate new clauses in the Landis agreement; in fact, it will not begin to function until after the re-election of the Commissioner.

Harmony Chief Aim.

The entire purpose of the committee will be to maintain harmonious relations with the American League on the one hand and the minors on the other. If a question comes up on which the two leagues are at odds, the two "steering committees" will take it up first and discuss it; they will reach some sort of amicable and common-sense agreement and transmit their findings to the sixteen club owners at the joint meeting.

Or, if the minors should have some request to lay before the major leagues, the "steering committees" would hear it first and make the proper recommendations to their colleagues.

The new scheme, Mr. Heydler said, is designed to help rather than hinder Judge Landis. The Commissioner, as a matter of fact, will be a member ex-officio of the committees.

"In the past," said President Heydler, "the relations of the two leagues were on anything but a business-like basis. If one league favored a proposition, the other was likely to oppose it. Suppose a subject was brought up at the joint meeting. There would be a lot of aimless discussion and talk, and finally it might never be voted upon or the magnates would vote without knowing anything about the subject. The two big organizations should never have conducted their business in this fashion. Now the question will be thrashed out by the 'steering committees' and a friendly agreement arrived at."

One of the new jobs for the committees will be to make a revision of the major-minor league agreement, Mr. Heydler said.

The committees will actually displace the present Advisory Council, composed of Judge Landis, President Heydler, Frank Navin of Detroit and one minor league representative. The council has been inactive since the Landis-Ban Johnson feud began.

Resin Rule Approved.

The National League magnates again put the stamp of approval on the resin rule yesterday. After a year of experiment with the sticky substance, the club owners decided that everything had worked out beautifully. No trouble was encountered with the pitchers.

"It was found that discoloring the ball and cheating by the pitcher were eliminated almost entirely," said Heydler. "The pitchers lived up to the spirit and letter of the rule. Incidentally, the argument that the games would be lengthened was disproved. On the average the games were actually shorter than in 1925."

President Heydler suggested a man must play in at least 100 games to be eligible for the batting championship, but the magnates turned a deaf ear to his proposal after a good deal of oratory. Where, they asked, would you draw the line? If a player batted higher in 96 games than another did in 100 games, why shouldn't the former get as much consideration? Echo answering "Why?" the question was tabled.

The discussion was provoked by the fact that Bubbles Hargrave led the league hitters last season, though he took part in only 105 games.

New Board of Directors.

A new Board of Directors was elected to consist of August Herrmann of Cincinnati, Sam Breadon of St. Louis, Wilbert Robinson of Brooklyn and William F. Baker of Philadelphia.

The old Board of Directors officially conferred the league championship on the Cardinals amid cheers, and congratulated them on beating the Yankees in the world's series.

When, in his annual report, Mr. Heydler dispensed the glad tidings that the season's attendance had broken all past records, the applause was thunderous, but it had scarcely died down, however, when he saddened the assembly by reporting that the number of baseballs used was 332 dozen in excess of last year. The total was 4,179 dozens. No legislation was introduced, though, to prevent the batters from hitting so many fouls into the grand stand.

No action was taken on a longer season ending Oct. 2 nor did Barney Dreyfuss launch an attack on the Cardinals for buying up six minor league clubs as "farms" for their rookies. Both questions will be debated at the joint meeting.

Also postponed to the joint meeting was a petition from Russ Hall, of the Association of Professional Baseball Players, a national organization of major and minor league players formed for benevolent and charitable purposes. The petition asked the league to raise a fund to aid old, indigent and disabled players, but the magnates considered it a matter for both leagues to act upon.

Cullen Cain was reappointed for a three-year term as Director of the league's Service Bureau at an increased salary.

The magnates having cleaned up all their business in yesterday's session, there will not be a meeting this morning. The owners will leave for Chicago in the afternoon for the joint meeting tomorrow.

Those at the meeting were: Boston, Emil Fuchs and Edward Cunningham; Brooklyn, Wilbert Robinson, Joseph Gilleaudeau, John Scholl and S. Yorke; New York, Charles A. Stoneham, John J. McGraw, Francis X. McQuade and James J. Tierney; Cincinnati, Garry Herrmann and Louis Widrig; Pittsburgh, Barney and Samuel Dreyfuss; St. Louis, Sam Breadon; Chicago, William Veeck; Philadelphia, William F. Baker and L. C. Ruch.

The only item gleaned from the ivory mart was that the Brooklyn Robins have dropped Joe Kelley, coach, and Joe McGinnity, coach-scout.

In the afternoon Donie Bush, the new Pittsburgh manager, and Stuffy McInnis, new leader of the Phillies, went into a huddle and talked trade. Bush offered to give up Vic Aldridge and Emil Yde for Pitcher Carlson and Utility Man Wrightstone. McInnis was sorely tempted by this proposal and wavered, but in the end he decided that Aldrich and Yde were extra-hazardous risks, while Carlson was known to be a very good pitcher.

John McGraw denied that he had any intention of trading Bill Terry for Joe Genewich.

"Spike that one for me," requested Mr. McGraw. "They've got to come stronger than Genewich."

Bancroft later cornered Bush, and the report was that Genewich would go to the Pirates, but this also proved to be a dud.

When the rumors began to run a little low the boys circulated one to the general effect that old Tris Speaker, nineteen years in the American League and recently released unconditionally by Cleveland, would go to the Pirates as a centre fielder. Bush denied that one as soon as he had stopped laughing.

While on the subject of denials, John McGraw declared that he had no place on his board of strategy for Bill McKechnie, late manager of the Pirates.

National League Sets Record Of Attendance at 4,950,000

The National League had its most prosperous season in 1926, President Heydler revealed in his annual report to the club owners at the Waldorf-Astoria meeting yesterday. The total attendance, 4,950,000, was 600,000 above all previous records, despite bad weather which forced the postponement of five holiday, five Sunday and nine Saturday games. The Cubs led in home attendance with more than 860,000. Next was Pittsburgh, with New York, St. Louis, Cincinnati; Brooklyn, Boston and Philadelphia following in that order. The greatest gains were made in St. Louis, Chicago and Cincinnati.

HILL AND ORWOLL TIE FOR PITCHING HONORS

Each Has Percentage of .750 in American Association—Connolly Tops Fielders.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14 (AP).—Although Carmen Hill, former Indianapolis twirler and now of the Pirates, with Orwoll of Milwaukee, topped the pitchers in the American Association in games won and lost, he did not have best record for the number of earned runs per game off his delivery. Hill was in thirty-nine games and won twenty-one and lost seven for a percentage of .750. His percentage of earned runs per game, however, was 3.24. Orwoll had a similar percentage as the result of twelve victories and four defeats in thirty-three games, but his earned run percentage per game was 4.07, while Ben Tincup and Nick Cullop, both of the champion Colonels, did well, the Indian turning in eighteen victories to seven losses in thirty-four games for a percentage of .714 and a run per game mark of 3.09.

Connolly, who played second base for both Toledo and Columbus, finished the season with a perfect fielding mark, according to the official averages released today. Connolly played in twenty-two games, with fifty-eight putouts, fifty assists and no errors. He also figured in nine double plays. Holke of Indianapolis topped the first basemen with an average of .995. Although Connolly turned in a perfect average, Maguire of Toledo was the real leader among the regular keystone sackers with an average of .987.

Heinie Groh, the former New York Giant playing with Toledo, finished with an average of .967 among third basemen. Riggs Stephenson had an average of .991 among the outfielders. Casey Stengel of Toledo had an average of .988 for fifty-six games.

SOLOMON IS VICTOR.

Gets Decision Over Ferdinand at Hunts Point Amateur Show.

Sid Solomon of the Mohawk A. C. defeated Andy Ferdinand, unattached, in a slashing three-round bout which proved to be the best on the card of amateur tussles staged at the Hunts Point Club last night. There were three knockouts on the card. The first of these went to the credit of I. Singer of the St. Raphael A. C. when he stopped L. Gernino, unattached, in the third round.

The quickest knockout was recorded in the 135-pound class, when Al Kochan of Grupp's Gymnasium put Harry Weiner, unattached, away in the first round. The other knockout was recorded by Sam Tobias of the Seward Gymnasium. He knocked out Orlando Rescinio, unattached, in the third round.

TUNNEY SUED BY MARA.

Tim Mara, local sportsman and President of the New York Football Giants team, yesterday instituted suit against Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, for $18,000, alleging breach of contract, it became known when Tunney was served with a subpoena answerable within twenty days. A former admirer and supporter of Tunney, Mara seeks to recover a percentage of Tunney's share in the gate receipts of the title holder's bout with Jack Dempsey last September in Philadelphia.

Goldstein Gets Decision.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 14 (AP).—Abe Attel Goldstein of New York City was awarded the judges' decision over Johnny Dunn of Wilkes-Barre tonight in a ten-round bout. Both are bantamweights.

Trimble Beats Dorland.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 14 (AP).—Kewpie Trimble, Chicago lightweight, won the decision over Dandy Kid Dorland of Oklahoma in a slow ten-round bout staged here by the American Legion.

AMERICAN LEAGUE WILL BACK LANDIS

Votes Endorsement at Chicago but Names Committee to Confer With Him.

TO SEEK COOPERATION

CHICAGO, Dec. 14 (AP).—The American League's approval of Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis, voted unanimously at the opening of its annual session tonight, was qualified by a move to restrict the Commissioner's authority.

The league magnates appointed a committee to confer with Landis, assure him of their endorsement for another term, and ask for a conference on certain undisclosed changes the league wishes to effect in the terms of the Commissioner's contract.

The job of presenting the proposition to the Commissioner was given to Colonel Jacob Ruppert of the New York Yankees, Phil C. Ball of the St. Louis Browns and E. S. Barnard of the Cleveland Indians.

They were delegated to assure Landis that the league first will vote to reelect him, and then ask for a conference on the modification which the league wishes, at some later date.

The magnates opened their session with the formalities of awarding the pennant to New York, adoption of the annual report of the Treasurer and then took up the Landis matter, which was quickly approved.

The Landis Committee then started in search of the Commissioner. While they declined to discuss the nature of their proposals, it was understood they wished to have Landis indicate that he will permit the representatives of the National and American Leagues to confer with him from time to time, thus re-establishing the Advisory Board.

Board Long Ignored.

Provision for this board was in the original contract of Landis, but some of the club owners say that Landis has paid no attention to the provision for more than two years. The authorized representatives of the leagues on the board are President John Heydler of the National League and Vice President Frank Navin of the American League. Navin is President of the Detroit Tigers.

Two years ago at the joint meeting of the major leagues here Ball was the only American League Club owner whose name was missing from a letter to Landis praising the Commissioner's administration and criticizing the actions of their own league executive, President Ban Johnson, at the joint sessions.

Colonel Ruppert recently announced he was in favor of certain restrictions in the power of the Commissioner, and it was his statement which drew the first of the Winter endorsements of Landis from President Heydler of the National League.

The visiting club owners with likely performers around second base were drawn quickly into negotiations by Ray Schalk, new manager of the Chicago White Sox. A successor to Eddie Collins is badly needed, and Schalk asked for terms on Marty McManus of the St. Louis Browns, Frank O'Rourke of Detroit and Aaron Ward of the New York Yankees. The Ward proposition has been under consideration for some time, with the Yankees understood to be holding out for one of the Sox's best pitchers.

Reds Still Negotiating.

The deal for the purchase of the Columbus American Association Club by the Cincinnati Reds for a "player farm" also is undergoing final negotiations between Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago packer, who owns the club; Garry Herrmann, President of the Reds, and Joe Carr, President of the Columbus Club.

With the Landis vote disposed of, the American League officials had only a revision of their constitution left to debate. President Johnson's term was extended last year, so the directors, chosen in rotation, are the only officers to elect.

Schalk also made an offer for Roger Peckinpaugh of the Washington Club, the fourth big league infielder he is willing to buy for Collins's place.

Eddie Collins had not arrived tonight, and it was said he did not expect to attend the meetings. Asked if he had signed Collins for the Athletics, Connie Mack said:

"The only new player I have added is Outfielder Wilson of the Waco Club of the Texas League. I have nothing to say about a deal with Collins."

Another rumor had Collins signed to manage the Columbus Club of the American Association, but it remained unconfirmed.

Moriarty Undecided on Deal.

George Moriarty, new manager of the Tigers, said he had not decided whether to sell or trade O'Rourke in response to the White Sox offer, and indicated that was the only deal he had in prospect now.

Jack McCallister, who succeeded Tris Speaker as manager of the Indians, said he hoped to get a player to fill Speaker's place, but if he failed he would try to groom some youngster for the place and start out next Spring with the same club.

When the league directors adjourned it was announced that Frank Navin of Detroit had been re-elected Vice President, while the directorships this year went to Mack of the Athletics, Ball of the Browns, Navin and Clark Griffith of Washington.

The Professional Ball Players' Association requested the league executives to set aside a certain portion of the league receipts each year to care for ball players in need. Colonel Ruppert, Bob Quinn of Boston and Mack were named as a committee to study the offer and report back to the league meeting next February.

The old rule of 1905 prohibiting the world's series teams from playing post-season games was revised tonight by the American Leaguers. An amendment authorized the pennant winning teams to play exhibition games after March 1 with any team they wished, except that they shall not play the opposing half of the world's series in their home towns.

Natchez Purse Is Captured Easily by Golden Mac, Winner by Three Lengths

GOLDEN MAC BEATS GOLDEN BILLOWS

Scores Popular New Orleans Victory by Three Lengths in the Natchez Purse.

FAVORITES WIN FOUR IN ROW

Come to Rescue of Form Players After Choices Lose First Three Races—Sir Peter Triumphs.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 14.—Golden Mac, Mrs. J. H. Buscher's three-year-old son of Golden Maxim and Lily Mac, was an easy winner of the Natchez Purse, which was the leading number of this afternoon's card at Jefferson Park. Only five ran in this allowance event, for all ages, over the mile route, and Goldn Mac was the heavily played favorite, backed to even money in the machines and paying $4 for each $2 favorite. Whiteacre had the mount again and gave him a better ride than in his last race. The winner was in under the feather of 103 pounds and ran his race in 1:48 over a track that was still heavy.

While the weather was much cooler, the track was still heavy and sticky and the mudders again had the call. The players got away to a bad start, strongly played favorites going down to defeat in the first three races. Then the tide turned and four public choices in a row came down in front.

Golden Mac is right at the top of his form and should have won his last start. He now has won three of his five starts at the meeting, and the players felt he could not be beaten with any kind of luck. Whiteacre got a good break at the barrier and held his mount close to the pace set by C. Bild's veteran mare Golden Billows. Whiteacre called on Golden Mac on the final turn and he easily went to the front, coming home three lengths in front of the mare. Old Slip, the 2-to-1 second choice, was four lengths back, to take third money.

Sir Peter Easily Best.

The first favorite of the day to come home in front was Moss Goldblatt's four-year-old colt Sir Peter, which easily showed the way to six others in the Terrebonne Purse, for all ages, at five and a half furlongs. Sir Peter was the real good thing of the afternoon, and the public couldn't get the money down fast enough. When they went to the post he was at 2 to 5 and paid only $2.80 in the mutuels.

Sir Peter picked up top weight of 116 pounds, broke from the outside post position and was never threatened. At the wire he was only galloping to beat the Greentree Stable's two-year-old colt Thrace by three lengths. Thistle Gold was a poor third. Frank Kelly's three-year-old Brush By, a bad post horse, was once more left flat at the start.

A lot of the public's money went on a dud in the third race, a claiming even at a mile and a sixteenth. G. C. Winfrey's Blue Hill, backed to 6 to 5, finishing far out of the money. Chick Lang got the gelding away well and then he quit and was not a contender. The winner was Otto Torrell's three-year-old gelding Nabisco at better than 4 to 1 and paying $10.20 in the machines. Tea Ball held on well and was beaten only a head for the place and had the same advantage over Harlan for the short end.

Burnt Gets Brackets.

J. J. Russell's Under Fire colt Burnt was the one to graduate in the allowance event for maidens of all ages at six furlongs that opened the afternoon program, and he paid the nice price of $14 for each $2 ticket. Workman gave the winner a good ride, shooting him through on the inside on the turn and saving a lot of ground. In the stretch he overhauled the Pueblo Stable's Chappie, the short-priced favorite that had made the early pace, and raced him down to win by a length. Golden G. came fast at the end to take the short end of the purse easily from Waterson Trail.

The public choice also ran second in the second choice, a dash of six furlongs for three-year-olds and upward under claiming conditions, when E. McCuan's four-year-old gelding Pocket Mouse was beaten two lengths by C. Koerner's gelding Johnny Campbell. Johnny Campbell, however, was also heavily played in the machines, with Pocket Mouse only slightly favored over him. The winner was at 2 to 1 at post time, paying $6 for $2.

PEGASUS TRIUMPHS IN TIJUANA FEATURE

Veteran Campaigner Easily Leads Sweepstakes Home in Suzanne Lenglen Handicap.

Special to The New York Times.

TIJUANA, Mexico, Dec. 14.—J. J. Walsh's veteran campaigner Pegasus captured the Suzanne Lenglen Claiming Handicap, at a mile, over a muddy track here today. The son of Golden Maxim and Brightstone was restrained just off the pace until the top of the stretch, where Jockey J. Craigmile shook him up and the gelding, which was carrying only the feather of ninety-six pounds, responded gamely and went on to an easy victory over Sweepstakes. Deep Thought was third.

Golden Sweep accounted for the secondary feature of the program—the sixth race—also at a mile. The Flittergold three-year-old raced into the lead shortly after the break and withstood a bold challenge by High Prince in the stretch to win by a head. Mushon ran an even race to finish third.

ST. JOHN IS FIRST TO WIRE AT HAVANA

Bud Fisher's Gelding Outfinishes the Pacemaker, Three Sixty, in Prado Handicap.

EXTREME WINS AT 1 TO 4

Takes Six-Furlong Dash for Malecon Purse After Shaking Off Challenge of Marygrace.

Special to The New York Times.

HAVANA, Dec. 14.—Bud Fisher's three-year-old gelding St. John, by Escoba and Harvest Moon II, took the Prado Handicap, at a mile and fifty yards, from a small field here today. Three Sixty was second and Diagram third. The winner, with 108 pounds up, ran the distance in 1:48 over a fast track.

Jockey J. Guerra on Three Sixty elected to make the pace, but although his mount went at a fast clip he never could shake off St. John, which raced at his heels until St. John's rider, J. Kellum, made his move in the stretch. The Fisher standard bearer moved up fast and hooked up with the flying leader in a long, hard duel and forged to the front in the closing strides to win by a length.

The Malecon Purse, a six furlong dash, went to Extreme, which was held at the prohibitive odds of 1 to 4. The C. Cafarelli gelding stepped to the front early and although closely pressed by Margrace at times held sway to the finished and was a half length to the good of the latter at the judges' stand.

Meddling Seth, which races for H. Magee, sprang a surprise in the opening sprint, a five and a half furlong affair for older horses. J. Dale, his rider, shot him to the van early and he opened up a lead of several lengths. Clinging Vine, however, overhauled Porter Ella, which had been forcing the pace, a furlong from the wire and then bore down on the flying leader. The latter held on gamely but just lasted to score by a neck. Porter Ella tired badly in the final drive and was lucky to save the show from Floy Lillie. The victor was held at 12 to 1.

NEW ROCHELLE FUND RAISED

City Board Aids Drive to Enable Eleven to Play in Florida.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Dec. 14.—The Board of Estimate of the city announced today that it had decided to tender financial aid to the citizens' fund being raised to finance the trip of the New Rochelle High School football team to Florida to play the Tampa eleven on Christmas Day and in Orlando on New Year's Day.

Mayor Benjamin Badeau, Edmund Hume, President of the City Council and Harry A. Archibald, City Controller, members of the board, announced the gift from the city.

The amount raised for the team, which boasts the Westchester County football title now totals $2,008.50 which includes many individual contributions from citizens. This amount is above the goal set by the fund committee.

AMHERST TO DROP RUNS.

Suspends Cross-Country as an Intercollegiate Sport.

Special to The New York Times.

AMHERST, Mass., Dec. 14.—Indefinite suspension of cross-country as an intercollegiate sport at Amherst College was approved today by the Faculty Committee on Athletics, it was disclosed by Dr. Paul C. Phillips, Secretary.

The action followed a recommendation by the Student Council last week "that cross-country be abolished as a form of intercollegiate competition until there shall be sufficient interest to warrant its renewal." The original petition was presented by the track manager, Philip R. Chase. The sport will be continued on an intramural basis.

Greenleaf to Defend Cue Title Against Rudolph Here Jan. 20

Ralph Greenleaf, world's pocket billiard champion, will defend his title in a 450-point challenge match against Erwin Rudolph of Chicago at Dwyer's Broadway Academy on the nights of Jan. 20, 21 and 22, it was announced yesterday. The match will be played in three blocks of 150 points each. Both players have posted $250, which goes outright to the winner. The receipts are divided sixty-five per cent. to the defending champion, and thirty-five per cent. to the challenger. Rudolph qualified as the challenger by finishing second in the last tournament, which was held in the Elks Auditorium in Philadelphia. Joseph Ferguson of Philadelphia, who refereed the tournament games, has been named to referee the challenge test.

HOPPE WIDENS LEAD OVER MATSUYAMA

Wins and Loses Block, but Runs Total Score to 1,508-535—Has 75 8-20 Average.

Willie Hoppe broke even yesterday in block victories in his handicap 18.2 balkline billiard match with Kinrey Matsuyama, national junior 18.2 balkline billiard champion, which is in progress at the Strand Billiard Academy, but increased his lead notwithstanding. The score at the end of the fourth block now is 1,508 for Hoppe as against 535 for Matsuyama.

The match is of twelve blocks and Hoppe is playing for 4,800 points as against 3,600 for Matsuyama. To be up with his handicap Matsuyama should have 1,200 points. Hoppe's average thus far in the match is 75 8-20 for twenty innings of play.

It was the afternoon match that Hoppe lost yesterday. The score was 306 for Hoppe and 300 for Matsuyama. In the evening he turned the tables with emphasis and won 400 to 52. Despite the fact that he dropped the afternoon block Hoppe turned in another remarkable performance. This was a run of 209 in his first turn at the table. In his last turn at the table Monday night Hoppe made a run of 201. The two runs together therefore give Hoppe a run of 410 without a miss. The afternoon block lasted only five innings. Matsuyama's high run was 120, made in his third turn at the table.

The score by innings:

Afternoon.
Matsuyama	35	13	120	70	62	—300
Hoppe	209	42	18	36	2	—306
Evening.
Hoppe	196	14	8	182		—400

Haughton Memorial Room Is Planned at Columbia

COLUMBIA TO HAVE HAUGHTON ROOM

Fund of $5,000 for Memorial to Famous Coach Announced at Varsity C Dinner.

PRESIDENT BUTLER TALKS

Says He Has No Grievance Against Professional Football—78 Athletes Receive Their Letters.

At the annual dinner of the Varsity "C" Club of Columbia University, held last night at the Columbia Club, at which letters were awarded to seventy-eight men for 1926 athletics, James R. Knapp, of the class of 1900, Chairman of the Percy Haughton Memorial Fund Committee, announced the subscription of $5,000 to be devoted to the securing and maintenance of a room in John Jay Hall, to be known as the Percy Haughton Memorial Room. The room will be used as a meeting place for athletic committees. The $5,000 was subscribed by 1,300 alumni and undergraduates, with the class of 1900 donating $500. The dinner was attended by 250, including seventy-eight letter men.

Nicholas Murray Butler, President of the university, was present at the meeting, and stated that he thought the athletic situation at Columbia was reasonably satisfactory, in comparison with the rest of the country.

President Butler expressed gratification that Columbia was not bothered by the breaking of the line between amateur and professional athletes, as is the case in other universities, particularly in the West and South. He added that he found no fault with professional sport and held no grievance against professional football, adding that the men have to make a living in some manner, and also that they have a place to fill.

Meikleham Guest of Honor.

W. A. Meikleham, of, the class of 1896, the well known crew referee, was the guest of honor at the dinner, and received the degree of Nestor of Columbia rowing for work that he has done for the advance of rowing at Columbia. Mr. Meikleham remarked on the changes in rowing conditions since the days when he was a member of the Columbia crew.

T. Ludlow Chrystie, '92, President of the club, presided. Elections were held and Mr. Chrystie was re-elected to his office. John J. Ryan, class of 1909, was elected First Vice President, R. L. von Bernuth, '04, Second Vice President, and George Roegner was named Third Vice President. Walter Neale, class of 1918, was re-elected Secretary, and Walter Mohr, '13, was renamed Treasurer.

Herbert E. Hawkes, Dean of the college, spoke on the benefits derived from the comradeship and contact with fellow-players and coaches.

Dr. G. M. Hammond, of the class of 1878, was the oldest alumnus present. There also were present nine alumni who attended Columbia while Mr. Meikleham was a student.

Rowing Gift Announced.

Charles G. Meyers, who presented the letters to the members of the crew, pleased the gathering by announcing that an anonymous alumnus has donated an unnamed sum for the erection of a temporary boathouse at Pelham. This course is preferred to the Harlem for local racing, and if Columbia is successful in attracting opponents to Pelham, a permit for a permanent boathouse will be requested from the city and the location will be retained.

Moving pictures of the Columbia-Cornell football game were shown after the presentation of the letters. Those who officiated in the presentation were: Football, David Smith; baseball, William Root; crew, Charles G. Meyers; basketball, William McRoesle; track, F. J. Whelan; minor sports, Gustavus T. Kirby.

COLUMBIA QUINTET READY FOR RUTGERS

Will Start Encounter in Lion Gymnasium Tonight With Line-Up Unchanged.

The Columbia and Rutgers basketball teams will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the Columbia gymnasium. It will be the second game of the season for Coach Dan Meenan's quintet, which lost the opener to St. John's, 35 to 30, Saturday.

Rutgers will take the floor with a highly rated team, boasting several former high and prep school stars, the most notable being Rohrbach, former Passaic High School star. Last week the New Brunswick five defeated Temple, 31-27.

Since its defeat by St. John's the Lion squad has been practicing intensively to correct the faults which were much in evidence in the opening game. Coach Meenan expects to start the same line-up tonight as he did against St. John's. Captain Jack Lorch, Jack Rothenfeld and Bill Madden, all veterans from last year's Eastern Intercollegiate League championship five, will start, with Fred Rieger and Ed Courtney making up the rest of the team.

The line-up:

COLUMBIA.		RUTGERS.
Rothenfeld	L.F.	Mark
Rieger	R.F.	Alton
Courtney	C.	Rohrbach
Madden	L.G.	Holmes
Lorch	R.G.	Faltings

FORDHAM FIVE READY.

Expects Hard Battle in Contest With Lehigh Tonight.

Fordham's basketball team will go into action against the Lehigh five in the Fordham gymnasium tonight immediately following the Maroon freshmen's engagement with the Xavier quintet at 7:30. Although Coach Kelleher expects a close battle with the invaders, he will follow his custom of the last three years and start the second team, sending the varsity into action later.

Lehigh triumphed over Fordham last year by one point and to guard against a similar happening tonight, the Maroon will start its scoring attack as soon as the game gets under way. Captain O'Neil has left school, so Fordham will be without the services of its leading forward, but O'Neil had not played this season so his loss is not as severe as it might have been.

The line-up:

FORDHAM.		LEHIGH.
Schneider	L.F.	Smith
Landers	R.F.	G. Schaub
De Lany	C.	C. Schaub
Woods	L.G.	Hess
Reardon	R.G.	Billmeyer

International Polo Match Already Arranged Informally

Challenge From England Expected Before February, According to Arrangements Made Through Correspondence—Younger Players Likely to Get an Opportunity on Prospective Combination.

By ROBERT F. KELLEY.

Further indications of the approach of another international polo match was received yesterday when Louis E. Stoddard, Chairman of the United States Polo Association, said that, while the formal challenge had not arrived, correspondence had been carried no with Great Britain nad that the challenge was expected here before February.

While no official action has been taken here in the way of defense preparations, Mr. Stoddard, Devereaux Milburn, captain of the team, and other polo figures here have held informal conferences discussing the coming season.

Mr. Stoddard declined yesterday to say anything in an official capacity as coming from the association, but asserted that he expected that this country would follow the same plans used in the successful defense of 1924.

This would mean the appointment of a Defense Committee by the association, which would handle all details of the match. In 1924 the committee was composed of Mr. Stoddard, as Chairman; Mr. Milburn, Harry P. Whitney, Robert E. Strawbridge Sr. and W. A. Harriman.

There was a nation-wide call for players and ponies. The owners turned over their best mounts, and these were all stabled under one room, entirely out of the hands of their owners, for the period of practice and play, which was about three months. Mr. Strawbridge had charge.

A good deal of interest lies in the possibility that this year's matches will see the insertion of new and younger players in the line-up of the team, which each international year now falls heir to the title of Big Four.

There is bound to be a strong group demanding a much wider hearing for Eric Pedley, the Californian, than in 1924, when he was selected as one of the substitutes for the team.

Of the other younger players, the one apt to get the strongest backing is Robert E. Strawbridge Jr. Strawbridge, like Pedley, was a substitute on the last international side, but he saw action in the games, playing the second after Malcolm Stevenson had been injured in the first. He also finished out the few minutes of that game at No. 3.

The team as last constituted had J. Watson Webb at No. 1, Thomas Hitchcock Jr. at No. 2, Stevenson and Devereaux Milburn, the captain, at back. The points where any attack from friends of the younger element will be centred will be on No. 1 and No. 3.

It is obvious that Hitchcock and Milburn are not to be replaced. Hitchcock has had better seasons than the one he went through last year, but he is a proved quantity. Milburn, despite the fact that he has attained an age where most men retire from the more strenuous games, still remains as great a back as lives. Obviously, his experience and training, which he bears as a heritage from membership on the first—and each succeeding—Big Four, cannot be dispensed with.

The other spots are doubtful, though, and would seem ideal for the working in of fresh material with an eye toward the games of the future. Both Webb and Stevenson are well along as polo years go. Both have been, and still are, players of great worth and value, but there is no denying the fact that others younger than they have come along to challenge them and that they will make at least a strong bid for the places during the coming season.

If they should win out, the tinge of regret at the passing of two splendid veterans would be tempered by the very real interest in watching new blood in action against what promises to be real opposition this time.

The strong probability of an international match next Summer is holding up plans made by several polo stars of this and other countries for the season in Spain.

A gala program had been planned for the tournament at San Sebastian and Madrid, but the dates for these games fall in April and it is doubtful, if the international match goes through, that the Americans or Englishmen who had planned to be present will want to be away from the preparations attendant on the matches to be held here in September.

Stephen Sanford was the most prominent of the Americans planning a visit to Spain. The captain of our open champions, the Hurricanes, had discussed taking his team—pretty much as it played in the championships here last Summer—to the Spanish fields.

Strawbridge Jr., who played back with the four last season, was considered likely to go with the team, and it is known that Captain C. T. I. Roark, who played up forward, would make an effort to join the others. An English or Continental player would have been selected for the fourth man.

Major Vivien Lockett, the British veteran, might have been the choice. He came over here with the team last year, but broke his hand during the first tournament of the year at Rumson and dropped out of play.

Another American who had discussed the trip to Spain was A. Charles Schwartz, who apparently is planning a lively season if his activities at the auction of the Argentine mounts last October are any indication. Schwartz, with John Sanford, Stephen's father, bought the cream of these South American ponies, with the exception of one fine mount which Harry P. Whitney added to his string.

Schwartz bought eight of these mounts, including Marino, a big chestnut gelding, from Jack Nelson's string, which had been a heavy prize winner at shows in the Argentine and England, and Black Bess, a beautiful black mare of Alfredo Pena's.

Strawbridge, with the certainty that he will be included among the candidates for the American team, will not want to be absent from the country at any time of the season.

Sanford, during the last international year, turned himself and his magnificent string of mounts over to the use of the American committee during all the period of preparation, and it is probable that he will do this same thing this season.

COLLEGES ADOPT BASKETBALL RULES

Eastern League Accepts New Code at Meeting Here—Dinner Is Given.

The basketball rules as published by the Joint Rules Committee were accepted at a special meeting of the officials and coaches of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League held at the Pennsylvania Club last night. The business was disposed of in short order and the rest of the evening taken up in discussion. Representatives of the six colleges signatory to the league were present as well as the officials appointed by the league.

The colleges and their representatives are as follows: Columbia, represented by Coach Dan Meenan, Assistant Coach Paul Mooney and Graduate Manager Reynolds Benson; Pennsylvania, represented by Ralph Morgan; Cornell, represented by Howard Ortner; Dartmouth, represented by E. W. Butler; Princeton, represented by H. H. Salmon Jr., and Yale, represented by George Taylor.

Preceding the meeting a dinner was held. This was tendered by the Executive Committee of the League to the coaches and officials. The President of the Executive Committee is William M. Barber. Ellwood K. Kemp Jr. is the Secretary and Treasurer. Many other of the best known basketball figures in the East also were present.

Among those present were Tom Thorp, former football coach at New York University; Ed Thorp, former basketball coach at New York University; John O'Brien of St. John's College; Joseph M. O'Shea, former basketball coach at the United States Military Academy; Orsen Kinney, former Yale coach; John Murray, former Columbia coach; Walter Kramer and David Walsh of the Hoboken High School; David Tobey of the Savage School; Francis Brennan of St. Francis's College, Brooklyn, and Ed Hastings Jr. of De Witt Clinton High School. All of the above named now are officials of the league.

ROCKNE IN HONOLULU.

To Instruct Coaches There—Utah Eleven Also Arrives.

HONOLULU, Dec. 14 (AP).—Knute Rockne, veteran mentor of the Notre Dame team, arrived today to teach Hawaiian football coaches how to win games. He will instruct them two weeks and also referee three games.

Nineteen members of the University of Utah football team were greeted on their arrival here today by the University of Hawaii squad, whom they will oppose on the gridiron next Saturday.

The Utah players were taken at once by automobiles to Wahiawa, chosen because its altitude will be conducive to the training of the men from the Wasatch Mountains.

SYRACUSE DEFEATS ROCHESTER FIVE, 40-26

Hanson Leads Attack Although He Suffers From Sore Foot, Scoring 12 Points.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 14.—Syracuse defeated Rochester, 40 to 26, in a hard-fought basketball battle in Archbold's Gymnasium here tonight. Vic Hanson, although slowed up on account of a sore foot, led the Orange attack and tallied twelve of his team's total.

Jap Apperman, newly elected leader of the Rochester team, played well for the losers, but was taken from the game in the last quarter on account of a bad knee.

Bill Eisemann, stocky Orange pivot man, was high scorer of the evening with 15 points. Manny Rosen, former Newark star, played a great defense game for the Orange.

The line-up:

SYRACUSE (40).		ROCHESTER (26).
Hanson	L.F.	Ehre
Carr	R.F.	Apperman
Eisemann	C.	Miller
Rosen	L.G.	Mits
Lee	R.G.	Tatelbaum

Substitutions—Syracuse: None. Rochester: Kenyon for Ehre, Shannon for Apperman, Doyle for Miller, Cohen for Tatelbaum, Apperman for Cohen.

Referee—Dowling. Umpire—Derby. Time of halves—20 minutes.

REYNOLDS TO RETAIN POST.

Syracuse Will Offer Head Football Coach New Contract.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP).—C. W. P. (Pete) Reynolds will remain as head coach of the Syracuse University varsity football team, according to the report issued after a meeting of the Athletic Governing Board of the university tonight.

Although definite terms of the agreement were not available, it is known that the Football Committee received authority from the Governing Board to give a contract to Reynolds and arrange the details of salary and term of office. This will be the second contract that Reynolds will have signed as gridiron mentor for his alma mater.

PRINCETON HONORS ITS FOOTBALL TEAM

Presents Gold Footballs to 23 Members of Squad at Annual Dinner.

DAVIS RECEIVES AWARD

Gets Coveted White Sweater Signifying Captaincy of Big Three Championship Eleven.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 14.—Members of the 1926 Princeton football team re-enacted a familiar scene here tonight when they gathered around a table in Princeton Inn, much as they had gathered each day during the football season at the training table. The difference tonight was that the Tiger football warriors were not on a training diet, but were guests of the Princeton Athletic Association at the annual dinner to the eleven. Twenty-three letter men sat around the table. Dan Caulkins, Joe Prendergast and Jake Slagle were unavoidably absent.

Each member of the team received a gold football with the scores of the Princeton-Yale and Princeton-Harvard games engraved upon it, but probably the proudest man present was Johnny Davis, who captained the Tiger eleven this year. Davis received a white sweater with a black letter P emblazoned upon it. This sweater signifies the captaincy of a Big Three championship team and is an honor coveted by every football player. The sweater went to Captain Ed McMillan last year, and the presentation tonight marked the only time it ever has been awarded in successive years.

Coach Bill Roper, Keene Fitzpatrick, Al Wittmer and Net Poe were speakers. Following the dinner the team disbanded. Some will be back on the squad in the Spring, but others have ended their football careers.

PRO GOLFERS FORM WINTER ASSOCIATION

Tourney Play Listed for This Season Will Start at Sacramento Friday and End at Pinehurst.

MONTEREY, Cal., Dec. 14 (AP).—Organization of the Professional Golfers' Winter Tournament Association, embracing virtually all of the leading professionals in the country with the exception of Walter Hagen, was announced today by James D. Hartnett of Monterey and New York. Its function will be to do away with the somewhat uncertain present method of scheduling open tournaments, and instead will substitute annually a list of competitions beginning in the Pacific Northwest and ending in Pinehurst, N. C.

This season the association's schedule calls for tourneys at Sacramento, Dec. 17-19, $2,500; Los Angeles, first week in January, $10,000; El Paso, Jan. 22-23, $2,500; Shreveport, La., Feb. 4-6, $4,500; Hot Springs, Ark., Feb. 9-12, $5,000. In addition, dates are to be arranged between Sacramento and the Los Angeles tournament and between the latter and the El Paso event. Other points in Texas, including Houston, will be visited, as will the principal cities of Alabama. All of March will be spent in competitions in Florida, and the continental swing will end at Pinehurst.

N. Y. U. GIRLS TRIUMPH.

Beat N. Y. Aggies Girls' Basketball Team by 60 to 9 Score.

The New York University girls' basketball team opened its season with a 60 to 9 victory over the girls' team of New York Agricultural College yesterday afternoon. The game was played on the court at the Church of All Nations. Miss Ide Metz, left forward for the Violet, was the high scorer of the game with thirteen points. The contest was played in four periods of eight minutes each and the N. Y. U. girls scored every period. They rolled up twenty points in the last quarter as against none for the Aggies.

The line-up:

N. Y. U. (60).		N. Y. AGGIES (9).
Metz	L.F.	Scherer
Lichtenberg	R.F.	Kelly
Williams	C.	Dauch
Haber	S.C.	Shields
Carrara	L.G.	Gately
Guffanti	R.G.	Noble

Field goals—N. Y. U.: Metz 13, Lichtenberg 6, Frey 5, Stinler 4, Tamor 2. New York Aggies: Kelly 2, Scherer, Dauch, Foul goal—Dauch.

Substitutions—N. Y. U.: Stone for Haber, Lindeblad for Williams, Tamor for Metz, Stinler for Lichtenberg, Mescart for Stone, Williams for Lindeblad, Stone for Guffanti, Frey for Tamor. New York Aggies: Giroux for Gately, Dauch for Scherer.

Referee—Miss Virginia Rauschenbach, Savage. Time of quarters—8 minutes.

ST. LAWRENCE FIVE WINS.

Routs Hamilton in 2d Half to Triumph, 46-26—Daley Gets 16 Points.

Special to The New York Times.

CLINTON, N. Y., Dec. 14.—After holding St. Lawrence to a 22-to-14 score in the first half, Hamilton weakened and the visitors won, 46—26, here this evening. Daley and Burkman starred for St. Lawrence, making 16 and 15 points respectively. Burkman played a brilliant floor game.

Hamilton's five-man defense, which caused considerable trouble for the visitors early in the game, was penetrated more easily in the second half. Rowley was the outstanding performer for Hamilton.

BIG TEN CONSIDERS ROTATING SCHEDULE

To Decide Next Month Whether Programs Should Be Arranged to Determine Titles.

GRIFFITH CALLS MEETING

Intersectional Games and Demand for Uniform Scholastic Code Also to Come Up.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14 (AP).—To decide whether the Western Conference shall become a "playing league" by arranging sport schedules to determine championships, the scholastic, financial, alumni and athletic leaders of the Conference will meet here late in January.

Major John L. Griffith, Athletic Commissioner of the Big Ten, announced tonight the meeting was arranged at the request of the football coaches and athletic directors who drew up their gridiron schedules for 1927 here two weeks ago.

Three important problems are to be presented to the assembly: whether the Conference is a "playing league," athletic schedules and equality of competition.

Sees Demand for Title Play.

"A great many of the alumni," said Major Griffith, "and also the public, are insisting that the Conference should determine championships formally each year, and with that in mind are insisting that schedules be arranged for that purpose.

"The question of rotating schedules, simultaneous home-and-home games, long-term contracts and intersectional games will be one of the important matters coming before the meeting.

"As it is necessary that two teams competing in a game shall observe one code of playing rules, so that the Conference authorities are agreed in the interests of equal and fair competition, it is further necessary that the ten Conference universities respect uniformity in the matters which pertain to playing conditions off the field.

"For instance, the athletic directors will request the Presidents, Faculty representatives, alumni and others to assist them in reaching a uniform agreement which shall affect the ten universities alike in the matter of remission of tuition, the granting of scholarships, loan funds, the activities of alumni secretaries, &c.

Want Uniform Standard.

"The athletic directors believe that while there is very little proselyting and illegitimate recruiting on the part of the Conference universities, yet they realize there has been in the past no prescribed uniform standard binding alike all the universities.

"This meeting should be of great value in assisting in the constructive work of the Conference, and, since all phases of university life will be represented, will probably be more far-reaching in consequence than any Conference meeting previously held.

"The ten university Presidents, the ten Chairmen of the Boards of Regents, the ten Faculty representatives on the Big Ten, an alumnus from each university and the athletic directors and football coaches have been invited to the meeting and practically all of them have signified their willingness to come," Major Griffith said.

THE GOVERNOR ON WATER POWER.

Governor SMITH'S speech on Monday night is a thing which by itself should be studied by all who wish to know the secret of his astonishing hold on the people. As a mere intellectual performance it bears out the characterization of WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE'S that Governor SMITH has the "best brain" now being applied to public affairs in this country. The gathering which he addressed was non-partisan, but highly representative. It offered no temptation to indulge in claptrap. Instead, Governor SMITH stood up, man fashion, and out of his unaided memory poured forth the history of the water-power controversy in New York, frankly admitted that he himself had once taken a position which he now gives up, set forth his ideas of what should be done—all in a clear and orderly manner, lit up by shrewd flashes of homely illustration and couched in language easily understanded of the people. The whole was an extraordinary and impressive performance, quite irrespective of the merits of the plan which the Governor himself proposed.

He would have the Legislature set up a Power Authority. That body, appointed by the Governor, would then draw up a comprehensive plan for the development of the State's water power. This would be submitted for approval to the Legislature and, if found well thought out, in both engineering and financial aspects, the Power Authority would be authorized to proceed. For construction of the necessary power stations it would raise money by bond issues and sell the power to large private companies for distribution. In explaining his ideas, Governor SMITH was severely practical. He drew no rosy pictures of the "giant-power millennium." What he proposes can be discussed without rancor or personal recrimination.

The Governor lays down one fundamental condition. He insists that the Legislature should treat these possible water-power developments as "the property of the State that must not be alienated even by lease." By way of analogy he referred to the 999-year franchises of the New York Central Railroad. But between them and the water-power leases which have been advocated there is no parallel. The latter are limited to fifty years, and at any time after completion of the works the State could recover the property on a cost-plus basis. Throughout there would be State regulation of rates. It is hard to see how in this there could be any "alienation" of natural resources. A lease under such conditions, whether by a man or the State, cannot be considered a parting with the property.

Of course, Governor SMITH believes profoundly that he is right and that his plan will work. But he does not assume that either he or it is infallible. If the Power Authority, made up of able and disinterested men, reports to him that the thing can't be done in the way he suggests, then, he declares, "that is the time to invite the private companies in." The usual rule, however, has been in this country not to commit the Government to a great business enterprise until it has been shown that private initiative is inadequate or unsuited to it. This burden of proof the Governor seems to desire to shift in this business of water power. However, he will not object to leaving the Power Authority with a free hand to decide and report what is best. He even went so far as to say that one of the purposes in creating the Power Authority is that it may "inform the Legislature and the people of the 'State' about the competing possibilities of State or private control. In that case, it certainly ought not to be prohibited from the very beginning to consider the system of leasing.

Governor SMITH made a great play with the charge that his favored scheme of water-power development is "Socialistic." Little point can be left of that after Mr. OWEN D. YOUNG has approved in principle the Governor's project. It is not beyond criticism. Even after the original plan of the Governor to operate as well as own the power stations by the State has been abandoned by him, there are many technical and financial questions still open to searching debate. This the Governor would be the last man to deprecate. He has definitely launched his program. It may result, as his Republican opponents are already predicting, in an unfortunate delay of the whole development. They also lament that the matter is once more to be made a football of politics. The Governor will not be the one to make it such. He spoke distinctly on Monday night in a non-partisan spirit and as a business man to business men. He has made up his mind. It ought not to take the Legislature long to do the same. Anyhow, it is better to wait a year more rather than go blunderingly ahead. The subject opened up by the Governor is intricate and of vast interest to the people of this State. To its discussion and decision the best minds available should be brought, without regard to party or the political fortunes of any public man.

BRIDGES OLD AND NEW.

Almost unnoticed in yesterday's news, one reads that the first instalment of the bonds for the building of the $60,000,000 Hudson River Bridge is offered at a price to yield about 4.20 per cent. interest. The issue was for $20,000,000 and was promptly subscribed. The rest of the money is to be raised as needed. The bonds are a direct and general obligation of the Port of New York Authority, secured by the revenues arising from bridge tolls. The States of New York and New Jersey have agreed each to contribute one million dollars a year for five years to help in construction. Final acceptance of the plan by the War Department has been obtained. Work will soon begin.

The whole will be a great engineering feat, and the fact that so large a sum as $60,000,000 should go for a single bridge has apparently attracted little notice. We are hardened now to expenditures running into enormous figures. The Brooklyn Bridge, as originally completed, cost only about $9,000,000. The Queensborough Bridge cost some $13,500,000. The Manhattan Bridge cost a little more than $14,000,000. The new Hudson Bridge is a much larger and more formidable undertaking. The span over the river is longer, and the difficulties of approach and of laying foundations are much harder to overcome.

Even making full allowances for the growth in population, wealth and area of the city since the Brooklyn Bridge was begun, and for the increased skill of engineers, New Yorkers of today must plead guilty to the charge of being excessively blasé compared to their parents and grandparents in the '70s. Otherwise, an undertaking of such significance and importance to the future of the city would be more of a sensation.

"CLASS WAR" STRIKES.

Passaic's textile strike is virtually brought to an end amid circumstances that have now become the regular thing with labor conflicts conducted under Communist inspiration and leadership. The same formula operated as in the cloakmakers' strike. Hostilities are proclaimed without sufficient cause. Efforts at peaceful adjustment are rejected. Deadlock ensues; the cloakmakers were on strike for nearly six months, the Passaic conflict has lasted ten and a half months. Bitterness and violence are engendered. Exhaustion casts the deciding vote. The Communist leadership decamps, as in Passaic, and leaves the task of bringing order out of chaos to moderate labor, or subscribes to a defeat which it hails as victory. In the Communist terminology a dispute peacefully settled on terms highly favorable to the workers is a "betrayal." A strike terminated with no gains, often on more unfavorable terms than were possible before the strike, is a victory.

President SIGMAN of the International Garment Workers justly accuses the radical leaders in control of the cloakmakers' strike of having alienated public sympathy. This would be even truer of Passaic. The textile workers failed notably to win the support of a body of public opinion which has usually expressed itself in strikes affecting large bodies of low-paid workers. The reason was not indifference. Passaic enjoyed an enormous publicity. But despite the partial merits of the strikers' case, despite the unfavorable impression created by arbitrary or unwise police methods, popular feeling refused to be stirred. The dominant, and justified, impression was of a strike conducted by a little coterie of revolutionary leaders for purposes of their own. The public felt that at Passaic the wrongs of the workers were the least of the leaders' concerns. They were not fighting primarily for an improvement in working conditions. They were waging a class war.

In a certain sense the Communists are justified in claiming victory where the normal eye fails to discern it. Whether a strike is won or lost, it is a victory, in the Communist doctrine, if industry is dislocated, if the operation of peace machinery is destroyed, if a six months' strike or a ten months' strike leaves behind it a rankling bitterness. To be sure, it does not always work out that way. Among the local garment workers the indications are that the lessons have been learned and the Left Wing's power for harm will be wiped out. It may be that in Passaic, too, the lesson has been learned, and that the peace now signed under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor will be lasting. But wounds will remain open, and if the Communist evangelist cannot achieve a great deal of mischief he is content with a little mischief. Every little counts, when your purpose is not to improve the workers' condition but to wage a class war. In Communist Russia it is treason to strike in the Government factories. In "capitalistic" America it is a sacred duty to foment strikes, at any cost to the strikers, in preparation for the proletarian revolution.

NARCOSAN.

Science has come with what promises to be another blessing to mankind. It has compounded a substance out of herbs and seeds which has been found to be successful in the treatment of narcotic addiction. This has not come about by trying one thing after another but by scientific determination and definition of the condition to be overcome and then finding in nature the agents—the lipoids, the vitamins and the proteins—that will together cause the necessary reactions. The theory as to this condition had been arrived at by earlier scientists. It was that the "narcotizing substance entered into a "loose physico-chemical combination "with the lipoids of the cell." The problem was to find a substance that would neutralize the substances which narcotics call forth for protection, but which become toxic when the narcotics are withdrawn. That is the problem which the bio-chemist has solved. He has found the means of eliminating the base. The constituents of his neutralizing substance, called "narcosan," compounded not by a physician but by a bio-chemist, Mr. A. T. HOSOVITZ, are lipoids obtained from soy beans and cotton seed, vitamins from certain plant seeds and non-specific proteins from the seeds of alfalfa or Hungarian millet. Aside from the value and effectiveness of narcosan as a remedy, there is evidence of the validity of a theory which has never before been attested.

The experimentation as reported today in The Medical Record and Journal, under the joint authorship of Dr. ALEXANDER LAMBERT and Dr. FREDERICK TILNEY, was made in the treatment of addicts in certain city penal institutions at the invitation of the Commissioner of Correction, Mr. F. A. WALLIS. Over three hundred and fifty patients were given the treatment, and their reactions are described in great detail in the article referred to. All the patients responded favorably to the treatment. Whether there will be relapses, it is too early to say. Thus far only one patient has come back to the Workhouse, and she had resumed her use of the narcotic not because of desire for the drug but because of the pleasurable sensation obtained. This at the end of six months. It will take eighteen months to make an accurate and final estimate of the results.

At any rate, means seem to have been found for the treatment of addicts, with promise of permanent cures. Here has been found by science what will rescue mankind from the tyranny of poppy and mandragora and all the "drowsy syrups of the world" and yet allow their beneficent uses. No longer will there be physical reason for continuance of the use of subtle and powerful medicine beyond the need of the sick, for whom it may hold the keys of paradise, but which become the keys of hell for those who have not been able to escape its slavery. There is opened by the biochemist a new hope of contending successfully with the world-wide curse of what entered to ease pain.

SHALL CHINA BE SPLIT?

Indications from London and Shanghai that Great Britain, and perhaps also Japan, may recognize the Canton Government in China without withdrawing recognition of the Peking Government bring into sharp relief again the question of the possible partitioning of China. Naturally, Washington shows concern. Conditions are not altogether the same as they were in 1899 when Russia, Germany, France, Great Britain and Japan seemed on the verge of carving up the Chinese Empire and JOHN HAY promulgated the Open Door policy and fought to preserve the unity of China. But the underlying problem is the same and some of the arguments now advanced for regional recognition have a familiar ring. We are told that China is too big to be governed by a single central administration. We are assured that China is already dismembered in fact and that to refuse to recognize this in form is to perpetuate a myth. We are told that civil wars would cease if the various units became independent. In particular do they assure us that with the Yangtse River dividing China into a Northern and a Southern State, order would soon be restored and peace insured.

It may be that the Chinese themselves would welcome some such division. The antagonism between North and South is old. There seems little prospect of one section dominating the other for long. The possibility of a federation exists, however, in which provincial autonomy would be complete and the Federal Government would control only foreign affairs. The Cantonese for the moment hope and believe that their General CHIANG KAI-SHEK can subdue the whole of China by force and diplomacy. They may be expected to oppose anything which would contain the possibility of the diplomatic dismemberment of the empire.

For America the problem is far from simple. We have ever championed a unified China and have hoped to see a strong and efficient Government there. We have withstood the efforts of the Powers to obtain special spheres of influence, whether commercial or political or both. Our activities in behalf of Chinese unity have perforce been largely defensive. When the Hay doctrine was announced we could do little more than to wring reluctant admissions from the Powers that they would not continue the old policy of seeking special influence; but when, as in the case of the famous Twenty-one Demands by Japan, the old policy threatened again to assume active shape, we could do little to help China.

At the Washington conference the United States was always insistent on the full recognition of Chinese territorial and political integrity, and pledged itself, along with the other Powers, to respect it. It is difficult to see how it can depart from this policy now. This need not mean that the Canton Government, so long as it recognizes the obligations of the now defunct Central Government, cannot be recognized as the de facto Government of the Chinese Republic, in place of the Peking Government. But the fact remains that the dismemberment of China is once more threatened. There is no question of intervention or of interference in the internal affairs of that unhappy and divided country. But there is a question of right and expediency.

UNDERGRADUATE DEGREES.

While Sir JOHN ADAMS, Professor Emeritus of Education in London University, is lecturing in the United States, Lady ADAMS, going with him from college to college, is studying with evident enjoyment the curious systems of classification used by our young barbarians. The categories are seldom original. Too often the Gown borrows from the Town. But the amplitude of the scheme, as compared with that of simpler days, is "gratifying testimony" to academic "progress" and the "growing complexity" of student life. Not so many years back there were only a few synonymous terms for the youth guilty of treachery to the main purpose of colleges by excessive indulgence in study. He was a "dig," "grind," "squirt." A person absolved of that infamy was either a "good feller" or a "damphool."

The latter archaic word has been superseded by the universal "moron." This, Lady ADAMS writes in The London Chronicle, "is a popular word, "avidly used by the Americans to "describe each other." If everybody is a "moron" to somebody else, it may be assumed that the number of American morons is somewhat more than 110,000,000. Classification according to frontal altitude has naturally been much extended. Winners of medals and prizes are All Highest Brows. In the circle below them sit the Very High Brows. Then, occupying what looks like a twilight zone, follow the Lo- High Brows and the High Low Brows. Lady ADAMS's description applies only to Harvard:

> A Low High Brow is a term of contempt, given to one who talks much about culture and does not possess a large supply, while a High Low Brow is an enviable creature who combines good fellowship with a not too openly expressed Sehnsucht for learning—learning that can be absorbed without undue seclusion, naturally.

The typical familiar Low Brow was painted admirably by the headmaster who wrote: "John neither gives nor takes any trouble." Then we have the three descending grades of a per capita hierarchy of stupidity, Bone Heads, Numb Skulls, Solid Ivories. The first can neither play nor work nor see a joke. The second are beneath contempt. "They dress badly, "but without the rather studied negligence of the Low Brow; they attempt much and succeed in nothing; "if they drink, they do it vulgarly." In the lowest intellectual "pouch," as DARTE would say, squat the Solid Ivories. Lady ADAMS's shrewd account of them shows that she has gone far in her studies of college sociology:

> The Solid Ivories are sometimes rather handsome; they usually dress carefully and well; they are often members of a good fraternity, and what they say on social matters goes; all of which would be surprising were it not that America is not so democratic.

Women's colleges, even in the West, seem to have given little to this terminology of groups. Mezzo Brow, for example, is not only imported from New York, but is a wretched hybrid substitute for Middle Brow. The colleges show a regrettable poverty of invention, but an occasional happy subtlety in adaptation, limitation and subclassification.

WALTER DAMROSCH RESIGNS.

The resignation of WALTER DAMROSCH as conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra puts an end to a long and arduous term of service for music in New York. It is hard to realize that Mr. DAMROSCH has been laboring in this vineyard for forty-two years. He has conducted opera at the Metropolitan Opera House, first as assistant to his father in 1884, later as a full-fledged maestro there; and at one period controlling his own company in New York and in tours of the country. He has conducted the New York Symphony Orchestra, continuing, though with periods of interruption and rebirth, the organization established by his father in 1878. He was for fifteen years conductor of the Oratorio Society, also established by his father, and then later took that task up again for a brief period. He has lectured about music. He has composed not a little, and his works have received the honorable distinction of worthy performance: he brought out his "Scarlet Letter" with his own opera company; the Metropolitan Opera Company produced his "Cyrano." He has tried his hand at comic opera, in "The Dove of Peace," and has contributed incidental music for productions of the classical Greek drama.

All in all, Mr. DAMROSCH has had an active, zealous and useful career, devoted to the advancement of music in New York and in the whole country. It has not been without conflicts; few active careers are. His father established a new dynasty of musicians in New York, and met with opposition. At his lamented death, some thought that his young son was pushed ahead into places of authority too soon. He was charged with learning his art at the expense of the New York public. But he was not to be deterred. He had energy, enterprise, initiative. He did things before others thought of doing them. He won support and public admiration in large measure. In the minds of the present-day public, his direction of the New York Symphony Orchestra looms as the largest and most influential of his activities. He has been very successful with it. A stout supporter of the classics, he has had an open mind, and has kept even pace with "modernity" as it has advanced in the last forty years. He has introduced to this city many new works. He has had a peculiar success in the difficult art of program making. His name is writ large in important chapters of American musical history.

Now, though a veteran, he retires, as he says, still young enough not to have to give advancing years as a reason. He will still devote his energies to music, and his abilities will not be lost to the public. But his retirement from the active direction of his orchestra will leave a large and bewildering vacancy in New York's musical life. It will be greatly regretted; and the filling of his place will be difficult, if, indeed, it can ever be exactly filled.

THE OLD TO THE YOUNG.

Among the most touching letters which come with gifts for the Hundred Neediest Cases are those from the aged. Yesterday one contribution was made by a lady 86 years old. Another was from "an elderly woman." Still another was from "a widow past 70 years." No one knows better than such kind hearts the sorrow of a dwarfed and stunted childhood. They understand the anxieties of a bereft mother with helpless children. Their sympathies are not dried up by old age. From such sources, the offerings in aid of the Hundred Neediest Cases testify with peculiar eloquence to the depth and reach of this annual appeal.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Baby Carriages and the Police.

The new traffic regulations define a vehicle as "every conveyance used for the transportation of persons or merchandise * * * except a baby carriage." Why this discrimination? Surely a baby is as much entitled to have his roadster recognized as any one.

One fears that the Police Commissioner has only encouraged the further revolt of youth, especially along Park Avenue. But perhaps he is more subtle than appears. Under the new code vehicles are subject to all manner of restrictions about speed and right of way. It may be that it is out of deference to the rebellious modern spirit that he has given baby carriages a special status, free from all these hampering rules.

The nursemaid, too, is to be considered. Friend of the policeman that she is, what more natural than that she be given a traffic standing more exalted than the mere taxi driver?

More Fish in Clean Streams.

In urging its members to do what they can locally to prevent pollution of streams by sewage and industrial waste, the Izaak Walton League is advancing the cause of good fishing, as well as of conservation.

Already numerous organizations are waging warfare against the defiling of inland waters. But the practice has become so widespread that every effort, whether by individuals or by corporate bodies, to remove the causes of pollution deserves encouragement. Ultimately, State and Federal laws may have to be invoked. But much can be done by personal effort, just as in the case of the billboard nuisance.

The healing power of nature seems to be almost unlimited. Checking pollution, even though it has continued for years, is in itself enough to assure the restoration of a stream to its natural purity within a comparatively short time. Much of the industrial waste which is poured into streams could be as easily disposed of in other ways—perhaps even profitably. But each factory or sawmill owner is unwilling to deny himself the right of using the stream for drainage purposes lest his neighbor refuse to take the same action.

Unfortunately, the spread of industrial civilization has brought with it an attitude of reckless indifference to the larger values of conservation. An enlightened public opinion must be directed against water pollution. The Izaak Walton League and other similar organizations can do much to help form this public opinion.

Farm Girls and Pretty Clothes.

Clothing for civilized woman is just about the same the world over. A traveler journeying rapidly from Hongkong to Budapest, thence to Paris, New York, San Francisco and Melbourne, would find no more change in the styles than those which had occurred during the period of his trip. Small towns and large, at home and abroad, the fashion is uniform.

The movies may justly claim the credit, or take the blame, for this state of affairs. Simultaneous and universal distribution of films gives every girl an equal chance to copy the beautiful clothes-horse heroine.

A word of praise for one section of the feminine population that is holding out against utter uniformity has been spoken by the head of the household department of the Teachers' College of Indianapolis, Miss CHENOWETH. She has made a thorough survey in Indiana, and finds that the farm girls dress better, with more distinction, than the city girls, and that they do it on less money. It can hardly be said that they are less subject to the insidious influence of film flappers, for they get into town often enough. They must be more individualistic, more dependent on their own resources and inclined to develop along lines of their own choosing.

Does their superiority, one wonders, extend to other things? Do they also cook better, keep house better, manage husbands and children better? A survey which would answer those questions would be useful.

Fragile in the Eyes of the Law.

It has been ruled in the British High Court of Justice, Division of Probate, Divorce and Admiralty, that a will written on an eggshell by a "mariner" whose specific occupation was pilot on the Manchester Ship Canal does not constitute a valid testimentary disposition. In 1920 one BARNES made a will leaving his estate to sons of a former marriage. After his death his second wife produced an eggshell found on top of a wardrobe. The contents of the shell had been blown out and the surface inscribed, "17—, 1925. Mag. Everything I possess. J. B."

In itself, said the presiding Justice, this writing on an egg was one of the most grotesque proceedings conceivable on the part of a man in sound frame of mind and with facilities for making an ordinary will. Yet it would have made a considerable difference if the late J. B. had written "to Mag" instead of only "Mag." The missing preposition might have served to countervail the doubt whether the present case fell under the law providing for unusual testaments under special circumstances for soldiers and seamen on duty.

The late BARNES's maritime career was confined to the comparatively peaceful waters of an inland canal. He spent the greater part of his time in a bungalow, and it was on a wardrobe situated on terra firma that the alleged will was discovered.

The will of 1920 was admitted to probate. Nevertheless his Lordship ruled that the widow might draw the costs of the action out of the eggshell, so to speak.

A Plea for Courtesy.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

For some years I have lived in various parts of the country and it is only of late that I have returned East, but alas, what a change! Of late I have been using the Hudson Tube, and it is here that I have observed the lack of fine breeding and manners among the male element. I stood the other morning in the train from Hoboken and on my half of the train I counted sixteen men, and never one arose to give me a seat.

The other afternoon, shortly after 4, I saw many men that looked like bankers, sitting calmly in their seats while a white haired woman stood. I did not mind my young lady daughter nor her companion standing, but when I see the mothers of the country stand, it is time some one took action.

I grant that some of my sex have fallen from the old time traditions, and I have heard men say that these short-skirted and lip-sticked females with hard faces do not stir their chivalry. It is not for them I am pleading, but for the gentle, tired mothers.

Let the Boards of Education and teachers take this matter up and instill the old time courtesy; let the scout masters teach the sturdy young boys of oars to be gentlemen, for, God help New Jersey, the fathers that sit in the Hudson Tubes I fear will never be able to set them an example.

NEW YORK.

(As Seen by English Eyes.)

City of many voices, city of many creeds,
Mart of the world's great riches,
Hark to the world's great needs.

City of many children,
Saxon and Celt and Jew,
Old are the many races
Living in all of you;
Older than wealth you garner,
Hands that have taught your hands;
Bent by a longer labor,
Father and Mother lands.

Come! Are we kin, or strangers,
Old World and New World, now?
City of progress, answer;
Strangers? Then why? And how?

Strive for the peace of nations,
This is the world's great need;
Strive for good-will enduring,
City of Mankind's breed!

DICKENS AND THE POOR.

Novelist's Works Are Connected With the Hundred Neediest Cases.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I wonder if you are aware that no less a man than Charles Dickens wrote an appeal—more than one—in behalf of your Hundred Neediest Cases. Yet it is quite true, I assure you.

Let it not be said that Dickens had never heard of THE TIMES, as it is today, or of the Hundred Neediest Cases, as they are today. That proves nothing. Details they may be, indeed, but they cannot blot out the great essential facts; and these were certainly known to him at their fullest.

Dickens, for example, knew not only the newspapers of his day, but he also knew full well the underlying principles upon which a great newspaper of any era must be built—principles without which it must fall short—principles through which it benefits its day and age. Hence it is that I say he essentially knew THE TIMES of 1926, and knew it well.

As for the Hundred Neediest Cases, the great novelist made so many references to the victims of poverty and distress, not only in his books but in his letters and speeches, that it is easy, indeed, to demonstrate how truly his heart went out to the submerged in life.

In Forster's "Life," for example, we read that "at Manchester, he spoke mainly on a matter always nearest his heart—the education of the very poor. He protested against the danger of calling a little learning 'dangerous,' declared his preference for the very least of the little over none at all; * * * told his listeners of the real and paramount danger he had lately taken Longfellow to see in the nightly refuges of London, 'thousands of immortal creatures condemned without alternative or choice to tread, not what our great poet calls the primrose path to the everlasting bonfire, but one of jagged flints and stones, laid down by brutal ignorance; and contrasted this with the unspeakable consolation and blessings that a little knowledge had shed on men of the lowest estate and most hopeless means, 'watching the stars with Ferguson, the shepherd's boy; walking the streets with Crabbe, a poor barber; here in Lancashire with Arkwright, a tallow-chandler's son; with Franklin, shoemaking with Bloomfield in his garret; following the plow with Burns, and, high above the noise of the loom and hammer, whispering courage in the ears of workers I could this day name in Sheffield and in Manchester.'"

And note what he said in a speech at a sanitary fund dinner:

> "But give him [the poor man] and his a glimpse of heaven through a little of its light and air; give them water; help them to be clean; lighten the heavy atmosphere in which their spirits flag and which makes them the callous things they are; take the body of the dead relative * * * from where such loathsome familiarity deprives death itself of awe; and then, but not before, they will be brought willingly to hear of Him whose thoughts were so much with the wretched and who had compassion for all human sorrow."

It was in April, 1844, that he wrote to a gentleman who had advised him of having read the "Christmas Carol" aloud at a Christmas gathering of poor people living in his neighborhood:

> "I assure you that it would have given me heartfelt satisfaction to be in your place when you read my little 'carol.' * * * I have great faith in the poor. To the best of my ability I always endeavor to present them in a favorable light to the rich; and I shall never cease, I hope, until I die, to advocate their being made as happy and as wise as the circumstances of their condition, in its utmost improvement, will admit of their becoming. * * * Any marks of their approval and confidence, such as you relate to me, are most acceptable to my feelings and go at once to my heart."

"Barnaby Rudge," with its unforgettable passage regarding the houseless poor who wander by night over the pavements of great cities; "Bleak House," with its poignant delineation of Tom-all-Alones, where poor Jo huddled—these and many another passage tell a like story of Dickens's deep sympathy with the miserable and the stricken.

It was not merely words with him, either—powerful as words such as his may be. His hand went into his pocket not a few times, particularly in aid of the blind.

So it is that I feel like pointing out to you not so much that Charles Dickens, were he alive today, would be heartily "with" THE TIMES in its great work, but that he is indeed actually by your side, here and now, today, through the spirit that animates such words as I have quoted, and many more like them, and that are a living force wherever good books are read and wherever Christmas thoughts fill the heart.

How to Prevent Colds.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

About a week ago one of your short editorials had something to say about "The Far Too Common Cold." The inference was that doctors are ignorant of either a preventive or a remedy.

Probably this is true if the case is considered in its largest aspects. It happens, however, that my family uses a preventive which has worked very well indeed. In my own case I do not recall a failure. My sister's family uses a different preventive with equal success.

Both these preventives are very simple, but both must be applied in the incipient stages of a cold. All I do is to drink, at hourly intervals, a half glass of water in which a teaspoonful of common baking soda has been dissolved. Three or four such doses usually prove sufficient. My sister uses a "cascara-bromo quinine and reports excellent results. Here, again, the use is made when it is felt that a cold is developing.

Our Own Tax on Bachelors.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

THE TIMES editorial "In Chase of the Celebate" omitted mention of one very important example of taxation of bachelors, namely, the Federal income tax. It is true that the act is not captioned, "An Act to Impose Special Taxation Upon the Unmarried," but such taxation is the net result of the deductions allowed to those having wives and children.

URGES LAND BANKS FOR LATIN-AMERICA

Dr. Gallegos at Pan-American Meeting Asks Amendment of Federal Law.

TELLS OF MANY BENEFITS

Consul of El Salvador Declares Vital Crops Would Be Aided—Ship Board Service Pledged.

An amendment to the Federal Land Act, permitting the extension of banks to Latin American countries was urged yesterday by Dr. Arrieta Gallegos, Consul of El Salvador in an address before the Pan American Commercial Congress at the Hotel Roosevelt. Dr. Gallegos explained that several banks of the Federal Reserve System already had established branches in Latin America and that it would be a simple, yet advantageous thing for Congress to permit the extension of the Land Banks to these countries.

The Consul told of the native and tropical crops of his country and of the cost of raising them. He said these were vital to the United States and because it took six years to mature a rubber crop at $800 an acre and that a sisal crop could not be developed in less than five years at a slightly lower cost, the agriculturists of his country were hard put because of the heavy rate on loans. He said that if Congress should amend the Federal Land Act to permit bank extension his country would be in a position not only to help itself but to help the United States obtain at least two products which are a vital necessity.

Captain R. D. Gatewood, a member of the Shipping Board, speaking as Chairman T. V. O'Connor, said that in presenting proposed routes to Congress the board had emphasized the importance of "Route Number One" between the United States and South America. He said this country would never deplete its service in the American trade. The Board would certain types of vessels to enter competition with other lines now carrying on an active trade with the countries south of us, he said, declaring that as soon as these vessels were available the United States would then be in a position to give a fast and efficient service to South America. He said that South America patronize the vessels of this country not to the exclusion of all others "but to give them at least an even break."

A review of the economical and industrial progress of Latvia since its establishment eight years ago was presented by Arthur B. Lalle, Consul General in New York. He said Latvia had made special provisions for the carrying of goods to Russia and rapid development by Latvian business men as mediaries between United States and Russian trade. He also cited a credit scheme between American and Latvian insurance agencies to provide credit for Latvian ports with the United States.

W. M. Neal, Assistant to the Vice President of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, in a discussion of transportation and its relation to the development of world trade, thanked the United States for its cooperation in encouraging the settlement of agriculturists in his country.

At a dinner last night at the Roosevelt William H. Page, representing the Columbus Memorial Association announced that incorporation would take place this week of the Columbus Memorial Fund," to raise money for the erection of a statute of the discoverer at Palos, Spain. Alexander P. Moore, former Ambassador to Spain, was toastmaster in charge. Romolo Angeloni, commercial attache here of Italy, and Rafael de Casares, Consul General of Spain, spoke in appreciation of the project. Other speakers were Robert Owens, Frederick H. Allen, Dr. Rodolfo Braga, Philip L. Green, Henry Mason, Alberto Palacios and C. Ledyard Mowat. Thomas H. Birch, Chairman of the New York Committee on the Congress, presided.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. Clarence J. Owens, President of the congress. There will be another session today.

K. OF C. HOME OPENS SOON

Equipment in New 15-Story Building Nearly Installed.

The installation of equipment in the new $3,500,000 home of the New York Chapter of the Knights of Columbus at Eighth Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street, will be completed [illegible] and the building formally opened to the public next Monday. It was announced yesterday by J. Lawrence Duffy, manager of the building.

The fifteen-story building, which will serve as a clubhouse for the order, as well as a hotel for members of the order and their families, was dedicated recently by Charles Hayes. Since then the [illegible] which is separated from the main building, has been used on several occasions for entertainments and dances.

The hotel section of the building provides accommodations for 320 guests. Elsewhere in the clubhouse are [illegible] council rooms, large and small ballrooms, a dining room equipped to serve 1,000 persons, billiard room, lounge, [illegible] ladies' writing room, gymnasium, bowling alleys, squash and handball courts and two swimming pools.

BOOK PUBLISHERS ELECT

S. L. Weedon, Cleveland, New President at Concluding Session.

The twelfth annual convention of the Subscription Book Publishers' Association concluded its sessions yesterday in the Hotel Astor with an address by Dr. C. H. Lane of the Federal Board for Vocational Education on the need for more books in rural communities, discussions of business for the coming year, and the annual election of officers.

S. L. Weedon of Cleveland was elected President, David S. Beasley of New York, Vice President, and James E. Stronks of Iowa City, Iowa, Secretary-Treasurer. They also will serve as members of the Board of Directors. Others elected to serve on the board were: Lansing F. Smith of St. Louis, F. C. New, New York; Rayment B. Branch, Chicago, and M. J. Kinsella, Buffalo.

ASKS HOUSE INQUIRY ON FORD'S CHARGES

Bloom Offers Resolution Calling for Action on Statement Jews Control Federal Reserve.

GOES TO RULES COMMITTEE

New York Democrat Urges Wide Investigation to Prove Truth or Falsity of Accusations.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—A Congressional investigation of the charges to be made in the Dec. 25 issue of The Dearborn Independent, a publication owned by Henry Ford, that "the International Jew is in direct control of all financial centres of Government, including the United States Federal Reserve System" is asked in a resolution introduced in the House today by Representative Bloom, Democrat, of New York.

The resolution avers that the statement quoted, if true, "presents grave charges concerning the operation of the Government, the activities of the Federal Reserve System and the Jewish people," and directs the appointment of a committee of seven members to determine their "truth or falsity." It provides that the committee shall be clothed with broad powers, including authority to compel the production of records and to enforce the attendance of witnesses.

The resolution was referred to the Rules Committee, and Mr. Bloom will seek an early report to the House. He said he would rise in the House to a question of personal privilege and insist that in view of the charge implicating the Federal Reserve System with a sinister control, the House should take cognizance of the incident.

Believes Accusations False.

"I believe the accusations made against the Federal Reserve System are without foundation in fact and would be speedily disproved by a Congressional investigating committee," said Mr. Bloom.

Commenting on the reply to the challenge issued by Nathan Straus of New York that the whole controversy be referred to a jury of disinterested men, Mr. Bloom added:

"There is a good old saying that 'money talks.' I believe that up to now Mr. Ford's money has been talking and that something else besides money will be heard from in the future. Mr. Ford stated that the only competent judges were the American people and that it is now proper for the Jewish spokesmen to meet the issue by addressing their defense to the American people. My resolution carries out his suggestion. Our Government is a representative form of government, with the Congress of the United States representing the people. I am appealing to the people through the Congress to decide whether Mr. Ford's statement is correct or not.

Gives Ford Chance to Reveal Facts.

"In his statement Mr. Ford said he would direct those inquiring into his assertions to the facts. This is a chance for Mr. Ford to direct the committee proposed in my resolution to the sources of his information upon which he based his charges.

"For the past few years Mr. Ford has been making errant charges against the Jewish people. More than any other man today he is responsible for the increased wave of racial hatred and intolerance. Now he comes, after most people, regardless of their faith, had thought that this wave of anti-Semitism, which has no place in the United States, had died down, and revives his years-old charges.

"He says specifically 'that the International Jew is in direct control of all financial centres of Government, including the United States Federal Reserve system.'

"Mr. Ford makes a lot of other charges, but they for the most are irrelevant and are without foundation in fact. His charge that the Jewish people control the financial system of the United States is equally without foundation and fact, but this is a specific and serious charge which if made against the Catholics, the Baptists, the Methodists, the Episcopalians, or any other people would demand, and should have, an immediate investigation."

Text of the Resolution.

Mr. Bloom's resolution read:

Whereas, on Dec. 11, 1926, one Henry Ford of Detroit, Mich., is reported to have issued the following statement: 'That the International Jew is in direct control of all financial centres of Government, including the United States Federal Reserve system';

Whereas such statement if true presents grave charges concerning the operation of the Government, the activities of the Federal Reserve system and the Jewish people;

Resolved, That a select committee of seven members of the House of Representatives be appointed to inquire into the truth or falsity of said statement and recommend such action as it may deem necessary.

Resolved further, That said committee is also hereby authorized and empowered to appoint such subcommittees as it may deem advisable, and the said committee or any sub-committee thereof is hereby authorized to sit during the sessions of the House or during any recess of the House, and to hold its sessions in such places as the committee may determine; to require by subpoena or otherwise the attendance of witnesses, the production of books, papers and documents, to administer oaths and affirmations, and to take testimony.

Resolved further, That the Speaker is hereby authorized to issue subpoenas to witnesses upon the request of the committee or any subcommittee thereof at any time, including any recess of the Congress; and the Sergeant at Arms is hereby empowered and directed to serve all subpoenas and other processes put into his hands by said committee or any subcommittee thereof.

Resolved further, That said select committee shall have the right at any time to report to the House in one or more reports the results of its inquiries, with such recommendations as it may deem advisable.

LOUIS MARSHALL IS 70.

President Among Those Sending Congratulatory Messages.

Louis Marshall, lawyer and civic leader, celebrated his seventieth birthday yesterday—at work at his desk in his office at 120 Broadway. Last night he spent at home, 47 East Seventy-second Street, in the midst of an informal family gathering and with many friends who had called to offer their felicitations.

Although he went to his office yesterday with a full intention of working as usual, Mr. Marshall accomplished little besides opening hundreds of letters and telegrams of congratulation from all parts of the country.

President Coolidge wrote in part:

"My heartiest congratulations to you on your completion of seventy useful years. May it be a very happy day and may your strength be preserved to carry on your good work. Your fine legal attainments always are used to further justice for all, and your intelligent interest in public causes has made you an outstanding citizen for many years. My best wishes for health and happiness."

Among others who sent messages were Governor Smith, Charles Evans Hughes, Judge Harlan F. Stone and Elihu Root.

W. H. PORTER'S WILL AIDS WIDOW CHIEFLY

She Gets Third of Estate of Morgan Partner as Well as Residuary Portion.

$1,350,000 DISPOSED OF Trusts Established for Child and Four Grandchildren—Funds for Middlebury College, Churches.

The will of the late William H. Porter, partner in J. P. Morgan & Co., who died on Nov. 30, was filed for probate at Mineola yesterday. The bulk of the estate was left to his family and legacies were also provided for an extended list of individuals and institutions. The actual bequests, either in cash or through the establishment of trust funds, aggregated $1,350,500. The estate is expected considerably to exceed this amount. Appraisal has not been completed and no estimate of the total was made.

The will, dated Dec. 22, 1921 and supplemented by codicil dated Nov. 5, 1924, makes the widow, Mrs. Esther Jackson Porter, chief beneficiary. She receives outright one-third of the entire estate and a life interest in the residuary portion. In addition, Mrs. Porter receives the pictures, library, silver and plate, furniture, automobiles, horses and carriages. For his only surviving child, Mrs. Helen Porter Davisson, wife of Richard L. Davisson, the decedent establishes a trust fund of $500,000 and makes her heir to the residuary estate upon her mother's death.

Mrs. Porter, the widow; Richard L. Davisson, son-in-law, and Herbert K. Twitchell, President of the Seamen's Bank for Savings, are made executors of the will, to serve without bond. The Bankers' Trust Company is named trustee.

Interest in Morgan Firm.

In reference to the interest of Mr. Porter in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., the will makes the following provisions: "It is my will, and I hereby direct that if at the time of my decease I am a partner in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. any statement made by J. P. Morgan or the other partners of said firm as to the amount of my interest in said firm shall be accepted by my executrix and executors as conclusive without any further verification thereof."

The will creates a series of trusts for the four grandchildren of Mr. Porter. For Jamie Porter, daughter and only child of the late Lieutenant James Jackson Porter, who was killed in the Meuse-Argonne offensive in October, 1918, a trust of $300,000 is provided, supplementing two trusts of $100,000, each made for the child by her grandfather during his lifetime. For Richard L. Davisson Jr., Joan Davisson and William Porter Davisson, children of Mrs. Helen Porter Davisson, trusts of $100,000 are provided each, the income of which is available for the maintenance and education of the children. To his son-in-law, Richard L. Davisson, Mr. Porter devises $25,000, and a trust of $25,000 is created for his daughter-in-law, now Mrs. John C. Hughes.

Mr. Porter's two sisters, Mary Elizabeth Constantine and Hattie S. Porter, receive $50,000 each, and also bequeathed to them as joint tenants are two farms at Cornwall, Vt. A niece, Mrs. Mabel Georgiana Lane, receives $25,000; Mrs. Julia Jackson Butts, a sister-in-law, receives $10,000; Hayden H. Butts, $10,000; Mrs. Ida Porter Hitchcock, an aunt, $3,000, and Maud Porter Gresshans, a cousin, $2,000.

Middlebury College received $10,000, supplementing gifts made during Mr. Porter's lifetime of a hospital, an athletic field and an endowment fund. The sum of $5,000 is left to the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor of the City of New York, $5,000 to the Central Presbyterian Church of New York, $5,000 to the Congregational Church at Middlebury, Vt., and $2,500 to the Congregational Church at Cornwall, Vt.

The following relatives and friends are each to receive legacies of $1,000: Ella, Nora, Reuben, William and Victoria Sampson, Mrs. Jennie R. Ford, Alice A. Hinman, Florence A. Sampson, Minnie A. Field, Merrit B. Hurd, Mary Duff, Ida Duff and Flora Duff Cunningham, Mrs. Lizzie W. Weddell, Cornelius Porter Kitchel, Allan F. Kitchel, John Shearer, Cora Porter Chandler, Alice I. Twitchell, Ella V. Twitchell, Mrs. Libbie Porter, Mrs. Flora Porter Kitchel and Dr. Lee M. Hurd.

DAVISONS HAVE A SON.

Born at the Home of Wife's Father, James A. Stillman, on Monday.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Davison on Monday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stillman, at 900 Park Avenue. Mr. Davison is the son of the late Mr. Davison and of Mrs. Henry P. Davison of 4 East Sixty-sixth Street, where he and his wife plan to make their home this Winter.

The marriage of the former Miss Anne Stillman to Mr. Davison took place at her mother's home in Pleasantville, N. Y., on Oct. 18, 1924. It was there that her parents met for the first time after their long court battle. They were reunited last Spring, and after a trip to Europe spent the Summer and Autumn at their camp in Canada, recently returning to this city. With them at their home is their son's fiancée, Miss Lena Wilson, who is visiting them from her home near the Stillman camp in the Canadian woods.

CARNEGIE'S COMRADE DIES.

A. P. Brenaman, Civil War Telegrapher, Had Pension From Friend.

Special to The New York Times.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Dec. 14.—Alfred F. Brenaman, aged 84, a telegraph operator on the Union side in the Civil War, who worked with the late Andrew Carnegie on the Pennsylvania Railroad between Pittsburgh and Harrisburg before the Civil War, died today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Arthur B. Bright, at Elkins, W. Va. The body will be brought here for burial on Thursday afternoon. Brenaman had been station agent for the Cumberland & Pennsylvania Railroad for more than forty years.

He enlisted in the 136th Pennsylvania Volunteers and was assigned to the military operators' division. It was Brenaman who gave the alarm to distant Federal forces when the McNeill Rangers made a sudden dash on two hotels here on Feb. 21, 1865, and captured the Union Generals Crook and Kelley. It was one of the most daring exploits of the whole war. Brenaman hurried to headquarters, readjusted the smashed instruments and managed to get a current by crossing two wires and touching them with his tongue, thus getting the news to headquarters at New Creek, where Major William McKinley, later President of the United States, was stationed.

CAPTAIN JOHN T. TAYLOR.

The Grandson of President William Henry Harrison Dies in Kansas.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 14.—Cincinnati friends of Captain John T. Taylor, grandson of President William Henry Harrison and Civil War veteran, heard today of his death at the Soldiers Hospital in Leavenworth, Kan., at the age of 85.

Captain Taylor was born in the old Harrison homestead at North Bend, Ohio. He was 19 years old when the Civil War began, and he promptly enlisted as a private in the Fifth Ohio Cavalry, organized by his father, Colonel W. H. Taylor, and recruited chiefly from Cincinnati and vicinity.

During the war Captain Taylor was on the staff of General Sherman. His father became chief of cavalry of Sherman's army.

G. E. BLACKWELL DIES SUDDENLY

A Well-Known Lawyer of More Than 40 Years' Practice in the City.

ACTIVE IN QUEENS POLITICS

Once Assistant Corporation Counsel—Blackwell's Island Owned by Ancestor in 1650.

George Engs Blackwell, a practicing lawyer in this city for more than forty years, head of the firm of Blackwell Brothers, 63 Wall Street, died suddenly yesterday at his apartment, 1,170 Fifth Avenue, at the age of sixty-six. The funeral services will be held privately.

Mr. Blackwell was a member of one of New York's oldest families, the name being familiar to the public through Blackwell's Island, which was owned in 1650 by Robert Blackwell, an ancestor. Mr. Blackwell was born in Astoria, Long Island City, where his family had resided for more than two hundred years. He was a son of James Madison and Jeannet Engs Blackwell.

Graduating from Columbia College in 1880, and from the Columbia Law School two years later, Mr. Blackwell soon after was admitted to the bar and began practice with his brothers, organizing Blackwell Brothers. During the administration of Mayor Low he served as Assistant Corporation Counsel in charge of Queens.

MOURN DANIEL J. GRIFFIN.

Church Is Filled at Services for the Dead Ex-Congressman.

Funeral services for Daniel J. Griffin, former Congressman and former Sheriff of Kings County, who died in St. Mary's Hospital on Saturday after an operation, were held yesterday in the Roman Catholic Church of St. Patrick. The funeral cortège contained sixty coaches and six barouches filled with floral tributes and friends of the dead Congressman. The Rev. Jeremiah J. Kent, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, celebrated the requiem mass, assisted by the Rev. James Manning as deacon and the Rev. John Clark as subdeacon.

Mayor James J. Walker, who with Governor Smith was to have been among the honorary pall bearers, paid his respects at the Griffin home on Monday night, but was unable to attend the funeral. Governor Smith was a witness in a court case in Riverhead, L. I., yesterday, and could not attend the services. Among those at the funeral were Controller Charles Berry, John McCooey, Democratic leader; Supreme Court Justice Mitchell May, James J. Heffernan, Superintendent of Buildings; Borough President James Byrne, Sheriff Frank Taylor, Thomas Mogan, Deputy Register, and Congressmen Thomas Cullen and Patrick Carley. The burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery.

GIRLS TOLD TO PAINT CHEEKS FROM INSIDE

Barnard Students Learn Value of Sports and Proper Food in Annual Health Week.

PROPER SHOES STRESSED

Treasure Hunt Has Keys for Food, Clothing, Exercise, Sunshine, Sleep and Cleanliness.

The advantages of correct shoes, clothes and posture are being told to Barnard College girls this week at the third annual Health Week, which closes on Friday. The students have been told that tennis racquets, baseballs and fruits "paint cheeks from the inside out," and are better than rouge, lipstick and powder.

An exhibit in the conference room shows a comparison of menus from different countries, with a display of all kinds of clothes and shoes designed to promote health.

The results of the first contest on the week's program, a Treasure Hunt, were announced yesterday. In this, two groups of hunters—one composed of Faculty members and the other of students—received limericks with hidden directions, which led them to the six symbolical keys of health secreted in various parts of the college buildings. On the six keys—food, clothing, sleep, sunshine, exercise and cleanliness—were directions which led the searchers to the prize. The winning Faculty team was composed of Professors E. M. Earle and W. A. Braun and Miss Leah Gregg.

Yesterday afternoon, Dr. Joseph K. Hart, associate editor of The Survey, spoke on habit formation in exercise and diet. He urged the girls to forget patent medicines and seek "the real medicine of fresh air, exercise and proper food."

Shoes form the principal topic of discussion today. A foot demonstration will be given at noon by Edward Matthews of Antioch College, who will show the relation of shoes to health and tell of Antioch College's three-year research on footwear for women. At the tea to be given this afternoon Miss Martha Graham, formerly head of the Denishawn Dancing School in Los Angeles, will speak on the value of esthetic dancing. Announcement will also be made today of the winners in the poetry, poster and posture contests held among the students.

A fashion show features tomorrow's program with twenty Barnard girls wearing the prevailing modes and another group displaying the evolution of clothes, from the Grecian period to the modern.

Results of sleeping, walking and health competitions staged during the week will be announced Friday. The last contest, a swimming meet, will be held in the pool at 4 o'clock.

In the health contest blue ribbons are to be presented for posture, weight, footwear and clear complexions. Winning four blue ribbons permits a girl to wear an orange ribbon.

Miss Dorothy Nye is General Chairman of Health Week, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Voisiawsky of the class of '27. Nine subchairmen, all students, helped plan the program.

SLAIN AT HIS DOOR.

Bootlegger's Customer Said to Have Shot Him to Death.

Early yesterday morning several men knocked on the second-floor apartment door at 6,822 Third Avenue, Brooklyn, where Louis Wallinger, 42 years old, lived with his wife and five children. Shortly after her husband had slipped on his bathrobe and had gone to the door Mrs. Davina Wallinger heard shots, and, running wildly out, stumbled on his body lying on the floor.

According to the story she later told the police of the Fort Hamilton Station, Wallinger had a police record. He had been in prison often since 1905, she said, and on coming from Sing Sing a little over a year ago had decided to reform. Recently he began selling liquor.

Wednesday night when two men called at his home for whisky it was sold to them and they departed, only to return early yesterday morning with a demand for more. Mrs. Wallinger stayed in bed while her husband answered the door, but she said later that the voices were the same. There were shots and Wallinger was found dead in the hallway by his wife.

Late yesterday afternoon detectives arrested William Bailey, 27 years old, of 653 Fifty-fifth Street, Brooklyn, and charged him with homicide in connection with the shooting. Three men were also detained as material witnesses. They were Edward De Cotean, 24 years old, of 765 Sixty-first Street; John Brosman, 29 years old, of 818 Fifty-ninth Street, and Charles Keller, 23 years old, of 5,822 Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn.

POLICEMAN IS CHARGED WITH ENTERING HOUSE

Suspended and Held as Couple Say He and Two Companions Demanded Cash and Whisky.

Patrolman Joseph S. Tuite, 31 years old, a member of the Police Department for six years and attached to the St. George Precinct on Staten Island, was suspended yesterday and held without bail for examination Friday on charges of felonious assault and attempted robbery.

Tuite was arrested with William Smith of 67 Cottage Place, Port Richmond, and Francis Whalen of 133 Newark Avenue, Elm Park, both chauffeurs, who were held on the same charges on the complaint of Mr. and Mrs. John Petrowski of 37 John Street, Elm Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Petrowski told Captain of Detectives Ernest Van Wagner that Tuite, holding a pistol, and the two chauffeurs forced their way into their home on Dec. 9 and demanded money and whisky. When told there was none of either in the house they searched the place, Petrowski said, disturbing his wife in her room.

The chauffeurs were arrested first and, according to the police, admitted the charges, naming Tuite as their companion. The Petrowskis identified the three men in a line-up at Police Headquarters. Magistrate Croak held them without bail and Police Commissioner McLaughlin ordered Tuite's suspension.

Tuite was suspended two months ago for six weeks on a complaint of attempted assault made by a woman. He was restored to duty a fortnight ago. On seven other occasions he was charged with violations of police regulations. He is married and lives at 21 Cottage Place, Port Richmond.

Senator Shows Past and Prospective Cost to France Is 1,124,000,000 Frs.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Dec. 14.—Senator Charles Dumont has completed a report on the struggle against Abd-el Krim, which will be circulated in the Senate in order to enlighten the upper chamber on the expenditures in the campaign against the Moroccan chieftain.

Stating that before next Summer political action and the military demonstration may be both completed, Senator Dumont outlines the results achieved and the means employed in the campaign.

In order to wind up the campaign the Government must procure 327,000,000 francs in addition to the 797,000,000 francs already voted by Parliament, a total of 1,124,000,000 francs.

From April 13 to July 24, 1925, losses aggregated 6,000 men, with only 30,000 to 40,000 engaged, or about 20 per cent. After July, with greater numbers involved, the losses fell to 1 per cent.

The Senator uses figures to justify the assertion that the loss of life and capital would have been less had the Government quickly sent a large force at the beginning of the Riffian aggression. He points out that only three danger points remain: north and northeast of Ouezzan, the north slopes of the upper and middle Atlas, and the southern slopes in the Anti-Atlas range.

APPROVES SUBWAY BID.

Board Suggests $14,172,470 Contract Go to Rosoff Company.

The Board of Transportation sent yesterday to the Board of Estimate a recommendation for the award of the contract for the construction of the Sixth Avenue-Church Street extension of the Eighth Avenue Subway to the Rosoff Subway Construction Company at the bid price of $14,172,470.50. There are two sections involved in this contract, and of the twenty-five bids received, the Rosoff company was the lowest on bids for the individual sections and for the two together.

The award will bring the total of contracts under construction for the city's new subway system to $108,177,627.

POLING HEADS FEDERATION.

Marble Collegiate Church Minister Succeeds the Rev. J. M. Moore.

Announcement was made yesterday of the appointment of Dr. Daniel A. Poling as President of the Greater New York Federation of Churches, succeeding the Rev. John M. Moore, pastor of the Marcy Avenue Baptist Church, Brooklyn.

Dr. Poling has been Vice President of the Federation for the last two years. He is the minister of the Marble Collegiate Church and National President of the United Society of Christian Endeavor.

Does Your Office Say—
"Good Morning!"?

—or does the untidy, badly marred furniture greet you with a complaining scowl, as if to say, "Well, here you are again. I hope you have your usual fussy day!"?

Your office has a personality. If it is cheerful and human, yet businesslike, it makes you feel better and work better. If it isn't—well, you know!

Why not make your office look successful? Stop in and see our successful looking office furniture. Everything from the most modest to the most elaborate. All at pleasing prices.

Two Great Buildings Aglow with Christmas Joy

From the Founder's Writings.

Thank You, Sir, for Naming Our Store "A Big Christmas Playground"

Another smiling friend says, "We all feel like Christmas when we get in Wanamaker's."

"Me, too," her cousin from up country says, adding, "we realize there is no drawback to your intentions to have us enjoy this big, roomy place, whether we come to look or to buy. Oh, but we do like it all over."

Well, Now, Good Friends, these short, busy days give you little time to read anything.

Please take it as a fact that these big, well-built stores, from top to bottom, are "chock full" of the best goods obtainable. They are rapidly selling because properly priced. We do not hold goods at high prices one day to mark them down the next, to then rush them off as a sale of reduced goods.

We know that poor quality goods, highly advertised, are never cheap, though they may look so at first.

We are content and happy in just doing the right thing every day to the best of our knowledge and belief.

(Signed) John Wanamaker

On Exhibition and For Sale
Rare Hooked Rugs and Runners

The quaint flavor of Colonial New England permeates this collection of pieces of a peculiarly American art. Yearly the number of good hooked rugs offered for sale becomes smaller; the importance of this collection is therefore not to be overlooked.

The rugs are in excellent condition—apparently their Colonial owners used them but rarely, and then with great care.

Charming are these old designs—a kitten lapping cream; doves cuddling; a horse with tail and mane streaming in the wind; ducks, cows and oaken bucket.

$15 $27.50 $39.50 $49.50

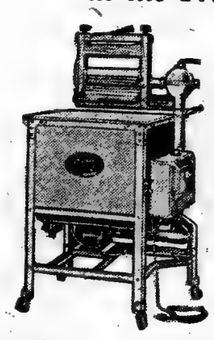
$170 Electric Washers, $99.50
Just 100—Each Brings Leisure and Happiness in the True Spirit of Christmas Helpfulness!



G. R. S. washers have a heritage of success and endurance. They are made by a builder of railroad signals that must have precision, speed and safety. Used in commercial laundries, the washers give the equal of 100 to 150 years of ordinary domestic service. In fact no G. R. S. washer has ever worn out, in the knowledge of the builders! The frame is structural iron—the type used in skyscrapers.

The motor is of quarter horsepower.

The gears are cold-cut with the accuracy characteristic of fine motor cars.

All mechanism is concealed—and the grease sealed in for life.

The cylinder is aluminum.

The clothes are cleansed as thoroughly and gently as delicate fabrics are cleansed by hand. Simply plunges up and down in the hot suds 54 times a minute in constantly changing water, by a rotating, reversing motion of the cylinder. No pressure is exerted on the clothes.

Extra large capacity—8 double sheets or equivalent. The WRINGER: A big advance in strength, simplicity and safety.

Locks in choice of 5 positions. Safety controls.

NEEDIEST FUND GETS $3,000 IN TWO GIFTS

Franklin Simon Gives $2,000, and $1,000 Is Received From a 'Friend.'

THREE SEND IN $500 EACH

Total in Hand, $97,722, Is Still Far Behind the Figure of $260,998 for Last Year.

CHILDREN SEND SAVINGS

Contributors Cheer the Distressed With Messages of Hope—Clubs Aid the Cause.

Contributions of $17,804.36 increased the total for the neediest cases yesterday to $97,722.38, but left the fund far short of its goal. Three hundred and forty-five needy cases were provided for last year by the fund, which totaled $260,998.28.

More than $163,000 is needed before last year's total is equaled. Relief will be extended on a still larger scale this year if contributions make it possible.

The relief that is provided by contributions meets all the needs of the afflicted families. It furnishes medical care, a home, food, clothing and other necessaries of life. New earning power is developed by re-educating the partially disabled, and teaching trades to children who are soon to reach working age.

Contributions will make it possible for devoted mothers to keep young sons and daughters who would otherwise have to be placed in institutions. Children who are now looking wistfully out of the windows of orphan asylums will be enabled to return to their mothers, sisters and brothers after partings which were compelled by poverty and bereavement. For the very aged, life will be made easier and happier. For hopeless invalids, life will be made less hard.

Case Contact With the Needy.

The aim of bringing about the complete recovery of needy families by rebuilding health and developing latent earning capacity, was emphasized by the following letter from Franklin Simon, who contributed $2,000:

Hundred Neediest Cases:

It is a great pleasure in enclosing two checks, one for The New York Times Hundred Neediest Cases in the amount of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000), and one for the Charity Organization Society in the amount of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) for those of the Hundred Neediest Cases which come under the care of the Charity Organization Society.

It has been my privilege this last year to come more closely in touch with what one might term the "inside workings" of welfare organizations, particularly the Charity Organization Society, and I must say that I have been impressed, not only with the great patience and sympathy they exhibit, but with the efficiency of their work.

With hundreds of families under care, the Charity Organization Society has so decentralized its work through its nine neighborhood offices that each family has a close personal relationship with the social worker dealing with it. I have been impressed, too, with the calibre of these social workers. Most of them are college-trained young women. They come from backgrounds of intelligence and culture. They are doing social work because they prefer it to more lucrative work.

These Charity Organization Society workers, I find, measure their success, not by the number of families to whom they give relief, but by the number who eventually are enabled to get on without it. They have plans now for helping and guiding all of their families, included in the Hundred Neediest appeal, to the point where they can be proudly independent and self-supporting at the earliest opportunity.

This seems to me to be the only sound principle for social work to rest on. It would otherwise be palliative and few of us would be interested in giving.

Very sincerely yours,
FRANKLIN SIMON.

Sends a Second $1,000.

The second $1,000 contribution was sent by "A Friend," who wrote: "I am enclosing a second contribution of $1,000 to the Hundred Neediest Cases, asking you to please list it, like the former one, as 'From a Friend,' and apply it especially to Cases 53, 56, 61, 80, 82, 87, 89, 93 and 96. Wishing you all success in this splendid work."

Other large contributors were Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Heick, $500; J. M. Breitenbach, $500; M. B. Belknap, $500; "In Memory of Elizabeth E. Garneau," $500; E. A. Bradford, $200; E. H., $200; F. Zuissy, $150.

Among the contributors of $100 were E. M. Clark, Marion S. Rodie, W. L. Anderson, Frederick L. Rodewald, Sylvonia Gorz, Lyle H. Olson, Warren D. Brown, Frederick H. Ecker, Natalie S. and Ralph S. Hopkins, Mrs. Z. Van Raalte, James F. Scrimshaw, "In Memory of Abraham Leipzig," H. Thebaud, B. F. Willcox, Edwin Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. Max Wolf, Larry and Dick Altschul, Mrs. Bennett J. King, C. F. Leng, Mrs. Samuel Sachs, "In Memory of Uncle Louis," Charles C. Thompson, D. L. Delaney and "Betty and Ned."

A contribution of $5 came with the following letter:

Dec. 12, 1926.

Hundred Neediest Cases Fund:

Till about two hours ago I thought I had a hard row to hoe. At that time I picked up the section of your paper describing the Hundred Neediest Cases.

How large our comparatively minor trials loom in our eyes until we hear about such cases as you seek to alleviate. Only then do we "count our blessings one by one" and we are amazed to find how many we have.

Greatly as I may need the enclosed contribution ($5), I send it gladly in the name of Him who said, "And ye do it unto the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me," knowing that it will help to make easier the rest of the path of some one whose need is infinitely greater than mine.

Wishing you all success in this wonderful work. XYZ.

Gift From Lehman Estate.

One check for $25 was the eighth contribution to the Hundred Neediest Cases from the estate of the late Charles Lehman. Mr. Lehman, who was a regular contributor during his lifetime, set aside a sum and provided by will that the interest should go annually to the Neediest Cases. Baldwin Schlesinger, executor of the Lehman estate, directed that the contribution should be divided between Cases 5 and 11.

An Appeal for Afflicted Fearful of Being Parted

CASE 79—Two Aged Sisters, Ill and Helpless, Fear They Will Be Separated.

Ellen, 63, and Harriet, 61, were both lying on cots in their single room. Ellen is suffering from cancer. Harriet is recovering from a broken jaw, a crushed leg and other injuries. Returning from the cigar factory where she works, she was knocked down by an automobile, which sped away. Their savings soon became exhausted. When an appeal for help was made, they were living on crackers, tea and soup sent in by neighbors almost as poor as they. Both women have dwelt all their lives in the neighborhood where their grandparents settled nearly a century ago. They cannot bear the thought of being separated and entreat to be allowed to remain together as long as they live.

Amount needed, $450.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Catholic Charities, 477 Madison Avenue. (Telephone Plaza 6542.)

One contributor wrote as follows:

Dec. 12, 1926.

Hundred Neediest Cases Fund:

Enclosed please find my Christmas Club check. For several years I have contributed small amounts to the Hundred Neediest Cases, and it occurred to me last year that I could give more at Christmas if I were to systematically save for this purpose during the year. Accordingly, I opened a Christmas Club account at our local bank, and I have had untold joy in making my deposit each time, realizing that it was to help some one else. The money is just a wee expression of love in return for my own many blessings and mercies. Please apply this check to Case 56. I should be glad to know whether the need of this self-sacrificing man is met. Very truly yours,

JULIA H. BEHRINGER.

The following passages are from letters sent by contributors:

Mary Van Dyke, Lansdown, Pa.—How deep into one's heart this appeal strikes. Every case seems as worthy as another, but I think I should like my small check for $10 (which I wish could be increased many times) to go to Case 13, if this case has not already been provided for. May the contributions this year be sufficient to relieve the 100 and many hundred more.

Wishes She Could Do More.

Harriet W. Doty—I enclose my check for the Hundred Neediest Cases. It is so small I hesitate to ask you to apply to any special case, but Case 17 especially appeals to me. I wish I could do more, for it is a privilege to contribute to this charity.

H. A. Coles—Enclosed you will find a check for $10 which we would like to donate to Case 20. It might prove a little help toward the unfortunate boy's chance in life. It is indeed a difficult task to choose from all these cases, when there is but $10 to give.

E. G. B.—The enclosed checks are only a tiny expression of the happiness which mother and I find in each other, and of course we want it to go with sincerest love and Christmas greetings to the mother and daughter of Case 8, who find their happiness in the same dear companionship.

Arthur Schultheis—Kindly accept my enclosed check, given with great thankfulness for my own good fortune, to the Hundred Neediest Cases.

Anonymous, Miami, Fla.—Please find enclosed my check for $50 as my contribution to what I consider the most deserving charity in the country.

Lieut. Col. W. J. Davis—Enclosed please find check for $10 to be applied as you may decide to help brighten the life of some one who is unfortunate.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cohn—Enclosed please find my check for $20, my small contribution on behalf of my wife and myself to your so worthy charity, in the hope that you may find in our great community at least 100,000 people to "go and do likewise."

Stephen D. Hirschman 2d—Use the enclosed check given to me as a present from "My Granddaddy," which I am sending to you to use in your good cause because I am so thankful that I got well.

Robert Levenson—The enclosed check for $10 is a small thank offering to God that fate has not included the writer nor his wife and boys among the Hundred Neediest Cases.

Saul Tilles—I am enclosing herewith contribution of my six-year-old son, Leo Tilles, in memory of his beloved mother and my dear wife. I sincerely hope that you will far exceed the amount required, as this is a most worthy cause.

W. J. B.—Please accept my check for $50, as enclosed herewith, as a donation for the Hundred Neediest Cases Fund, the appeal for which you so forcibly present each year.

Graeme Reid—Recently married and only just starting in business, my wife and I have found that "charity begins at home" must be a slogan for a while, but your appeal has been so great that I send the enclosed check, feeling that, though it may mean a week of bean and hamburger dinners for us, it is a sacrifice on our part that will repay some one of these cases a thousandfold. Let me add my wish for the continued success of what can only be called a great enterprise.

Many Reasons for Giving.

Dulcinea—Though we are a very young married couple just beginning life, God has been very good to us. He has blessed us with health, an angel baby and unbounded happiness. I have been reading the Neediest Cases and would like to contribute this small check to be applied as you deem it wise. Our Christmas Day will possess a deeper meaning if we know that we are doing our best to give some one "glimpses of heaven."

Sheldon and Lois Uttal—Sis and I feel very sorry for Mary and Marian and their folks, and we hope that forever after they will have as much comforts as we have.

George Egerton Harriman—This is our third annual contribution and we hope that each year to come will find us in the list of contributors to what we believe to be the finest and most splendidly conceived and executed charity open to people of modest means. We thank you for the opportunity to participate.

R. A. Nyman—Enclosed find $5 for Case 10. I hope that it will bring comfort and Christmas cheer to them. Being a domestic servant I cannot afford to give more, although I wish I could. I wish success to this great undertaking to help the needy.

David Silberstein, 9 Years Old—I am sending this check because I feel that there are others who need it more than myself and I am leaving it for you to decide which case it shall be used in.

Anne T. Stewart, Short Hills, N. J.—Our club, called V. O. V., has voted to contribute part of our club dues to the Hundred Neediest Cases Fund. Enclosed please find a check for $4 to be published under V. O. V., amount to be used where most needed.

Anonymous—Enclosed find this year's check for the Hundred Neediest Cases Fund. Winifred suggests it go to Wilfred Carrol, Case 3. May I make a suggestion as an aid to next year's fund? At this time of year thousands of people are opening up their next year's Christmas funds accounts with their local banks. Suppose each person also started a small account for this worthy cause. For example, if one was starting a $100 fund at $2 a week for himself, he might start a $25 fund at 50 cents a week for the fund. Then at Christmas time he would have the check for the fund and probably for more than he could give if he had not saved up for it.

Among the needy cases are the following:

CASE 76.

Valiantly, but in Vain, a Widow Labors for Her Four Little Ones.

Since the husband died after being ill for eighteen months with tuberculosis the wife has tried to support her four children. She worked out the rent by acting as janitress of the apartment and received $1 a month in addition. From 3 in the morning to 8 she scrubbed in an office building, then rushed home to feed the children and get them off to school. She clothed the four and herself by remaking old garments. They slept in two broken beds, one of which had, in place of a mattress, an old comforter stuffed with rags. When a visitor called on the family at the request of a clinic, it was found that for more than a day they had had nothing to eat except bread and cocoa made with water. The children are Walter, 13, Amos, 12, Hattie, 10, and Laura, 9. To sustain the mother in her struggle to bring up her children in their own home help is asked.

Amount needed, $1,000.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, 105 East Twenty-second Street. (Telephone Gramercy 7040.)

CASE 88.

Overwork and Illness Break Down the Father of Six.

School teachers took heed when the Hart children lost their color and grew pinched and pathetic. The family was found to be in the last extreme of poverty. Everything salable had been sold. Five children were sleeping in one bed. It was cold, and there were enough blankets only when they were packed together his way. The sixth child, Jack, a year old, sleeps in his carriage. The mother, besides caring for her six children and her invalid husband, was working as a janitress in the house, and her wages of $2.50 a week was their only income. The father had undermined his health in his struggle to support his large family. He had held three jobs at once—counterman in a restaurant from 6 in the morning to noon, waiter in another from noon to 6, and dishwasher in a third thence until 11 at night. He almost died of pneumonia and is now recovering slowly. The five who had to share the same blankets are Joe, 12, who is in 7B; Helen, 10, in 6B; Peter, 9, in 4A; Bruce, 6, in 2A, and Jennie, 4. They must be tided over.

Amount needed, $725.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities, 69 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn. (Telephone Triangle 0710.)

CASE 35.

A Widow Breaks Under the Burden of Supporting Three Little Ones.

It looks like a haunted house. There is not a trace of paint on its three stories. The boards are loose, warped and colored a water-soaked gray. Fragments of the tin coping hang crookedly from the edges of the roof. Up on the third floor, under the leaky roof, behind rattling shutters, lies a little boy in a plaster cast. This is Francis, 5, the eldest child. Maude is 3 and Nicholas 1. Their mother stays with them working on great bundles of men's clothes, which she carries to and from the factory. By unceasing toil she has managed to support her little folk during the two and a half years of her widowhood. She could not watch the children all the time. Francis got out into the street and was hit by an automobile. This anxiety, added to the heavy strain she is under, is draining her health. She will break down completely unless help comes from the outside.

Amount needed, $650.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities, 69 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn. (Telephone Triangle 0710.)

CASE 97.

Four Hollow-Eyed Children and a Father With a Weak Heart.

When the husband became an invalid from heart attacks, the wife sought to support the family by going out to sew on fur. A doctor, calling on the heart patient, noticed that the four children were thin and hollow-eyed. The mother's earnings could not buy the necessities of life. Charles, 14, runs errands after school, and in a year will be permitted by law to go to work. The other children are Nicholas, 10; Louis, 8, and John, 4. The father and mother have always been industrious and independent; it is a tragedy to them to have to ask for help.

Amount needed, $1,050.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, 105 East Twenty-second Street. (Telephone Gramercy 7040.)

CASE 81.

At 75, She Cannot Earn What Her Murdered Son Gave Her.

The information card on file with the charitable organization reads:

Name	Anna Hart
Birth date	Feb., 1849
Occupation	Domestic
Others in family	None
Relatives	None
Income or wages	None

She was supported for years by her son. Two years ago he was killed by an unknown assailant. He left a very small sum of money. To make this last, she went out at the age of 73 to do light housework and sewing. From month to month her strength failed. At the end of two years it was gone and her money had run out. When a settlement worker discovered her condition she was even without a blanket. She hopes to be able to remain in the room where she has lived for many years. Very little is required to maintain her.

Amount needed, $300.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, 105 East Twenty-second Street. (Telephone Gramercy 7040.)

CASE 19.

An Aunt Forgotten by the Two Motherless Boys She Reared.

Mary sent a large part of her wages to her sister every month to help her with her two boys. When the sister died, Mary moved down from Connecticut, where she worked, to New York and took the boys. She found employment here and was able to earn enough to support them. She raised them to manhood. They went to work. For a while all three lived comfortably. One morning the nephews did not appear at the usual time. The aunt found their beds had not been slept in. She discovered a note from the boys, telling her that they were tired of New York and were going out to see the world. She has not heard of them since. Crippled from rheumatism, her eyes dimmed with age, she could no longer support herself. An old friend took her in. The friend has become ill and they are at the end of their resources. The two aged women hope that they will be able to continue to enjoy each other's companionship, but outside help must make it possible.

Amount needed, $420.

Case attested and administered free of cost by the Catholic Charities, 477 Madison Avenue. (Telephone Plaza 6542.)

Checks should be made payable to the "Hundred Neediest Cases Fund." Contributions may be sent to The New York Times, Times Square, New York City, or to the following organizations which present the cases:

The NEW YORK ASSOCIATION FOR IMPROVING THE CONDITION OF THE POOR, 105 East Twenty-second Street.

The CHARITY ORGANIZATION SOCIETY, 105 East Twenty-second Street.

The STATE CHARITIES AID ASSOCIATION, 105 East Twenty-second Street.

The BROOKLYN BUREAU OF CHARITIES, 69 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn.

The FEDERATION FOR THE SUPPORT OF JEWISH PHILANTHROPIC SOCIETIES, 114 Fifth Avenue.

The CATHOLIC CHARITIES, 477 Madison Avenue.

Times Building	Times Square
Times Building	Subway Level
Downtown	7 Beekman St.
Wall St.	165 Broadway
Harlem	137 West 125th St.
Brooklyn	300 Washington St.

No agents or solicitors are authorized to seek contributions for the Hundred Neediest Cases.

Contributions to the Neediest Cases are exempt from the Federal and State income tax.

The six charity organizations which administer the Hundred Neediest Cases do so free of cost. There is no deduction of any kind, administrative or executive. Every dollar goes to the Neediest.

Mr. Rogers Suggests How A Fortune Can Be Made

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Co.
To the Editor of The New York Times:

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Dec. 14.—A fortune is in store in this country for the person that can make something out of slightly used Rumanian flags.

Yours for a universal visiting flag. WILL ROGERS.

WOMAN IS SILENCED BY OATH TO THIEF

Burglar Gets $15,000 Gems After Mrs. O'Donohue Swears on Bible.

HIS LIGHT AWAKENED HER

She Obtains Return of Engagement Ring by Pleading It Was Gift of Dead Husband.

News of the visit of a masked and armed burglar early Saturday morning to the home of Mrs. Adelaide O'Donohue at 24 Prospect Park West, Brooklyn, of an unusual conversation between him and Mrs. O'Donohue and of his final departure with $15,000 in jewelry after getting her to swear on a Bible that she would not give the alarm until he had been gone for fifteen minutes, became known last night.

Mrs. O'Donohue is the widow of John B. O'Donohue, who was a member of John O'Donohue & Son, a coffee firm of 88 Front Street which was founded nearly a century ago. With two maid servants and her chauffeur, she was asleep in her home, three blocks from Police Commissioner McLaughlin's home, when the burglar entered shortly before dawn Saturday.

He entered by forcing open a kitchen window and made his way to the third floor, where Mrs. O'Donohue was sleeping. He was rummaging in the boudoir off her bedroom when a beam from his flashlight awoke her.

Burglar Answers Her Cry.

"Who are you?" she shouted.

"I'm a burglar," replied the masked man, who carried a pistol in one hand.

"I thought you were a phantom," said Mrs. O'Donohue.

"Wake up. I'm not a phantom," was the reply. "I want your money and jewelry."

"They are in the bureau," said Mrs. O'Donohue.

The burglar paused for a moment. His flashlight turned on a painting.

"That's a corking fine painting you have there. Is it genuine?" he asked.

"Yes," responded the woman, now at ease as the result of the continued conversation. "We got it in Florence in 1905."

"What is it?"

"The name of it is 'Out of Chaos Comes the Dawn,'" replied Mrs. O'Donohue.

The thief peered out a window, to see that the dawn was coming up in streaks, and smiled.

He then went to the bureau and had some difficulty in opening a drawer. When he asked about it she told him how to open it. He picked up an emerald ring and turned toward her.

"Is this emerald paste?" he asked.

"No, it is the real thing," she replied.

Pleads for Engagement Ring.

Continuing his search for the jewels, he came on her engagement ring. As he held it up, Mrs. O'Donohue pleaded with him to let her keep it, saying that it was a gift from her husband.

"Where is your husband?" the man asked.

"He died ten years ago."

"That's too bad," said the thief. "I'll leave this ring, but I'm going to take the rest of the stuff."

He was about to leave when he discovered a Bible in the room. Looking at her sharply, he said:

"You are too cool to suit me. You will have to swear on this Bible that you won't scream until I'm gone fifteen minutes."

She put her hand on the Bible and went through the oath. The burglar turned to go.

"Are you a young man?" asked Mrs. O'Donohue.

"I'm twenty-eight."

Says He Steals for Christmas.

"Why do you do this sort of thing?"

"Oh, well, Christmas is coming and I need some money."

He started from the room.

"Good night," called Mrs. O'Donohue.

"I am saying good-bye," the thief replied with a courtly bow.

Mrs. O'Donohue kept her oath and did not give the alarm until the man had been gone for fifteen minutes. Then she notified the police, and detectives of the Bergen Street Station started a search. Up to last night they had found no trace of the man.

Charles A. O'Donohue, a brother-in-law of Mrs. O'Donohue, related the conversation between her and the burglar to the police.

CHOIR LEADER LED HER TO DRINK, WIFE SAYS

Head of Metuchen Board of Education Also Accused of Being in Gay Parties.

Testifying yesterday in Jersey City in an action before Vice Chancellor Fielder to obtain possession of her eight-year-old daughter, Barbara, Mrs. M. Deyo Mason, declared that her husband, James A. Mason, leader of the choir in the First Presbyterian church of Metuchen, N. J., and President of the Board of Education of the community had taught her to smoke and drink after their marriage.

Mrs. Mason, who is the daughter of Walter Deyo, wealthy Jersey City produce dealer, declared that her husband had frequently taken part in drinking parties in Greenwich Village studios. She said she was twenty-one years old when she was married in 1916 and said that her father had contributed $35 a week to the support of her and her husband.

She admitted that during a trip to Europe on the Orduna she had been friendly with C. Dinsdale, the wireless operator, and had discussed with him the possibility of a divorce from her husband.

Her husband testified there had been no infidelity on his part in the Greenwich Village parties and he said he did not question his wife's fidelity.

The Vice Chancellor put the case over until next Monday.

CLOAK HEADS AGREE TO ARBITRATE STRIKE

DECISION DUE BY DEC. 20

It Must Then Be Ratified by Both Sides—Locked-Out Workers Return at Once.

TWO RIOTS STAGED BY REDS

Police Battle 2,000 Who Storm the Plant of Jewish Forward—500 Hiss Sigman at Union Offices.

Termination of the cloakmakers' strike not later than Christmas was forecast last night as the result of an agreement made by the American Cloak and Suit Manufacturers Association and the Provisional Strike Committee, which was authorized on Monday by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union to supersede the local Left Wing and Communist leaders and effect an early settlement.

At 12:40 this morning the Provisional Strike Committee at Beethoven Hall unanimously adopted the report of the conference, submitted by Mr. Sigman after cheering him and presenting him with a bouquet of roses.

Within twenty-four hours after the General Executive Board took over the management of the Joint Board of Cloak Unions, the International Union officials induced the submanufacturers to cancel the lockout of nearly 18,000 workers. Union leaders and submanufacturers agreed to submit their differences to arbitration by Herbert Lehman, Prof. Lindsay Rogers of Columbia University and Judge Bernard L. Shientag, members of the Governor's Advisory Commission.

The decision of the arbitrators is to be made not later than Dec. 20 and is to be final. Ratification by both sides will bring peace between the union and the three employers' groups, the inside manufacturers, the jobbers and the submanufacturers after a strike that will have lasted six months.

The inside manufacturers, employing 8,000 workers, made an agreement five weeks ago, leaving approximately 27,000 workers still on strike. The Left Wing and Communist leaders, who are alleged to have promised a similar agreement to the submanufacturers employing 18,000 workers, refused to make such an agreement. The submanufacturers thereupon locked out 8,000 operatives employed under individual agreements. The remaining 10,000 employes of the submanufacturers were idle, as no agreement had been made on their behalf.

Under the agreement made last night the 8,000 locked-out workers will return to work immediately. The others will return after the arbitration decision has been accepted by both sides.

The differences to be decided by arbitration concern the right of reorganization in shops employing fewer than thirty-five workers, right of the union's business agent to visit shops unaccompanied by a representative of the submanufacturers and the unionization of designers.

Red Riots Staged.

Two riotous demonstrations were staged yesterday by the Communist leaders of the cloakmakers union.

Following denunciations by Communist speakers of President Morris Sigman of the International Union and the editorial policy of The Jewish Daily Forward, which has espoused Mr. Sigman's policies, a crowd of 2,000 men and women left the east side meeting halls and stormed the doors of the newspaper office at 175 East Broadway late yesterday afternoon. The crowd tried to reach the composing room and editorial offices, but were beaten back by foot and mounted policemen and detectives. Five arrests were made.

The newspaper had received reports of the threats made against it at the union meetings and had notified the police. After the strikers had been dispersed they reformed their ranks and charged the police several times. They disbanded after half an hour's futile efforts to reach the newspaper office.

Earlier a crowd of more than 500 visited the vicinity of the International Union, 3 West Sixteenth Street, and hissed and booed Mr. Sigman. International Union officials who scrutinized the crowd said it included "Communist watchers," agents "of the Left Wing and Communist leaders who have been paid from $30 to $52 a week while thousands of cloakmakers have been starving."

"The sole function of these watchers is to jam meetings called by Communist leaders, to silence critics of Communist policy and to make artificial Communist majorities wherever and whenever needed," declared Mr. Sigman. "Fully 300 of these people were paid off yesterday and many of them were among the 500 in yesterday's fake booing demonstration."

Louis Hyman, Chairman of the General Strike Committee, in a statement declared that two meetings of strikers yesterday had "vindicated" his leadership. He stated that following the meetings a "crowd of 7,000 booed the President of the International Union as a betrayer of their cause." The police estimated the crowd at 800.

Police Rush to Forward Plant.

A few minutes after the managers of the Jewish Daily Forward had notified Police Headquarters yesterday afternoon of the reports that the Communists had decided to attack the newspaper plant, twenty-five uniformed men of the Clinton Street Station and of the Traffic Squad under half a dozen sergeants hurried to the building. They were reinforced by the Industrial Squad under Detectives James J. Broderick and the Bomb Squad, directed by Detective James Reynolds.

The vanguard of the paraders bearing banners marked "Down With the Forward" appeared in Seward Park at 3 o'clock. They rushed for the building but were pushed back by the police. The patrolmen had been told not to use their clubs except in case of urgent necessity.

In a few minutes a second attempt was made by the paraders to reach the newspaper offices. Again the police pushed the men and women back. This time the crowd became abusive hurling epithets of "cossack" and "scab" at the police. Women spat in the faces of the patrolmen, knocked their hats off and threw themselves to the ground, refusing to move.

The police put the strikers to rout, chased them through Seward Park and closed Canal Street between Essex and Jefferson Streets to pedestrian traffic.

Morris Rubin, a Left Wing strike leader, in an address at Webster Hall, included The New York Times in his attack on the newspapers, saying it had "acted as a tool in the hands of Sigman and Abraham Beckerman, Socialist boss of the Sixth Assembly District," who is head of the Joint Board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

OLD SKATERS' CLUB IS SPLIT BY CLASH

Two New Organizations Formed by Members of New York Skating Club.

EXCLUSIVENESS IS ISSUE

Membership Campaign Brought In Too Many, Some Declare—Parent Body to Continue.

A split has developed in the ranks of the New York Skating Club, the oldest organization of its kind in the East, caused in part by the results of a membership drive.

The two organizations, made up largely from members in the old club, are now being formed. One is the Winter Sports Club, Inc., which held its first meeting yesterday. This club will take over the club house and equipment of the New York Skating Club at 261 West Fifty-second Street as well as the old club's arrangement with the Iceland Skating Rink next door.

The other club, as yet unnamed, is being formed with David T. Layman Jr., Clarence C. Pell and Stowe Phelps, Vice President of the New York Skating Club, among its charter members. It will have quarters at a rink on the top of the building now under construction adjoining the new Madison Square Garden at Fiftieth Street and Eighth Avenue.

Club to Be Held Together.

C. T. Church, President of the New York Skating Club, said last night that while the club was temporarily without quarters and skating facilities, the organization would be held together until suitable quarters could be found.

Members of the old club were loathe to comment on the break in its ranks. It was learned, however, that a membership drive, conducted to meet the rising costs of leasing a rink, had been opposed by a number of the members, who felt that in losing its exclusiveness the organization would sacrifice much of its value.

James A. Cruikshank, former Secretary of the old club and a charter member, was one of those who pushed the drive for new members. He is Secretary of the Winter Sports Club. Mr. Cruikshank has sent out invitations to members of the old club to join the new organization. In addition to skating, the Winter Sports Club will go into tobogganing, ice boating, curling, skiing and, if interest is found sufficient, dog sled racing.

On Organization Committee.

On the Winter Sports Club's Organization Committee, which was named yesterday, are Irving Brokaw, former national figure skating champion, who is Honorary President of the New York Skating Club; Paul Armitage, Joseph P. Day, Henry W. Howe, George D. Pratt, Major Anthony Fiala, Arctic explorer; Charles J. Beck, James A. Cruikshank, Russell Doubleday, Kingdon Gould and Stanley Mitchell, all of whom were members of the New York Skating Club.

In addition to Mr. Church the officers of the New York Skating Club are Irving Brokaw, Honorary President; Stowe Phelps, Vice President; W. A. Sands, Secretary, and Joseph K. Savage, Treasurer.

Among its other members are Frank J. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Grosvenor Atterbury, J. B. Aldred, Mrs. Robert W. Allen, Theodore L. Bailey, George T. Bowdoin, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bird, Jeremiah Beall, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Brokaw, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo J. Bartholmae, Henry A. Colgate, William B. Crowell, Dr. Francis E. DuBois, J. Clarence Davies, Frederic R. Coudert, Gerhard M. Dahl, Miss Elsie Janis, Felix M. Warburg and Willis D. Wood.

CHURCHES TO AID HOSPITALS

Collection for Sick Poor Will Be Made on Dec. 25 and 26.

Plans have been perfected, it was announced yesterday, for taking the annual Saturday and Sunday hospital collections in all churches and synagogues this year on Christmas Day and the Sunday that follows. The Board of Trustees of the United Hospital Fund has placed the work of arranging the collection with a committee headed by James McV. Breed.

"This is the forty-seventh annual church collection for the care of the sick poor," Henry J. Fisher, President of the fund, explained. "The United Hospital Fund, formerly the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association, was organized in 1879 and was the first attempt to make common cause of the city's hospital problem. The association selected the last Saturday and Sunday of the year for the collection in all the churches and synagogues, and the custom has been carried on through the years."

Last year about $650,000 was collected. The United Hospital Fund this year has received $385,000. Included in this amount is $154,318.47 collected by the Committee on Trades and Professions and $23,286 collected by the Brooklyn Committee.

PUBLIC HEALTH PROBLEMS.

Indifference Is One of Its Main Obstacles, Says Dr. Vincent.

Obstacles in the way of the adoption of public health measures were cited by Dr. George E. Vincent, President of the Rockefeller Foundation, at a luncheon of The Magazine Club at the Hotel Roosevelt yesterday. He declared that, in spite of these obstacles, notable progress was being made in the war against disease. He prophesied that eventually the spread of epidemics would be made impossible by the rigid quarantine of infected districts.

Public indifference to the problems involved was mentioned by Dr. Vincent as one of the greatest obstacles met by the scientists working for health. "People are interested in health only when they are sick," he said. "When they are well their only reaction is when a public health movement infringes upon their actions, and then they begin to talk about personal liberty."

MRS. SAYRE AT WHITE HOUSE

Wilson's Daughter Visits East Room Where She Was Married in 1913.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Among the holiday visitors at the White House today was Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, daughter of Woodrow Wilson. She entered the building without a card and walked through the lower corridor and East Room, where she was married Nov. 25, 1913. She did not meet any members of the Coolidge family.

To a policeman who recognized her she said:

"I just wanted to see the place and the East Room again."

GUITRYS ARE COMING FOR A SEASON HERE

French Stars to Play Eight Weeks at Chanin's Forty-sixth Street Theatre.

Copyright, 1926, by The New York Times Company. By Wireless to The New York Times.

PARIS, Dec. 14.—Two of France's most prominent theatrical stars, the manager-playwright Sacha Guitry and his wife, Mlle. Yvonne Printemps, left today for New York on the Leviathan. Under the management of A. H. Woods they are booked for an eight weeks' French season at Chanin's Forty-sixth Street Theatre, where they will play three of Sacha's plays, "Mozart," "The Illusionist" and "Deburau."

The contract is understood to be the highest ever signed by Continental artists, $25,000 weekly having been mentioned here as the remuneration the two stars will receive. A large number of offers in past years have been turned down by the couple.

According to boulevard gossip, one of the principal reasons for their hesitation has been the fear of the effects of a sea journey, and an amusing note in this connection was that the Guitrys yesterday raided a well-known Rue de la Paix drug store, carrying off all the supplies of a well-known remedy for seasickness. Mlle. Yvonne Printemps, who is one of the queens of fashion in Paris, is taking eighty costumes specially designed for her American trip by Jeanne Lanvin. The company of fifteen persons for the various casts also sailed aboard the Leviathan. The party traveled under the auspices of Bert Howell, who negotiated the contract.

INTERIOR BILL HELD UP.

Wrangle Over Alaskan Shipping Delays Passage by House.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—Five hours of discussion produced only a few changes in the Interior Department Appropriation bill today, but blocked the House leaders' plan for passage of the measure before adjournment.

The session closed in the midst of an argument over a provision authorizing operation of steamship lines in connection with the Alaska Railroad. Representative Treadway, Republican, of Massachusetts, made a point of order against the clause, contending that it constituted legislation which had no place in an appropriation bill.

After Representative Cramton, Republican, of Michigan, in charge of the bill, argued that inclusion of the provision was justified under the broad language of the act creating the railroad, the Chair took the subject under advisement for decision tomorrow.

Before adjournment the House refused to accept an amendment to make mandatory upon the Interior Secretary the construction of the Baker reclamation project in Oregon, for which $650,000 was provided in the bill. Secretary Work, who has refused to declare the project feasible, had requested that Congress assume that responsibility.

Another change in the bill, which knocked out a provision to fix a flat charge of $2 for each automobile traversing national parks, was forced out on a point of order by Representative Byrns, Democrat, of Tennessee. Declaring he was in favor of an even higher levy, he contended that the provision was legislative and improper in a supply bill.

WOMAN HEADS GRAND JURY.

Mrs. L. W. Thompson First to Hold Position in New Jersey.

Special to The New York Times.

TOMS RIVER, N. J., Dec. 14.—The distinction of having the first woman as foreman of a Grand Jury in New Jersey fell to the lot of Ocean County today, when Supreme Court Justice Lloyd appointed former Assemblywoman Lila W. Thompson of New Egypt to head that body.

In making the appointment, Justice Lloyd said:

"No woman has ever headed the Grand Jury in the State of New Jersey and Judge Harry E. Newman and myself think it is time for an innovation. In our opinion there is no woman better fitted to serve in that capacity."

Mrs. Thompson served two years in the Assembly from Ocean County. She has been active in politics for fifteen years.

She is the wife of Joseph M. Thompson, for years the chief of telegraphers in the House of Representatives at Washington and until recently a chief of the Department of Institutions and Agencies. She has two sons.

PROGRAM BY CARA VERSON.

"Musical Rebel" Gives an Impression of Pacific Pianism.

Cara Verson, Chicago pianist, gave a recital at Aeolian Hall last evening. Miss Verson calls herself a "musical rebel," presumably because she included pieces by Bela Bartok, Scriabin, Szymanowski and Wladigeroff in her program. In spite of her composers she gave an impression of pacific pianism. Her interpretations did not sound horrific, but merely dissonant, following the intentions of composers who are now well known. Miss Verson did, however, essay a progressive program, which she interpreted to the best of her capacities. She bracketed Ravel's "Sonatine" with Debussy's "Sunken Cathedral." Between these two groups she performed MacDowell's "Keltic Sonata" with earnest intention.

CITY BREVITIES.

The National Kindergarten Association, 8 West Fortieth Street, has issued an appeal for support.

The old Elizabeth Street Police Station, which was closed by Richard E. Enright when he was Commissioner, will be reopened at 12:01 A. M. tomorrow. The station, known officially as the 2A Precinct, is at 17 Elizabeth Street.

Commissioner McLaughlin will make the principal address at the graduation exercises of the Police Academy Friday at 8 P. M., when 500 probationary patrolmen will be graduated at the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory.

Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, wife of the Governor, and Mrs. James J. Walker will be the guests of the Women's Civic Organization at a card party at the Hotel Commodore this evening. Among the speakers will be Dr. Joseph M. Sheehan and Miss Margaret McCooey, Associate Superintendents of Schools.

"Community Responsibility to Youth" will be the subject for the annual meeting of the Girls' Service League this afternoon at its headquarters, 188 East Nineteenth Street. George W. Alger, Lady Armstrong and Miss Stella A. Miner will speak.

Dr. Haven Emerson, Professor of Public Health and Hygiene at Columbia University, and Dr. Louis I. Harris, Commissioner of Health, will discuss "The Relationship of Medicine to Social Welfare" at the Synagogue House, 40 West Sixty-eighth Street, this evening.

Plans for a parade on Dec. 23 were discussed last night at a meeting of the East and West Tremont Avenue Business Men's Association at the new Jerome Theatre, the Bronx. The parade will mark Tremont Avenue's growth as a business centre.

The Museum of French Art opened its exhibition season yesterday at its quarters, 22 East Sixtieth Street, with a private view of the collections of Mr. and Mrs. De Witt Clinton Cohen. The exhibition will open today to the public and will remain open for three weeks.

THE SCREEN

By MORDAUNT HALL.

Another German Contribution.

CHAINED, with Benjamin Christensen, Robert Garrison, Walter Slezak and others. Directed by Carl Dreyer. At the Fifth Avenue Playhouse.

German producers delight in taking an occasional fling at France, England and Russia by filming stories dealing with historical characters who were not exactly a credit to their respective countries, even though they did furnish colorful inspiration for plays and novels. The latest stab in this connection is contained in a production now known as "Chained," the incidents in which are said to be based on the life of Auguste Rodin, the French sculptor.

"Chained" is a dull piece of work, redeemed only by some artistic scenes and Benjamin Christensen's able portrayal of Claude Zoret, an artist. The other players are hardly suited to their respective rôles, with the possible exception of Robert Garrison, who figures as Zoret's critic and friend. The actress cast as a princess does not screen well, and Walter Slezak, who figures as the youth, gives a stilted, amateurish impersonation.

If the producers were bent on delivering such a theme to the screen, it might have been vastly more to their advantage to picturise Oscar Wilde's story, "The Picture of Dorian Gray," or Robert Hichens's novel, "The Green Carnation," two works which, distasteful though they may be, at least possess real dramatic values.

"Chained," which has been known as "The Invert" and "Michael," was directed by Carl Dreyer, who, while he has succeeded in rendering effective touches to some of the scenes, has failed to elicit convincing performances from the woman in the case, as well as from the youth. The story is also handicapped by queer titles. The youth is Zoret's protégé and model. The Princess fascinates the youth, with the consequence that he absents himself more and more from Zoret's home.

Mr. Christensen gives a sensible impersonation of the artist. He has a fine face and earnest eyes. Mr. Christensen might, however, have varied the artist's attire more than he did.

The settings are quite impressive and the lighting at times is unusually good, especially in some of the close-ups.

Manicurists and the War.

CORPORAL KATE, with Vera Reynolds, Julia Faye, Majel Coleman, Kenneth Thomson, Harry Allen and others. Based on a story by Zelda Sears and Marion Orth. Directed by Paul Sloane. Vaudeville acts. At the Hippodrome.

"Corporal Kate," the new film at the Hippodrome, is a full length feature, with ten seconds here given to pathetic comedy and ten seconds there given to slow-moving heads and tears. It is assuredly quantity rather than quality, and one might also declare it to be a wonderful test of patience.

It has a number of those strange coincidences, but as so many other strange things happen in the course of this production, one coincidence more or less does not matter.

It has its battle scenes, with airplanes dropping bombs. It also has two manicurists, who through influence manage to get sent out to France as entertainers. Judging by their gyrations on the stage in France, they were pretty lucky. And the picture itself illustrates that the soldiers always preferred to eat rather than be entertained by Kate and Becky.

One spot in this film is mildly funny, and that is where Kate and Becky reach the place where they are to be billeted. Apparently they are all alone, and a corporal, whose face betokens little sympathy with any one but himself, shows them where they live for the time being.

"Do we have to sleep in a stable?" asks Corporal Kate.

Elven Jackson, the hero, is a singular type of person, for in a spirit of mischief he drops Corporal Kate into a pool of water because she refuses to kiss him.

Well on toward the end of this picture there are some melodramatic glimpses which are as painful as they appear to be to the figurantes.

Vera Reynolds is very good so long as she's jolly, but once she struggles with drama she is very bad. Julia Faye handles the part of Becky. She is energetic and ubiquitous. Kenneth Thomson plays Jackson, stressing the kissing scenes according to the conventionalities of some screen productions.

PLEA FOR BETTER MOVIES.

Mary Shaw Says Producers Should Keep Ahead of Their Public.

Motion picture producers should keep ahead of their public, making better films to exert a constructive influence in arts and morals, said Miss Mary Shaw, an actress, yesterday at a luncheon of the National Club for Better Movies at the Hotel Majestic.

Miss Shaw was one of ten speakers who discussed motion pictures in their relation to public welfare, and with others she stressed that it was important to improve films for children, who get "seven-eighths of their education through their eyes and who will decide in ten years what sort of films they want."

Other speakers were Dr. Winifred Sackville Stoner, Baroness Katherine Evans von Klenner, President of the National Opera Club; George Reid Andrews, Chairman of the Church and Drama League; Miss Edith Ellis, playwright, and Miss Vera McCord, motion picture producer and President of the club, which intends to hold weekly lectures on motion pictures as soon as it moves into its clubhouse in the new Preston Building on West Forty-second Street.

MANY AT DUG-OUT BENEFIT.

Debutantes Offer for Sale Toys Made by Disabled Ex-Service Men.

The supper dance in the Dug-Out, a workshop and clubhouse for disabled ex-service men, attracted a large gathering of persons prominent in social life to the Club Mirador last night. Maurice and Eleanora Ambrose presented a special program of dances, including a military dance. Maurice served during the war in the same company with Stephen H. P. Pell, Treasurer of the Dug-Out.

Toys made by the men at the Dug-Out were offered for sale by a committee of débutantes, including the Misses Iris Sellar, Harriet Haight, Rosamond Bowker, Kathryn Jordan, Elisabeth Bull, Marion Ferguson and Miriam Miller. Earlier in the evening Mrs. Robert Weeks Kelley and Mrs. Charles de Rham Jr. gave a dinner and took their guests to the Club Mirador.

Among those who took guests to the dance were Mrs. Cyrus Clark, Mrs. Charles H. Ditson, Colonel Walter W. Metcalf, Mrs. Charles Dickey, Mrs. Vernon C. Brown, Mrs. William Lawrence Breese, Mrs. Herbert Russell, Miss Fanny Cottenet, Mrs. Paul Cravath and Miss Charlotte Finch.

PRINCETON IS SATISFIED.

Campus Unruffled at News That Parley With Harvard Is Off.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 14.—Joseph Prendergast, Chairman of the Princeton Senior Council, confirmed the report tonight that the proposed "peace conference" between committees from Harvard and Princeton had been canceled, but he refused to make any further statement.

It is understood that, following Princeton's acceptance of Harvard's invitation for a meeting between a committee from the Princeton Senior Council and a similar committee from the Harvard Student Council, Harvard decided that nothing could be gained from a conference since the policies of the two universities were at variance, and canceled its invitation.

The cause for the cancellation is supposed to have been that Harvard refused to consider a rotating football schedule, which Princeton feels must be taken into consideration before overtures for resumption of athletic relations can be made. Harvard also felt that Princeton should not take offense at its resolution to play all teams other than Yale at convenient intervals. Princeton refused to agree to this.

The undergraduates here were not disturbed at learning that the conference had been called off. The sentiment expressed was that if Harvard did not want to confer with Princeton that was all right with Princeton.

2 Children Die in Pennsylvania Fire.

SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 14 (AP).—Jane Avery, 18 months old, and Norma Avery, 7 months, lost their lives, and Eunice Avery, aged 3 years, was seriously burned, when fire destroyed the home of Leonard Avery at Pocono Lake, Pa., today. The mother of the children had gone to a spring some distance from the house for water. When she returned the house was in flames.

Sheffield Farms adopted a name to designate its Perfectly Pasteurized Milk. "Sealect" was copyrighted and became the name of the leading brand of fine pasteurized milk. Not only this, but it was the forerunner of the graded milk system which is now being generally adopted throughout the country.

"Sealect" was the original Grade "A" Milk for babies.

"Sealect" has come to be a badge of distinction for a number of fine Sheffield products. It has never been used on a product that did not deserve the honor. Its significance has been cherished with a care seldom bestowed on a commercial trade mark. And we believe that our customers recognize this. For "Sealect" Milk and "Sealect" dairy products enjoy a loyal popularity that can only come to things that are truly good.

TUNNEY IS FREED; WILL SUE FARLEY

Magistrate Silberman Scores Commissioner for the Fighter's Arrest.

SEES NO VIOLATION OF LAW

Declares Action Was Caused by a Personal Grievance—Theatre Manager Says He Will Sue Also.

Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion of the world, was exonerated yesterday of the charge brought against him by Chairman James A. Farley of the State Boxing Commission that he had violated the State boxing law in appearing at Loew's State Theatre on Nov. 29 last without first obtaining a license from the commission.

In his decision in the West Side Court yesterday, Magistrate Jesse Silberman, not only cleared Tunney and six others arrested with him, but delivered a denunciation of Commissioner Farley for having had Tunney arrested without justification in law or in fact. The Court declared flatly that a personal grievance had influenced Commissioner Farley's action.

As soon as the case had been decided, Tunney announced through Dudley Field Malone, his attorney, that he would sue Commissioner Farley for false arrest. He did not specify the amount of damages which would be sought, but Mr. Malone said he would begin preparing the papers at once. Mr. Farley declined to comment on the threatened legal action yesterday, beyond saying that the basis for Tunney's arrest had been an opinion handed down by Attorney General Charles D. Newton in 1922.

Tunney Calm in Court.

Tunney listened calmly before the Magistrate with Mr. Malone and the other defendants grouped about him. He smiled while Magistrate Silberman delivered his decision. Neither Chairman Farley nor any member of the Boxing Commission was in the court room.

"These defendants were arrested at the instigation of one of the boxing commissioners, who either does not know the law relating to his official position or else, knowing the law, caused this action to be instituted for some purpose of his own, not disclosed here," the Magistrate said. "If he did not know the true construction of the law involved, it was his duty to obtain the opinion of the Attorney General of the State of New York. He did not do that, apparently, because upon the arraignment the representative of the Attorney General's office requested an adjournment to enable him to study the law and prepare a brief to submit to the Court.

"It is the personal opinion of the Court that the time has arrived when public officials should be called to task for instituting proceedings, without justification in law or in fact, just to satisfy some personal grievance."

The Court next took up the theatre exhibition in which Tunney was alleged to have violated the boxing law. Magistrate Silberman was apparently basing his assertions on an opinion handed down by Attorney General Albert Ottinger last Friday.

"The section of the law which these defendants are alleged to have violated provides, among other things, that boxing or sparring matches or exhibitions shall not be held without first obtaining a license from the Boxing Commission," the Magistrate continued. "The words 'boxing or sparring matches or exhibitions' can have but one meaning, and that is a performance in which the contestants exhibit or show their skill or ability in boxing or sparring.

Did Not Violate Law.

"The evidence shows conclusively that these defendants were not engaged in showing their skill or ability in boxing or sparring. The most that can be said is that during part of their performance for a few seconds they exhibited the art of boxing, not showing their skill or ability but simply showing how professional boxers box or spar. That, of course, is not a violation of the law or of the section which these defendants are alleged to have violated. And this Court confidently asserts that the Boxing Commissioner who caused these proceedings to be instituted knew that to be the true construction of the section."

One defendant was Charles Emmett, manager of Loew's State Theatre, where Tunney gave his exhibition. Mr. Emmett was in a grim mood at the end of the hearing and announced that he, too, would sue Chairman Farley for false arrest.

In addition to Tunney and Emmett the others freed by the Court were Harry Howard, Tunney's sparring partner; Frank Muskie, also a sparring partner; Oliver Redmond of 142 West Sixty-fifth Street, a ticket seller; Edward Marks of 343 Macon Street, Brooklyn, also a ticket seller; and Charles Marsh, 25, of 208 West Fifty-sixth Street, master of ceremonies during Tunney's act on the stage.

BRUCE BENJAMIN'S RECITAL.

American Tenor Gives Finished Performance of Great Variety.

Bruce Benjamin, American tenor, gave his annual New York recital at Town Hall last evening. Walter Golde was the accompanist in a program made doubly attractive by the talents of the singer. Mr. Benjamin possesses a tenor voice of unusual charm, not only in its timbre but in the way he uses it. It is beautifully cultivated in all its range and especially effective when he sings softly. His articulation is excellent and his interpretations are of great artistic merit and variety.

He sang Beethoven's "Adelaide" in commemoration of the hundredth anniversary of the death of the composer, and later presented a Schubert group, the culminating point of which was in "Andie Musik." The lyric and romantic bent of Mr. Benjamin found a natural outlet in the French songs, which were done with consummate style and finish. He sang them con amore, with delicate intonations and nuances, with meaning and sincerity. He was equally successful in some old Scottish folk songs, the tuneful airs suiting him particularly well.

Mr. Benjamin was recalled after each group and sang several encores.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The new Sam Bernard show, now scheduled to open at Werba's Brooklyn Theatre on Christmas night, will be entitled "Piggy."

Irene Bordoni, who closes in "Mozart" this week, will be seen later in the season in a comedy by an English author.

"Green Fruit," a musical comedy adapted by Gladys Unger from a French farce, with music and lyrics by Maurie Rubens, will be [illegible]'s next vehicle. It will be produced in Columbus during New Year's week, with a cast including Eric Blore, Eddie Garvie and Ernest Lambert.

Louis Simon, co-author of "Bye, Bye, Bonnie," opening in Newark on Dec. 27, will likewise have the principal comedy role.

A play called "Any Man's Woman," by Michael Kallesser, is announced by the author for January production.

MUSIC

By OLIN DOWNES.

The Philadelphia Orchestra.

The Philadelphia Orchestra offered a program of unusual interest to the modern-minded last night in Carnegie Hall. Most of this program was conducted by Artur Rodzinski, Mr. Stokowski's assistant leader, who made so favorable an impression when he substituted for Mr. Stokowski at the concert given by the Philadelphia Orchestra in the same hall two weeks ago. Mr. Stokowski appeared, his right arm tightly bandaged and bound, for the second performance of the evening —that of Heinrich Kaminski's "Concerto grosso." He is suffering severely from the neuritis which made it impossible for him to conduct at the previous New York concert. He has not conducted anywhere since that time, and the pain that increased when he attempted to do so last night prohibited further efforts. The concert was therefore two-thirds Rodzinski and one-third Stokowski, so far as interpreters were concerned. The audience showed its regard for Mr. Stokowski and its pleasure in his presence by prolonged applause the instant he appeared on the stage.

The program comprised Ernest Bloch's "Schelomo" for 'cello and orchestra; Kaminski's "concerto," which is scored for two solo violins, two solo violas, two solo 'cellos, piano and two orchestras; and Richard Strauss's "Don Quixote." The solo 'cellist for the first and last composition was Hans Kindler. To those who lament and assert that no important music is being produced today, it is worth while to remark that all the music of yesterday evening's concert had been composed within less than thirty years—the date of Richard Strauss's symphonic poem being 1897. Now, it is not the time and it is not necessary to claim that any of this music will last a century. Some of it might, although we are too near it to tell. But the expansion or at least the striking evolution of the musical language since 1897, and the fact that several composers have wrought significantly in various new ways since that year was impressively indicated.

The boldness and freedom of tonality found in Kaminski's concerto is, as a matter of fact, anticipated in the introduction, with its depiction of the knight's madness, of Strauss's "Don Quixote." Kaminski's methods and objects, however, are not those of Strauss. He avowedly aims at the perpetuation of the contrapuntal ideals embodied once and forever in the works of J. S. Bach—works which are the birthright of German music. He is against the "program" school of composition, as he is opposed to modern French impressionism.

Kaminski's colleagues have called him "neo-Bach," "Gothic," and what not. He has been said to derive from Bach and also, as some believe, from Reger. These are matters for academic discussion. The point is that Kaminski, unlike almost all of his modern German colleagues, has written some important and vital music. It is not imitative music, it is not light-minded. It is very serious and it is wrought in noble lines. It has defects of proportion and treatment, but it is an arresting piece of work. There is the freedom in the combination or super-posing of tonalities which J. S. Bach, as Mr. Gilman remarks, anticipated. But there is the feeling, at the same time, of a rock-bottom tonality. This binds the work together, proves its genesis and its mainstay, and gives the sense of direction which must be felt before there is effective contrast or any very real variety of key-coloring.

The technical learning of the composer is obvious in the listening, as it would be more obvious from an examination of the score. But this is not technical learning alone, or newfangled theories, or desperate attempts to get out of the creative impasse in which most modern European composers find themselves. The music of Kaminski is "absolute" and genuine. It is not "literary" or "programmatic" music. Its mood is lofty, its coloring sombre, its thematic beams and arches firm and colossal. There is a nobility, a Gothicism of style that have largely disappeared from music today. There is strength, even youth—from war-exhausted Europe—a fine energy and dignity and gloom. Yes, the concerto is too long. Also is its second movement, at a first hearing, weak; also there is need of more economy of material and development. These things are bold, but they do not obliterate deep feeling for the Bach tradition, the ideal of architecture in music, the German capacity for structure and what might be called the organic growth of an idea.

Kaminsky employs the old form of the "concerto grosso" cultivated by Bach, Handel, and their contemporaries. This is the form which places against a background of instrumental ensemble the performances of solo instrumentalists. The work has three movements, of which the first is the most extended and important. Last night these movements were played without a break. Melodic strands interweave; motives combine or strive together with harmonic results often harsh, but clean, logical, rich in color and sonority.

The weakest place is apparently the second movement. The fugue, after curious, sudden haltings and accumulations of tone, ends triumphant, with the smashing home of the tonic accord. There is over-luxuriance of material, if you like, a lack of judicious pruning, certain places which seem now to flag and fall short, but this impresses us as one of the most original and genuine compositions that young Germany has produced, and a hopeful augury of what may come. The music is dark, and a little hard, and restless like the age. But it is music.

The composition of the earlier Bloch—"Schelomo" was composed in 1916—again stirred the audience by the intensity of its feeling, its prophetic splendors and the blacks and purples and golds of the orchestration. Oriental imagery, wild outcries, adjuration, pomp and splendor of an ancient day and of a race deep in its dreams are surely in this music, of a sensuousness and a racial vigor that give it a place entirely its own. The employment of the 'cello and orchestra is unique. Mr. Kindler played with a richness of tone, sensitive feeling and response to the spirit of the composer.

The character and quality of Strauss "Don Quixote" need no recitation here. Mr. Rodzinski's qualities as a leader were more clearly manifest than at his previous appearance with this orchestra. He has admirable self-confidence and knowledge of his scores, an excellent beat, firm and energetic, a natural ability to communicate his wishes to his orchestra. His conducting last night had not very much finesse, suppleness or variety of color. Better accompaniment of Mr. Kindler would have been possible in both of the performances in which the 'cellist took part. Some of the finer movements of Strauss were missed, as, for instance, the full value of the climax when the strings hymn the knight's praise of chivalry and the exaggeration of the orchestral effect at the moment when the radiant vision of Dulcinea is supposed to descend upon him. The Philadelphia orchestra has one Leopold Stokowski.

"New York Exchange" on Dec. 25.

"New York Exchange," a play by Peter Glenney, will be produced at the Klaw Theatre on Christmas night, Dec. 25, by Ivan L. Wright. Alison Skipworth and Sydney Shields head the company which includes Doris Underwood, Mabel Montgomery, Brandon Evans and Donn Cook. "This Was A Man," Accordingly, closes Saturday night.

ALFRED BLUMEN'S RECITAL.

Sonata by Karol Rathhouse Is Novel Feature of Program.

A sonata by Karol Rathhaus, played for the first time in New York, was the novel feature of the program of the recital given by Alfred Blumen yesterday afternoon in Aeolian Hall. The sonata is elaborately constructed and not without emotional character, the ideas, though modern, are somewhat conventional in content. Of this sonata Mr. Blumen gave a careful and musicianly reading. The remainder of the program consisted of the Cesar Franck Prelude, Chorale and Fugue, and a Chopin group that comprised the Bolero, the Polish song, an Etude, Prelude, Valse and the A flat Polonaise.

In his performances Mr. Blumen was always intelligent, technically well grounded, neglectful of no detail of the scores he presented. The Chopin group displayed him to somewhat better advantage, however, than the opening performance of Franck. This performance, probably owing to the tension of an opening number, was rather tense and inclined to hardness of tone. Playing Chopin, the interpreter responded to the pianistic quality of the music, showing brilliancy when this was expedient, but also a singing tone and a more sensitive style than he had previously employed. It could not be said that he departed markedly from the beaten track in his ideas; there was somewhat didactic treatment of certain passages. The net effect of the recital was that of a well-schooled and musically substantial performer.

CONCERT BY VAST CHORUS.

Many Hear Oratorio Society of Christian Science Institute.

The Oratorio Society of the New York Christian Science Institute gave its annual concert before an audience that filled the Metropolitan Opera House last night. Upward of two hundred choristers and assisting orchestra players from the Philharmonic Society occupied the large stage, with John Warren Erb as conductor. As in previous years, there was a program of readings, hymns and choral works, introduced by "The Lord's Prayer" to a setting from Handel.

Franklin Ford's cantata, "The Second Coming of Christ," preceded excerpts from two well-known works, "Ben Hur" and Pilgrim's Progress," by Edgar Stillman Kelley. Mary Ray Pinney and Ella Backus Behr assisted as pianists, while the singers in solo parts were Mmes. Vida Milholland, Kitty Cheatham, Marion C. Kener, Esther Wendell, Harriet Foster and Rebekah Beam, and Messrs. J. Steel Jamison and Dari Bethmann.

FRANCES JONES IN RECITAL.

Heard at the Hotel Plaza—Jacques Jolas at Chickering Hall.

Frances Pelton Jones gave a harpsichord recital, assisted by Alexander Bloch, violin, at the Hotel Plaza yesterday, as the first of two programs of "musical aristocrats" of earlier centuries. A final number of the first matinee comprised "Three Divertimenti," by Pietro Guglielmi, presented in photostat copies of originals from the Hopkinson collection in Philadelphia. The two artists gave also a sonata of Padre Martini, while Miss Pelton Jones added harpsichord works of Murchhauser, Bach and Scarlatti.

Jacques Jolas gave a piano recital last evening at Chickering Hall, playing Schumann's "Fantasie" and works of Bach, Chopin, Saint Saëns, Debussy, Szanto and Scriabine.

Dimitri Cuclin presented his own music for violin, comprising an unaccompanied suite, and a sonata and concerto with I. Seligman at the piano, in a recital last night at Steinway Hall.

Jersey City to Have Big New Movie.

The Stanley-Fabian Company, New Jersey subsidiary of the Stanley Company of America, will build at Jersey City what will be New Jersey's largest moving picture theatre. The house will cost $2,500,000 and will seat 5,000 persons. Construction will be started in a few weeks. Stanley-Fabian operates more than fifty theatres in New Jersey and a chain of moving picture and vaudeville houses.

TOSCHA SEIDEL TO BE HEARD

Violinist to Share in Opera Concert Next Sunday Evening.

Toscha Seidel is to play at next Sunday's opera concert, the violinist sharing a program with ten singers headed by Queena Mario, Taucher and Tibbett. The Metropolitan's eighth week will include repetitions of "Faust" on Christmas Eve and "Die Walkuere" and a popular "Forza del Destino" on Christmas Day. A special matinee for pre-holiday visitors next Monday will present "Cavalleria," sung by Ponselle and Tokatyan, and "Lucia," by Talley, Gigli and Basiola.

The opera subscribers have "The Jewels of the Madonna" on Monday night with Jeritza and Martinelli; Wednesday, "Lohengrin," Rethberg, Matzenauer and Laubenthal; Thursday, "Gioconda," Ponselle, Gigli and Ruffo; Friday, "Faust," Alda, Lauri-Volpi and Chaliapin; Saturday matinee, "Walkuere," Jeritza, Easton, Taucher and Whitehill, and Saturday night, Dec. 25, "La Forza del Destino," with Ponselle, Bourskaya, Martinelli, Danise and Pinza. Mr. Chaliapin also will appear at the Brooklyn Academy next Tuesday in "Don Quichotte."

SACASA SAYS DIAZ TRIED TO DECEIVE US

Nicaraguan President's Rival Asserts Charge of Mexican Aid to His Side Is False.

BEALS SUSPECTS KELLOGG

Ex-Teacher in Mexico Declares Here That State Department Probably Inspired Manifesto.

PUERTO CABEZAS, Nicaragua, Dec. 14 (AP).—Responding to a request to state his aims and to comment on the manifesto issued on Saturday by Conservative President Diaz at Managua, Dr. Juan Bautista Sacasa, "Constitutional" President of the Liberal Government set up here, has given to The Associated Press a statement, which follows, in part:

"The affirmation which the manifesto of Adolfo Diaz contains with respect to the Mexican Government's support of the Liberal movement in equipping ships to act under escort of Mexican gunboats is false; it was invented for the purpose of exciting the suspicion of American public opinion against the just cause for which the Nicaraguan people are fighting.

"The antecedents of the conflict may be found in the comitias (elections) of October, 1924, in which Carlos Solorzano and myself were elected President and Vice President, respectively, for the term of 1925-28 by a large majority. This de jure Government was recognized by the United States and other nations.

"In October, 1925, Emiliano Chamorro, Adolfo Diaz and other members of the Conservative Party engineered, by means of treason and subornation, a coup d'état, dislodging the Government, Congress, the municipal authorities and the courts and substituting, under military pressure, functionaries chosen by persons not elected in the service of de facto Government.

Persecuted, Sacasa Says.

"On Jan. 14, 1926, Chamorro assumed the Presidency of the republic by reason of the resignation of President Solorzano, in violation of the Constitution. The undersigned [Dr. Sacasa] was violently persecuted and compelled to leave the country.

"A Congress corrupted under the military dictatorship of Chamorro designated as President Adolfo Diaz.

"For months I advised the people to await peacefully the result of the action of the Government's signatory to the Central American peace treaties and the moral influence of the Government of the United States.

"Tired of waiting longer in vain, the people rose in arms, sustaining constitutional order. In compliance with my unavoidable duties and obeying the popular will, I returned to Nicaragua and organized the Constitutional Government. It so happens that Diaz represents usurpation, and I the Constitution and law.

"In a manifesto I declared as false an attempt attributed to me to subvert social order in Nicaragua. On the contrary, I will guarantee effectively the property rights of Nicaraguans and foreigners, opening the doors to every aid in favor of our progress.

"I also declared that I have not entered into any obligations of any kind with any Government or corporation which may restrict freedom of action politically or economically.

"I shall endeavor to guarantee peace based on a policy of conciliation and mutual aid to all my fellow-citizens without exception.

"I cherish the hope of tightening the relations with the peoples and Governments of the Americas and of adhering, with mutual respect, to rights and treaties which are the high objects of international cooperation."

American Suspected by Beals.

That the proclamation issued by President Diaz, accusing Mexico of backing the Liberal forces, was very probably inspired and possibly written by the United States State Department, was the charge made by Carleton Beals, former President of the Mexico City High School and author and lecturer on Latin-America, yesterday.

Mr. Beals characterized the policy of the United States toward Central America as "a most barefaced continuation of dollar diplomacy."

"The statement issued by Diaz shows a knowledge of American conditions which I doubt very much is at his disposal," Mr. Beals said. "The inspiration of the statement by our State Department would be quite in keeping with our policy, which has kept an anti-constitutionalist Government in power by United States Marines."

Mr. Beals said that Mexico was attempting a cultural rapprochement with Central America, and to that end had placed at the disposal of each Central American Government twelve scholarships in the University of Mexico and three in its military school.

Mexico had also given each of the Central American countries a radio broadcasting apparatus and had subsidized a fleet of coastwise trading vessels in pursuance of this policy, he said. He declared that the policy was not an anti-American one and called reports that Mexico was endeavoring to exert a Bolshevistic influence in Central America as "poppycock."

DORMAN GIVES RULES FOR A SAFE CHRISTMAS

He Issues Fourteen Precautionary Suggestions Designed to Curb Fires.

In anticipation of the usual forms of Christmas celebrations, Fire Commissioner Dorman issued yesterday a warning against various kinds of fire hazard which are especially common during the holiday season.

Because of carelessness with inflammable and combustible decorations, toys or machinery, the Commissioner suggested, the Yuletide not infrequently becomes for some families a season of sorrow instead of one of merriment. In the interest of "safety first," Commissioner Dorman offered the following fourteen points:

If you must have a candle in the window, make it an electric one. It is safer.

If a Christmas tree is used, make sure that it is securely set up so that it will not topple over. Keep it away from heating and lighting fixtures.

Use metal tinsel, flaked asbestos or powdered mica for snow effects instead of the highly inflammable paper clippings and cotton.

Do not illuminate the tree with wax candles. Colored electric lights are more ornamental and if used with care are safer. A spot light focused upon the tree is the safest of all.

Smokers should be careful of matches and smoking materials while near trees.

Keep matches out of the reach of children.

Avoid toys requiring alcohol, gasoline, kerosene. Also avoid flimsy toy motion picture machines with inflammable films.

Cheap electrical playthings should be forbidden, as they are often defectively wired.

If Santa Claus is present at the Christmas tree party he should be careful that his long whiskers are kept clear of open lights and fires. Santa Claus costumes should be made partially fireproof by spraying them with a solution of water-glass, obtainable at any drug store.

If anybody's clothing catches fire, roll the person in a blanket or rug to smother the flames.

It is not safe to operate trains around the base of a Christmas tree. Sparks from the electric contact rail might start a fire.

Keep a bucket of water or a fire extinguisher handy to the room in which the tree is located.

Merchants should keep their stores and cellars free of rubbish and paper accumulations and keep all aisles and exits clear.

Remove all evergreens immediately after Christmas before they become completely dried out, as that is the time they are most inflammable.

SPEED TEST IN ALGEBRA.

Five Maine Schools to Vie With 33 Problems a Minute as Spur.

FREEPORT, Me., Dec. 14 (AP).—First-year students in a preparatory school and of four high schools in Cumberland County will engage tomorrow in an algebraic speed test. The contest is the result of a challenged issue at the Teachers' State Convention at Bangor recently by Miss Clara Williams of the Freeport High School.

Squads representing the Scarboro, Windham, Yarmouth and Freeport High Schools and Pennell Institute of Gray will work in their own class rooms, and the results will be forwarded to Andrew W. Solandt of the Portland Y. M. C. A., who will act as referee.

The problems will be simple sums, with a generous mixture of plus and minus signs to trip the unwary.

Miss Williams has a class of freshmen who have solved thirty-three problems in algebra in one minute.

WOMAN GOES ON TRIAL FOR REVENGE SLAYING

Emotional Insanity Defense Is Indicated for Mrs. Cagnino, Who Avenged Son.

Mrs. Josephine Cagnino, 44 years old, of 1 Corlears Street, who on Sept. 5 shot and killed Andrew Ficarelli at Goerck and Delancey Streets because she said, he had killed her only son six years before, was placed on trial yesterday before Judge Max S. Levine in General Sessions. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the jury had been completed and the trial was adjourned until this morning.

Mrs. Cagnino, who appeared much older than her years, sat huddled in a shawl that enveloped her head and shoulders. At times she swayed to and fro, at other times she appeared to have fallen asleep while the jury was being selected.

After arrest Mrs. Cagnino said that she had waited six years for police action and, convinced that Ficarelli would never be apprehended or punished, she found and kille him.

Assemblyman Frank R. Galgano, assigned to defend Mrs. Cagnino, indicated by his questioning of talesmen that emotional insanity would be the defense. When he asked talesmen if they would have any special feeling against a defense of that character. Assistant District Attorney George N. Brothers, who is prosecuting, offered no objection to the question.

Mrs. Cagnino almost fainted just before adjournment and her son-in-law, John Grasso, of 1 Corlears Street, brought her a glass of milk. Her husband, from whom she has been separated for several years, sat outside the court room with their daughter.

Talesmen were asked if they were opposed to capital punishment and whether they would sympathize with the defendant because she was a woman. Not so much emphasis was laid upon the fact that talesmen had read accounts of the case in newspapers, as is generally done in similar cases.

NEW CURRICULUM FOR SMITH COLLEGE

Four Divisions of Knowledge Will Be Substituted for the Ten Now Existing.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Dec. 14.—A new curriculum leaving the student much greater freedom of choice in her freshman and sophomore years will go into effect at Smith College next Fall, President William Allen Neilson announced today.

The purpose of the change is to make the course of study flexible enough to be adapted to the needs and desires of the individual and to lay down requirements designed primarily for the assistance of the good rather than for the support of the poor student.

Under the new system the student will be permitted to begin [illegible] her college course subjects in which she may wish to specialize during the last two year, and she will also have greater freedom of choice as to the individual avenues by which she is to become acquainted with various divisions of knowledge, such as science and literature.

Four groups of divisions of knowledge are substituted under the new curriculum for the previous ten. These are languages, literature and fine arts, sciences and social sciences.

Each student before graduation must pass an examination showing an ability to read two foreign languages. Ability if she prefers to acquire this ability outside the college instead of by taking courses in the language department, she is permitted to do so.

In the second group, which includes art, music and spoken English as well as biblical literature and the literatures of all languages, six hours must be taken in freshman and sophomore years.

Six hours of science must be taken in group three, and of these three hours must be in laboratory science.

In the fourth group, which includes history, government, economics, sociology, religion, education and philosophy, six hours must be taken during the freshman and sophomore years.

All students not exempted by examination are required to take a course in English composition and either a course in spoken English or work in the spoken English clinic.

QUESTIONS—to ask when you choose your radio—
1. Has it Power Tubes on all stages?
2. Is it Neutrodyne?
3. Is it really truly "ELECTRIC POWER" or has it Battery-Substitutes?
4. Has it any power tube as powerful as the super-power 210-type?
5. Is it designed throughout to interpret the added power of the House Current into fine tone quality?
6. Does it reproduce the low bass notes and fine overtones? Is the tone range increased?

IRIS SELLAR'S PARTY UPSET BY THE FOG

Held at Pierre's Instead of on Berengaria, Which Was Delayed in Arriving.

LUNCHEON FOR MISS WYLIE

Mrs. Edward K. Cone of Colonia, N. J., Entertains for Daughter —Today's Parties.

Mrs. Nerrie Sellar's luncheon yesterday to introduce her daughter, Miss Iris Sellar, was held at Pierre's instead of on board the Berengaria as she had originally planned. Owing to the heavy fog on Monday the Berengaria did not arrive until long after the hour set for luncheon. Arrangements for the change almost at the last moment were telephoned to the four-score guests, who were on time for the event. Miss Sellar is a granddaughter of the late William Watts Sherman, and a grandniece of the late George Peabody Wetmore.

Among the guests were Mrs. Harold Brown and Mrs. Lawrence L. Gillespie, aunts of the débutante; Mrs. Francis C. Barlow, Mrs. Harold Taylor, Mrs. Prouty Beddall, the Misses Gwendolyn Rose, Edna Brokaw, Janice Jefferson, Lucie Lee Hall, Francesca Carey, Catherine Fuller, Charlotte Fairchild, Edith Cram, Cecilia Fuller, Noel and Hortense Chatillon, Cathleen Gruner, Rosalie Evans, Marjorie Heather, Jean Davis, Florence Hamilton, Jane Drouillard, Harriet Haight, Hope Hewlett, Cordelia Gurnee, Hester G. MISS HAYES BRIDE OF OLIVER B. CAPEN

BROTHER GIVES BRIDE AWAY

Elaine Horton of Port Chester Weds A. J. Mace at Church of the Transfiguration.

The marriage of Miss Noreen Sheridan Hayes to Oliver Bronson Capen took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in St. Luke's Chapel of Trinity Parish, at 481 Hudson Street. The ceremony was performed by the vicar, the Rev. Edward Schleuter, in the presence of members of the two families and a few intimate friends.

The bride, who is a sister of Kevin Sheridan Hayes of Washington, D. C., was given in marriage by another brother, Meredith Hayes, with whom she has been making her home at 24 West Tenth Street.

Miss Julia F. Capen, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Eileen Sheridan Hayes and Miss Sheila Sheridan Hayes, sisters of the bride. William Higbie Eddy of this city was best man. The ushers were Philip Sidney McDougall of Ottawa, Ill., and Ralph Monell, Gilliat de Ghequière Schroeder and David Torrey Wells, both of this city. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's brother.

Mr. Capen is a graduate of Hobart College and of Columbia University. He is National President of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity and is a member of the University, St. Nicholas, Players and Richmond County Clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. Capen will go to Nassau on their wedding trip and on their return will live at 24 West Tenth Street.

Mace—Horton.

Miss Elaine Horton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leander Horton of Port Chester, N. Y., was married to Amos James Mace at noon yesterday in the Church of the Transfiguration. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Randolph Ray.

Miss Marion Horton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Amos James Mace Jr., son of the bridegroom, was best man.

Following a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Mace will live in Port Chester.

Jacobs—Weinberg.

The marriage of Miss Ruth Weinberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberg, to Arthur Lincoln Jacobs took place yesterday at the home of her parents at 1,324 Carroll Street, Brooklyn. Miss Neomi Weinberg attended the bride and Joseph T. Weinbold was best man. The bride's father was formerly the publisher of the newspaper The Day.

Both the bride and the bridegroom studied at Cornell. They are sailing on the Berengaria to spend six months in France, Spain and Egypt.

BRUBAKER, ARTIST, WEDS.

Justice of the Peace Makes Marion Humble of New York His Bride.

MEDIA, Pa., Dec. 14 (AP).—Jon Osro Brubaker, widely known painter of landscapes and nature studies, and Miss Marion Humble of New York were married here today by Justice of the Peace Fred T. Cooper in his offices. Mrs. Brubaker gave her occupation as secretary. The license gave Mr. Brubaker's age as 53 and that of his bride as 28.

The artist was divorced from his first wife in Los Angeles in November, 1922, he stated.

The magic of "baked"

For four thousand years the word "baked" has meant to us human beings "something good to eat". The word "baked" has come down through the ages—a word to make the mouth water.

And so with beans: It's the baking, which gives them that taste you and I mean when we talk of baked beans. Heinz Beans are baked—baked in ovens—baked with dry heat. It's the baking, more than all else that makes them taste so good. Only beans that are baked can be labeled baked beans.

BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday—4½ per cent. for the best names. Monday—4½ per cent. for the best names. The quotations are for six months' paper.

Resort Lines More Diversified.

Palm Beach lines of coats and dresses are said to be meeting with a good demand. The lines are somewhat more diversified than usual. The attempt is being made in the offerings this year to cater to the travel trade as well as the strictly resort demand. This is expected to be a more profitable development for both the retailer and the manufacturer. Tweed coats are outstanding in the travel garments, while sports merchandise, with considerable attention to white garments, are stressed in the resort wear.

Percale Demand Keeps Up.

There is apparently no end to the demand for percales and other printed cottons in this market. Reports from the leading printers indicate an excellent business all the way through their lines, and say that it is difficult to "put a finger" upon any outstanding number. Full-time production of one of the biggest printers is covered until about the end of January by the orders already in hand. Business with jobbers along the Pacific Coast and in other parts of the Far West, as well as with those in the Middle West, is reported especially good. The Southern jobbers were said yesterday to be buying better than might generally be supposed in view of all the talk there is about the trade-retarding effects of cheap cotton in that part of the country.

Gray Goods Sales Fair.

A fair amount of business was put through in the local gray goods market yesterday. Small lots of spot 38½-inch 64-60 printcloths were sold at 6⅝ cents, and larger ones at an eighth lower. The same was true of 38½-inch 60-48s at 5½ and 5 7-16 cents, respectively. Spots of 39-inch 68-72s sold at 8⅝ cents, with an eighth less paid for this construction for shipment in January and February. Not much was done in sheetings, but some sales of 37-inch 48-square, four-yard cloths were made at 8⅜ cents. Sales of 37-inch 3.95 and 2.85 yard drills were put through at 9⅝ and 10⅝ cents, respectively. For spot Eastern 4.37-yard sateens 11¼ cents was paid. In the fine-yarn goods there was quite a little trading in carded broadcloths. Spot sales were made of 100-60s at 10⅞ cents and of 90-60s at 9⅝ cents. For January-February shipment the same constructions were sold at 10¼ and 9⅛ cents, respectively.

Mufflers Retain Active Pace.

Although selling time before Christmas has grown shorter, wholesale activity in men's mufflers continues at a good pace. The demand for weeks has been particularly brisk. Stocks now are not large, there being in fact some difficulty in obtaining certain styles due to a paucity of the desired piece goods. A few wholesalers with stocks on hand, feeling the end of the active wholesale period is near, are liquidating their merchandise in a receptive market. The excellent turnover enjoyed this year because of the appeal of novelty patterns and silks is expected to develop similar and even more extensive styling efforts in the lines for next year.

Absorbing Girls' Coat Stocks.

Manufacturers of girls' coats have stopped production of Fall merchandise and are now devoting their attention to the new Spring lines. There remains, however, a fair accumulation of seasonal garments which is being liquidated at price concessions. Retailers have been active lately in picking up these offerings for their sales events and it would not be surprising, according to market observers, if, with Fall production stopped, there was something of a scarcity of these coats during January and February. The greatest number of garments in the market now is in the 7 to 14 sizes, but sizes from 2 to 6 are not plentiful.

More Interest in Spring Suits.

Interest in suits for Spring continues to grow and increasing confidence is expressed in the trade over the possibilities of this type of garment. Retailers are placing orders now for delivery of early models to be used for window display. Featured are two and three-piece suits of both sports and more dressy varieties. Novelty patterned woolens combined with silk are used in the former, with sheen worsteds in high shades favored in the latter. Suits for misses show a similar trend.

Handkerchief Sale Is Large.

Retail turnover of handkerchiefs has been particularly active, and wholesalers say that reorders have been coming in at a highly satisfactory rate during recent weeks. Boxed merchandise continues an outstanding item in the better grade goods for holiday selling. Novelty patterns dominate in all varieties, with a tremendous variety of designs and color combinations shown. Stocks at wholesale are small and will present no problem with the turn of the year, according to manufacturers, who comment on the increasing steadiness of the all-year-around demand for the merchandise.

They Were Not Indigo Chambrays.

In yesterday's TIMES it was said that "a nice business in Southern chambrays is reported here on the basis of 38 cents a pound for 3.80-yard goods, although the general asking price for this weight, including some brands of Southern cloth is about 2 cents a pound higher." While this statement is true, some uncertainty was caused in the trade because of it. In fairness to the mills offering their goods on a basis of 10½ cents for the construction in question it should be added that the cloth selling at 38 cents a pound is not indigo-dyed. This fact was not known at the time the information was received.

Price More Heavy Underwear.

Further pricing of heavyweight ribbed cotton underwear for 1927 became known yesterday with the receipt in the market of circulars sent out by the Standard Knitting Mills of Knoxville, Tenn. The new Standard prices are based on $7.62½ a dozen for men's 14-pound union suits for January-May shipment, which is the same basis as that announced on Monday by the Appalachian Mills Company. The Standard Mills circular also contained prices on some new lines of part-wool union suits for men and boys in Jaeger "randoms." Boys' 10-pound suits, which are six-twelfths packing, are priced at $4.25 a dozen for January-May shipment and at $4.50 for June-October delivery for size 20, with a rise of 50 cents in both cases. Ten-pound "unions" for boys, flat price, are listed at $6.75 and $7 respectively. Men's 14-pound union suits, which are packed four-twelfths, were opened at $9.62½ a dozen for January-May and at $10 for June-October.

Cone Denim Prices Are Lower.

Announcements were sent to the trade yesterday by the Cone Export and Commission Company apprising it of the new and substantially lower prices made on indigo denims. The new quotations are based on 13½ cents for 2.20-yard "white backs" and 12¼ cents for 2.40-yard "double and twist" goods. These prices cover deliveries during January, February and March, and executives of the company anticipate a very quick sale of the first quarter's production at those levels. The last previous list prices on the goods were based on 15 cents for the 2.20s.

FOUR CHRISTMAS BONUSES.

Financial Institutions to Give Cash to Employes.

Four financial institutions announced yesterday Christmas bonuses under which their employes will receive from 5 to 26 per cent. of their salaries for the year 1926.

Employes of the New York Title and Mortgage Company, American Trust Company and affiliated companies will receive today one-half of their 1926 profit sharing. Today's payment will be in cash, and the remaining half will be placed in a trust fund and invested in stock of the New York Title and Mortgage Company. The total distribution will average about 26 per cent. of the annual salary.

Directors of the Bankers Trust Company have authorized the payment to all employes of a bonus equal to 5 per cent. of their salaries during the year.

The Textile Banking Company voted a distribution of 10 per cent. to employes on earned salaries during 1926.

Directors of the Seventh National Bank voted a bonus of 5 per cent. of salaries for all employes. It is payable today.

GRAIN EXPORTS HOLD UP.

Week's Outgo More Than Double 1925—Wheat Nearly 7 Times Greater.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP).—Grain exports last week from the United States were 3,804,000 bushels, compared with 3,886,000 the previous week and 1,159,000 for the same week in 1925.

Commerce Department figures give the following comparisons between last week's exports and those of the week before: Wheat, 2,536,000 bushels, against 3,228,000 in preceding week and 368,000 in 1925; rye, 284,000 against 16,000; oats, 30,000 against 11,000; corn, 324,000 against 229,000; barley, 630,000 against 402,000.

Canadian grain exported from United States ports amounted to 1,049,000 bushels against 1,054,000, while North American wheat flour exports were 575,000 barrels against 311,000.

Acts on Bank Applications.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The Controller of Currency has received applications to organize from the First National Bank of Merced, Cal., capital $100,000. A charter has been issued to Morton National Bank, Morton, Pa., capital $50,000. A voluntary liquidation has been entered by the Collingsville National Bank, Collinsville, Okla., capital $25,000, absorbed by the First National Bank, Collinsville.

RECORD IN FREIGHT MOVING.

Daily Average During October Was 34.3 Miles.

The railways of the country were able to move their freight cars a longer average distance in October than in any month on record, it was announced yesterday by the Bureau of Railway Economics.

The daily average movement on the steam railroads was 34.3 miles, the highest ever reported in any month. It exceeded by more than four miles the aim set by the carriers at the resumption of private operation of "thirty tons per car and thirty miles per day."

In September an average of 32.7 miles a day was attained, which fails by 1.6 miles to equal the October record. The average for October was two miles over October last year and an increase of 3.7 miles above October, 1924.

The load per car of 27.5 tons failed to reach the ideal, largely, railroad men say, because of the prevalent hand-to-mouth buying movement which encourages shipping in less than carload lots.

ELECTRIC BOND CO. INCOME.

Reports Net Equal to $52.21 a Common Share—Detroit Edison Revenues

The Electric Bond and Share Company reported net income after all charges of $14,554,178 for the year to Sept. 30, equal to $52.21 a share on 250,000 shares of common stock. Surplus of $13,054,178 after preferred dividends was equal to $7.24 a share on 1,802,870 shares of Electric Bond and Share Securities Corporation, which owns all outstanding stock of Electric Bond and Share Company. Gross for the latter company in the period was $20,740,668.

Gross revenues of the Detroit Edison Company were $4,086,366 in November, against $3,786,831 in November, 1925, and net after all deductions was $984,030, against $1,060,518. Gross for eleven months was $40,483,659, against $34,856,610 in the same period last year, and net was $8,683,206, against $7,180,325.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Many Stocks Advance, Some Decline, in Active Market—Money 5%, Franc Quiet.

Yesterday's stock market was especially broad and active, also highly speculative in character; the method pursued by the professional operators being plain enough. When a rising market reaches such a stage as the present market has attained, the policy is pursued, on an increasingly large scale, of bidding up one set of stocks insistently while selling another set to realize speculative profits. The process gives some appearance of irregularity to the market; to the unpracticed outsider who may have been drawn in, it somewhat resembles a gigantic roulette table. But it is taken for granted that the speculative appetite will be excited by the advances and not by the declines and, indeed, the published descriptions of the market's action rather generally ignore the fact that anything has happened but a rush of advancing prices.

As a matter of fact, the advances yesterday considerably exceeded the declines in number; yet some of the declines ran into respectable figures. Transactions as a whole were unusually large; the total business exceeded 3,000,000 shares, for the first time since Oct. 20 and the tenth time since last August. It was evident, however, as it has been in most of the recent markets, that the activity was created by dealings in a comparatively small group of shares.

The objective point of the speculative movement now in progress is manifestly to "capitalize" the financial hopefulness which has naturally been stimulated by the series of enthusiastic official analyses and forecasts of the business situation. The character of these recent utterances may easily have impressed the imagination of the general public; not less so from the fact that predictions were often unfavorable, five or six months ago, and were extremely guarded even as lately as October. It has, in fact, been an unusual year for the variation even of experienced opinion on the financial outlook.

There were people who suspected, when the doubtful views of the future were being expressed, that the oracles were basing their judgment either on the less important of the financial "barometers" or on erroneous views of certain actual developments in trade or industry, and there is now little doubt that exactly that had happened. The danger at such a time as this, however, is that the financial mind should rush to the other extreme and conclude that nothing stands in the way of continued immediate and indefinite expansion. But that would be prophecy of a very different sort even from the recent cheerful views of the situation. Even among the prophets who expect continued prosperity there have been few to predict greater business activity than in 1926, and most look frankly for something of relaxation.

The franc did not repeat Monday's display of strength; it lost the greater part of that day's advance. Sterling, however, showed the first signs of activity in many weeks. At $4.86¾ for sight bills it reached the highest price since Oct. 18, when it had begun to fall toward November's low point of $4.84. Yesterday's rate was fractionally above that of the present date in 1925 and exactly the rate with which last December closed. Since sterling went above $4.86 in last January's market and reached $4.86¾ in the Spring, an interesting test of the position is shortly ahead of us.

It has been a more or less prevalent theory that the rate, which this season has at no time gone to last year's lowest, has been kept up by deferring settlement of accruing trade balances, in the adverse circumstances of recent months, until the trade position should be more favorable. If so, then sterling should not move as strongly in London's favor, during the next few months, as it did at the beginning of 1926. But the market has been a riddle all along and yesterday's action at least suggested underlying strength.

TO ADMIT A WOMAN INTO EXCHANGE FIRM

Hofheimer & Lounsbery Will Take in Mrs. Arthur Hofheimer, Wife of Floor Member.

IS EXPERIENCED BROKER

Tooker & Co. Announces They Have Become Members of Exchange—Other Changes in Wall St.

An addition to the limited list of women members of New York Stock Exchange firms was announced yesterday with the posting of the notice of the proposed admission of Mrs. Helen Hofheimer to membership in the firm of Hofheimer & Lounsbery, 52 Broadway, on Jan. 1.

Mrs. Hofheimer is the wife of Arthur Hofheimer, the floor member of the firm. She has been interested in the brokerage business, directly or indirectly, for ten years or more, and enters the firm as an experienced Wall Street operator. Besides Mr. Hofheimer, the other members of the firm at present are S. Durell Lounsbery and John W. Lawbor. Mrs. Hofheimer's name has already been inscribed on the office door of the firm.

Other changes in well-known Stock Exchange firms were announced yesterday. The name of Brumley, Chamberlin & Co. will be changed to that of Henry G. Lapham & Co. The former firm, composed of Henry G. Lapham, Joshua B. Holden, Robert S. Potter, Otto B. Reimer, Philip L. Saltonstall and Henry M. Libby, will be dissolved and be succeeded by the new firm. No change is made in memberships.

Tooker & Co., 120 Broadway, announced they had become members of the New York Stock Exchange. The firm consists of Marck L. Tooker, Arthur S. Frandsen, Edward M. Campbell, Edward M. Campbell, Edward E. Embree, Kenneth R. White and Granville Whittlesey.

Stone, Prosser & Doty will cease business under that name on Jan. 1. A. C. Doty has formed a partnership with P. E. Grannis, manager of the bank stock department of Roosevelt & Son, and they will have offices at 74 Broadway under the name of Grannis & Doty. J. R. Prosser will be associated with Bernard J. Meehan, Harold W. Hatch and Leslie Basset under the name of J. Roy Prosser & Co., at 52 William Street, the present adress of Stone, Prosser & Doty.

MANY RAIL MERGERS EXPECTED NEXT YEAR

Edward Chambers, Atchison Executive, Says Details Await Necessary Legislation.

The coming year will be extremely important from the railroad consolidation standpoint, according to Edward Chambers, Executive Vice President of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway. Mergers that have covered several years of thought and work by the country's most able railroad officials will be brought to a head in 1927, he was quoted as saying in reports reaching Wall Street from San Francisco.

Details for many large scale mergers have been worked out, he added, and merely await legislation before presentation to the Interstate Commerce Commission. These mergers have not been formulated according to set plans, but according to the individual wishes of each group.

Wall Street also received word from Washington yesterday that consolidation projects would not meet the opposition of the Commerce Commission throughout the coming year if they can be proven to be in the public interest and carry the approval of the stock holding involved. The commission, it was said, regards consolidation with favor as a means of affording protection to the weaker lines which have had much of their traffic taken away by motor competition.

With regard to the Nickel Plate proposal it was reiterated that the objection to the original plan was based purely on the faulty financial structure. If a plan could be submitted which would eliminate objection of the minority stockholders, it was said, the commission would in all probability approve the project.

BANKERS BUY CONTROL OF SCHULZE BAKING CO.

Spencer Trask & Co. Expected to Offer Securities of Bakery Chain Soon.

Control of the Schulze Baking Company, which operates a chain of bakeries in large Middle Western cities, has been purchased by the banking firm of Spencer Trask & Co. and its associates, the financiers of other large baking concerns. Public offering of Schulze securities will be made soon.

A controling interest in the company has been held by the Freihofer Baking Company of Philadelphia, which operates its own chain in several Eastern cities. The Schulze Company, which was incorporated in 1893 in Illinois, is engaged in the manufacture and sale of bread and cake in Chicago, Peoria and Springfield, Ill.; Kansas City, Cincinnati, Omaha, Des Moines, Detroit and Grand Rapids. It owns four factories in Chicago.

According to the latest available statement, the company's capital stock consists of authorized issues of $3,000,000 common and $2,000,000 of 7 per cent. cumulative preferred, of which there was outstanding $1,558,900 of common and $1,450,700 of preferred. Total assets are close to $6,000,000.

The same banking group has arranged financing in the past for the Purity Bakeries Corporation, which has large plans in many cities, and there were reports yesterday that Purity was obtaining an interest in Schulze. The bankers said, however, that this was incorrect and that the Schulze purchase represented an entirely independent transaction. Details of the new financing have not yet been announced.

Shipping Board Sells Tanker.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The tanker Kehuku was sold for steam operation under the American flag by the Shipping Board today to the Chile Steamship Company, Inc., of New York, for $323,000. The vessel is in the laid-up fleet.

Longacre Bank Reports Deposits.

REMEMBER
The 100 Needlest Cases,

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

Under the impetus of a speculative movement, which Wall Street declared had not been equaled in many weeks, the main body of shares moved forward with vigor on the New York Stock Exchange during a good part of yesterday. The general trend was upward almost all day, profit-taking around noon being absorbed without slowing down the advance perceptibly. There was some irregularity just before the close, at which time part of the early gains in a few issues was canceled. The total transactions of 2,096,000 shares were the largest witnessed since Oct. 20, when 2,108,440 changed hands. Trading in the motors, in the steels and in many of the oil shares was in exceptionally large volume. Taken altogether, the daily average business now being done by Stock Exchange houses is estimated at approximately 25 per cent. more than the daily average for this time last month.

***

Broad Trading.

Yesterday's stock market was interesting from the standpoint of breadth as well as activity. A total of 618 separate issues were dealt in on the Stock Exchange, the greatest number since the 649 of March 3. Since the average for the last month or so has ranged from 560 to 570 a day, the increase in the number of issues dealt in was very noticeable. Even some of the most versatile tape readers were obliged to scramble around and "look in the book" to identify some of the issues which came out on the tape.

***

Reducing the Short Interest.

Several leading commission houses expressed the opinion yesterday that the short interest, which has been diminishing for some time, would be entirely eliminated by the end of the year at the present rate of covering. One of these houses mentioned in its market comment that the word had gone out to "Get off the short side" in such issues as United States Steel and General Motors, and that the advice was being taken freely. There were evidences yesterday of heavy covering in many standard industrials and rails.

***

"Tips" in Abundance.

A prominent operator was quoted in commission house circles yesterday as saying that the present stock market is the "best tipped" affair that he has ever watched. He ventured the opinion that a "hot tip" had been put out within the last few days on virtually every active issue on the list. The gossip relating to these stocks covers the whole range of possibilities with which Wall Street is familiar. These include stock split-ups, dividend increases, merger deals, stock dividends, extras, &c. It takes a clever guesser to separate the baseless rumors from well-founded information.

***

Scarcity of Government Bonds.

Indications that the public debt will be reduced by virtually a billion dollars in the fiscal year 1927 were received with interest yesterday in investment circles, and particularly among specialists in Government securities. The rapidly diminishing supply of Treasury obligations is causing large holders of bonds of distant maturities to cling to them regardless of price advances, and this is responsible for the new high records established recently on suggestive days. Washington prospects now are that the entire Treasury surplus will be devoted to public debt retirement, and this will be augmented by sinking fund appropriations and foreign debt payments. New issues by the Treasury will be for small amounts, and it is possible that financing next June will be omitted, as was the case this year.

***

Coal Roads to Prosper.

Railway men stated yesterday that it begins to look as if the non-union soft coal mines and the roads serving them will have another unusually prosperous year in 1927. The British mines, according to expert opinion, cannot possibly do more than supply their domestic demand and possibly ship a little coal to France or Belgium before the end of the Winter. This leaves the important South American markets and others in Europe to be supplied by American mines. For the time being both the union and non-union mines will share in the prosperity. On April 1, however, present indications point to a walk-out by our union miners, which will leave the field largely to non-union operators.

***

Municipal Issues Liven Up.

The municipal bond market, which has displayed considerable dullness at various times in the final quarter of this year, has responded to the pronounced strength which extends throughout the listed bond markets. One of the outstanding events in the municipal and State field was the sale of $30,000,000 Port of New York Authority bonds at a price which represents a reduction of one-half of 1 per cent. in yield from the level at which this organization's first bond issue was brought out last March. The Port Authority bonds have been absorbed readily by the investing public and other recent issues in the same category also have gone well. New offerings have been light, permitting the clearing up of supplies on the shelves of dealers.

***

B. & O. Selling on Expectations.

Baltimore & Ohio common stock was declared yesterday to be selling on the expectation of a 7 per cent. dividend in the near future. The appetite of investors for the stock has been whetted also by the wide margin which exists between its earnings and dividends and the prospect that the company will add at least $12,000,000 to its surplus from the sale of Reading rights. There is also the possibility, in the event that the plan to build a greater Baltimore & Ohio is carried out soon, that the B. & O. will establish a larger equity in the earnings of the Reading and the Central Railroad of New Jersey. There is no doubt that the road seeks to eventually absorb the two smaller lines, but the merger does not appear to be in the "immediate" class.

***

The Same Old Car.

One could almost hear the deep sigh of relief which went up from the automotive industry yesterday when left-handed but no less authentic announcement was made that the Ford Motor Company will not introduce a six-cylinder model to the trade in the near future. This story had been bandied about Wall Street for many months, not only by rumor but on the authority of usually well informed men who said they knew all about it. Leaders of the motor industry have thought all along that Mr. Ford had "something up his sleeve" which probably would cut into their sales in 1927. With the definite news from Detroit that the Ford car will not be changed radically next year, many companies will now go ahead with their own plans. The news was deeply appreciated in Wall Street, and there seemed to be little doubt that it was the motivating influence back of the sharp upturn in motor stocks yesterday.

MONEY.

TUESDAY, DEC. 14, 1926.

Stock Exchange call money ruled firmly at 5 per cent. all day, while 4½ per cent. was paid in the "Street" trades. Withdrawals dropped sizably from the huge total recalled on Monday, only $10,000,000 being drawn down, compared with between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 previously. Time money was dull, quotations continuing at 4½ and 4¾ per cent. Renewals and replacements of expiring loans make up the only activity in that market just now houses preferring to wait until after the turn of the year before engaging for their future commitments. No changes were reported in either the acceptance market, or commercial paper field.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

General buying of sterling, especially after the first hour of preliminary trading, caused the pound to sell up to $4.84⅝ yesterday, highest in two months. The inquiry came from banks and traders and appeared to result from the report that the British Government was buying. Good size blocks were taken up on the advance, these trades frequently involving £100,000 and £200,000 blocks.

Profit taking sales spread into the French and Italian descriptions after several days of rapidly advancing values which established new highs for both. The French bill dropped 2¼ points to 3.97¼ cents, with a more severe loss in the Italian, that of 16½ points to 4.44½ cents. Spanish pesetas moved up 6 points to 15.30 cents, on reports of a reduction in the military at Morocco. Changes in the Swiss, Scandinavian and German were small, but Holland rose 2 points to 39.98 cents.

Silver currencies were reactionary. In the Latin group, the Argentine and Uruguayan featured, the last named rising to the highest point reached since early Spring. Canadian dollars were at a discount of 3-32 of 1 per cent.
